Schenectady, N. Y., April 27—There is no doubt whatever that Admiral Robert Peary, U. S. N., reached the North Pole, Captain Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, said here today when informed that Captain Joseph E. Bernier, also a veteran Arctic explorer, had said at Quebec that it was highly improbable Admiral Peary could verify his claim.

Captain MacMillan who was a member of the Peary expedition, said that if Captain Bernier meant the "mathematical" North Pole, an imaginery needle point atop the earth, it was entirely possible Admiral Peary had not found that. But it would be impossible for any one to be certain he had set his foot directly upon this needle point.

Admiral Peary had appreciated the fact that his claim would be disputed, Captain MacMillan said, and before he set out obtained the opinion from scientists and navigators that if he came within 10 or 15 miles of the "mathematical" North Pole he would be near enough to establish his claim. Captain MacMillan explained that navigators determining their position at sea can not be sure within a mile or two of their actual location, even with the most accurate instruments, and that at the Pole, where observations must be taken from drift ice, such exactness would be even more difficult.

"There is no doubt whatever that Admiral Peary reached the North Pole," said Captain MacMillan. "Scientific and geographical societies all over the world have accepted his claim after investigations.

SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE SESSIONS IN WATERBURY

Waterbury, April 27.—Dr. Nees Deardorff, secretary of the children's commission of Pennsylvania, and Rev. Francis F. Le Buffe, dean of the school of social service of Fordham university, were the principal speakers at tonight's session of the Connecticut conference of social work, held at St. John's parish house here. This is the second day of the four day conference.

Dr. Deardorff told of how the various states are caring for dependent children. The modern aim is to keep dependent children in the home in one of their parents are living, the state furnishing money to support the child rather than putting it in an institution. Rev. Le Buffe spoke on "the family looked at in its essentials."

EX-KAISER OVERJOYED WITH ELECTION OF HINDENBURG

High Officers From Germany in Two Automobiles Bore the News Direct to the Former Kaiser's Chauteau at Doorn—European Countries, With the Exception of France, Are of the Belief That the Election of Hindenburg Should Create No Surprise Nor Be Considered a Great Disaster.

Doorn, April 27—Two automobiles bringing high officers from Germany arrived at 5 o'clock this morning with the news of the election of Von Hindenburg and went direct to the ex-kaiser's chateur, over which Hohenzollern flags fly.

The ex-kaiser and his entourage were overjoyed at the news, and great animation reigned at the chateau. Later in the day one of the automobiles started on the return trip to Germany.

EUROPEAN COUNTRIES NOT ALARMED BY ELECTION

London, April 27—The election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to the German presidency is regrettable, but not a catastrophe in the opinion of the various European countries, except in France, where the German people by electing the field marshal are held to have thrown off the mask and issued a challenge to France and the allies. The Paris press appears to believe that not much separates Von Hindenburg and monarchic militarism.

Outside of France, however, the election of Von Hindenburg is neither a great surprise nor considered a great disaster.

In England, the apprehensions that exist are not on account of Von Hindenburg's personality or for any fear that he will prove faithless to the republic, whose constitution he has frankly accepted, but that he might prove too weak politically to resist the intrigues of those around him, whose one idea would be restoration of the monarchy and militarism.

Punch, in last week's cartoon, represented Von Hindenburg as the famous wooden horse of Troy, with Admiral Von Tirpitz peeping out of a little door in the animal's flank and exclaiming: "They'll never guess what we've got inside here."

"But as against this view, it is also pointed out as proof that the German people in electing Von Hindenburg acted merely from sentimental motives, considering him as an appropriate symbol of Germany's lost greatness and her trust for the future, that General Ludendorff and other leaders of the militaristic spirit made the very poorest showing in the previous electorial contest.

That there will be any failure of Germany to observe her obligations because of the election of Von Hindenburg does not seem to be feared in British official circles, where it is fully believed the Dawes reparations plan will be faithfully carried out with the general treaty obligations.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's presence at the head of affairs in Germany, French opinion believes, will be a constant challenge to France and will make any negotiations exceedingly difficult. It may also mean farewell to any hope of reconciliation between the two countries or relaxation of the French hold on the Rhineland. In brief, the election of the hero of Tannenburg is expected to make for a return to Poincareism in France.

The financial level—Germany's need for foreign loans from the United States or Europe for future development and reconstruction—is in the end believed to be the world's safeguard against any adventurous policy on the part of German leaders and statesmen.

The Amsterdam Handelsblad gives the Dutch view as follows: "The election of Von Hindenburg clearly shows how greatly the German people are still dominated by sentimental, as opposed to political, feeling. Von Hindenburg is the personification of Germany's power and glory, while Marx is the personification of Germany's present distress. Von Hindenburg's success is primarily a personal success."

HOW GERMAN PRESS VIEWS ELECTION OF HINDENBURG

Berlin, April 27—The election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has up to the present failed to produce any untoward reaction in the popular mind. Editorial comment in the organs of both political groups also reveals a desire to avoid partisan recriminations, as President-Elect Von Hindenburg enjoys the benefit of "the law for the defense of the republic," and this automatically brings a cessation of political hostilities so far as his personality is concerned.

"The so-called sentimentality which was on display yesterday is naught but a reawakened idealism, without which any nation is doomed to go under," is the opinion of the Monarchial Kreuzzeitung.

Vorwaerts, the socialists' organ, sums up the outcome of the election in these words: "An individual, not a cause, was victorious on April 26."

War profiteering, socialism, antisemitism and religious bias figured in the campaign slogans, and unquestionably attracted fresh support to Von Hindenburg from those who usually do not vote. The new president will be notified by the federal election commissioner of the official count of the votes early next week, when arrangements for his formal inauguration will be decided upon. His induction into office will be marked by a ceremonious display and it is planned to have him drive from the reichstag to the executive mansion under military escort.

There is already considerable speculation over the political complexion of the executive staff, as well as the future composition of the Luther-Stresemann cabinet, which at present comprises one member of the centre party and one democrat in the persons of Dr. Brauns, minister of labor, and Herr Gessler, minister of defense.

Among the united right parties which nominated him there is an evident desire to avoid a parliamentary fraction in the central government, although the effect of Von Hindenburg's election on Prussian politics may have greater ramifications, in view of the reappearance tomorrow in the Prussian diet, of the coalition ministry headed by Premier Otto Braun. This has not yet been assured of a satisfactory working majority, as the three republican parties supporting it are permanently confronted by the decisive opposition of two right parties and the communists.

The Kreuzzeitung thinks that the field marshal's victory will demonstrate that the German people are regaining self-consciousness, which is the first step to regain the world's respect. Die Zeit says that Von Hindenburg's pre-election pronouncements prove that the foreign policy will not be changed and that there is no danger of monarchist reaction. The paper regards his election as German reaction against treatment by former enemies, saying:

"Germany for years manifested good will in favor of an understanding, but the German people see no good will on the part of the entente."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung asserts that the nation has shown it is tired of taking orders concerning its behavior from foreign countries. The election, it adds, signifies the awakening not only of old proud memories, but also the determination to lead Germany out of the condition of helotry.

In the opinion of the Berlinger Tageblatt the danger lies not in the person of Von Hindenburg, but in the intrigues of his entourage, and the newspaper draws attention to the irony of the fact that "the pallbearer of Wilhelm II will now be obliged to take the oath to the republican constitution before the social democratic president of the reichstag and under a republican flag."

The Vossische Zeitung, representing the right wing of the democratic party, also warns against possible machinations on the part of "the general staff carmarilla" behind Von Hindenburg's back, and hopes that the president will listen only to his constitutional advisers.

HUMOR TO REPLACE SEX PLAYS ON THE SCREEN

Los Angeles, April 27.—Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president of the Famous Players-Lasky Motion Picture Corporation today told the company's international convention that humor had replaced the so-called sex plays and problem plays of the screen.

"The public," he said, "has thrown predicament plays of all kinds into the discard," and, he added, "the next 18 months will be the greatest comedy year in the history of motion pictures."

"By comedy I do not mean what is commonly called "slapstick", but fast moving stories of optimistic and humorous vein.

"A canvass of public tastes and desires and a check of the various pictures released last year indicate also that the film public has distinct liking for stories unfolding interesting details of human activities such as those revolving about the lumber industry, the forest ranger service, the coast guard, the merchant marine, the automobile business and similar lines with colorful backgrounds.

"In addition, every production of the future, to be successful, must possess a quality which can be described only as heart interest," bringing a laugh one moment and a tear in the next.

"In the final analysis, the story is the thing. No player, no matter how gifted, can succeed unless placed in a good story. A check of 586 feature pictures of five reels or more in length released in 1924, shows that less than one-quarter of them were 'put over' by the stars who played in them."

MACHINIST IMPRISONED IN CABIN WHEN TUG SANK

Baltimore, April 27.—Hope for the rescue alive of George Schirmer, 52 years old machinist, who is believed to have been imprisoned in the cabin of the tug "Kentucky" when the craft sank in the harbor here today, was abandoned tonight after efforts of divers to enter the cabin proved unsuccessful because of the heavy water pressure.

An attempt to raise the Kentucky will be made tomorrow.

Three other men on the tug and seven shipyard workers saved their lives by leaping int othe harbor as the tug toppled from the marine railway of a shipbuilding company while being raised from the water for repairs.

The accident occurred when a block slipped from under the vessel, causing it to pitch, over and carry a section of the rail way with it.

There was a large attendance at the preaching services Sunday morning, Mr. Raymond and Mr. Blake of Hartford, taking part in the services. Mr. Raymond presented the Union church a new Bible.

Mrs. Caroline Palmer and Mrs. C. Easterbrooks of Willimantic, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Marsh recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, of Wauregan, visited relatives in this vicinity over the week end.

Miss McDonald of Storrs, is to give a public talk on Home Nursing, at the home of Mrs. Richard Hamel Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eaton of Stafford Springs spent the week end with relatives here.

MYSTIC

The Y. P. S. E., of the Congregational church invited the Baptist Y. P. S. E. to upite with them Sunday evening and hear H. W. Hicks, state C. E. secretary of Hartford who delivered an illustrated address showing views of the work in the state and the buildings planned for Storrs college.

WESTERLY

Some 150 members of Westerly Masonic club, No. 176, sat down Monday night at three long tables flanked by the head table in the Masonic rooms on High street to enjoy the annual pig dinner prepared by the club chef, Henry A. Stahle of Pawcatuck. At the head table was the club president, Herbert W. Rathbun, who acted as toastmaster, and former club presidents and officers. The menu included:

Grapefruit Marachino
Tomato Soup
Roast Suckling Pig, with Dressing
Baked Potato Mashed Turnip
Green Beans
Clam Fritters
Rolls Coffee
Ice Cream Cake

Following the supper, President Rathbun introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Samuel T. Clifton of Winsted, Conn.

Rev. Mr. Clifton, who is pastor of the Second Congregational church, Winsted, took part for his subject, "The Mason's Working Tools." A review was made of the stone, bronze and present iron age and the operative tools of Masonry with their respective attributes. The speaker emphasized to the 150 Masons assembled their duty to be friends and brothers.

Commander Young of the Coast Guard base, New London, detailed the leading part of the coast guard service has taken with the other three branches of the government service—army, navy and marine. Among their activities he mentioned the saving of life and property, destroying derelicts, enforcement of navigation laws and the assisting of vessels in distress along the coast. Their hardest job is the suppression of vessels engaged in smuggling and the prevention of piracy. At the New London base Commander Young said two lives had been sacrificed, one at the wheel. In closing he said that he looked forward to the time when "rum row" would be a matter of history and asked for the cooperation of all in the enforcement of the country's laws.

Andrew W. Fallon, of 6 Cedar St., Pawcatuck, in a special session of Second district court, before Judge James O. Watts, Monday morning at Wakefield, had the charge against him of reckless operation of an automobile late Sunday night continued one week following his plea of not guilty.

From the accident out of which the charge came, Mrs. Wendell Chappell of Wakefield, sustained a fracture at the base of her skull and is in a critical condition at the South County hospital there, following her being thrown from a buggy which was struck by the automobile of the defendant. His arrest followed immediately after the crash. Bonds of $1000 were furnished by Edward E. Champlain.

According to Fallon's story, which is substantiated by Irwin Silverman of 216 Blackstone boulevard, who was driving a car behind the Fallon machine he approached at a speed of about 20 miles an hour from behind the buggy driven by Wendell Chappell and in which Mrs. Chappell was riding. Fallon says the horse bolted as he neared the buggy. His car smashed the rear wheel of the horse-drawn vehicle and Mrs. Chappell was catapulted from her seat onto her head in the road. Mr. Chappell was also thrown out, but he fell on the grass at the roadside so escaped with slight injuries.

The accident occurred on the Post road opposite the summer home of Byron Watson. Dr. John P. Jones, ordered Mrs. Chappell removed to the South County Hospital, where she was taken in the machine of Roy Clarke.

Patrolman William Dillman, Sheriff Fred T. Mitchell and Deputy Sheriff George S. Phillips investigated the crash.

Later Monday there was no change in the condition of Mrs. Chappell, who remained in a critical state at the South County hospital.

Judge Edward W. Blodgett presided at the resumption of the April session of superior court for Washington county, Monday morning at West Kingston. It is expected that Judge Blodgett will continue to sit in this term of the court to include the adjournment to the county court house in Westerly to consider the Westerly Trial calendar.

At the opening of court the jury was empaneled in the case of Elizabeth Gilmore of Pawcatuck vs. Charles T. Hughes. This is a suit for $10,000 damages, growing out of an automobile accident at the junction of Woodworth avenue and Main street, Narragansett Pier, Sunday, July 27. Mrs. Gilmore, was a passenger in Hughes' machine when it collided with another car.

The following jurors were elected: Elisha M. Taylor, Charles E. Clarke and Charles F. Potter, South Kingstown; Frank A. Peckham, William E. Dickens, Frank H. Reynolds, Otto Froberg and James B. Barber, North Kingstown; Frank E. Saunders, Westerly; Claude Hopkins, Hopkinton; Cassius J. Armstrong, Richmond; George P. Briggs, Narragansett. Frank A. Peckham of North Kingstown was appointed foreman.

A view was asked for and was granted by the court, but before the jury and attorneys left for Narragansett Pier, one witness, Dr. Henry L. Johnson of Westerly, was put on the stand. Dr. Johnson testified that he attended Mrs. Gilmore at her home on Morgan street, Pawcatuck, after she had already received first aid from a South Kingstown physician. He found her with her head bandaged and with a cut over the left ear that had required one stitch, another cut over the mastoid bone in which four stitches had been taken, bruises on the left hip and shoulder and one eye bruised. The next morning the witness testified, the bruised eye was entirely closed and he also found the patient suffering from injuries between the backbone and the hipbone. For these latter injuries she is still receiving treatment.

It is possible that the West Kingston session may be prolonged for appellant vs. Benjamin S. Carpenter, the case of Nellie M. Carpenter, et al., appellee, which was argued last week for assignment, is expected to be tried at West Kingston this session.

John Gorman, alias Warwick, Kent county, charged with non-support of child, was brought before Judge Blodgett Monday morning on a capias issued by the superior court. He was ordered to make payments in arrears and the court ordered that his bail remain as before. Gorman was arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Thomas Pierce and was held without bail until his hearing Monday morning.

Fifty members of Narragansett lodge No. 7, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, J. Edwin Gardiner, noble grand with Everett C. Lawton, standard bearer, marched from their rooms on High street Sunday night to attend church services at the Broad street Christian church. There were also in attendance the members of Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 19, Daughters of Rebekah as guests of the pastor, Rev. Arnt L. Schoning, who took for his sermon subject, "Our Common Bond." Seats at the front of the auditorium were reserved for the visitors and on the conclusion of the services the Odd Fellows marched back to their lodge rooms.

The funeral of Emma, wife of Richard J. Rooney, was held Monday morning. Prayer was said at her home at 9.30 o'clock, followed by public services at Christ Episcopal church, read by the rector, Rev. G. Edgar Robin. Burial was in River Bend cemetery, the bearers being Guy B. Page, Robert H. Knight, Charles D. Havens and James Maxwell.

Andrew J. Martin returned to Boston Monday morning after a week end visit in Westerly.

Farquahar Smith was business visitor in Providence Monday afternoon.

A Connecticut state policeman from the Groton barracks Sunday night in a small auto in his haste to pursue an autoist whom he overtook on Railroad avenue, Westerly, cut the dummy cop in Dixon House square, while the Westerly traffic officer was caring for the heavy traffic at that time.

William Russell Dower was a Monday afternoon business caller in Providence.

William E. Davison of Putnam, secretary of the National Woolen and Worsted Overseers association, was a business caller in Westerly Saturday morning and attended the funeral of Andrew Smith, a charter member, held Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Julia G. Davis returned to her home in Natick, Mass., Monday afternoon, after being the guest for ten days of her sister, Mrs. Edwin R. Scott, in Pawcatuck. Having passed the winter months in Mount Dora, Fla., Mrs. Davis made stops at Washington, D. C., and Westerly on her return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Stanton of Westerly are motoring through Virginia on their return north from passing the winter months at Daytona, Fla. The past week end was spent at Staunton, Va.

Patrick Kelley, William Brown and David Mattison of Shannock, were in Westerly and Pawcatuck Saturday and attended the funeral of Andrew Smith.

"The New Yorker" the new Shore Line express train, west-bound, stopping at the Westerly station of the New Haven road at 1.33 p. m., daylight saving time, was well patronized Monday, the first day of its trip. The east-bound Federal express at 6.38 a. m., for a flag stop to take on Providence and Boston passengers, was flagged both Sunday and Monday mornings, the first two days so scheduled.

NORWICH TOWN

Services at the First Congregational church were held on standard time Sunday. During the morning worship announcement was made that beginning next Sunday morning, services at this church during summer schedule would be on daylight saving time. The pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey preached an excellent sermon on The Rights of the Boy.

An unusually interesting services was held at 6.30, by the Young People's Christian Endeavor society, under the auspices of the missionary committee, Mrs. Burton Jopson, chairman, Mrs. Harriet Hyde Zumbro, of Norwich, talked entertainingly on Home Investments with special reference to the six Congregational societies.

Of interest was the exercise The Sunday School builders, published by the Church Building society in which the following members of the C. E. society participated: The pastor, Rev. James Goodman; Arthur Avery, Deacon William Barton, Irving Manning, Mrs. Streator, president of the society; Dorothy Waterman; Hiram Bushnick, chairman of the trustees Frank Chapman; Charles Newman, patrol leader of the Boy Scouts, Ralph H. Marsh; Marie Holwell, leader of the Girl Scouts, Miss Esther Durr; and the following supposed visitors from other Sunday schools: Mark Elwell, Charles Marsh, Bessie Johnson, Miss Ethel Whaley, Myrtle Wright, Miss Helen Schwenk. Burton Jopson made on a piece of card board a picture of an unfinished church, which had been started but without funds enough to be completed. On the other side of the card board was a picture of a finished church, made also by Mr. Jopson. The distinction was shown in the last mentioned, after the Church Building society had helped by advancing money, etc. The last scene showed the participants attending the dedicatory exercises of the new church.

There is to be a meeting of Ever Ready Circle of the King's Daughters, Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Michael Buckley of Town street.

At the First Methodist Episcopal church, the services Sunday began on daylight saving time. In his sermon at morning worship, the pastor, Rev. James R. Aldrich preached from John 13:1, Now before the Feast of the Passover when Jesus knew that His hour was come that He should depart from this world unto the Father, having loved His Own which were in the world, He loved them unto the end.

John 11:5, Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister, and Lazarus, was the text of Rev. Mr. Aldrich's evening sermon which was preceded by the Young People's Christian Endeavor service, with Mrs. William H. Whiteman leader. The topic was Friendliness as expressed through educational missions. Acts 16:1-11; 19:8-16.

The board walks laid last fall by the Norwich Rural association, were taken up Saturday and removed to the place where they are stored during the summer months.

These electric lights recently placed on McClellan avenue, by the Norwich Gas and Electric Co., are much appreciated by residents in that locality. The first pole is set at the beginning of McClellan avenue, leading up from Otrobando avenue, and the other two are the proper distance apart as far as the Ethier house. The lights which were turned on for the first time last Tuesday night were made possible through the efforts of Mrs. William H. Tague, who was influential in procuring them, much to the comfort of the others on the avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Kennedy of Town street had as callers Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Mary Gaffney and daughter, Miss Marjory Gaffney of Danielson, who motored to Norwich Town.

Miss Alice H. Kennedy leaves today (Tuesday) for South Windham, to be an overnight guest of Miss Alice Gadbois of Norwich, a teacher in a South Windham school. The two young women were room mates while attending Willimantic Normal school.

Mr. and Mrs. Archa W. Colt and children moved Monday from Lincoln avenue to their recently purchased home, the house which originally belonged to the Harland estate on Washington street, which faces Schoolhouse Lane.

Having been confined to the house since New Year's day, because of illness, Charles Sterry was able to take an automobile ride on Sunday from his home on Otrobando avenue as far as Fitchville and return.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb of Town street, had as a supper guest Saturday, Mrs. Lamb's cousin, Mrs. A. G. Lord, of Nyack-on-the-Hudson Mrs. Lord, who has been visiting Norwich relatives since Wednesday last, returned home Monday morning.

ADVERTISING CLUB WILL CONDUCT OPENING PROGRAM

In recognition of the good work done last fall by the Hartford Advertising Club at attracting 700 people to the New England Advertising Convention at Hartford, the general convention committee of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce has asked the club to take complete charge of the first night program for the Chamber's annual convention to be held in Hartford on May 6 and 7. The advertising convention at Hartford was widely considered to have been the most comprehensive and successful district advertising convention ever held in the United States.

A speaking program that will be of practical value to all types of business people has been arranged. The underlying theme of the evening's program will be The Relation of Business to Civic Life.

S. A. Linnekin, vice president of the Babson Institute, a man of wide speaking experience, and a man who has spent many years in training business executives, will approach the theme of the evening from the angle of Education for Business. Mr. Linnekin has been closely associated with Roger W. Babson, the economist, for the last 14 years. Mr. Linnekin has specialised entirely in the field of commodity prices industries sales territories and general underlying conditions. He has traveled extensively in all parts of the United States. He has addressed many business organizations, advertising clubs, chambers of commerce, civic clubs and similar organizations. Mr. Linnekin is now the active business head of the Babson Institute.

Champe S. Andrews of New Haven, who stirred audiences in several Connecticut cities to a white heat by his recent speeches on the need of higher medical standards for Connecticut, will approach the theme from the angle of After Business Hours—What? Mr. Andrews is a graduate of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He served as Captain of the 3rd Tennessee Infantry during the Spanish-American war. He practiced law for 10 years in the city of New York, 7 of which were largely devoted to investigation work as counsel for the Medical Society of the County of New York. Mr. Andrews has traveled extensively in Europe and the Orient. He has contributed to the Cosmopolitan, the Yale Journal, the New York Times, the Forum and other publications. He is now director of sales for the National Folding Box Company of New Haven, the largest plant of its kind in the world.

It is expected that there will be over 400 business men from all parts of the state in attendance on the first evening of the approaching annual convention of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, in addition to many persons from Hartford. The Hartford Advertising Club has arranged a comprehensive program of entertainment. The meeting will be held in the ballroom of the Hotel Bond at 8:00 o'clock.

GROTON BOY'S BODY FOUND ON RIVER BANK

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, April 27—The body of Wilbur Edwards, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Edwards, 36 Morse avenue, missing six weeks, was found on the banks of the Thames river, Groton, yesterday afternoon, the recovery of the body ending a continuous search by residents of Groton and members of the Boy Scouts ever since Young Edwards disappeared.

The body was found by John Hayden, caretaker of the estate of George H. Watson, south of the former Groton Iron works. Hayden had made it a practice of watching the shore daily in the hopes of recovering the body and late yesterday when he went to the river's edge he observed the body lying well up on the shore. Hayden informed the state police of his find and officers summoned the father of the victim to the shore. The parent quickly recognized the body as that of his son and after Medical Examiner Frank Hexes had viewed the remains he gave permission for the removal of the body to an undertaking establishment.

The body was in a fairly good state of preservation despite the fact that it had been in the water since March 15th.

The youngster was last seen walking along the shore near the plant of the London Ship & Engine company. He had been playing with a toy boat and it is presumed that while enjoying the diversion he fell into the deep water and was drowned, for the toy was found a short time after the body was discovering missing.

YANTIC

At the International Exposition of Architecture and Allied Arts being held at the Grand Central Palace in New York, Miss Elizabeth Kempton, of Yantic, is exhibiting several batik wall hangings. They are well hung at the entrance hall to the Palace and are attracting much attention.

Mrs. William Kempton of Yantic is recovering at her home, following a severe illness.

Do you know why children loot the jam jar?

Caught in the act!

Don't be too hard on him. You did it yourself when you were a kid. If he didn't do it—or want to do it—he wouldn't be the kind of a youngster you'd be proud of—and show snapshot pictures of to your friends.

Every growing child craves sweets. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat.

Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (life saver shape), answer this problem in just the right way. They are china-hard and deliciously flavored.

This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors last longer. Little tummies are not upset. And Life Savers are kind to tiny teeth.

They're safe and wholesome. You may conscientiously be generous with Life Savers for they are the ideal candy for little folks.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinn-o-mon, Lic-o-rice, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Mrs. Zoe Wilson was held up for a breakfast, Monday, by the colored man who was later killed in a desperate fight with B. E. Terwilliger. Mrs. Wilson lives at the Gallup farm. The man, carrying stones in his hands and threatening, came to Mrs. Wilson's door and asked for something to eat. Mrs. Wilson was prompt to provide something to eat for the man, menacing as he was, and after he went away she rushed to a neighbor's, her own telephone being out of order, and sent a message to the police.

In the first game of the season, Monday afternoon, on the White Row grounds the St. James's school baseball team defeated a team from the school street school by a score of 2[illegible] to 4.

The day may come when motor buses will replace the electric cars now operating between North Grosvenordale and Central Village. This has not been even hinted, but there are those here who see the possibility of the Connecticut company going in for the most modern development in transportation. Busses could readily take care of the traffic through the territory mentioned, and if the Connecticut company elected to substitute them for the electric cars there likely would be no protest from the people of the communities served. Great economies in operating service could be brought about by substituting busses for electric cars, and that is a prime consideration in all fields of endeavor. Such an arrangements is now in successful operation between North Scituate and Providence, a section of country where the operation of trolleys has been suspended.

It has been remarked recently that an unusually large number of $2 bills is in circulation in Danielson and other towns. This is accounted for by some as due to a shortage of $1 bills, though these also seem as plentiful as ever. In connection with the circulation of $2 bills it is regarded as strange that so many people are superstitious about them, which as many people are in the south and west have been cases in Danielson during a few days where people have refused to accept them, believing they are omens of ill luck. But that is past. One hears a great chorus of "Bring on the [illegible]." This from the host who will [illegible] if they don't [illegible]. However, there are those who do not like the $2 bills because [illegible] fearful they will pass [illegible]. Thereby them will hardly be [illegible] of the fact that the people simply do not want them.

Fishermen interested in the development of stocks of fish in streams [illegible] are anxious that [illegible] such an arrangement [illegible] practiced in other sections of the state in seining fish out reservoirs and transfering them to waters that are open to fishing. In Quinebaug lake, now a reservoir for Wauregan and closed under the general law against fishing, could be seined by the state and the fish transferred to Old Killingly and Moosup ponds the fishermen would rejoice. They are advocating it. Aside from the sport of getting the fish they are a fine food product and that is a worthy consideration. It is known that Quinebaug lake has splendid bass and pickerel, large perch and even horn pouts. The reservoir would be as valuable with them removed as with them remaining there. The fishermen would like to see them distributed to some other natural bodies of water where there are no restrictions against fishing.

Houses that are to be razed in the area to be covered by the reservoir project developing near South Scituate and Rockland have been acquired for removal, as torn down, to Danielson. Wardell and Leslie Shippee are at work on the project.

The last day of grace for paying overdue personal taxes passed, Attorney Louis A. Wolcard is now making his preparations to have these taxes collected through the court, as done in several score cases a few months ago.

The section of state highway between Morin avenue and Elmville has been put in temporary good repair by using a gravel top dressing over the old macadam and then apply a coating of road oil, in turn covered over.

Monday morning the funeral of Mrs. Mary Lawless was held from her home in Moosup with funeral services at All Hallows' church in that place at 9 o'clock. The officers of the mass were Rev. J. E. McCarthy, Rev. J. C. Mathieu and Rev. Oscar Normand. Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery, Wauregan. The bearers were Louis Morency, James Moore, Joseph Delbec, William Theroux, Edwin Biladeau and John Lawless. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

A conspiracy, as of old, is being hatched in young and fertile brains. It has come to light that effervescent youth has its plans for Friday evening—the first of May. These plans involve the usual operations intended as goat-getting parties. That means tic-tacs and other ways and means of having what is officially rated as a good time —for those that are carrying out the details, though likely not so much so for the subjects picked out for attention.

Kathryn Brennan entertained over the week end, her cousins, Margaret Hassett of Springfield, the Misses Kelley of Worcester and Marguerite Hall.

F. E. Warren of New Bedford was a recent visitor here. He formerly lived in Danielson.

Sporting goods, firearms and ammunition. Rumenthal, successor to N. A. Jordan.—adv.

Rev. Leonard J. Richards of St. Alban's church is to give an address before the members of Leo J. L'Homme post, American Legion, and the auxiliary members at a meeting scheduled for this (Tuesday) evening.

Dr. and Mrs. William Mills will begin this week to occupy their newly constructed summer home at Alexander's lake, on the north shore.

Miss Carrie Fellows had the members of the Ladies' Reading circle at her home for a meeting Monday afternoon.

The days are few in which dog owners may register the animals without being delinquent under the law.

Danielson is not playing at all with daylight saving, holding strictly to standard time in measuring its doings. Cherry trees are in bloom all through the countryside and in some cases a few blossoms are to be seen on apple trees.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace F. Turner of Plymouth, Mass., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greene.

The annual disbursement of such small pay as the active members of the fire department receive has been made.

PLAINFIELD

Sunday more automobiles passed through town than have passed through during the last four months.

The laying of cement started off with a whirl Monday morning. Four truck are hauling sand and gravel to the mixer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy of Andover, Mass., were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Nolan.

The local high school will start regular sessions at 8 o'clock, standard time, this (Tuesday) morning.

The community team held a regular practice Monday night at the local diamond, under the supervision of Le-Roy Dissenger, director of the Community House.

The Junior and Senior class of the Plainfield High are holding a class dance this week at the school.

Pupils from Jewett City and Plainfield who attended the local high school were compelled to wait an hour before school commenced and wait an hour after school for a trolley car to get home. It was good news for the students when a notice was posted that school would open at 8 o'clock on Tuesday.

Hymie Mopsik, from New York, is in the employ of his brother, Allen Mopsik.

PUTNAM

Monday's program for Boys' Week in Putnam, Thompson, Woodstock and Pomfret was carried out as planned. Brief addresses were given in many of the schools by the boys themselves, as well as by adults. The closing address at each school was by John H. Corbett on Playing Fair. The program for the assemblies in the different High schools follows:

8.00 a. m.—Putnam High School—Five minute talk by a P. H. S. boy on "Athletics and Scholarship," five minutes talk by a P. H. S. boy on "Athletics and Character," address, "Why the Principal Encourages Athletics in a School," by H. L. Robinson, principal; address "Playing Fair" by John H. Corbett, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

8.30 a. m.—State Trade school—Address, "Why the Principal Encourages Athletics in a School," address by Mr. Corbett.

9.00 a. m.—Israel Putnam school—Address "Why the Principal Encourages Athletics in a School," Owen J. White, principal; address "Playing Fair".

10.00 a. m.—Tourtelotte Memorial High school—Five minute talks by T. M. H. school boys on "Athletics and Scholarship" and "Athletics and Character," address "Why the Principal Encourages Athletics in a School," by E. F. Kimball, superintendent.

11.00 a. m.—Woodstock academy—Five minute talks on "Athletics and Scholarship" and Athletics and Character" by W. A. boys; address, "Why the Principal Encourages Athletics in a School" by Maurice F. Childs, principal.

In the grammar schools the following program was carried out. As a language lesson each boy in Grades IV-VIII inclusive wrote a paper on "What We Boys in Grade A Expect of the Pupils in Grade Y in the Way of Sportsmanship in and Around the School and on the Play Ground." In the afternoon the boy in each room who wrote the best paper read his paper before the pupils in the room below him. In the ungraded schools the older boys wrote papers and read them before the school.

Rev. Arthur Routhier had charge of the observance of the Boys' Day in St. Mary's parochial school.

Robert W. Bridgeman of Hartford, head of the Bridgeman Detective agency, has lost his suit against the City of Derby for pay for services. It was the Bridgeman agency that worked in Putnam last fall and got a number of convictions for violations of liquor laws. They worked in this county, however, not for the municipality, but by employment of the State Attorney's office. The case was decided in the Derby City Court. The judge found nothing in the charter to empower the hiring of detectives by the city outside of its regular police force. The bill sued for was $300.

St. Bernard Council, No. 2087, K. of C., held a social and jollification recently at St. John's hall, North Grosvenordale. At this meeting for Knights only the North Grosvenordale council had as guests the state deputy of the order, William J. Mulligan of Hartford and District Deputy Henry Dubec, of Danielson. Both of the visitors gave interesting talks concerning the order. There was a banquet, the menu as follows:

Chicken fricassee on toast,
Mashed Potato
Celery
Doughnuts Cheese
Coffee Cigars

Following the supper there were five acts of vaudeville by entertainers from Boston. There was a very large attendance of members of the council.

Mrs. Catherine Dolan is critically ill at her home on Chapman street. She is past 80 and her health has been impaired for some time. Her daughter, Rev. Mother Everista, of Mt. St. Mary's convent, at Manchester, N. H., has been here for four days and she was accompanied by Sister Dapezia of Mt. St. Mary's seminary at Hookset, N. H. Another daughter, Mrs. William Geary of Portland, Conn., and her nephew, Rev. Walter Cram of Norwalk, Conn., who formerly made his home with Mrs. Doland, were with her Saturday. This new way works wonders on cloudy teeth

Modern science, by perfecting a new way of combating the stubborn film that covers teeth, now opens the road to whiter teeth, safely.

THAT cloudy teeth, yellowish, discolored teeth can be made whiter is now an accepted fact. Foremost dentists of the world are widely urging this new method. You can have cleaner, prettier teeth if you will start today.

This is accomplished by combating a viscous film that covers teeth. A stubborn, hard to remove film that old type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel this film. Under it are the clear, attractive teeth you envy in others. Combat it, and your teeth become many shades whiter—more glistening. This offers you a 10-day test free. Mail the coupon.

The great enemy of teeth

Film is the great enemy of teeth beauty. And a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the common cause of pyorrhea. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Ask your druggist or mail the coupon for Pepsodent. Don't expect the same results from old time dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth today.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure piles.

Don't do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., set at work some years ago to find a real internal Pile remedy. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it on 100 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists on these terms: under guarantee. It is easy to take, and can always be found at Lee & Osgood's, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

TELEPHONE SUPERVISOR

Tells of the Benefit Received by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leavenworth, Kansas. — "My work was long-distance operating and supervising, and I got into a very nervous state and was all run-down. I was easily annoyed at trifles, was extremely nervous and always had a tired feeling which made me awfully listless. Through a newspaper I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thinking it would help me I tried it. It quieted my nerves, I was less annoyed and more lively. It took away that dragging feeling and improved my health in every way. I was able to continue my work with more vigor than before and I recommend the Vegetable Compound to all young girls. I am married now and have a big baby boy and am in the best of health. If I should ever have any trouble I'll take the Vegetable Compound again, for I know it will help me as it did before." —Mrs. O. W. THIEL, 925 Pawnee St., Leavenworth, Kansas.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all these troubles. For sale by druggists everywhere.

WOOL SEAMLESS RUGS

If everybody ate Prunes as often as they should / There would be less need for DRUGS

For Prunes are Nature's own laxative. As a corrective agent in the diet and a general system regulator, they are unsurpassed by any other fruit.

Take breakfast, for instance—that meal which has so much to do with disposition, health and working efficiency! To say that it must include fruit—some fruit—is not enough. Be sure you get the best breakfast fruit—one which combines natural mineral salts and health-giving vitamines with the cellulose or natural fruit tissue so necessary to balance other highly-concentrated foods and aid in their elimination.

Follow the advice of so many eminent Dieticians and Doctors! Make Prunes your first breakfast choice!

And When You Buy Prunes, Buy the Best!

Insist upon sweet, thin-skinned SUNSWEET PRUNES from the famous orchards of California—selected, packed and sold by the growers themselves!

Your grocer has them: Sealed in our new, sanitary 2 lb. carton—or in bulk from the regular 25 lb. box. The carton is becoming more and more favored every day by buyers who want to be sure of getting clean, fresh fruit of genuine SUNSWEET quality. Order a carton today! Serve them as suggested below:

A Quick Way to Cook Prunes

Wash SUNSWEET PRUNES, cover with hot water and allow to soak one hour. Bring to the boiling point in the same water in which they were soaked, cover and cook until Prunes are tender, from thirty to forty-five minutes. Add sugar ten minutes before removing from stove. Allow one tablespoon to one cup of Prunes, measured before soaking or cooking. If a thick syrup is desired, remove Prunes to serving dish when tender, and boil the liquid until it is of the desired consistency. A little orange peel, lemon juice or stick cinnamon improves the flavor for some tastes.

GREATER WATER SAFETY

While there is no way of telling how many lives were saved last year as the result of the instructions which were given by it for the prevention of drownings or for the rescue of those overcome in the water, the American Red Cross is fully convinced of the value of such a campaign and has announced that it will be continued this year.

The need of such a campaign lies in the fact that there are 8,000 lives lost each year by drowning, a large percentage of which might be prevented if more people were able to swim or had a better understanding of what to do when thrown on their own resources in the water. It therefore becomes a case for more education and instruction which the Red Cross proposes to furnish along the line of the excellent work which it has been doing in that direction in the past.

We are now entering the season when the news of the day is too frequently devoted to the loss of life through the capsizing of boats, upsetting of canoes, venturing beyond one's depth, seizure with cramps and other ways which would be greatly reduced were it so that more people knew how to swim, or how to take care of themselves in the water. Even the means of dealing with a drowning person, or getting such a one to the low water, is important to a swimmer who goes to the assistance of a person in distress.

It is for the purpose of furnishing a greater number of people with such valuable instructions that the Red Cross will send teachers to vacation camps and shore resorts to demonstrate life saving to the crowds and seek to impress upon all the importance of knowing how to swim. The work is of vital importance. No doubt there have been hundreds of instances where such instructions have been put into use with the desired results in the past few years. But in the interest of placing a greater check upon the needless deaths and to provide individuals with the necessary knowledge in advance of an emergency the Red Cross is certainly rendering a much needed public service.

CONNECTICUT FORESTS

People of Connecticut have reason to stop, look and listen to the appeal which is made by State Forester Graves in behalf of reforestation in Connecticut and the establishment of a state nursery that will provide the necessary trees, under a plan which it is recommended would be similar to those followed in neighboring states where millions of trees are furnished for planting every year.

State Forester Hass points out that the 1910 the 84 towns on the Connecticut hills were as important as the 84 towns in the lowlands, and had about the same population. By 1910 the population in these hill towns had decreased, while that of the lowlands had increased sevenfold. Railroads bringing in raw materials and food have made Connecticut a great industrial state, but the small industries of the hill towns have suffered and farm land is cultivated than formerly. A new prosperity awaits these upland sections through the rebuilding of timber resources and small woodworking industries.

Have you stopped to look at your state in this light? Have you given consideration to the large amount of wasteland that might be put to work producing a supply of timber where practically nothing is being produced today?

Whether it is on the hills or in the lowlands the $3,000,000 freight bill each year for bringing lumber into this state should be a reminder to Connecticut that it is not making the most of its opportunities. Connecticut may be in no position to produce all the timber it requires. Its demands are too great, but it is possible for its hills and lowlands to produce timber where nothing is being produced now and from such a production a benefit would accrue to the land owners and to the state.

The call for increased interest in reforestation is well founded. There is need for it in creating better economic conditions locally and in contributing to a timber supply that is being neglected throughout the country.

AMERICAN MERCHANT SHIPS

This country has had a most unsatisfactory experience with a merchant marine. It has gone through all the stages and now finds itself with a lot of expensive government owned ships on its hands which are rusting out at anchor. Some cannot be given away, others may bring a small amount for junking while the best are commanding afr below restoration prices, and the government is going into the hole millions each year in its endeavor to extricate itself from the present situation.

Under such circumstances it is certain that there will be interest in the national conference which is to be called by the United States chamber of commerce for the purpose of giving consideration to the national shipping problems.

There was a time when we had a large merchant marine, when Old Glory was to be seen in all ports of the world. Then it dwindled until it got to the point where our flag was almost unknown in many of the seas and in many of the ports. We were leaving ocean transportation to the other countries which had developed large merchant marines. The desire for the rebuilding of a merchant marine was seriously advocated before the war, but that made it necessary and we built ships, ships and more ships. They were of little use during the war because they were not completed in time but we got a large and costly merchant marine and for the past few years we have been trying to decide what to do with it.

Billions went into these ships and only millions will be gotten for them But we nevertheless need a large and healthy merchant marine, one that is in the hands of private capital and not being owned and operated by the government. There is strong opposition to such a government enterprise and good reasons for it. For that reason a national shipping conference would appear to be a timely affair. It will be a happy day when the government can get rid of the fleet of idle vessels by putting them into the hands of private capital, but there cannot be overlooked the importance of an American merchant marine, or an adequate number of merchant ships owned by American capital to meet American requirements.

UNDER TEST

By a vote of the people of Germany Hindenburg is to be the president of the German republic for the next seven years. Being a man of 78 there is no certainty that he will live out his term, but he is to be put to a test that will be severe and far reaching.

As might be expected Paris looks upon the result of the election as the return of militarism. As was expected it created surprise and uncertainty in other countries. Germany under Hindenburg is being judged in advance by what took place in the past. It is to be realized that the German republic is by no means at the mercy of its president, though the attitude of the people as expressed at the polls is not being overlooked when the former field marshal is put at the head of a government so in contrast to the monarchy under which he gained his fame. Neither is there disregard for the reports which disclose the former kaiser as much pleased at the outcome.

There are others who were quite as much in the forefront of German affairs as was the late president of Germany. Hindenburg has declared his election would mean no forcible change in the form of government. He is well aware of the feeling of uncertainty which must go with his election. For that reason none should know better the test that he is going to be put to. There will be the test at home and the test abroad. He has a chance to dispell the suspicions and Germany will therefore be carefully watched to see if he toes the lines and if he does what line it is that he toes. Because the situation is as it is the Hindenburg term and acts will get unusually careful scrutiny.

RELEASING TEXAS PRISONERS

What is going to be the result of the extensive pardoning that is being done by Governor Ferguson of Texas?

Ever since taking office in January she has been releasing prisoners at the rate of about four a day, and at the present time has reduced the number in prison by over 300. It apparently requires little in the way of providing a good reason for release and cannot fail to remind one of the days when Cole Blease was governor of South Carolina. From the long list of pardons it would not give the impression that was a difficult matter to establish a deserving case, which appears to be the basis upon which pardons are being handed out.

The effect of such pardoning is not going to be favorable to law obedience in that state. Rather does it lend encouragement to treating the law with contempt and give the impression that penalties amount to nothing even when they are applied by the courts. One of the developments is the resignation of a sergeant of Texas troopers who recognizes the futility of trying to uphold the law under such conditions, and the prospect that others will take similar action.

The use of the pardon for political purposes is not unknown. Whether that is the answer to the situation in Texas will be disclosed in time and will be easily interpreted at home. Just what the attitude of the people of Texas is concerning the extensive pardoning has not been definitely established, but they cannot be unmindful of the fact that they were responsible for the selection and to a certain degree for the results being obtained. If they make no protest they must be regarded as approving.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to the Bulletin)

Washington, April 27—That unhappy reminder of the war, the pass-port with its expensive visa, is now being officially attacked. Let us hope that the attack will meet with success. Our own state department, none too soon, has taken the initiative by suggestion to European governments that the fee be wiped out by international agreement.

Ten years ago a comfortable return trip passage could be purchased for the amount that passport visas now cost Americans who tour the continent. With few exceptions the visa fee is now $10 for each country. In addition there are the constant time taking visits to consular offices and the extreme inconvenience which the unlucky traveller meets when he fails to live up to the last letter of the regulations.

Of course Americans contribute most of the visa fees. Tourists and business men thereby support thousands of the employes of foreign governments and it is for this very reason that the nuisance has been maintained. We have no doubt however, that if Mr. Wilbur Carr, the highly efficient assistant secretary of state, in charge of the consular service is firmly supported, European governments will consent to abate the nuisance.

Certain business journals are becoming restive over President Coolidge's economy. They contend that it has gone too far. They do not object to his campaign in government. They approve it. It is his personal economy they object to as being likely to injure "business." In other words they want him to preach economy but not to practice. Rather strange reasoning, emanating, as it does from papers which are supposed to speak to and for business.

It is difficult to account for their mental processes. Their notion of political economy appear to have become twisted a bit. The president is at war with waste. As wastrels Americans are proverbial. It is our national vice. It begins in the kitchen and extends to every phase of our lives. The amount of material of every sort wasted in this country is constantly commented upon by visitors from foreign countries. They are shocked and appalled by it. Waste begets waste—not prosperity.

The official figures of the government department estimate that approximately 15 per cent. of our production is wasted annually. This is but the beginning. Every dollar saved from this means more comfort, more wealth and more prosperity in some home. That is the lesson the president is trying to inculcate by practising what he preaches.

The latest drive for Russian recognition appears to have been more short lived than those which preceded it. Secretary Kellogg, whom the silly soviets assumed might be frightened or cajoled into reversing the policy laid down by Secretary Hughes has been a great disappointment to them.

Instead of opening negotiations with the fanatics and faith breakers at Moscow he has informed the powers privately, but firmly, that America is standing pat on the Hughes program. In a nut shell this means that America will recognize Russia when her spokesmen are prepared to accept the laws of nations as the basis for negotiations. Until then we will have no dealings with them.

Meanwhile Great Britain and France have had their fill of the Moscow crowd. Labor governments in these countries tried to do business with them and discovered how futile it was to deal with people whose consciences were trained to suit their immediate convenience. The assumption that Russian trade is essential to world prosperity may be brushed aside because her trade is negligible and is very likely to remain in that category for a decade or so while reason is given an opportunity to filter into Moscow.

If we accept from Moscow's own statistics, we find that her foreign trade last year amounted to approximately $305,000,000. Great Britain bought $40,000,000 worth of goods and sold her $27,000,000 worth. Germany came next with $33,000,000 and $25,000,000 respectively while the United States imported $35,000,000 and exported $23,000,000 to Russia.

During the past 12 years the United States has taken 44 per cent. of Brazil's exports and supplied her with 33 per cent. of her imports. Last year our total trade with that country was $245,000,000, about 75 per cent being purchases from that country. The British share of the trade over this 12-year period has been exports 10 and imports 21.5 per cent. and the total trade of Great Britain with Brazil last year was $34,00,000.

Of our imports from Brazil, coffee makes up about 56 per cent., totaling $158,000,000 in value last year. Other products of major importance are rubber, cacao, manganese, hides and skins and nuts. Our chief exports to that country are automobiles and trucks, petroleum products, flour, and barbed wire. The demand for hardware, machinery, pharmaceutical products, etc, is increasing and should be met.

Next to Russia, Brazil is the largest undeveloped country in the world, and as a source of raw materials for the United States she probably stands supreme in her potentialities. Brazilian crude materials fabricated in American mills will make for good business, and the relations between the two countries are very happy.

The tariff on dyes. A typical example of the almost immediate effect of tariff reduction in increasing imports is shown by the recent report of the U. S. tariff commission on our dye industry. Calling attention to "other factors contributing to reduced production" in 1924, compared with the previous year, the commission names "increased imports following the 15 per cent. reduction in the tariff, effective September 23, 1924," and says: "In accordance with the provisions of paragraphs 27 and 28 of the Tariff Act of 1922, the ad valorem duty on dyes and other finished coal tar products was reduced on September 22, 1924, from 60 to 45 per cent., and the duty on intermediates from 55 to 40 per cent. * In the Commission's report of 1923 it was pointed out that this tariff reduction would more directly affect the imports of higher priced dyes. The average monthly imports of dyes for the period, October 1924 to March 1925, inclusive, was 452,636 pounds, a 153 per cent. increase over the monthly average of the first nine months of 1924 preceding the reduction in the duties on dyes."

In March last we imported 528,000 pounds of coal tar dyes, which is at an annual rate of 6,336,000 pounds, equal to nearly one-tenth the domestic production for 1924, which totaled 67,00,000 pounds, compared with nearly 94,000,000 for 1923. Nevertheless, 1924 production was ten times that of 1914, when we were operating under a tariff policy which turned our dye market over to Germany, and which was responsible for our condition in 1915 when diplomatic action was invoked to request from England permission to purchase and get delivery from Germany sufficient dye to color our postage stamps.

Even the democrats yielded to the logic of protection following that lesson and by 1920 we were producing $8,000,000 pounds. But the following year it fell to 39,000,000 and then the dye duties were marked very high after a strenuous effort on the part of the dye interests to secure an absolute dye embargo, which was as strenuously, and more successfully, opposed by the textile interests, who were willing to accept high rates. That these rates have not raised dye prices is indicated by average sales prices which stood at $1.36 a pound in 1917 and steadily declined to 53 1-2 cents in 1924, while the current price of indigo is 14 cents per pound which is below that of 1913 when our entire supply was imported from Germany and Switzerland."

It was a bad policy in pre-war days to prevent protection to the American dye industry, and we suffered for it. It would have been difficult in post-war days to justify total prohibition of dye importation. There is a happy medium which should prevail.

The knit goods industry is one of the best distributed industries that we have, no less than 35 states having factories devoted to the output. They begin with New York, which counts 586, and range downward to Kentucky, with five, and "27 in 10 other states." A recent bulletin issued by the census bureau gives some interesting figures concerning the industry, and comparing the 1923 with the 1914 figures a remarkable growth is indicated:

In the decade concerned the number of establishments grew from 1,-6 2,323, and the number of wage-earners from 150,520 to 194,244. The amount paid out in wages increased from $60,000,000 (in round numbers) to $168,000,000; cost of materials from $147,000,000 to $484,000,000; and the value of products from $359,000,000 to $848,000,000. The three-fold increase in the items, wages and cost of materials is worth noting.

The items which went to make up the value of products for 1923 included $379,000,000 worth of hosiery, $161,000,000 underwear, $197,000,000 fancy knit goods such as sweaters, jerseys, bathing suits, scarfs, shawls, gloves, mittens, neckties, etc., $68,500,000 knit cloth, and $43,000,000 minor products. What would "Sockless" Jerry Simpson think of that hosiery item if he were alive?

In pre-war days our strongest competitor in the domestic market for knit goods was Germany. It was reported not long ago that Germany is arranging for a drive on the American market in the course of the next year, with a view to getting back to, or bettering her pre-war status, and to that end agencies have been located in a number of the commercially strategic centers of this country. There is little likelihood of any increase in the tariff rates on knit goods certainly not by way of tariff revision, and hardly by way of the application of the flexible clause, so that our manufacturers may have their hands full in meeting this German competition. It will be helpful to them if all of us follow the example set by President Coolidge and wear goods "Made in America". The bulk of the consumed by the nearly 200,000 wage-earners is grown in America, and we should give tit for tat.

For the nine months ended March last our favorable trade balance totaled $935,000,000, or at the rate of over $100,000,000 a month. It will undoubtedly exceed considerably a billion dollars ere the 12 months period ending June 30 has glided by. This was not due to more greatly restricted imports for they increased $172,000,000 over the same period last year, exports increasing $448,000,000. The tariff seems to be helping everyone along.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Boswell Avenue Needs Attention!

Mr. Editor: I see by the paper this morning that our street department has put "certain" of our streets in condition for the season and so far so good, but as a citizen and taxpayer, I should like to know when they are going to fix Boswell avenue and some of the streets that branch off from it. A stranger coming to town would naturally think that some sections of the city paid all the taxes and other sections paid none according to the way the streets are fixed.

Yours for good streets in every section of the city

TESSIE CONSIDERING SKIRTS

Tessie with troubled brow was early at the bargain counter chatting with Gladys.

"Station ABC had somethin' new an' interestin' on the air' last evenin,' Glad, which I hope is true," she remarked. "The president or some big party like that has offered a lotta money and a gold medal to anybody startin' a more decent style of dressin' for women, includin' skirts with room enough for at least one pocket—for it sure is a shame to make men's clothes all pockets and not one for us.

"Ma is forever wonderin' where the old-fashioned girl has gone to anyhow—the kind lookin' like as if they wrote poetry theirselves or had other folks writin' it to 'em. Kinda elegant, womanish girls with flowin' swishin' skirts of pink muslin an' white lace swirlin' about their little slippers an' gettin' the fellas to runnin' rings around 'em. Now the bottom of the skirt is so far away from the top of the slippers one does not know the other exists."

"We have the new 'tube' skirts," said Gladys, 'an' you sure can't call them short."

"Tubes! A pants leg split to the knee on one side, making the $4-a-pair kind more necessary than ever.

"Feature a bunch of us in the ballroom—mostly an odds-an'-ends gatherin' of male an' female hug-steppers hoppin' an' slitherin' around on an ice-slippery floor to a jazzy jangle of jinglin'. The males is usually too young to have any better sense or old enough to be home in their old slippers dry-cleanin' an' curlin' their best toupee.

"The lesson learned here is that the word 'petticoat' has been taken outa the dictionary an' cast to the winds along with the other discontinued lines.

"Hair! It was once woman's crownin' glory. Sleeves—until now considered a necessity. Stays—formerly the whole show. Undies—but never mind that now, and oh yes, hairpins! For where now can you find one to clean your pipe or unlock a trunk with the key lost? It just seems as if women took for their conquerin' cry, "Legs go!" and they went.

"Dressin' is a Job's job at best—somethin' like rubbin' salt into a wound, especially when you are in a hurry—an' these days it takes all there is of a body and three cakes of yeast a day besides to get yourself lookin' even half-right, and the trade journals say no other garments will sell, which means there is no relief in sight as yet.

"Even church workers and missionary-ladies go around in the song-and-dance duds, such an in-gettin' pushful style is it. Ma says there was a time when a skirt was a curtain for sister's with-drawin'-room, whilst now it is no more than a half-portion awnin' for the front porch."

"There's a reason for all styles and fads that stick, Tess," protested Gladys.

"Sure is, an' I am told the reason for this one is the boys. They came back from over there so used to thrills an' shocks they couldn't do without 'em an' wisely or otherwisely the girlies, in tryin' to please 'em, sheared the coverin's off down to the legal limit an' up to the legal limit, off-settin' this break by adoptin' child-like, soul-filled eyes set on the far away distance somethin' like a wounded antelope in the Grand canyon.

"Yet I ask yuh, Gladys—sickenin' as the question is, with all this are husbands any easier to get or any more to the good when you do get 'em than they ever were? What is a husband anyway? Nothin' on earth but a peeved pet with a wife to stay away from.

"Yes, women's duds have been so shot up an' shot down to look at us one would think—in oil language—we were nothin' but a bunch of 'gassers an' gushers' when that isn't the truth at all.

"There are just as many steady producers of high-grade output as there ever was. A woman may look one thing outside and be quite somethin' else inside, an' it is only the inside that really counts, anyhow."—Chicago News.

PRUDENCE CRANDALL'S CANTERBURY EXPERIENCES

The following account of the life of Prudence Crandall, and especially her experiences in Canterbury, was written by Nelson Carpenter of Canterbury, a member of the class of 1923 at the Plainfield high school. In the hope that it would be of interest to those who wish to establish a memorial to Miss Crandall:

Ninety three years ago, Canterbury, located in Windham county, was one of the most attractive and promising little towns of New England; standing on a rise of land, with the Quinebaug river not far away, it was beautiful for situation and crossed by the Norwich and Worcester turnpike in one direction, and the Hartford and Providence road in another, it was in close touch with the world by its daily stage coach. Its inhabitants numbering between 1,000 and 1,500 people were very largely of the original Puritan stock, agricultural, moral, and fairly progressive. Especially were its inhabitants interested in female education, so to afford their young people a better education they encouraged Miss Prudence Crandall to purchase a large house on the village green, which she did in 1832, and established a first class ladies academy. Miss Crandall both as a teacher and a social acquisition more than answered all the expectations of her patrons. After a short time Sarah Harris a colored girl who lived near by, wishing to become a teacher for her race applied for admission to the school and was received.

The parents of the white girls objected and threatened to withdraw their children if Sarah Harris was allowed to remain. They would not have it said that their daughters went to school with a "nigger" girl.

Miss Crandall was called upon to decide. She said, "The school may sink, but I will not give up Sarah Harris."

The white children were withdrawn, but Miss Crandall decided after consultation with Mr. Gannon, the noted abolitionist, to take another tremendous step, and that was to open her school wholly to the Negro race that needed education so much. She advertised in the Liberator March 2nd, 1833, that she would receive as pupils, "Young ladies and little misses of color."

This announcement threw the whole town into a furor. A committee of Canterbury's leading citizens remonstrated with her but she was firm, so the citizens called a town meeting to see what they should do. They voted to call upon her and point out the evils that would result from the establishment of such a school. But Miss Crandall encouraged by William Lloyd Garrison, Samuel J. May, and C. C. Burleigh opened her school at the appointed time with 20 colored children.

The people were so enraged that they called another town meeting, with no better results than the first. The town then elected Andrew T. Judson to the legislature. Through him a law was passed May 24, 1833 forbidding any person from establishing in any town of the state, without the written permit of its selectmen, a school for the education of colored people, not its inhabitants, and from teaching, boarding or harboring the same.

The people of Canterbury received the news with cheers and the ringing of bells. A month later Miss Crandall was arrested and put in prison. The following August she was brought to trial before the Windham county court, and charged with the crime of opening and instructing a school for colored girls.

Through the generosity of Arthur Tappan, an anti-slavery merchant of New York, counsel equally able had been provided for Miss Crandall's defense. The jury failed to agree in a verdict against her. The case was tried again, once before the superior court, Judge Daggert presiding, where she was convicted and again, on appeal before the court of errors where a formal decision was evaded.

During this time the school was conducted by her sister Miss Almira Crandall, and Mr. and Miss Burleigh.

When the citizens of the town saw that they could not close her school by law, they tried mob violence, her house being set on fire. This failing, the doors and windows were broken and the well water was filled with filth.

This last assault was too much to have repeated, and on the tenth of September 1834, after a seige of 17 months, she closed her school.

Shortly after she married Rev. Calvin Philleo and went to New York and from there they went to Illinois where Rev. Mr. Philleo died. After his death she went to Elk Falls, Kansas, where she lived until her death a few years ago.

Within 30 years after the closing of this school Windham county grew to be the banner county of Connecticut in the war for equal human rights.

In 1866, 33 years afterwards its citizens gave their votes by a majority of thousands, not for Negro education merely, but for the whole tremendous step onward of complete Negro suffrage.

The Head of the Family

When all is done and all is said,
Just who is the family head?
—Jimmy Skunk.

It is astonishing how fast children grow. Jimmy Skunk says so and he ought to know, for with nine of them he had a chance to see. Jimmy had

"Aren't you coming in, my dear?" said she taken it into his head to go down on the Green Meadows and because he was so fat he didn't return to Farmer Brown's barn when he grew sleepy and tired. Instead he used an old house of Johnny Chuck's which happened to be handy. It was ten days before Jimmy returned to Farmer Brown's barn and in all that time of course he had seen nothing of Mrs. Jimmy and the babies.

The night after his return he met Mrs. Jimmy and the whole family just going to look for some grasshoppers. The children are big enough to catch them now, so we are going to see if we can find some. Won't you come along?" said she.

Jimmy was about to refuse when it struck him that this was the first time for many weeks that Mrs. Jimmy had seemed to want him about, so he told her he would be very happy to go.

"Your father will lead the way, children," said Mrs. Jimmy, and she herself brought up in the rear of the procession to make sure that none lagged behind. Looking back at that long line of half-grown children, two dressed in all black, one in almost pure white Jimmy was astonished to see how they had grown. Suddenly he felt very chesty over being the head of such a family. And he really was the head for the time being. At least he was head of that procession.

So he led them over to the Old Orchard and there in the grass they found young grasshoppers. Very spry were those young Skunks and the young grasshoppers gave them a chance to show just how spry they could be. My, such a good time as they had. It was great fun to catch the grasshoppers and still more fun to eat them. They looked for all the world like a lot of black-and-white kittens playing in the grass.

After they had spent some time catching grasshoppers Jimmy led them to the old stone wall and they had great fun playing hide-and-seek in between the stones. Jimmy showed them how to pull over small stones to look for crickets and beetles. He showed them the best of a mouse they were just too late to catch. He showed them how to dig white grub out of the grass roots, and no one told him that Mother had already taught them how to do that. Jimmy enjoyed it. He enjoyed it a lot. And all the time he felt more and more self-important. Being the head of a family was a great deal better than living alone.

Finally Mrs. Jimmy announced that it was time for them to return to their home under the henhouse "Just what I was about to say," said Jimmy, and led the way back toward the henhouse, Mrs. Jimmy at the tail of the procession as before. When they reached the henhouse Mrs Jimmy sent the children in to the home she had made under the henhouse and followed them. Jimmy stood disconsolately staring at the hole in which his family had vanished.

Suddenly Mrs. Jimmy poked her head out. "Aren't you coming in, my dear?" said she.

Jimmy didn't wait for a second invitation. "Of course," said he in a tone quite befitting the head of the family. You never would have guessed that this was the first time he had lured posture through that doorway.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Col. Benjamin D. Foulois, who has been assigned to the command of Mitchel Field, the great military station on Long Island, has won his successive promotions and high rank because of his attainments as an aviator and his service to the army in promoting aviation, and this long before Congress voted to expand so strikingly the flying arm of the service when the United States entered the World War. Col. Foulois was the first American army officer to learn to fly. He is not a West Pointer, but came into the army as a private during the war with Spain. It was his good fortune, in 1908, to be ordered to the testing grounds where Orville Wright was carrying on his experiments, and there to make observations for the government. From that time to this he has been a close student of aviation. He was with thearmy aviation corps during the Mexican border troubles and in the World war he led into the air the first squardon of American planes to cross the German lines.

MISSING WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN BOLLES' COVE

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, April 27—Apparently despondent because of ill health, Mary Collins Crocker, about 63, with apartments in the Goldsmith building, corner of State and Main street, ended her life in the waters of Bolles' Cove, Waterford, last night and early this evening the body was recovered when it was found near a cluster of rocks opposite the pavilion at Richards' Grove. Mrs. Crocker was the widow of Frederick Crocker and has survivors in New London, Montville and Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Crocker was discovered to be missing from the apartment Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock and relatives instituted a search for her. This afternoon the police were acquainted with the fact that the woman was missing. A search for the woman revealed the information that a woman answering her description had been observed by fishermen at the cove as late as 9 o'clock Sunday night. A searching party was started and the body was located near a cluster of rocks.

Deputy Sheriff Manuel J. Martin was notified of the finding of the body and went to Waterford and took charge of the remains. Acting Medical Examiner Ross Black conducted an investigation.

Several years ago when the Goldsmith building was destroyed by fire Mrs. Crocker was caught a prisoner in her apartment and was rescued by police and firemen.

CASE OF SMALLPOX DEVELOPS IN CITY

The first case of smallpox that Norwich has had in a number of years was disclosed here Monday when Mrs. Emma Cavanaugh of 440 Asylum street was found to be ill with the disease and she is under quarantine. It was first said been sick for a week with what her attending physician had diagnosed as chicken pox, but Monday it was determined as smallpox.

The case was at once reported to Dr. E. J. Brophy, the health officer and measures were taken at once to have all those who have visited her vaccinated. Mrs. Cavanaugh has not been out of the house during her illness but she had a number of visitors. The case was reported to the state health department and Dr. Knowlton will be here today (Tuesday) to supervise the corrective regulations that will be put into force.

It is believed that Mrs. Cavanaugh contracted the contagion in Providence where there has been smallpox in Rhode Island and she has been visiting in Providence where she was ill and was [illegible] in the contagious ward of the hospital.

M. Philippe Marthelot has been appointed personal secretary to the French foreign office.

50 ACRES BURNED OVER ON WAUWECAUS HILL FARMS

A large fire starting at 10:30 Monday morning raged over the farms of Tom Beetham and Frank Maples on Wauwecus Hill and burned over 25 or 30 acres before it was put out. Fire Wardens Benton, Wyant and Peckham, were on the scene as soon as possible with pumps and other apparatus and put scouts, neighbors and everybody at work. The Yantic fire department had been working also but the arrival of the hand pumps aided the work materially and the fire was extinguished at 1:30. The scouts did good turns in this work and two of them patroled the burned area until late in the afternoon.

Give but little advice and applaud freely if you would be popular.

OBITUARY

Jean Marie Allen

Much sympathy is being expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Christopher G. Allen, of 76 Church street, whose infant daughter, Jean Marie, died Monday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, following an illness of ten days. The baby would have been eleven months old Thursday, the 30th. The cause of death was given as ulcer of the stomach. The parents have another little daughter, Margaret Lee Allen, who is three.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Christian J. Hoefer

Funeral services for Ethel Sterms, beloved wife of Christian J. Hoefer, were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late home at 586 Main street. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the service and the many beautiful floral tributes were evidence of the esteem in which she had been held by those who knew her.

The service was conducted by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, of which church Mrs. Hoefer was a member. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery where Rev. D. Pitt conducted the committal service. The bearers were six brothers, C. LeRoy, John, Alfred, William, Russell and Robert Sterms.

Arrangements were by Church & Allen.

WEDDINGS

Polewaczyk-Rusczyk.

Miss Lillian D. Rusczyk and Joseph Polewaczyk were united in marriage, Monday morning at 9 o'clock, at St. Joseph's church, the nuptial mass being celebrated by Rev. S. A. Ielek, the rector. The couple were attended by Miss Frances Dombrowski as maid of honor, Miss Tillie Polewaczyk as bridesmaid and Walter Rzobiewski as best man.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white canton crepe with a tulle veil and her shower bouquet was of bridal roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor was gowned in orchid georgette with hat to match and carried Ophelia roses, and the bridesmaid wore a gown of Nile green with hat to match and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Pulaski hall, over 50 relatives and friends of the couple being in attendance. The couple left during the afternoon for an extended wedding trip to New York.

The bride is the daughter of Leopold and Pauline Rusczyk and was born in London, England, and has been residing with her parents at 9 North High street. The groom is the son of Joseph and Helen Polewaczyk and was born in Norwich. He is employed as a gunsmith and lives at 53 Thames street.

The bride received many beautiful presents of linen, china, cut glass and silverware and the couple have the best wishes of many friends for a happy future.

EAGLES BUY HOVEY PROPERTY FOR HOME

Norwich Aerie, No. 327, F. O. E., at a special meeting Monday evening at the Eagles rooms, Shetucket street, voted to purchase the Henry Hovey homestead on Cliff street, opposite the Chelsea Savings bank. The vote to purchase the Hovey property followed a recommendation of the aerie's building committee which was been seeking a new home for the Eagles. The size of the lot is 65x100 feet. The purchase price was not made known but the property is understood to have been in the market at a price in the neighborhood of $25,000. Although the Eagles have not completed their plans for the new home, the general assembly or meeting hall will be located on the second floor.

The special meeting was held, for the purpose of hearing the report of the building committee. The building committee comprises Timothy Fields, William R. Hastedt, James Casey, Edward J. Mullins, J. T. F. Burns, Nelson Petrone, R. A. Krohn, A. Hastedt, J. Leirich, Chester O Wright, and George Nadolny. The transfer of the property is being made through the agency of Thomas H. Beckley.

When the new home is opened the general public will be invited to inspect the building. A lawn party is being planned to be held in connection with the opening of the new home.

A ladies' night is to be held this (Tuesday) evening by the aerie and the programme includes a card party with refreshments and a first-class entertainment.

At the meeting Monday night the following nominations for officers for the ensuing term were made:

Worthy president, George Nadolny; worthy vice president, August Hastadt; worthy chaplain, Nelson Petrone; secretary, John Leirich; treasurer, Charles O. Wright; inside guard, Joseph Cadiaux; outside guard, William Kane; physician, Dr. Louis Cassidy; trustee T. J. Burns; delegate to state convention Timothy Fields; alternate, Edward J. Mullins.

The election will take place Monday, May 4.

WOMEN SEE BOY BURGLARS IN CRANSTON'S

Boys broke into The Cranston Co. store on lower Broadway Monday evening and after securing about seven dollars from one of the cash registers were evidently scared away. About 10:30 o'clock Monday night two women passing the store saw the boys in the place and hurrying down to Main street notified Officer Peter Driscoll. Officer Driscoll hurried to the store and down the alley leading to the rear of the store but the boys evidently seeing the women watching them and surmising that the police would be shortly on their trail made their escape.

The young culprits made their entrance to the store by means of a ladder raised against one of the rear windows which they forced open.

Attended Plainfield Party.

A very enjoyable party was held at the home of Miss Irene Frink, Plainfield Saturday night. A large crowd attended from Norwich, Central Village, Moosup, Sterling and Plainfield. Games and music were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served.

BACKUS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY GIVES REPORTS OF YEAR OF ACTIVE WORK

Mrs. Walter F. Lester was re-elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the William W. Backus hospital at the auxiliary's annual meeting held Monday evening at the Community House on Church street. Splendid and intensely interesting addresses on hospital work in general by E. Kent Hubbard of Middletown, president of the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut and president of the Middlesex hospital in Middletown, and Dr. James Murphy of the medical board of the Middlesex hospital featured the meeting which had an attendance of about 100.

As the audience gathered Miss Nellie Howie played the following programme of organ music: Evening Meditation (Armstrong); Romance in G, (Sjelton) Offertory (Renard).

The president, Mrs. Walter F. Lester, opened the meeting about 7.45 o'clock D. S. T. The annual reports of the various committees were first taken up. Mrs. Allyn L. Brown read the reports of the membership, religious, visitation, flower, literature, holiday and recreation committees as follows:

The reports covered the first year of the auxiliary as an enlarged organization and real pride was felt in the progress made. A goal of 500 members had been set but this had been more than exceeded as the present membership is 1,255, of whom 21 are life members having paid $25. Mrs. Allyn L. Brown was in charge of the drive and Mrs. William G. Park had charge of suburban memberships, which reported 140 members.

Twenty-two churches and ten Kings Daughters circles have arranged Sunday services at the hospital under the direction of Mrs. Luther D. Packer and the visitation work by church committees has been arranged by Mrs. Frederick W. Lester. The flower committee under the direction of Mrs. Joseph P. Cummings and the literature committee under Mrs. Carl W. Brown have done commendable work in these two departments.

The recreation committee, Mrs. J. J. Donohue, chairman, has contributed in varied ways to make the nurses' busy, strenuous life a little more enjoyable. The report in part said: "The committee greatly appreciate the spirit of generosity and the interest which so many have taken in its activities. We feel most grateful to the Palace Theatre for tickets presented on different occasions, to the "Helping Hands Society" and to the doctors for donations at Christmas, and to Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins and her committee for tickets to the Lenten concerts."

The work of the holiday committee, Mrs. F. W. Perkins, chairman, was in providing cheer and a few "extras" for the patients on each holiday of the year.

Ice cream has been most generously given by many of the churches of the city, by the Elks and the Knights of Columbus. On all the less important holidays the trays were made attractive with appropriate favors or paper napkins in addition to these on Easter a small flowering plant was added to each tray.

For Christmas and Thanksgiving turkeys were furnished by the Holiday Committee.

Donation Committee

The reports of the donating committee and finance committee were read by Mrs. Helen B. Gilbert.

The donation committee report, Mrs. E. LaRue Bliven, chairman, was in part as follows:

On July 9, a collection was made through the different churches by which we received a considerable amount of clothing for men, women and children; also empty jars and glasses which are used for individual mouth and eye washes, and sufficient old cotton and linen, used for bandages and dressings, to last a year. The Hospital records show that from the clothing given, three women were fitted out, one man was given a suit, another an overcoat, and the needs of seven babies were supplied.

For various holidays, the donation committee solicited home made cakes numbering 128. August 16 a cake was sent as a special gift to a patient in the men's ward who was celebrating his ninety-fifth birthday and on August 26 four cakes were sent to the nurses.

During the fall and winter a collection of canned fruit and jelly was made, which enabled us to give to the hospital 1765 jars in which were included jam, marmalade, and some pickles and relishes.

While we did not solicit money, we had given to us by people who do not make jelly $14.50 with which to buy it.

Twenty-five quarts of cranberry sauce were donated for Thanksgiving and Christmas, also 20 dozen oranges for Christmas. Other miscellaneous gifts included one-half bushel of peaches, three pecks of apples, six pounds of honey, eight bottles of grape juice, one quart of grape wine, one pair of new pillow cases, and a pair of crutches. Three hundred sixty-eight contributions have been received, for which thanks have been sent by our committee.

We deeply appreciate the cooperation given us and we would take this opportunity to thank again not only the individuals who have responded so willingly and generously to our requests, but the churches, organizations and societies and friends in Gales Ferry, Jewett City, Yantic, Lebanon, Fitchville, Hanover, North Franklin and Bozrahville.

Finance Committee

The finance committee, Mrs. Helen Lee Gilbert, chariman, reported the purchase for the hospital of an American flag, 6x9, to hang over the entrance on festal days, an outfit of 3 dozen knives and 3 dozen forks, flat silver, for the wards, a Gwathmey anaesthetizing apparatus and six thermometer holders, so that each ward and floor has one. This was done with the expenditure of over $400.

The proceeds of a bridge, mah jongg and whist party were $224.40. An order has been placed for a practically complete outfit of silver for twelve trays for A Top, which will add much to the pleasure of future A Top sojourners. The proceeds of the assembly dance at the armory were $118.35 with which it is planned to purchase silver ice cream holders for as many trays as possible.

Publicity Committee

The report of the publicity committee and treasurer's report were read by Miss Edith E. Young as follows:

Whatever the publicity committee has accomplished in developing interest in the hospital has been made possible by the courtesy of the Norwich Bulletin and the Evening Record and we welcome this opportunity to acknowledge our debt of gratitude. Each month a hospital auxiliary column has appeared in the press, to acquaint the members of the auxiliary and the public in general with the activities of the various committees and to express appreciation for the many kindnesses that have been showered upon the hospital during the past year. The committee also prepared the advertising for the organization meeting, the membership campaign, National Hospital Day and Donation Day.

Treasurer's Report.

The following was the report of the treasurer, Miss Isabel H. Mitchell:

E. Kent Hubbard Speaks.

Following the reports Mrs. Lester introduced as the first speaker E. Kent Hubard, of Middletown, president of the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut and president of the Middlesex hospital of Middletown. In his address Mr. Hubbard said:

The better an institution is the more criticism it gets and the better the officers of an institution are the more punishment they can stand. One of the reasons our hospitals in the state, our institutions, are so modern is because we have so many 'dollar a year' people who are giving their time and services in the interests of the hospitals and institutions.

The work of the hospital is a work of mercy. Selfishness can have no part in this work. He spoke of the doctor and the pledge he takes before he takes up his profession and of the great responsibility placed upon the professional medical man.

The public has a definite trust in the establishment and maintenance of the hospital. Can any one refuse to give of their time and money for such a worthy cause? I have often wondered if those who are indifferent have ever had any real contact with the wonderful work the hospital is doing. I have answered this question by saying that indifferent people have never taken the trouble to investigate.

The responsibility of the public is to aid in this great work. Does the public realize the sacrifices of the nursing staff? Theirs is a noble profession calling for qualifications far beyond the average. They have every right to be proud of the service they are rendering humanity. It is the duty and the privilege of every able bodied person to aid in the development and the maintenance of the hospital. There should be no need of drives for hospitals. A thankful public should contribute without solicitation for by so doing they are helping themselves as well as the community.

Debt to Modern Medicine.

Dr. James Murphy was then presented by Mr. Hubbard. Dr. Murphy, who is a member of the medical board of the Middlesex hospital, gave an intensely interesting talk on the subject, "What Do You Owe to Modern Medicine." There are a large number of people who know very little about their own bodies and how to care for them. And this fact is not confined to people who are not educated. As an example he told of a college professor who carried a horse chestnut in his pocket in the belief that it would prevent him from having rheumatism.

The greatest asset a person can have is good health said Dr. Murphy. The speaker went on to tell of the various diseases that have been conquered by modern medicine. Typhoid fever has been the scourge of all armies in all wars. In the Spanish American war, for instance there were 20,000 cases of typhoid fever in the American army of 100,000 men. Then typhoid vaccination was introduced. In the World war the United States had 4,000,000 men in the service. The number of cases of typhoid fever was negligible.

Diphtheria was then touched on by the speaker. He spoke of the high death rate cut down by diphtheria anti-toxin.

We have learned more about tuberculosis, he said. We have learned how to make an early diagnosis. It is the early diagnosis which enables the physician to save the patient's life. Modern medicine has found out how to prevent yellow fever. Dr. Murphy then spoke about the triumphs of modern surgery. Operations considered impossible and fatal fifty years ago are daily occurrences in hospitals. The modern surgeon can not only operate on any part of the body, but after the operation is over can predict almost the day the patient will be able to get out of bed. These are a few of the things modern medicine has done for civilized man.

There are two things a woman's organization can do for a hospital. The first important thing you can do is to act as a buffer between the hospital management and the public. Every well managed hospital is criticised. A woman's organization can stop a great deal of this criticism.

Another thing that is very important is the establishment of a hospital library. A real library in a hospital is a necessity, as part of the treatment of the patient. Books are a means of influencing the patient's mind. You must pick your literature for the patients.

A short business session followed with Mrs. Austin presiding and Mrs. W. H. Dawley acting as secretary. It was moved the chair appoint a committee of three to nominate officers to serve the ensuing year.

Mrs. James J. Donohue, Mrs. Carl W. Brown and Mrs. William P. Wade were named as the committee. While the nominating committee was in conference the secretary read the proposed constitution and by-laws. They were adopted as read.

Officers Elected.

Mrs. Donohue made the report for the nominating committee which follows:

For president, Mrs. Walter F. Lester; first vice president, Mrs. Frank B. Ricketson; second vice president, Mrs. Witter K. Tingley; recording secretary, Mrs. John S. Blackman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. P. J. Batterasby; treasurer, Miss Isabel H. Mitchell; director for three years, Mrs. E. LaRue Bliven; for two years, Mrs. Chales B. Gilbert; for one year, Mrs. Frederic Cary.

The officers were unanimously elected. The beautiful basket of flowers which graced the table was provided by Mrs. Charles L. Hubbard.

The election of officers completed the business of the meeting which adjourned about 10.00 o'clock.

STOP OVER HERE ON 6 MONTHS AUTO TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Young of McClellen avenue, Norwich Town, recently had as their guests for a few days, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jewell, of Fairfield, Maine, who are en route to their home following an automobile trip covering a period of just six months.

The following interesting description of the journey was given by Mrs. Jewell, who with her husband left Norwich Saturday homeward bound:

We left Fairfield, Maine, Oct. 25, 1924, in a Franklin car hauling our Chenango camp trailer, and traveled by easy stages driving only 100 to 135 miles per day. We went to Syracuse, Niagara Falls, and Buffalo, N. Y., via the Mohawk Trail, where we visited the Larkin factory which was of special interest since both are Larkin enthusiasts. Mrs. Jewell conducting both clubs and a Larkin pantry when at home.

From Buffalo we went to Martinsburg, W. Virginia, via Williamsport, Penn., where we visited relatives for several weeks.

Leaving West Virginia, a week before Christmas we travelled through Roanoke, Va., Bristol, Tenn., Asheville, N. C., Greeneville, S. C., through Hartwell and Cordelia, Georgia, arriving at Lake City, Florida, (the first place in Florida) Dec. 26.

Being still too cold to camp nights with comfort even in Florida, we did not stop to look around the northern part of Florida much on the way down.

We drove directly down the east coast of Florida first via St Augustine, Daytona, Melbourne, Palm Beach and Miami. Though the highway is under construction for several quite long distances, we found the traveling for the most part very good on the east coast. Leaving Miami we drove back along the east coast to Indian River city, where we crossed the state to Orlando and Kissimmee the central and most beautiful part of the state.

From Kissimmee we went to Tampa, St. Petersburg, Bradentown and Sarasota for a few weeks. The land in the vicinity of Bradentown was the most productive of any seen for gardening. Much celery lettuce and tomatoes are grown there. Leaving Bradentown we went back to Plant City, noted for its crops of strawberries, thence to Orlando, Orange City, and Deland. Deland is a very pretty city, well shaded by numerous water oaks and does not have the bare "sand and sunshine" look, common to the greater part of the state. A college town, with many beautiful residences and convenient and up to date stores. It has an excellent tourist camp provided by the city, in charge of a caretaker. Of course tourist camps are plentiful all through the south especially Florida, for "Pay Can Tourists," as they call the campers, are their main source of income, and it pays them well to cater to the tourist. Electric lights, sulphur water and shower baths, laundry houses and recreation rooms are found at most of the camps at prices ranging from 25c. to $1.00 per night.

From Deland we traveled to Daytona and its wonderful beach and its Indian River oranges, the sweetest and best oranges in the state. Then north again to St. Augustine with its historic forts and houses, Jacksonville, and Lake City. Across the state to Tallahassee and then through Georgia, the Carolinas, and Virginia to Washington, D. C., where we stayed a week, though one cannot begin to see all they want to of Washington in one week. The museums, the monument, the capitol, the White House, and other buildings of public interest too numerous to see in so short a time. From Washington, north to Baltimore, and Philadelphia, where we visited relatives and saw many historical buildings, beautiful parks and large department stores with their up-to-the-minute radio broadcasting rooms.

Leaving Philadelphia north by way of New Jersey and New York city to Norwich, Conn., to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Young, who were our most intimate friends when they lived in Maine.

Leaving Norwich, we expect to visit the Baird-North Co. plant in Providence, R. I., thence to Boston, Portland, Maine, and home again to Fairfield, Maine, planning to arrive there time we left home.

CONNECTICUT CONSISTORY WORKED 27TH DEGREE

Connecticut Consistory, Valley of Norwich, worked the 27th degree in full form on a large class of candidates Monday evening at the Masonic temple. The work was carried out in excellent manner and those taking part received the praise of visiting officers from Lafayette Consistory of Bridgeport.

Previous to the work of the evening a delightful banquet was served in the dining hall of the temple, the menu being as follows:

Grape Fruit CoCktail
Oyster Patties
Mashed Potato Creamed Onion
Roast Capon
Brown Gravy Dressing
Sweet Pickles
Ice Cream Assorted Cakes

During the evening announcement was made by Commander-in-Chief Charles L. Stewart, that Norwich Consistory would go to Bridgeport on Friday of this week when the thirty-second degree would be worked in full form by Lafayette Consistory on a class of candidates numbering nearly 500 members.

The officers, degree teams and candidates from Norwich are to leave from the Masonic Temple at 1 o'clock Friday morning (standard time) picking up the New London members and candidates about 3.30 o'clock and then proceed to Bridgeport.

At noon a luncheon is to be served and beginning shortly after 1 o'clock Norwich Consistory is to work the twenty-seventh degree in full form on a large class of candidates from Hartford. The thirty-second degree will be worked at about 4 o'clock by Lafayette Consistory on the class of the entire state. In the evening a banquet is to be served at the Stratfield.

Special arrangements have been made for parking and it is expected that hundreds of Masons will go to Bridgeport that day to see this work done, the first time that the two consistories of the state have worked it in unison in many years.

GAVE COMPLIMENTARY DANCE FOR RITZ REVUE CAST

Members of the cast of The Ritz Revue and their friends were entertained by Nemed Gratin Monday evening at a complimentary dance given at the Wauregan hotel in recognition of the assistance they gave in the highly successful presentation of the Revue two weeks ago.

Thurm's orchestra rendered a programme for dancing that was full of favorite numbers and refreshments were served. The affair was under the direction of the Ritz Revue committee, whose plans made a delightful social evening for their guests.

Camp Tippecan Reunion

NUMBER FIVE

this time and the fight evolved into a struggle between the men for the jack. Terwilliger finally wrenched it free and struck his attacker over the head with it a couple of times, felling him. Dazed and weak after the terrible battle in which he had been engaged, Mr. Terwilliger was nevertheless extraordinarily cool. He drove his car to the office of Dr. W. H. Judson to have the wound on the top of his head and the one over his left eye dressed.

In the meantime Gauthier picked up the negro, loaded him into the rear of his truck and rushed him to the home of Dr. George M. Burroughs on Broad Street. The man was breathing his last as Dr. Burroughs came out to see him and died almost at once.

An examination of the body later at the undertaking rooms showed that one bullet had penetrated in the immediate vicinity of the heart and probably was the one that caused death, while the other had cut through the back of the right hand. Gashes over the dead man's right eye and on his head showed where Terwilliger's blows with the jack had taken effect.

In a pocket of the trousers of the dead man was a little cotton bag containing a dollar bill and change to make a total of $2.15. In his coat pocket a $5 bill was found. There is an assumption that this $5 bill might have been taken from someone the man encountered before the holdups herein reported and hurriedly placed in the coat pocket, rather than in the moneybag.

There was not a thing on or in the clothing to aid in identification. The man wore a blue suit, brown socks, black shoes and a soft brown hat with the mark of a Syracuse dealer on the sweat-band. His underwear was of heavy ribbed cotton and his blue-striped cotton madras shirt had a stamp 4086 on the inside facing. A light brown sweater was worn beneath the coat. The four gold crowns on the upper front teeth was the most outstanding characteristic of the man. Dozens of people came to view the body during the day, but not a one could identify him.

As in all such cases, various reports came during the day that would indicate, if all are authentic, that the man has been about since Saturday or Sunday. He had breakfast at a home near where he met his death. Monday morning, being served with food when he requested it, but beyond that, nothing definite about him could be learned.

No action whatever was taken against Mr. Terwilliger and none will be. He will merely testify as a witness at the inquest that Coroner Arthur G. Bill will hold Saturday. It is sensed by all that Mr. Terwilliger happened unexpectedly on a situation that came near to costing his own life in defence of a fellowman. The fact that he is an excellent revolver shot and as calm a man under all circumstances as stands in Killingly probably saved him from death. His coolness after the affair was remarkable, though he did not relish being put to the necessity of shooting a man.

He was congratulated on all sides for his brave fight against a man who must have been violently mad.

There is a possibility that the dead man escaped from some institution for the insane or mayhap a prison. His underwear, clean and in good condition, was of the sort issued to inmates of institutions. It is hoped that the widespread publicity the man's death and the incidents leading up to it are receiving may be the means eventually of fixing his identity.

MAN WAS JOSEPH JOHNSON ROOMED IN PROVIDENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, April 27—Joseph Johnson, about 38, was the man who was shot and killed by B. M. Terwilliger, east of here on the Providence Pike, Monday morning. Identification of the dead man was made about 8:30 Monday night by a party of six colored men who came here from Providence, after reading in evening papers of the terrific battle which cost Johnson his life.

They said that he had been living in a rooming house in Providence about a year and had come to that city from Baltimore, where he has a sister. One of the party said that late last Friday afternoon he had in response to Johnson's request, made him a loan of $5. Johnson left the rooming house sometime during Friday night and no more was heard of him after that time. The men who identified him said that he had been a clean living man, always quiet and peaceable and they could not account for his attempts to hold up automobilists and the desperate assault he made on Mr. Terwilliger.

PALACE FIVE WINS CLOSE MATCH FROM CHARTER OAK TEAM OF HARTFORD

The Palace Bowling Five of Norwich scored a close victory over the Charter Oak five of Hartford Monday evening at the Palace alleys. The Hartford team which is made up of some of the leading bowlers of the Capitol City is considered the premier bowling five-man combination in the state. The match last evening which is the first of a series with the Hartford team was won by a scant margin of 12 pins.

Mike Morin won the match for the local bowlers when he picked up two difficult spares in the two final frames, leading them with enough pins to win the match. Morin had high three with 350 and Genovese captured high single with 142.

The Palace team rolls a return match at Hartford on Friday evening and on Wednesday evening meets the Westerly Five in a return match at the Palace alleys. The Palace team beat the Westerly five by 75 pins in the last match rolled last week.

The scores:

DEMPSEY PLANS TOUR OF EUROPEAN RINGS

New York, April 27. — Abandoning hope of arranging a heavyweight championship fight until after the Tunney-Gibbons and Wills-Weinert matches here in June, Jack Dempsey tonight announced he would sail for Europe with his wife, the former Estelle Taylor, on May 6.

The champion bokoed passage for the overseas after another conference with promoter Tex Rickard, to whom he has assigned the task of selecting the leading challenger. Rickard reiterated his statement that it would be "ridiculous" for him to sign Wills, Tunney or Gibbons for title fights at this time, in view of the bouts in which they are scheduled to perform in June.

Although the state athletic commission has accepted the challenge of Harry Wills, Rickard has expressed doubt as to the outcome of the negro's fight with Charley Weinert of Newark, pointing to the fact that Weinert disposed of Jole Firpo in more decisive manner than Wills. Rickard has indicated his belief that Weinert, a fast, clever boxer, may give Wills so keen a fight that the latter will be removed from consideration.

Dempsey announced that he would remain in Europe until cabled by Rickard that he had chosen a suitable opponent, and boxing followers took this to indicate that the champion will probably not fight this year. Owing to the fact that Dempsey demands three months for training, it was not expected that Rickard could schedule a championship fight within the present outdoor season.

The champion said he expected to visit the boxing commission tomorrow, accompany with Rickard, and acquaint the heavyweight situation as he sees it.

FAST FIGHTING FEATURES BRIDGEPORT BOXING CARD

Bridgeport, Aphil 27.—Steve Smith, of Bridgeport, and George Day of New Haven, fought to a draw in the feature bout of a six-round boxing programme here tonight.

Shiek Leonard, of Wallingford, and Kid Carson of Holyoke, Mass., also battled to even terms in the semi-final.

Red Garren, of Waterbury, carried off a close decision over Joe Morgan, of Bridgeport in the third bout.

Phil Jackson of Bridgeport scored a technical knockout over Johannes Daniels, of Cuba, when Referee McCarthy refused to count over Daniels when he went to the canvas after being hit by a left jab. Daniels made two trips to the floor and it appeared that he had not been hit squarely either occasion.

Steve Culver, of Bridgeport, won the verdict over Joe King, also of Bridgeport, in the opening bout.

YOUNG COULON LOSES CLOSE DECISION TO KID SMOKE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New Bedford, Mass., April 27.—Young Coulon of Taftville lost a close decision to Kid Smoke, of Taunton, Mass., here tonight in the semi-final of the boxing card at the Elm Rink. Kid Smoke substituted for Rollason, recently crowned national amateur flykeight champion. Rollason at the last minute decided that he would remain in the amateur ranks for the time being and forego the more profitable professional game. Coulon made a scrappy fight out of his battle with Kid Smoke and the honors were about even. The decision did not meet with popular favor.

ROSENBERG IS SUSPENDED BY MICHIGAN COMMISSION

Detroit, April 27.—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, bantamweight champion of the world, has been suspended indefinitely from boxing in Michigan, by Louis Plies, boxing commissioner.

The action resulted from Rosenberg's refusal to weigh in for his scheduled fight here Friday with Jackie Nichols, Detroit boxer.

DANIELSON CLUB GETS AWAY TO GOOD START

The Danielson baseball club got away to a good start Sunday afternoon by defeating the fast Putnam team 14 to 0 in a free hitting game. Bucher, DeForest, Pereault, Bernier and Casiprek lead the attack. Nelson of the Putnam team was a star for the visitors. Pereault and Bucher was the battery for Danielson and Caffery and C. Nelson did the battery work for Putnam.

HARVARD FOOTBALL SQUAD OUT FOR SPRING PRACTICE

Cambridge, Mass., April 27—The Harvard football squad was cut to 34 men, the first day of spring practice on Soldiers' field. Those dropped were turned over to Jimmy Knox for development into second string material.

Coach Edward Stevens also announced a cut. Only two varsity crews with one extra man will continue training but Edward Brown will build class crews out of those dropped. The cut in the baseball squad which will be announced tomorrow, will eliminate all but sixteen men, an unprecedented move for this time of the season. Four pitchers, two catchers and an extra man each for the infield and outfield will be retained, it was said.

BEARS HIT FORTUNE HARD AND BEAT PONIES

Bridgeport, April 27—Bridgeport batted the veteran Gary Fortune hard and defeated the Ponies in the second straight game of their series here this afternoon 7 to 3. Crandall was strong in all save the seventh inning when the Hampdens scored both of their runs.

The batting of Wotell and Kirkham stood out. Score:

BULKELEY BASEBALL TEAM, WILL BE GUESTS OF NORWICH CLUB IN NEW YORK

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, April 27—The Bulkeley baseball trip to New York City which has been postponed several times is to be taken this week. It has been like the proverbial Finnegan in sending his message to his superior that the train was off the track, "on again, off again, on again, signed Finnegan." So the Bulkeley arrangements for the trip to the Metropolis has been declared on and off numerous times, but with the week reached when something must be learned definitely about the trip, the Bulkeley management was fortunate enough to secure a game with Morris High for Friday which consummated arrangements. The Bulkeley squad will leave New London by the boat to New York after their game with George Washington High of Meriden on Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday afternoon, the day the Bulkeley nine arrives in New York, Fordham Freshmen will be their opponents and on the following day Morris High will be engaged in a contest which terminates Bulkeley's baseball activities in Gotham. Plans in their promise to make things pleasant for the Bulkeley squad when they arrive in the Big City to play their series, the Norwich society with Charles F. Noyes at the helm, has arranged for an attractive entertainment for the Bulkeley ball crashers. The entertainment consists of a dinner at the Crescent Athletic Club at 6.15. Soon after dinner the entire squad will be the guests of the Norwich society and the Crescent Athletic club at a boxing show or a theatre party.

A telegram was received by Manager Martin Harris of the Bulkeley team this morning from Charles F. Noyes explaining what the proposed plans of the Bulkeley squad would be. A police escort will meet the taxicabs which will convey the Bulkeley squad to the Crescent athletic club headquarters. A prominent judge will be one of the honored guests of the occasion, while William T. McNamara and Francis P. Dent, who are both working with Mr. Noyes to make the stay for the Bulkeley squad a pleasant one, are the other men who formulated the plans which are to be carried out on Thursday. A game is pending with Columbia University freshmen for Saturday making it four contests in as many days for the Bulkeley team.

Mr. Noyes was a visitor in this city Saturday and witnessed the game between the Norwich Free Academy and Bulkeley nines at Morgan field. Bulkeley was the victor by an overwhelming margin. Bulkeley appreciates the entertainment which Mr. Noyes and other Norwich men have planned especially for the baseball squad. This will be about the only trip the Bulkeley team will make this season, for the majority of the games are scheduled to be played in this city.

SO. WINDHAM TEAM OPENS SEASON WITH VICTORY

The South Windham All-Stars started the season auspiciously Sunday by defeating Eagleville, six to three in ten innings at Eagleville. The game was a pitchers' battle between Hart of Eagleville and Mathewson of the All-Stars until the tenth inning when the All-Stars went on a batting rampage and scored three runs, putting the game on ice. After getting away to a bad start, Matty settled down and it was purely luck on the losers part, that the game went an extra inning. The game was full of thrills one of them being McKinney's catch of Pinkie White's long line drive that was labelled for a home run.

The same two teams play at Recreation Park, May 3rd, and if it is as good a game as this one it will be well worth seeing. The All-Stars are fast rounding into shape and will give any team in the state plenty of competition. They have one open date on May 24th and pending an answer from Putnam would like to play any fast team away from home.

McGRAW CELEBRATES HIS ENTRY INTO BASEBALL

New York, April 27—John J. McGraw, manager of the champion New York Giants of the National league, today celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of his entry into professional baseball.

A scrawny lad of seventeen weighing little more than a hundred pounds, McGraw made his start with the Olean, N. Y., club of the Oil and Iron League, on April 27, 1890. In the language of the man who last year piloted the New York Club to its fourth consecutive pennant, he was a "terrible bush."

He declared today he played so poorly that after six games he was benched. The Olean club had lost all of the games in which he appeared.

McGraw, who had been a pitcher prior to joining the Olean club, later made good as a third baseman and in the middle of the season of 1891 joined the Baltimore Orioles.

Plainfield High Defeats Alumni

In a hotly contested game, Saturday afternoon, Plainfield High defeated the P. H. S. Alumni by the score of 7 to 6.

The game was full of thrills and kept the large crowd of spectators on their feet until the last man was out.

The Alumni lived up to their name of being heavy hitters but the brilliant and wonderful playing of the Plainfield High outfielders who brought down several long flies after long runs led to their down fall.

The Alumni scored first in the first inning but Plainfield went ahead in the second by scoring two runs. In the third the Alumni went ahead when they scored three runs on a double, two singles and errors.

Neither side scored again until the sixth when the High school scored 4 runs on 2 errors and 2 hits, but the Alumni tied the score in their half of the inning. Stevens scored the winning run for the High school lads when he walked and scored on Magg's's double in the last of the eighth. The Alumni tried hard to even the count in the ninth when after one out Williams lined out a double but Bibeault and Briggs went out on long flies to the outfield. The Alumni seemed to weaken after Jouret, star catcher, was injured and had to leave the game. Jouret, Denison, West and W. Eaton played well for the Alumni while, Allard, Wallace and Tyler were the best bets for the High school. Features of the game were a bare-handed catch by West and a home run by French.

Following is the lineup:

Plainfield High—Stevens, 3rd; Boyle 1st.; French, ss.; Tyler lf. and p.; Allard c; Gallup, cf.; Maggia, 2nd. Wallace lf.; and p.; Brown lf.; W. Williams rf.

AGGIES CLASH WITH COLBY THIS AFTERNOON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, April 27—The Connecticut Aggies will play their first home game of the season tomorrow, when they entertain Colby on Gardner Dow Field at Storrs. It will be the third start of the season for Dole's men, and Connecticut followers are hoping that their team will break into the victory column tomorrow. The Aggies dropped their first game to Brown, and last week they tied with Wesleyan at Middletown.

Dole is planning to start George Wells, New Milford boy, in the box against the Pine Tree Staters. Wells is a veteran twirler, and his work thus far has been good. Wardle, though handicapped by a finger injury received in the Wesleyan contest, is expected to do the backstopping. Dole has announced no changes in his lineup for tomorrow's game, though Savem, East Hartford boy may get a chance in the outfield. He has been showing up well in practice, and he will make some of the regulars hustle to hold their berths.

Colby is bringing a good fielding team to Storrs, but one that lacks experienced battery men. The Maine team has three pitchers in Mason, Heal and Trainor, but as it is the first year of varsity playing for this trio, their ability is more or less of an unknown quantity. The catchers, Chase and Peabody, are also playing their first season of varsity competition. With the exception of second baseman Erickson, however, the remainder of the Colby team is made up of veterans, and they combine fast fielding ability with heavy hitting.

An exhibition game with the University of Maine nine, which Colby lost by a 8-3 score, is the only contest played to date by the Waterville team. Adverse weather conditions have prevented the Colby ball tossers from getting much outdoor work, and the team has been severely handicapped in this respect. Edward C. Roundy, a graduate of Hampden-Sidney College is serving his first season as baseball coach at Colby.

Coach Dole's Connecticut team went through a fast session of fielding and hitting practice in the final preparation for the Colby invasion. Though still a trifle weak with the stick, the Aggies have what shapes up as the best fielding team in several seasons. Dole's infield selection of Makofski, Schofield, O'Brien, and Captain Ahearn looked especially good in practice today, and Colby will find this quartet a difficult one to get the ball through.

Colby—MacGowan, (Capt.) 1b, Chase or Peabody, c, Mason, Heal, or Trainor, p, Erickson, b. Smart or O'Brien, 3b; B. Fransen or Hannifen, ss: Fagerstrom, rf, E. Fransen, cf, Cutler or Callaghan, lf.

Connecticut—O'Brien, ss, Makofski, 1b, Ahearn (Capt.) 3b, Wardle, c, Schofield, 2b, Seymour, lf, Tiernan, cf, Gilbert, rf, Wells, p.

Umpire: Reardon, Waterbury. Game called at 4:00 p. m.

DUNGAREE LEAGUE IS FORMED AT SUB BASE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, April 27—Following its usual custom of forming an interdepartment league to select the nine players which will represent the Submarine Base on the diamond this summer, Lieutenant Grisham athletic officer at the government reservation has drafted six teams to constitute the league this year. The league will retain the same name under which it operated last year, the Dungaree league. The department teams and their supervisors for the season are as follows:

Engineers Dept.—Lieut. Carlyle Craig, coach; U. S. S. Chewink—Lieut. Harry E. Stengel, coach; Submarine Division—Lieut. N. S. Ives, coach; Submarine School—Lieut. Robert H. Barnes, coach; Marine Corps—Capt. Merritt Curtis, coach; First Lieutenants' Department—Boatswain Ralph E. Hawes, coach.

The intense rivalry which marked this league's activities last year in the games played, will no doubt be much in evidence again this year. It is one of the preliminary steps which lead to the direct organization of the regular baseball team.

As the Sub Base team has entered a nine in the City league in this city, and the league which will get under way on May 12, the Base will have to get busy to organize for the coming season. An altogether different policy will be in vogue with the organization of the team this year, and outside of the games to be played in the City league and with service teams in this section, the Base will not compete with outside teams.

GOSLIN'S HOMER BEATS RED SOX IN NINTH

Boston, April 27—Goslin's home run into the right field bleachers, followed by a pass, an infield out and Peckinpaugh's double to left, gave Washington two runs in the ninth inning today, enough to defeat Boston, 2 to 1. A leaping one-hand catch by Rice against the right field bleachers robbed Boone of what looked like a home run in the fourth. Vache's double, after Prothro's walk and Boone's single in the sixth accounted for Boston's runs. The score:

NEW LONDON MOTORIST SPEEDED PAST TROLLEY CAR AT WRONG TIME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, April 27—Viscardo Benvenuti, of 9 Chelsea street, will be in the police court tomorrow morning charged with violation of the automobile laws in passing a standing trolley car while discharging passengers. Benvenuti was operating his car in a northerly direction on Montauk avenue. A south-bound trolley car came to a stop near Darrow street and as passengers alighted, the automobile speeded by the car at an alleged fast rate of speed. Sergeant James Sullivan was one of the alighting passengers and he caused Benvenuti to be ordered to trial.

Samuel H. Wallace, 39, for a number of years employed by the W. R. Perry Ice company, died late Saturday at his home in Waterford.

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine Faulkner Dart, widow of Robert A. M. Dart, were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home, 9 Cutler street. Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of the Groton Heights Baptist church, officiating. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in Starr cemetery, Groton.

Whether John Mateo or the city will become possessed of $50 which is in the custody of the police court will be decided tomorrow when the court convenes. Mateo deposited it Sunday night, when arrested for a breach of the peace and when the money severed to gain his liberty for him. The man and five companions came in from Uncasville, where they are engaged in road work, to see the sights and to spend some of their hard-earned [illegible] were found on the [illegible] Mateo, a colored woman, in Bank street after midnight when a woman yelled from a window that a S. [illegible] Mateo and that he had given her his money with her. That did not explain to the officers why he and his friends should arouse the neighborhood at midnight so they took him to the station that the party might [illegible] with the man at home. The result was that there appeared in court as to what the Uncle Sam said in view of the [illegible] John was told to [illegible] $20 or go to a cell, so he chose the latter and left the room [illegible] he was returning his friend to a home [illegible] he did show up in court [illegible] he was given the chance to come forward while the bond was being read or can not take advantage of his funds. His bond was declared forfeited to the question of whether the [illegible] to confirm to stand [illegible] depositing the money will hinge.

Raymond Hurley's Pierce-Arrow automobile did a stunt on Pearl street after church Sunday when he sought to go from his place of business to his home. The machine ran on the sidewalk near the corner of Bank street and carried away a section of the fence. Officer Selvia reported that to do such damage as was done the driver of the automobile must have been up Mr. Hurley said the latter was in the police court yesterday. Prosecutor Hollandersky told me what occurred to Hurley in court and the latter told Mr. Hurley he would have to pay $25 and the cost of trial. This was about $35. Mr. Hurley was of the opinion that auto repairing was expensive, but he settled out with the sworn intention of not being caught again.

Ralph Montage forfeited a bond of $25 because he did not appear to answer for operating an automobile without having either registration for the machine or the authority to operate it.

Henry S. Robinson of Waterford came to town and loaded in with what goes for whiskey. He was found in that condition and was in court to tell about it. He succeeded in convincing the court that he was not an offender with intent, so judgment was suspended.

James Fanello came here from Massachusetts some time ago, and after him came a statement from Massachusetts authorities that he had been the cause of a woman's trouble in the Bay State and asking for his detention here, that an officer might be able to get him at a later date. James was arrested and in spite of his assertion that the Massachusetts case had been disposed of he was held till he decided to return to Massachusetts and face his accusers. He had gone with an officer this morning so the case in the local court was nolled. The same disposition was made of a case against John O'Neill, of Connecticut avenue, accused of failing to support his wife and children in Philadelphia. O'Neill had returned to the city of Brotherly Love, so the proceedings against him here were disposed of.

Several members of the Masonic fraternity went to Norwich this evening to attend the session of the Scottish rites and witness work in the 7th degree. New London Masons declare that they are always handsomely treated in Norwich and that the work is such that elicits the heartiest praise from all who behold it.

Miss Lillian LaMotte, of Ocean avenue; Mrs. Courtland Palmer, Federal street; Mrs. Charles Amerdeene, Groton; Mrs. Barclay Robinson, Westerly, and D. Wayland Markin, Westerly, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were discharged today.

Henry R. Griswold has sold a building lot on Ashcraft road to Bertha Goska.

The long-looked-for report of the special committee of the city council, which conducted the many weeks of probing to determine the efficiency of the police department will be submitted to City Manager William A. Holt during the present week. According to Councilman Edward L. Streeter Jr., chairman of the committee, the report will be in the hands of the city manager within the next three or four days. Councilor Streeter stated this afternoon that there was not the slightest chance of the report being handed to the city manager tonight, when the city council convened in regular session, but that in all probability the report would be given to City Manager Holt not later than Thursday or Friday. After the report is handed to the city manager it will be for that official to make any recommendations he may deem proper to bring about an attempted improvement in the efficiency of the department, either by the dismissal of officers or causing their demotion or by the adoption of a new set of rules and regulations.

The committee was created the latter part of last October by a vote of the council and the appointment of the committee was made by City Manager Holt.

The condition of Frank Genearella, 5, Westerly child who is under treatment at the Mitchell ward of Lawrence hospital suffering from spinal meningitis and whom his father attempted to remove from the ward early Sunday morning, is reported this afternoon as being slightly improved. It is doubtful if the child recovers, for the hospital officials hold out but slight hopes of the child getting better.

An automobile owned and driven by Edward Miller, Old Lyme, was wrecked and Miller was slightly injured this forenoon when the machine got beyond control of the driver and overturned on Pequot avenue, near Lower Boulevard. Miller's injuries consisted of minor lacerations and bruises. Miller was driving his machine in a southerly direction when it overtook a car owned and driven by James Smith, of Dunson avenue, employed by the Connecticut company, as motorman. In attempting to pass Smith's machine Miller operated his car to the [illegible] of the Connecticut company [illegible] are not covered [illegible] was the speed of the car that it zig-zagged over the [illegible] to get beyond control of Miller and overturned.

Miller placed responsibility for the [illegible] Smith declaring that [illegible] passed the road. Miss Ruth M. McGarry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGarry, became the bride of [illegible] St. Mary's Star of the Sea church at 9 o'clock this morning of [illegible] E. Barry, son of Mrs. Ellen Barry of Camden, N. J. The ceremony was performed at a high nuptial mass celebrated by the Rev. Timothy M. Crowley, D. D. pastor, who was assisted by Rev. Thomas J. Whalen, pastor of the Church of the Holy Name, Camden, N. J. Many friends and relatives witnessed the marriage. Solos were sung by Misses Helen Ganey and Jane O'Brien, the organ accompaniments being by Edward Hands. Maurice Roche, William Bunting, Joseph McGarry, Jr., were ushers. The church decorations were of palms, jonquils and other spring flowers. Guests were present from Norwich, North Haven, Meriden, New York, Springfield, Hartford, Philadelphia and Camden.

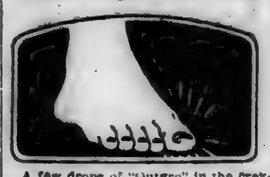
The bride was given in marriage by her father, Joseph McGarry. She was attended by her sister, Marion, as bridesmaid. The bride's costume was of white georgette with a hat of the same material faced with white tace braid. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's frock was of rose georgette trimmed with gold lace. She wore a rose colored hat and carried orchid sweet peas. A breakfast was served after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Barry have gone to Old Point Comfort, Va., on their wedding trip. After May 15 they will be at home at 208 Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, N. J.

The bride is a prominent member of the Crowley club and until recently has been secretary to President Benjamin T. Marshall of Connecticut college.

Mr. Barry is a fourth degree Knight of Columbus and is city freight agent for the Rock Island railroad at Philadelphia.

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself



A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

SLOT MACHINE CASES IN WATERFORD COURT

New London, April 27—Postmaster William Saunders, of Jordan Village; Philip Rappaport, of Graniteville, Richard B. Smith, proprietor of Red Top Gasoline station, Station 9, William Hendrickson, member of board of relief, Waterford, and William Chappell, Golden Spur, were presented on continuance in Firemen's hall, Waterford, this evening before Justice of the Peace Frederick L. Goss, charged with maintaining gaming devices. Saunders, Rappaport, Smith and Chappell, were fined $10 and costs and paid. Hendrickson was granted a continuance until Wednesday evening in order to permit him to confer with owners of the machine. Tony Sabilla, Station 5, Waterford, was not arraigned, having been granted a continuance also until next Wednesday, because of a business matter calling him from the town.

All of the accused, together with Julian Rondomanski, Willetts avenue extension and James W. Dickinson, Station 4, were arrested a week ago by state police from the Groton barracks when their respective places were visited in search of slot machines. Rondomanski and Dickinson were fined the same day of their arrest but the other cases were continued until this afternoon.

Another hearing will take place Wednesday night for the purpose of determining whether the machines seized shall be destroyed. Since the arrest of the accused it has developed that there are two companies distributing the machines and representatives of the concerns have retained counsel to represent their interests.

JEWETT CITY

The untiring efforts and time given by Joseph Rosenberg and Rev. J. W. Payne and the sympathy of the people, have brought the Gariska-Ossa fund to $852.25. The two families are most appreciative of the generosity of so many people who have been ready with their time and money to do something to help them in their trouble.

Rheuma Acts on Kidneys, Liver and Bladder the Very First Day.

Get a bottle of Rheuma today and wear a satisfied smile on your face tomorrow.

It's a remedy that is astonishing the whole country, and it's just as good for gout, sciatica, lumbago, and kidney misery as for rheumatism.

It drives the poisonous waste from the joints and muscles — that's the secret of Rheuma's success.

But we don't ask you to take our word for it; go to Lee & Osgood, or any good druggist and get a bottle of Rheuma today; if it doesn't do as we promise get your money back. It will be there waiting for you.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS COST $2,000 IN CHAPMAN TRIAL

Failure by State's Attorney Alcorn to use available state policemen for the Chapman murder trial cost the state of Connecticut approximately $2,000, it was revealed by the state's attorney's expense account of the case just made public.

Slightly more than that amount was shown to have been paid to deputy sheriffs for guard duty. Superintendent Hurley of the state police authorized the statement that state policemen were available to Mr. Alcorn at all times during the Chapman trial without additional expense to the state, but that the state police were not called upon for any assistance by the state's attorney's office. The four state policemen who helped to guard the automobile in which Chapman was taken to and from the state prison to the court house were assigned at the request of the warden of the prison, H. K. W. Scott, said Mr. Hurley.

Deputy sheriffs, who stood guard in the court room or otherwise did police service in connection with the murder trial, were paid at the rate of $10 a day. Mr. Alcorn's statement showed. Trained state policemen are paid by the state at the rate of $5 a day. One of the deputy sheriffs received $495 for 33 days' services, which was at the rate of $70 a week or $3,650 a year. Part of this expense was for personal guard duty of the state's attorney during the trial, to frustrate any attempt to injure him.

Hickey's Expenses $5,309.80

Every item of expense, even to tips to waiters on Pullman dining cars, is included in the itemized list of expenditures of County Detective Edward J. Hickey, which is included in the taxable costs of the case. The total expenditures of the county detective, which included the investigation costs of the case and the transportation and accommodations furnished witnesses from points far distant from Hartford amounted to $5,309.80.

The report contains several payments made to "Informer J. W." which total $291. The identity of the informer for apparent reasons is kept secret.

Some considerable investigation was made at White River Junction, Vt., it having been ascertained that Chapman had registered at the Junction House in that city, where he was known as a prohibition agent. Witnesses were in Hartford to be used in rebuttal, if such testimony were necessary, but as Chapman admitted he was in this section of the country at the time claimed by the state the testimony eventually was not required.

There has been much speculation as to the amount paid Louis Kubeck, proprietor of the Old Colony Inn at Meriden and his waitress, Lillian Knell. The report shows that on April 2 Kubeck was paid $35 and Miss Knell $60 for their transportation and attendance in court.

It was the first time State's Attorney Alcorn has made public an itemized list of expenses in connection with a large trial, and it was done presumably as the result of a new state law, adopted two weeks ago to require the state's attorneys to show the different purposes for which expenditures are made in criminal cases. One expert was paid $100 a day and Mr. Alcorn and others $75 a day.

$700 for Silent Witness

Two bullet experts for the state cost $1,000 and the services of a handwriting expert who never testified, cost $700. These were some of the items which went to make up the total cost of $16,766.28. Mr. Alcorn submitted the statement to Judge Newell Jennings, who approved it at his home in Bristol.

Extra Detectives $500

The nitro-glycerine expert who testified and made tests of the liquid found in the Lincoln murder car, received $400 for his services; the Pinkerton National Detective bureau received $510.25 for its services in connection with the case; and 31 witnesses kept at the Bond hotel from March 21 to April 4 cost the state $2,116.21.

Experts $75 a Day

The two bullet experts whose services cost nearly $1,000 were Roy D. Jones of the Smith & Wesson Co., Springfield, Mass., and J. Henry Fitzgerald of Hartford, a fire arms expert of the Colt Patent Fire Arms Co. For five days' services Jones received $375 or $75 a day, and expense money of $36.20. For eight days' services Fitzgerald received $600 or $75 a day, and expense money of $34.56. Their total bills were $1,044.56. Fitzgerald and Jones both swore that the bullet removed from the body of Patrolman James Skelly, for whose murder Chapman has been sentenced to hang on June 25, was fired from the bandit's nickel-plated Smith & Wesson revolver.

In the various departments of the United States government women are employed as chemists, microanalysists, medical assistants, labratory assistants, bacteriologists, plant pathologists and geologists.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions

A disturbance of considerable intensity is centered some distance east of Newfoundland and another disturbance is over Nova Scotia. An area of high pressure is moving Eastward over the upper Mississippi Valley and the Lake Region. The temperature was warmer Monday from Northern Louisiana, Northeastward to New England and Quebec. Elsewhere temperature changes were slight as a rule.

Generally fair weather will prevail Tuesday and Wednesday in the Northeastern section of the Washington forecast district.

The temperature will be lower Tuesday in the Atlantic states as far South as Central Georgia.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook:—Fresh to strong North and Northeast and weather partly overcast Tuesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras:—Fresh to strong North and Northeast and weather overcast and showery Tuesday.

For Southern New England:—Fair and cooler in North and increasing cloudiness and cooler in South portion Tuesday, Wednesday fair.

TAFTVILLE

All the industries and stores of the town adopted daylight saving time Monday. Most of the inhabitants stuck to standard time Sunday, as both the local churches held their services on that time, although next Sunday, all religious services will be on daylight time. The schools have also adopted the new time, but the scholars at the Wequonnoc school are doing little worrying about the time this week, as they are enjoying a five day vacation.

Joseph Phalen of South A street and Stanley Franjkid of Norwich avenue spent Sunday in Jewett City.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Pingree of Goodyear, Conn., were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pingree of North Third avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hormisdas Germain and family have taken a house on Norwich avenue.

A meeting of the Taftville Business Men's association was held Monday evening.

The Community Sewing class met Monday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

Miss Mary Taggart was the leader of the meeting of the Young People's society of Christian Endeavor, held Sunday evening in the vestry of the Taftville Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Kellner and children, William and Virginia, of Preston were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Kellner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel L. Aberg of North Third avenue.

Miss Rosella Murphy of South A street is spending a few days with friends in Easthampton, Conn.

Miss Anita Arcande of Allison, Mass., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Archambeault of Norwich avenue.

Mrs. William F. Chamberlain of South A street is spending some time at Lakewood, N. J.

Jesse Moore of Hartford, Conn., was in town calling on friends Monday afternoon.

Ponemah Council, No. 34, K. of C., held a meeting Monday evening in their rooms on Providence street with Grand Knight John J. Daley presiding.

Mrs. Eleanor Marion of South A street has returned from Willimantic, where she has been a patient at St. Joseph's hospital.

The Sacred Heart Dramatic club gave their play, For the Love of Johnny, in Wauregan, Sunday evening, before a large and appreciative audience.

Mrs. Clarence J. Nagle of South Second avenue has been spending several days in Boston, Mass.

Miss Roberta Crowe of South Manchester is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crowe of South A street.

A Hartford paper recently had an interesting article regarding Lewis A. Tillinghast of North Third avenue, who is soon to leave town to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Roy L. Taylor of New Haven, and his son, George Courtland Tillinghast of Nyack, N. Y. Tillinghast was one of the early settlers of the village, having lived here and been in the employ of the Ponemah mills for almost 53 years. Until recently he has been employed in the office of the mills. While his many friends regret that he is to leave town, they are of the opinion that he deserves the rest that he is about to take. Mr. Tillinghast tells some interesting stories about the town when he came here to make his home. At that time the company's store was located in one of the mill tenements, and a good sized sand bank ran along the place where the present mill office building stands. The road which later became Norwich avenue ran along very close to the mill buildings instead of where it is now. At one time Mr. Tillinghast's hobby was thoroughbred poultry which he exhibited at different New England shows where he was awarded many prizes.

Hugh H. Osgood lodge, I. O. O. F., M. U., gave a very enjoyable social and dance at Ponemah hall Saturday evening. The Harmony Sextette furnished music for the occasion, and dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

W. R. Wood who for some time was located at the Ponemah house, is now making his residence in Paterson, N. J.

Miss Bertha Sydlo of Terrace avenue has resigned her position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah company.

Miss Elizabeth Houston of South Second avenue was a visitor in Plainfield Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. Edward Davignon and family of Plainfield have been recent guests of Mrs. Davignon's mother, Mrs. Mary McCarthy of Merchant's avenue.

NORWICH INDUSTRIES THROWN OPEN FOR VISIT OF OVER 500 BOYS

Boys' Day in Industry will be observed today (Tuesday) in the Boys' week programme and promises to be one of the high spots of the week for the boys. Seventeen of the industrial plants of the city and two in adjoining towns have thrown open their doors for the visit of the future men of affairs and each boy has been given the choice of what industry he desires to visit.

Over 500 boys will be apportioned out among the various manufacturing places, according to the arrangements that have been made by the committee headed by James M. Morton. All the boys have been notified of the time and place where they are to gather and transportation will be provided where it is necessary.

The concerns to be visited and the number of boys for each place are the following:

American Thermos Bottle Co. 74, American Woolen Co. 26, Atlantic Carton Corporation 10, Carpenter Mfg. Co. 4, Crescent Fire Arms Co. 80, Eastern Connecticut Power Co. 57, Norwich fire department 36, Robert Gair Co., Montville, 33; International Silver Co. 9, J. B. Martin Co., 48, Norwich Belt Mfg. Co. 18 Norwich Gas and Electric department 18, Palmer Bros., Fitchville, 14, United Metal Manufacturing Co. 5, United States Finishing Co. 100, Southern New England Telephone Co. 27, Norwich Savings Society 12.

The spirit of co-operation that has been shown by the manufacturers in making it possible for the boys to visit their plants is greatly appreciated by the committee that has had charge of this day and has desired to make it a notable event for the boys in the observance of Boys' Week.

ATTENDED DINNER TO PROFESSOR JOHN A. HUGO

Among those present at a dinner given Professor John Adam Hugo recently, in the Stratfield ballroom, Bridgeport, were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rudd Hussey of Beechwood avenue, Bridgeport. Mrs. Hussey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bogue of this city. The occasion was the presentation of the David Bispham Memorial medal, awarded Professor Hugo for his opera "The Temple Dancer" which has been produced at the Metropolitan Opera house, in Chicago, and in Honolulu. Many distinguished guests were present including the Baroness von Klenner, founder and president of the National Opera association, Mrs. Downes, president of the State Federation of Music clubs, Professor Jepson, of Yale university, Victor Biart, musician and classmate of Mr. Hugo at Stuttgart, and Leonard Liebling, editor of the "Musical Courier." The presentation was made by Mrs. Susan Hawley Davis, president of the Wednesday Afternoon Musical club, with whom Mrs. Hussey is a student of voice culture.

DEATH OF J. HARRY MANN FORMER CITY COURT JUDGE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putam, April 27—J. Harry Mann, 74, died at his home on Grove street this afternoon after two days' illness with pneumonia. He was an insurance agent, prominent locally and known throughout the state. Although his health was impaired he had been giving his business daily attention and was at his office Thursday. He has lived in Putnam nearly forty years. During Gov. Baldwin's second term he was appointed judge of the city court. He had been city auditor for many years and was holding this office at the time of his death. He was a member of the Masonic order and a charter member Putnam lodge fo Elks. His wife and three children survive, Jerome Mann of New York city, Mrs. Howard Knight of Bridgeport and Miss Edna Mann, who lives at home.

YANTIC FIRE COMPANY FIGHTS BRUSH FIRES

The Yantic fire apparatus responded to a telephone call Monday morning about 10 o'clock for a good sized brush fire on several acres of land on Tanner street, Norwich Town. The land is owned by Charles Ames, George Randall and a Polish man. During the early afternoon the Yantic company was called out for a brush fire on the old Maples place on Wauwecus Hill. A considerable area of land was burned over before the blaze was extinguished. In getting to the fire the apparatus got mired in a swampy land and was pulled out with considerable difficulty.

SUES COLCHESTER TO HAVE BRIDGE REBUILT

Joseph Pierkars of Colchester, has brought suit in the superior court to compel that town to erect a bridge joining property of the plaintiff with land of the Norton Factory Co. A bridge that originally joined the two properties collapsed some time ago and has never been replaced.

The matter of a new bridge was taken up at a town meeting and was voted down.

RECOMMENDATIONS MADE FOR PLAYGROUND WORK

The purchase of an athletic field in a suitable location is recommended in the annual report of the Norwich recreation commission, which includes the report of the playgrounds superintendent, Earl E. Brigham.

After detailing the organization and the programme of work for the past year, Mr. Brigham's report goes on to say:

The Recreation Commission is very proud to announce that the attendance figures for the second year nearly doubled those of the first year. The exact figures for the two years are as follows:

First year 33,559

Winter Activities

We would like to do more with our winter activities but until the appropriation is increased this will not be possible. This year money was supplied by the commission for the scraping and conditioning of the following skating ponds:

West Side pond, Paper Mill pond, Thamesville, Old Rosemark pond, East Side.

Acknowledgments.

Valuable assistance was rendered the recreation commission for the seasons of 1923 and 1924 by the hearty co-operation of the various city departments, private associations and individuals.

The recreation movement is deeply indebted to Miss Ruth Sherbune, field secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America. Her hearty co-operation given in starting the movement deserves meritable comment.

Much credit is due Harold Bruce for the masterful way in which he organized the playground movement here in Norwich.

Thanks is due the school board for making possible the playground work by the loan of school yards and buildings for temporary use.

The commission is deeply indebted to the press of Norwich, the Norwich Record and the Norwich Bulletin, for their support and space given to playground news, notes and pictures.

Much interest was shown by the American Legion, John T. Cunningham being particularly helpful to the movement.

The Norwich Chamber of Commerce made every effort to promote and advance the aims of the department. John O'Rourke was most active in aiding the cause.

Miss Helen B. Royce, formerly secretary of the commission, was most untiring in her efforts to further the interests of the playgrounds.

The park commission very kindly loaned their office in the City hall for the use of the superintendent.

Many thanks is due John Woodmansee who loaned a piece of land on Spring Garden avenue for us as a playground.

The Atlantic Carton Co. very kindly loaned its grounds at Greeneville for playground use.

Eight Play Centers

The Recreation Commission has created eight play centers, situated as follows: Lake Street, Greeneville, Hobarth Avenue, Falls, Elizabeth street, Laurel Hill, Thamesville and East Side. The number of children who have been cared for on the play centers during the past season numbers 5,000. A high standard of recreational educational work has been attained and the foundation laid for more extensive work in the future.

The results justify any reasonable amount of money that can be appropriated for this work, and it is doubtful if the taxpayers of the city have received as great value for their money in any other department of the municipal government as in the recreation commission. The playgrounds were run this year at a cost of approximately .06 a child for the whole season of 40 days.

The following recommendations are submitted for your consideration:

1. Purchase of a central athletic field.
2. Provide permanent playgrounds.
3. Provide additional apparatus.

Our playground activities, particularly baseball and track are seriously handicapped by the lack of a proper playing field. Not one of our playgrounds has a baseball field of regulation size. The fields in Norwich which might be used for this purpose are either not available or not centrally located. We believe we voice the opinion of the majority of citizens of Norwich when we recommend the purchase of an athletic field with a central location.

At the present time, one playground (Lake St.) is owned by the city, two provided by private individuals (Thamesville by Mr. Woomansee and Greeneville by the Atlantic Carton Co.) and five use the public school yards (Hobart Ave., Falls, Laurel Hill, East Side and West Side). There is no certainty about the length of time we will be able to use the grounds at Greeneville and Thamesville and certainly cannot continue to use indefinitely the public school yards. We believe the playground movement is now so sufficiently established and the good work done so evident that a movement should be inaugurated for the establishment of permanent play centers.

We believe that swings, see-saws, a chute and a sand box should be permanent equipment at every play center. This is not possible with out present supply and we therefore recommend the purchase of additional apparatus.

In conclusion, hearty appreciation is extended to the citizens of Norwich and the public in general for their kind interest and loyal support throughout the season.

Financial Report

The finance report for 1924-1925 is included in the annual report of President William J. Fitzgerald as follows:

Appropriation	$4,000.00
Equipment		$1,305.81
Salaries		2,295.00
General expenses		281.60
Repairs		115.30

Total expenditures		$3,897.71
Unexpended balance		102.29
	$4,000.00	$4,000.00

The sum of $4,000 is requested for the work of the coming year. The work cannot be carried on for less in a proper manner, the report says.

The members of the commission are—William J. Fitzgerald, chairman; Richard Lewis, secretary; Mrs. A. Pasnik, treasurer; Mrs. D. Louisa Atterbury, Mrs. J. F. Drew, John M. Lee, Frank Leonard.

PAID FINES ON CHARGE OF EVADING FARE

Charged with evading their fare on a public service machine Fidel Williams and August Gomes, colored, both of this city, were sent to jail for 15 days and assessed costs of $11.10 each by Judge Arthur F. Libby in the city court Monday morning. The testimony showed that the duo hired a local taxi driver to take them to Westerly Friday night and requested him to call for them and bring them back Saturday. When they arrived back in Norwich they refused to pay their fare.

Six men paid fines for intoxication, two men were fined for breach of the peace and another man paid a fine for intoxication and breach of the peace.

Grandson on Wedding Anniversary

Sunday was the 34th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roessler of 400 West Main street. There was no formal celebration of the day but a pleasing message was the announcement of the birth of a grandson on that day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Clark, of Groton.

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

Two veterans of the Revolutionary war attended the 75th anniversary of the battle of Concord, held at Concord on the 19th inst., and were given an ovation as they arose to speak at the anniversary banquet. Both men were well over 90 years of age.

News taken in part from the Courier of 1850 is printed as follows:

Tuesday, April 23, 1850—People of Eastern Connecticut planning to go to the California gold fields will do well to read the article written by a man already on the grounds telling of conditions in that state. This man proves beyond all doubt that only one in ten are successful in getting enough out of their diggings to pay for the trip and few of them get enough to return home rich. Prices are skyhigh, he writes, and people are against those who come to California simply to pile up plenty of money, then leave for the east and home.

A report has reached Norwich that the Roger Williams' foundry and machine shop, which was lately built at a cost of $60,000 was sold at auction last Tuesday, by A. B. Dike, for $5,000, subject to a mortgage of $8,000.

In the state election for governor Mr. Seymour received 813 more votes than Mr. Foster, whig, but lacks 2341 votes of an election.

Thursday, April 25, 1850—Hitchcock's bonnet and straw bleachery, established in 1843 is advertising new spring styles for bonnets and is ready to bleach and press all kinds of straw and fancy bonnets and gentlemen's leghorn and Panama hats.

The Kent Manufacturing Company of this city is offering for sale three of the Pettee celebrated geared speeders, which have been in use only a short time.

Charles Osgood & Co. is planning to move its establishment and is offering for sale all the old stock of drugs, medicines and fixtures at reasonable prices.

At a meeting of stockholders of the New Haven and New London railroad, held Tuesday, Elias Perkins of New London was elected a director. The estimated cost of building this road is $1,200,000 and the prospect of getting this stock up is said to be most flattering. The length of the road is to be somewhat over 50 miles.

The people of Middletown are talking of building a railroad between that city and Branford, a distance of about 12 miles, to connect with the New Haven and New London railroad.

The treaty with Mr. Bulwer, the British minister, in regard to the Nicaragua affairs, was signed yesterday.

Saturday, April 27, 1850—Connecticut ranks third in the New England states for the number of newspapers published having 46 publications. Massachusetts comes first with 177, Maine second with 58 and Vermont fourth with 39. Three hundred and seventy-one papers are published in New England, 88 less than are published in New York state.

The lengthy trial of Dr. Webster, charged with murder, cost the state of Massachusetts $3,000.

People of Concord celebrated the 75th anniversary of the American victory at Concord on April 19, 1775, hundreds visiting the town for the day. Joseph Harrington, 92, who served as fifer in Capt. Perkins' company on Lexington Green and Amos Baker of Lincoln, 94, who was with Capt. Davis' company at the North Ridge, Concord, were present at the banquet and their appearance created a sensation.

ANNOUNCED ENGAGEMENT OF LIEUT. HOWARD PECKHAM

Colonel and Mrs. Frederick B. Shaw, of Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marion Shaw, to First Lieutenant Howard L. Peckham, Corps of Engineers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Peckham of Corning road, Norwich.

The announcement was made on Thursday, April 23d, at a tea dance given by Colonel and Mrs. Shaw and Miss Shaw at the Officers' club, Fort Hayes. Approximately 150 guests were present including officers and ladies of the fort and residents of Columbus.

Miss Shaw is a graduate of Washington Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia. Lieutenant Peckham graduated from Norwich Free academy in 1914 and from West Point in 1918. He was assigned as aide-de-camp to Major General Omar Bundy, U. S. army, in December, 1923, while serving in the Philippine Islands. He returned to the United States, in July, with General Bundy, who now commands the Fifth Corps area with headquarters at Fort Hayes.

The marriage will be an event of the summer.

DOCTORED ALL WINTER, FINDS RELIEF

"I doctored all winter and it didn't help a bit, but FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND was just the think for my cough and cold," writes Mr. Henry Daniel, Berrysburg, Penn. FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND is one of the largest selling cough medicines in the world. Contains no opiates—ingredients are printed on each carton. Good for old and young. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon FOLEY'S.

Just You and I

Just you and I upon a hill—
And in the distance woods and fields,
And little brooks that purl and play
And loiter slowly on their way
To join the river in the vale—
The while you smile at me!

And fleecy clouds go sailing by Like fairy boats, until it seems
We are encompassed with a sea of dreams—
Alone upon an elfin land
That reaches upward to the sky—
Just you and I!

Alone where birds—like spirits of the woods
At play—with pert and knowing looks
And chattered comment seem to say:
"Welcome to our world of beauty and delight,
Where daytime merges softly into night
And shines the evening star so bright!

"Come play with us—if so your hearts be kind,
And learn our secrets and our ways of mind,
And why we are so wiser than you human-kind—
Who waste your lives in doing foolish things—
While we seek Heaven
With our soaring wings!

Four-Leaf Clover

I know a place where the sun is like gold,
And the cherry blossoms burst with snow,
And down underneath is the loveliest nook,
Where the four-leaf clovers grow.

One leaf is for hope, and one is for faith,
And one is for love, you know
And God put another in for luck—
If you search you will find where they grow.

But you must have hope, and you must have faith,
You must love and be strong—and so
If you work, if you wait, you will find the place

GERMAN CABINET TO RETAIN OFFICE WITH HINDENBURG

Agreement Was Reached After Listening to a Report by Chancellor Luther Following a Conference With President-Elect—In Reichstag Circles an Impression Prevails That the Present Government Will Not be Interfered With by Hindenburg—Under the Present Program May 9 is Designated for the Presidential Inauguration.

Berlin, April 28—(By the A. P.)—The German cabinet tonight after listening to a report by Chancellor Luther on his conference today with President-Elect von Hindenburg, agreed unanimously to remain in office. This decision was arrived at on the ground that there was nothing in the German constitution which required the resignation of the cabinet on the occasion of the election of a new president.

Dr. Luther today carried the German government's official greetings and felicitations to Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who was visiting at Gross Lichterfelde. They discussed the inauguration program and political matters under current debate in the cabinet.

It was said that Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Dr. Luther were in full accord on all questions they discussed.

In Reichstag circles there is a very definite impression that the present government will not be interfered with by President von Hindenburg, and that he formally will request it to remain in office in its present make-up, notwithstanding the fact that it is not entirely democratic and one cent. manner. Such procedure would, in the opinion of political leaders, indicate a desire on the part of Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann to retain the good will or support of both these parties in the presidential election, thus insuring the present government a safe working majority and the necessary immunity from the aftermath of the election.

Dr. Luther will address a meeting of German industrialists tomorrow. He will refer to the significance of the presidential election in its bearing on internal and foreign issues. This will be in lieu of a government statement to the Reichstag and will be intended to placate the impatience manifested abroad over von Hindenburg's victory.

Despite the apprehension reflected in the foreign press comment on the election, government circles are taking a calm view of the post-election situation, apparently convinced that the nationalist leaders who espoused the candidacy of von Hindenburg will desist from indulging in political excesses which might terminate in a parliamentary crisis and rivet the three Weimar parties which backed Dr. Marx into a strong oppositional factor on the floor of the Reichstag.

Unless the present program is altered, Field Marshal von Hindenburg will be formally inaugurated May 9 under the republican formula. President Loebe of the Reichstag, the socialist leader, will administer the oath although this function can be carried out by one of several vice-presidents of the chamber representing other parties.

Von Hindenburg's friends obviously are desirous of having him sworn in by a Reichstag official who is not a monarchist, while the adherents of Luther's party are just as determined to have this rare prerogative devolve upon one of its members. They also may be relied upon to provide the necessary republican trimmings to the inauguration setting, so far as a liberal display of republican colors is concerned, and von Hindenburg may find himself standing under a canopy of dark red, gold flags when he utters the oath of allegiance to the republican constitution as read to him by Doctor Loebe.

Doorn, Holland, April 28—It has been learned that the former kaiser at his chateau here last night expounded the significance and importance of Hindenburg's election as related to the restoration of the monarchy and the Hohenzollern dynasty. Although who seemed in excellent health, spoke for about ninety minutes to a large audience, including his wife, the Princess Hermine, her two children, Court Marshal Von Grumbkow and others of his former imperial entourage, as well as to two high officers from Germany and one former ex-ambassador. However, it was learned that the Hohenzollern banner today floated from the chateau for the first time since the former kaiser came to Holland.

After the speech the audience broke into enthusiastic cheers of "Hoch der Kaiser!"

The servants were treated to a generous allowance of wine to celebrate the occasion.

Despite this celebration, it is said by well informed persons that Hindenburg's victory is less likely to affect the ex-kaiser personally than it will the ex-crown prince, whose influence in military quarters is said to be increasing. It is understood that the Princess Hermine has formed a favorable impression from her brief visit to Berlin.

HOW HINDENBURG ELECTION IS REGARDED IN MOSCOW

Moscow, April 28.—(By The A. P.)—The executive committee of the communist international in a pronouncement addressed to the workers of the world declared that the election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as president of Germany does not increase the chances of peace, but upon the contrary adds to the danger of a new war.

Karl Radek, who recently had friction with the executive committee but whose prestige influence in the bolshevik world had been second only to Trotsky's declared in a long article in the Pravda that the Hindenburg success shows that fifteen million voters in Germany do not curse the memory of war.

He said, however, that the election of the field marshal is not necessarily a manifestation by Germany of desire for a war of revenge but rather is an indication that the German people desire to be prepared to resist pressure by the allies.

Radek expressed the belief that there is no immediate danger of the re-establishment of the German monarchy because the Hohenzollerns have not a single popular figure to put forward. Wilhelm II is a complete

BRAUN TO HEAD COALITION MINISTRY IN PRUSSIA

Berlin, April 28—(By the A. P.)—Otto Braun, leader of the Socialists and candidate of the Socialist party for the presidency of the republic in the primary election held March 29, reappeared as a premier at the head of the three-party coalition ministry in the Prussia Diet.

After announcing the new government's program, Herr Braun informed the Diet that his cabinet would ask an immediate vote of confidence, upon the outcome of which will depend the definite solution of the Prussian preliminary crisis which has been in existence for more than three months. Braun heads the same cabinet that former Chancellor Marx organized at the time he entered Prussian politics. The cabinet comprises delegates from the Socialist, Centrist and Democratic parties. It commands only a slight majority as the German Nationalists, the German Peoples party, the Communists and several detached groups can, by a joint vote, force its retirement.

As the Right parties are determined to have Karl Severing, the Socialist Prussian Minister of the Interior, removed from politics, it is believed the resuscitated ministry headed by Herr Braun will have only a brief tenure of office and that elections for a new Diet can be reckoned upon for this spring.

"Prussia is part of Von Hindenburg's victory," declared the reactionary newspaper Reichsbote, which expresses the fear that the presence of Herr Severing in the strategic post of Minister to the Interior would prove a menace to Von Hindenburg.

WOMAN'S PLIGHT REVEALED BY FEUD OF BARGE CAPTAINS

Jersey City, N. J., April 28—The sudden flare of an old feud between two barge captains revealed to police the story of a young woman, the daughter of one barge man and the wife of the other, said to have been held prisoner on her elderly husband's coal barge for five years.

During that time, the woman's father charged, his daughter has never set foot on land or been allowed to communicate with landsmen. Since going aboard the barge as a bride, he said, she had borne three children.

The charges were made after police separated William Warn, 64, and Arthur W. Banks, 60, fighting on the Warn barge. Banks had his son-in-law arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct and later told police the story of the alleged imprisonment of his daughter, Martha Warn.

Warn kept his wife prisoner by locking her in the cabin of the barge, according to Banks' story. The children, he said, never had any schooling. Banks said he had quarreled with his son-in-law at the time of the wedding and that they had been on bad terms ever since. He said his fight with Warn, which was stopped by police, resulted from a demand on his part for the release of his daughter.

Warn will be arraigned for a hearing before Recorder Mills tomorrow.

FINANCIAL TANGLE IN CITY OF REVERE, MASS.

Boston, April 28—A revenue deficit in excess of one quarter of a million dollars faced the city of Revere, Mass., on March 1, Theodore N. Waddell, state director of the division of accounts stated today in a communication to the Mayor Thomas E. Walsh in which he charged "flagrant disregard of the laws of the state, the city charter and the city ordinances." Drastic action must be taken, he notified Mayor Walsh, if the city is to continue to transact its business in a legal manner.

The report dealt largely with the handling of the city finances in 1924, during the final term of Thomas A. Noone as mayor. Director Waddell charged that bills aggregating $83,573 had been contracted in an illegal manner; that illegal use of loan moneys for general purposes has totalled $32,-124; that during 1924 seventeen payrolls were paid without having been sworn to by heads of departments and that 61 others had not been properly sworn to and that city employes were paid in excess of their salaries as high as $123. During 1924, the report says, $2,264 was paid to Mayor Noone for "incidentals" the nature of which was not disclosed.

PLANS FOR AIRPLANE EXPLORATION OF ARCTIC

Washington, April 28—Consideration is being given by Secretary Wilbur to suggestions that an additional plane be furnished the MacMillan Arctic exploration expedition this summer, and that the dirigible Los Angeles or Shenandoah be kept in readiness for a flight to the Actic as a rescue ship in event of a mishap.

Two planes of the amphibian type with the necessary personnel are to be furnished by the navy, and the third plane, if decided upon, would be supplied with the idea of increasing the factor of safety by providing a reserve machine and personnel.

All-METAL HULL SEAPLANE WAS FORCED TO LAND

Philadelphia, April 28.—The PN-9, all metal hull seaplane, which took off from the Philadelphia navy yards today in an attempt to make a 30-hour non-stop flight, was forced to land after being in the air a little more than three hours because of a driving rain and heavy fog. The PN-9, is to be used in a proposed non-stop flight this summer from San Francisco to Honolulu.

Rescinds Ban on Gold Export

The Hague, April 28—The Netherlands finance minister announced today that prohibition upon the export of gold had been rescinded as from April 29, and that measures had been taken to stabilize the financial situation created by the change of policy. He announced that Dutch East Indies had taken the same course. Gold would not be put into internal circulation, the minister stated, and export of gold would be allowed only if the rate of exchange was above the gold level.

Exposition of Decorative Arts

Paris, April 8—Music, floral decorations and oratory played the part in the opening of the International Exposition of Decorative Arts and Modern Industries, which will be the chief summer attraction of Paris. President Doumergue touched an electrical switch which lighted the "city within the heart of Paris," from the Grand Palais and the Champs Elysees to the Invalides Monuments.

The absence of the United States from the list of exhibitors, comprising twenty one nations, was tactfully but unequivocally referred to by the speakers at the inaugural ceremonies.

FRENCH SCHOONER TAKEN WITH 3,000 CASES OF LIQUOR

New York, April 28—New York's dry fleet today recorded its second important capture off the New Jersey coast within the past two weeks when the coast guard cutter, C. G. 161 towed into port the French schooner Mousnee with a cargo of 3,000 cases of liquor valued at $150,000. A motor boat found near the schooner also was captured after several shots were fired across her bow. Ten men abroad the schooner will be charged with attempting to land liquor in the United States, coast guard officials said.

Captain Maurice LaFitte of the Mousmee denied that he intended to land any liquor. He said that he had recently left Halifax and had taken his cargo from a steamer anchored off the coast. He asserted he was on his way to Nassau, the Bahamas, when his auxiliary engine went dead off Assbury Park and he was forced to drop his anchor. Not long afterwards he was boarded by the coast guardsmen.

The Mousmee, coast guard officers said, was under bond of $5,000 from a previous capture last October when she was under British registry and was called the Dagmaritime. At that time 1400 cases of liquor were found aboard her.

KLANSMEN SURROUNDED IN FIELD IN NORTHBRIDGE

Whitinsville, Mass., April 28—More than 100 members of the Ku Klux Klan attending a meeting in a field in the center of Northbridge are held prisoners this morning by more than 200 anti-klan sympathizers who have surrounded the field and refused to let the klansmen depart. At an early hour this morning, while no violence had developed, a large quantity of rocks had been piled up near entrances to the field which were being closely watched.

Patrolman Charles H. Harriman who was sent to the scene at the beginning of the meeting was stood on his head and his face rubbed in the dirt by the crowd of anti-klan sympathizers when he attempted to make them "move along." Other policemen in the town responded to emergency calls and managed to keep order while the Klansmen huddled together in the center of the field.

A huge fiery cross which had been erected in the center of the field has not been set off.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

The German election continued to be a subject for serious thought in Washington.

Naval officials declared important lessons would result from the Hawaiian maneuvers.

Reorganization of the prohibition unit was indicated by Assistant Secretary Andrews.

William S. Culbertson of Kansas, vice-chairman of the tariff commission, accepted the post of minister to Rumania.

England's return to a gold basis was hailed by the treasury as a reconstruction step of first importance.

The academy of sciences continued its sessions with the Einstein theory of relativity a leading subject of discussion.

Official reports were received of the perfection by German chemists of a new odorless, which may threaten the American wood alcohol industry.

Will Form New French Cabinet

Paul Painleve, President of the French Chamber of Deputies, who has accepted the bid of President Doumergue to form a new Ministry, to succeed that of the resigned Premier Herriot's.

The distinguished actor, Louis Bouwmeester, known as the "Henry Irving of Holland," died in Amsterdam, aged 82.

Gasoline Price War Likely in Hartford

As the Result of Reduction in Price by the Pan-American Service Stations.

Hartford, April 28—A gasoline price war among the gasoline companies doing business in and around Hartford, is predicted as the result of the action of the Pan-American Gasoline service stations hereabouts in reducing the price of gasoline from 25 to 23 cents a gallon.

Announcement of the retail price reduction was made today by W. T. French, district representative of the Mexican Petroleum corporation, producers of the Pan-Am. gasoline. The reduction, he said, is in force in more than thirty stations in Hartford and suburbs, but not beyond this area in Connecticut.

The other gasoline companies said no price reduction was contemplated by them, at least they had received no instructions from headquarters to announce any reduction. Frederick Foley, president of the Yankee Filling stations, said a reduction in the price of gasoline sold at the Yankee stations may be expected soon.

FEED MILL PURCHASED BY FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Springfield, Mass., April 28—The Eastern States Farmers Exchange, a co-operative buying organization with 14,000 farmer members has bought the Academy Farms Milling company plant at Buffalo, N. Y., and will begin running it May 1 as a service to its members, it was announced here today, at the meeting of the 250 directors, field men and local agents of the exchange.

The purchase price was $500,000. A few members of the executive committee of the exchange subscribed the $300,000 when it was found impossible to canvass the farmers in time to make the purchase. It was stated that the entire investment can be wiped out within a few years through the savings which can be made through the co-operative ownership and management of the plant.

The Buffalo plant is the largest feed mill east of Chicago and is capable of handling the entire needs of the eastern states exchange which totalled more than 150,000 tons last year.

The plant will be entirely in the control of the farmer members of the exchange as it will be managed by the directors elected by these farmers.

WIDENER PROTESTS HIS CROSS-EXAMINATION

New York, April 28—Joseph E. Widener, Philadelphia art collector and financier, on the witness stand in the supreme court here, appealed to Justice Davis for relief from the bombardment of cross-examination question by Clarence J. Shearn, counsel for Prince Felix Youssoupoff, who is suing Mr. Widener, for recovery of two Rembrandt portraits.

The Rembrandts, now in the Widener collection in Philadelphia, were acquired from Prince Youssoupoff in 1921 for 100,000 pounds, which Mr. Widener claims was the price in an outright purchase. The prince contends it was a loan.

Mr. Widener frequently reddened and showed confusion at Mr. Shearn's questions which maneuvered him into several contradictions of statements he had made in his examination before the trial. Points on which Mr. Shearn hammered the witness most insistently were the failure to produce a cablegram which Mr. Widener claims was Prince Youssoupoff's acceptance of his terms for the transaction, and the rate of interest on the 100,000 pounds, 5 per cent, which Mr. Widener stipulated the prince must pay if he purchased the pictures in accordance with a clause in the agreement.

ANOTHER LARGE LIQUOR RAID IN NEW HAVEN

New Haven, April 28—The second large liquor raid in as many days and executed late this afternoon by federal prohibition enforcement officers when they descended upon a barn in the rear of 12 Audubon street and confiscated two 500-gallon stills in full operation. More than 150 gallons of finished products was seized by the prohibition agents under the leadership of Chief John Morse. The raid was made on a search warrant issued by United States Commissioner Bernard E. Lynch.

When the agents entered the barn the stills were in operation but no one was found in the place. While the work of dismantling the apparatus was in progress an automobile was driven into the yard and the operator, Frank Danria, of 247 James street was arrested charged with violating the prohibition laws.

WOMEN IN EMPLOY OF REBELS IN BULGARIA

Rome, April 28—(By the A. P.)—Despatches received here from Sofia say the Bulgarian government has discovered that the central committee of the revolutionists employed fashionable women who had entree in the best social circles, as messengers to transmit code messages between revolutionary agents in various Bulgarian cities. A number of these alleged messengers were arrested. They did not deny the charges but said they were not cognizant of the contents of the messages they carried.

The advices add that the police frustrated an attempt to kill Foreign Minister Kailoff, who had discovered a suspicious person near his home. The man resisted arrest and hurled two bombs which failed to explode. The marauder made his escape, firing numerous shots at the police.

HOHENTHAL GOING ABROAD ON PROHIBITION MISSION

Hartford, April 28—E. L. G. Hohenthal, chairman of the prohibition state central committee, who has made several trips to Europe in the interests of world wide prohibition, sails Saturday for Rotterdam from where he will go to Germany to participate in the anti-alcohol week, May 10 to 17. Mr. Hohenthal will be gone until fall and will engage in prohibition work in Germany, Austria, Italy, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Danzig Free State, Great Britain, Ireland, Jugo-Slavia, Poland, Holland, Belgium and France. Mr. Hohenthal is international secretary for Europe of the International Reform federation with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Mails Reopened To Harvard Magazines

Had Been Held Up by Postmaster in Boston Because of Character of Contents.

Washington, April 28—The mails were opened today to the two magazines published by Harvard University undergraduates, the Lampoon and the Advocate, which have created something of a sensation in Boston and were held up by the postmaster there because of the character of some of their contents. The Lampoon, however, will bear the scars of censorship.

Acting Solicitor H. J. Donnelly of the post office department informed the Boston postmaster late today that he should not refuse to accept the magazines for mailing. He pointed out, however, that persons mailing them accepting full responsibility for any violation of law involved. The acting solicitor made no ruling with respect to the magazines in connection with the criminal section of the law, explaining that any action along that line was the duty of the United States attorney for Massachusetts.

When the April 15 issue of the Lampoon appeared on newsstands in Boston and Cambridge last week, police seized the copies. The Boston postmaster sent a copy to Washington with a request for an opinion as to whether it was mailable under the postal laws. The postoffice department ruled that it could be barred from the mailing privilege. Later, a censored copy was forwarded and today one of the Republican officials conferred with the solicitor. Further censoring of the publication was agreed upon, and with these specifications met it will be admitted to the mails.

The April issue of the Advocate reached the solicitor from the Boston postmaster with a request for an opinion as to whether it should be accepted for mailing. It was carefully reviewed and found to be such an obscene burlesque that the postal officials considered it did not contravene the postal laws.

PEDDLER KILLED WHEN AUTO HIT HIS WAGON

Hartford, April 28—While driving his peddler's wagon homeward on Maple avenue shortly after nightfall today, Jacob Fishkin, 69 years old, of 5 Pequot street was killed when an automobile driven by Gustave Lindquist of 919 Burnside avenue, East Hartford, approaching from the rear, struck the wagon. Fishkin was hurled to the street, his wagon load of produce scattered and the horse taking fright ran away. The frightened animal dragged the wagon for nearly a quarter of a mile from the scene of the accident, which was near Goodwin Park, until the traces gave away. The galloping animal was caught some distance beyond.

Fishkin was taken to the Hartford hospital in a passing car driven by Charles Thomas, of 69 Congress street. He was pronounced dead upon arrival by Dr. H. S. Robbins, of the hospital staff. Death was due to a fractured skull.

Lindquist was taken to the police station under arrest to determine if he was under the influence of liquor. A quart bottle of wine nearly empty was found in his car. Police Surgeon John D. Greenberg examined the man and said that while he had undoubtedly been drinking, he was not unfit to drive. In the car with Lindquist was John T. Hesson, of 54 Barker street who was cut over the eye. Following the examination Lindquist was formally charged with driving without a license and with criminal negligence.

NINE JURORS SELECTED FOR CASE OF OLYMPIA MACRI

New Haven, April 28—Nine of the jurors who will hear evidence in the case of Olympia Macri, charged with first degree murder, had been selected late this afternoon when Judge Christopher L. Avery adjourned criminal superior court until 9 a. m., tomorrow morning.

The morning session was productive of three jurors, the total chosen for the day. The first six were picked last week. When court reconvened after the noon recess, the process of selecting the jury settled down to a steady routine with both counsels contesting bitterly and during which twenty talesmen failed to qualify. These men, who were in the special panel of 50 sworn in by the court this afternoon after the original panel had been exhausted were, with the exception of two men, excused by the court. As soon as it became evidence in sight that time might be wasted by questioning talesmen further, Judge Avery excused the talesman at once. This plan was the result of an agreement by counsel to speed up the work of selecting the jury.

BONIFACE E. D. MILLER IS DEAD IN LONDON

New York, April 28—Word was received tonight in this city of the death of Eugene D. Miller, vice president and treasurer of the Bowman Biltmore Hotels corporation, yesterday in London, where he was spending a vacation.

Mr. Miller sailed with his wife on the Aquitania, April 8. On the way over he caught a cold which developed into bronchitis.

Mr. Miller was born in 1868 in Stamford, Conn. He came to New York in 1900, obtaining employment in the auditing department of the Hotel Astor. He became successively auditor, secretary and treasurer of the Hotel Astor.

When the Hotel Biltmore was opened, Mr. Miller was placed in charge of its finances and since then has been closely associated with Mr. Bowman in his various enterprises.

He is survived by his wife and two brothers, Benjamin Miller, of Philadelphia and Charles Miller, of Hartford.

$50,000 DAMAGE SUIT FOR AUTOMOBILE INJURIES

Waterbury, April 28—John Hugenot, of New Haven, is made the defendant in a $50,000 damage suit filed here by Miss Catherine Ferris, hair dresser of this city, who seeks to recover for injuries received in an auto crash June 29, 1924, on the Bethany road between this city and New Haven. Haggerty was the driver of the car which left the road and crashed into a pole and a stone wall and according to Miss Ferris, who was his companion, he was driving "at a reckless and a wanton rate of speed," and was "not looking in the direction in which he was going."

SENATOR MOSES TO OPPOSE REVISION OF SENATE RULES

Vice President Dawes Will Receive No Support From the Senator From New Hampshire in Proposed Change of Senate Procedure—Mr. Moses Maintains That the Present Rules Do Not Prevent Any Legislation Which the People Really Want.

Washington, April 28—Vice President Dawes will receive no support from the president pro tem of the senate, Senator Moses, republican, of New Hampshire, in his effort to revise the rules of the senate. That became evident today when Senator Moses upon his return to Washington discussed General Dawes' recent address in Old North church at Boston.

"The vice-president's attack upon the rules of the senate aroused so much enthusiasm and was given such a warm reception," said the New Hampshire senator, "that the temperature dropped to 18 degrees above zero and six inches of snow fell."

Senator Moses, who is a member of the rules committee, predicted that, despite efforts of Vice-President Dawes during the congressional recess, no material changes in the rules would be made at the next session of the senate.

"I am looking for tax reform at the next session of the senate," he continued, "and it will not fail because of the rules of that body, which work well enough when the people are wide-awake and are on the job.

"Our rules do not prevent the passage of legislation which the people really want. They have not existed for more than a century, and while frequently subject to violent attack, have never kept any desirable or desired piece of legislation off the statute books. A lot of bad legislation has been kept off the statute books by them.

"We should have some place in this country of ours where a man can say his say. Had we been operating in the senate under cloture, we would have had free silver in 1893, ship purchase in 1915, which would have launched us into the World War two years before we were ready, and in 1919 the Versailles treaty would have been ratified without reservation."

Commenting on the election of Von Hindenburg as president of Germany Senator Moses said he was not apprehensive over the situation.

"We will be protected from any danger that might otherwise be in the situation," he said, "by the Dawes plan."

BRITAIN HAS RETURNED TO THE GOLD STANDARD

London, April 28—Great Britain has returned to the gold standard. This announcement was made by Winston Spencer Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer in what is considered the most important budget statement of modern times. The restoration of the gold standard, dating from today, is put into effect by a special license to the Bank of England to export bullion, which will operate pending formal lapsing on December 31 next of the 1920 act, prohibiting the export of gold bullion.

Chancellor Churchill faced a crowded house of commons, his audience betting the great occasion and including no less than eight former chancellors. A part from its leading feature, the return to gold, the budget was of vast importance, for it contained something for all classes—sixpence off the income tax on earned incomes under £1,000 for the middle classes, alleviation in the super-tax for the wealthy, and a big scheme of contributory insurance for the working classes, which next year will give the widows of insured men ten shillings weekly for life, with five shillings weekly for the eldest child and three shillings for each other child under the age of 65 years, instead of 70, as now, and without any test as the means.

Another important announcement by the British chancellor was that American credits were being arranged for to the amount of not less than $300,000,000, but there would be used only if and when required.

Faithful to Premier Baldwin's pledge to abstain from any taxation of food, Mr. Churchill has restored in certain measure imperial preference and the McKenna duties, the latter having to do with foreign films, motor cars, motorcycles, clocks, watches and musical instruments, all of which the United States exports heavily to England. He has also placed protective duties on silk and hops.

SENATOR PLATT FOR COM. OF AGRICULTURE

Hartford, April 28—Senator Philo C. Platt, of Newton, senate chairman of the appropriations committee, mentioned as a possible appointee to the newly created post of commissioner of agriculture, is being supported by a petition which is being circulated by Representative H. Sanford Osborne, of Redding, asking Governor Trumbull to appoint the Newtown senator. Ex-Senator Elijah Rogers, of Southington, has also been mentioned for the place.

Senator Platt is serving his third term in the legislature and his second in the senate, where he represents the twenty-fifth district. He is 44 years old, married and a native of Newtown where he has a large farm.

The commissioner of agriculture will take over the duties of the present state board of agriculture and will receive a salary of $5,000 a year.

GOV. FERGUSON TO CONTINUE PARDONS AND PAROLES

Austin, April 28—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson issued vigorously worded statements tonight in answer to individuals, organizations and newspapers who have criticised her for undue liberality in the granting of pardons and paroles.

She asserted that since she assumed office on January 21, last, she had issued 583 pardon proclamations, being guided in each case, she said, by a sense of mercy and fairness.

"Yes, I am going to continue it, no matter who kicks or howls," the statement read. "Rave on, ye critics. If you think you can explain your actions to your God," it added.

STOUMBELES BLDG., PUTNAM, IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, April 28.—A fire that broke out short after 10.30 o'clock this evening and the heavy smoke that was incident to it, damaged the new Stroumbeles building in the heart of the business section. Officer John Ryan pulled in an alarm from Box 41, after seeing flames in the Lombardo produce and fruit store, on the ground floor of the building. The firemen had a battle of more than half an hour before the fire was fully under control and for a considerable time thereafter a heavy volume of smoke issued from the building. Vincent McAvoy, a member of the fire department was overcome by smoke on entering one of the stores was revived and again entered and was again overcome. His condition the second time was such that he had to be removed to his home in an automobile. The principal damage to the building and contents will be from smoke. It appeared certain that all the stock will be smoke-damaged. Among those occupying the building are Carroll's drug store, Alexander's shoe store, Lombardo fruit and produce, Millot and Williams Men's clothing and furnishings, Arnold's, Seagrill, and on the second floor, Plessis' Insurance Agency, Dr. Harry W. Sharp, Dragon, the tailor, Dr. William Saretcki and the Benoit Shoe Parlors.

The Stoumbeles building was completed last year and is one of the finest business blocks in the city. It occupies the site of the Donohue block which was totally destroyed by fire on Washington's birthday, 1923. The loss in Tuesday night's fire will be several thousands of dollars on building and stock.

EXTENSIVE SEARCH FOR 11-YEAR OLD VERMONT GIRL

Granville, Vermont, April 12.—The band of searchers for 11 year old Lucille Chatterton and Earl Woodward, former convict, penetrated today into six of the mountain townships to which the chase has led them. They have orders to shoot on sight.

John W. Untiedt, proprietor of a small general store at the cluster of farms which comprises West Brookfield, reported today that a strange man had come to the store last night and purchased quantities of rice, oatmeal, crackers and a wick for a small lamp or lantern. The stranger's clothing smelt strongly of wood smoke, he said, as though he had been near a camp fire.

At that time Untiedt did not know of the man-hunt. This section of the state is still almost impassable and the news filters slowly. Today, however, Untiedt said his recollections of the stranger resembled the description of Woodward and he organized a party to search the neighborhood.

A party of men, all armed, left Randolph this afternoon to join the citizens of Granville, Braintree, Hancock and Northfield who are already in the field. Although the hunt will probably be suspended at night-fall, guards will watch the mountain roads all night.

If the stranger who bought from Untiedt was Woodward, the searchers have received a grave set-back. Although he carried away a small stock of provisions when he fled the Chatterton farm here last Friday night, his pursuers had reckoned on his capture when he would seek to replenish his supply.

ENCOURAGING REPORT BY UNITED STATES STEEL

New York, April 28.—Marked improvement in steel conditions in the first quarter of the year was reflected today in the report of the United States Steel Corporation which increased its total earnings to $39,583,993, a gain of $5,120,761 over the final 3 months of 1924.

After providing for all charges, regular dividends of $1.25 on the common shares and $1.75 on the preferred in addition to the so-called "regular" extra of 50 cents a share on the common stock, the corporation ended the quarter with a surplus of $6,005,070. This contrasted with a deficit of $987,-503 after all charges and dividends, in the preceding quarter. The earnings were equivalent to $2.93 on the common shares, compared with $1.56 in the final period of last year and $5.03 in the march quarter last year.

WILLIMANTIC

In the superior court Tuesday, a plea of guilty was entered by Peter [illegible] of 165 Randall St. Providence, R. I., charged with breaking and entering the store of Benjamin Rosenberg, at 55 Church street in this city early Thursday morning, April [illegible]. County Prosecutor Charles L. Torrance asked that leniency be shown the accused in some respect, saying that [illegible] F. Sylvain, whose accomplice he was, was largely responsible for the [illegible] implication in it. Attorney Crawford was inclined to be lenient with him partly because when arrested at the Providence-Salem, Mass., line he told police officers that he just wanted to get to Willimantic and asked to be held there until an officer could come after him. Judge Nickerson imposed a sentence of not less than fifteen months nor more than two years in the state prison at Wethersfield.

A fine of $700 and costs, and a term of three months in jail was imposed on Max Elwell of Oswego, N. Y., charged with transporting liquor without a [illegible] permit. Elwell pleaded guilty to the charge. He was taken in a car on which [illegible] a load of sealed cases and a fine of $400 and costs was imposed. The car was discovered making [illegible] in the same place a few days later when he was captured by Willimantic police.

Probation cases, some of which date back [illegible] and a half ago disposed of when the accused released and [illegible] on completely suspended, and the probation officers in charge of cases were as follows: George Rondeau, statutory burglary and theft; [illegible] alias Anthony Gelinskas, abandoning wife and living with another woman; Thomas J. Kilgarey, embezzlement; Williams Timpkins, intoxication; William P. Burke, statutory burglary and theft; Walter Smallhurst, theft; Alfred L. Chalifoux, reckless driving of motor vehicle, operating motor vehicle without owner's permission; Morris Griffin, Dante [illegible], Freeman and Samuel Killourey Jr., breach of the peace and statutory burglary; Milton Rogers, assault; Charles Lemaitre, Eugene Barbeault, and [illegible], theft of motor vehicle; [illegible], violation of the liquor law; [illegible] John, violation of the motor vehicle law; Philip Pagano, selling and keeping liquor with intent to sell.

Edwin J. Donnelly, chairman of the [illegible] committee for Boys' Week, issues the following statement concerning the city election, the culmination of an enthusiastic political campaign waged thru the early part of the week, and to be held by the boys of the city today (Wednesday): "Irrespective of which candidates are elected Willimantic may well be proud of the culture and character of the selections of her youth. To Acting Mayor Hickey goes the thanks of the committee for his suggestion that the boys of the city be given an opportunity to rule it for a day." The decision abides by the electorate. Each party is supremely confident of victory. Through his campaign manager, John Tomasco, Philip Dodge, candidate for mayor on the Willimantic Good Government League ticket stated "If elected, I promise to carry out the principles contained in our party platform and to place upon an efficient basis the business affairs of the city."

Arnold Storrs, his opponent, standard bearer of the Windham non-partisan League, also expressed a determination to put into effect the principles laid down in the platform of his party. Addresses were given Tuesday by members of the campaign committee in the various grammar schools of the city.

Monday was observed as Boys' Day in the school with no special exercises, the boys being allowed, however, to develop most of the class room discussions.

Speakers at the mass meeting of the workers in the Gem Theatre Tuesday morning were John J. Egan of Bridgeport, secretary of the Connecticut State Federation of Labor, and Horace Riviere of Manchester, N. H., [illegible] addressed the operatives in [illegible] and English on the advantages gained for the operatives of today by the efforts of labor organizations. Mr. Egan quoted statistics to prove that [illegible] the schedule of hours for the textile workers was 48 hours a week, the average age of the operator was [illegible] greater than in the past, that [illegible] rates were lower and that there are fewer cases of tuberculosis. He urged the work of the American Federation of Labor, of which the Textile Workers of America is a [illegible], the benefits for the textile people Mr. Riviere said it had been instrumental in bringing the [illegible] of labor before the Legislature.

Charged with the wilful neglect of [illegible] of their five children and with [illegible] an unsanitary place of abode, Rutherford and Anna Upton of [illegible] appeared before Justice of the Peace Chester C. Telfer in Mansfield town court Monday afternoon. The case was the result of an investigation by Humane Agent George W. Williams of Hartford, agent for the Connecticut State Humane Society. It was found that Upton and his eldest son earn between them forty-eight dollars a week, but could not explain to the court what became of the money they earned. A chance was given the defendants to improve their home, and provide themselves with better living conditions. A fine of one dollar for each and costs of the court was imposed by Justice Telfer, with the fine remitted, and ample time given in which to pay the costs. Upton was placed on probation for five months, during which time he is to report every month to the selectmen. Their home was described by the humane agent and State Policeman Heinold as "a hovel."

At the funeral services for John Marks, held from the funeral parlors of Hurteau-Bosse Corp. Monday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. Frederick F. Foshay officiated. The bearers were Benjamin Thompson, Robert Olson, George Millard, and Frederick Palmer, Jr. Burial was in the family plot in Linwood cemetery, Colchester, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. O. W. Beckman of Colchester.

MRS. OSTRICH GETS OFF WITH FINE OF $150 AND COSTS

Willimantic, April 28—All business on the criminal docket of the April term of the Windham County Superior court was announced disposed of for the term, Tuesday noon, by Assistant State's Attorney Howard W. Bradford. Judge Leonard J. Nickerson ordered the court recessed indefinitely.

Three cases were taken up. The first was that of Mrs. Birdi Ostrich, of Willimantic, charged with having in her possession liquor with intent to sell, who pleaded nolo contendre thru her attorney, Charles L. Torrey. Mrs. Ostrich appeared in the police court Saturday April 18, on this charge, and her case was continued to the following Tuesday. Then she appeared without an attorney, and entered a demurre to the charge, which motion was overruled by Judge Foss. She was found guilty and sentenced to serve 60 days in jail, and given a fine of $300. Under a bond of $1,000 she appealed to the superior court and her case was to have gone over to the September term, but she appeared in court Tuesday morning anxious to have the matter disposed of. A bench warrant was made out and served on Mrs. Ostrich in the court room, and the case proceeded. It was Mrs. Ostrich's third offense; her home had been raided April 17, when several bottles of home brew and a vial containing liquor were found. Her attorney and friends expressed hopes that she would go straight, if given a chance with no jail sentence, and Judge Nickerson imposed a fine of $150 and costs, which was paid.

Plans are in the making to put on a local baseball team and the opening game will be played within the next two weeks. The showing made by the local boys last season has encouraged them to try again under practically the same arrangements. Nearly al lof last year's team is available and several new players are expected to don the Ashland uniform, judging from the practice sessions already held.

Those desirous of trying for the team are making themselves known to Hal Chase or Leo Jarvis who will conduct the team this year.

Joe Fabre, local boy now playing with Newark in the International league is traveling along at a fine clip, Joe is conceded to be one of the best shortstops in the league, but to date sport writers have not been very liberal with their regard for his hitting ability. However the official averages up to and including last Saturday's game show that Joe is league's leading hitter with a percentage of .427. His bat has been instrumental in the winning of several games for his club and he is already credited with two homers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Frigidaire

The Delco-Light Company, subsidiary of General Motors, is rearranging part of its plant to double the output of Frigidaire, the electrically operated ice box.

This has been made necessary by the announcement of new low-priced models for homes and apartments and the ice cream cabinet designed for soda fountains and retail distributors of ice cream. Sales of this ice cream cabinet are made principally to large manufacturers who in turn place the cabinets with retailers of ice cream.

There are now fifteen models in the complete Frigidaire line, ranging in price from $190 to $750.

Sales of Frigidaire for the first three months of this year, and orders on hand upon which the increased volume is based, indicates the sale of over 50,000 Frigidaires this year.

In 1924 sales were 21,000 units, compared with 5,000 in 1923 and 2,200 in 1922.

This business by Delco-Light does not include its sales of electric light and power plants, water pumps and washing machines. Carl W. Brown is the local agent. See adv.

Palace Theatre

Monday's and Tuesday's performances at the Palace theatre were witnessed by large numbers of pleasure seekers, who appeared to be more than contented with the vaudeville measure served out for their approval. On the bill are Frank Briton in a Rag painting Novelty, Mickey Finn, eccentric comedian, Orr and Decosta, presenting the latest song hits, some of the numbers being written by Harry DeCosta himself, Maurice Freeman & Co., in a comedy sketch entitled "Tony and the Stork," Pat and Paula Hanson in artistic and comedy dancing, Paul Denniker's Collegians in a novelty instrumental act Deluxe, Josh Dreano, just a Loose Nut, Gaines and Bowen, Two Chips Off the Old Block, Morales Bros. and Daisy, gymnasts and contortionists. The feature picture is Redeeming Sin with Nazimova and Lou Tellegen.

"The Redeeming Sin" is a story of the Paris underworld, with all its scenes laid in the French capital. The theft of a priceless pearl necklace provides a baffling mystery, and a realistic fight in the Paris sewers is one of the thrilling high lights. Lou Tellegen has the leading man role.

In addition to the regular vaudeville at the Palace theatre, the Norwich Italian Band under the able direction of Professor Pasquale Puca, will present their vaudeville act Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, also Saturday matinee. Professor Puca, who has worked strenuously for weeks, has selected a varied programme which will prove most delightful to all who take advantage of this rare opportunity.

There is no doubt that the band will be a great surprise to the many who will hear them as they have made some rapid strides since their last public appearance.

The programma includes, Parade of the Wooden Soldiers, Titina, Overture—Poet and Peasant by Suppe, N. C. 4. March and the Stars and Stripes march by Sousa, all of which have been specially arranged by Prof. Puca for this engagement.

Thrills, comedy, romance pathos and an idea absolutely new in criminology form the basis of the new Richard Talmadge production, Stepping Lively, slated for exhibition at the Broadway theater on Thursday. As the victim of a nefarious frame-up, as a result of which he is flung into prison furt as happiness is within his reach, Talmadge gives one of the best performances of his career. Thrilling stunts—leaps in which the handsome young star risks his life repeatedly, are reported, to make Stepping Lively by far the most gripping of all the Talmadge productions to date. James Horne directs, production is credited to Abe Carlos and the cast embraces Mildred Harris, Norval MacGregor, Brinsley Shaw, Fred Kelsey, Mario Carillo, William Clifford, John W. Dillon and Victor Mesetti. F.B.O. distributes the production.

Slater Hall Musical Course

On Monday evening, May 11th, the Flonzaley Quartet will appear in Slater Hall, under the auspices of the Norwich Free Academy.

In the twenty-one years of its existence the Flonzaley Quartet has made its name the standard in chamber music by which all other string quartets are judged.

Its European record is as brilliant as its history in America.

The phenemenal success and perfection of playing of the Flonzaley Quartet is the result of self-sacrifice and co-operation of its members actuated by an unwavering artistic ideal.

They have aptly been called the incomparable Flonzaley Quartet.

The reward of their life long effort is the international recognition of the supremacy of the Flonzaley Quartet.

Tickets are on sale at the Cranston Co., mail or phone orders will be given prompt attention. Phone 138.

Breed Theater

Charley's Aunt, with Syd Chaplin in the title role, closes its run at the Breed theater tonight.

This is the picturization of the great farce comedy by Brandon Thomas which as a play has been running for 33 years and has grossed three million dollars. It deals with the humorous and embarrassing situations which occur when one of the boys at Oxford impersonates another fellow's "Aunt from Brazil where the nuts come from."

A splendid cast is seen in support of Syd Chaplin. It includes James E. Page who played in the stage production for 12 years, Ethel Shannon, Lucien Littlefield, Alec B. Francis, Phillips Smalley, Eulalie Jensen, David James, Jimmie Harrison, Mary Akin and Priscilla Bonner. Scott Sidney directed.

DANIELSON

Tuesday afternoon at the home of his niece, Mrs. Myrtis Blanchard in Dayville, funeral services for Dr. Orlando C. Sharpe were conducted by Rev. William Swainson, of the Congregational church in that place with number of relatives and friends in attendance. Burial was in the High street cemetery at Dayville. The bearers were Dr. Leroy Sharpe, Dr. Harry Sharpe, J. Newton Blanchard and Leon Blanchard. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Monday evening a fire truck responded to a call to extinguish a fire of an inconsequential nature near the Luther Pilling property on North Main street.

The usual reports relative to deer causing damage to orchards are coming in. Deer appear to be plentiful, despite all the shooting of them, legal and illegal. Budding fruit trees are being subjected by the deers to the usual raids and subsequent damage.

Tuesday's stories by those who would ride on the tail of the news indicate that Joseph Johnson, now dead of his indiscretions, attempted to hold up at least 700 different cars and was seen in no less than 391 different places, during the period between Saturday morning and Monday morning.

A meeting of the Civic federation is scheduled to be held at the health station in the town hall building Friday afternoon.

The suggestion is heard that Stearns street likely will be made an improved highway some day, that heavy traffic may be diverted from Reynolds street, now carrying about the entire load of vehicles using the Providence highway.

BULLETS NOT REMOVED FROM JOSEPH JOHNSON'S BODY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, April 28.—The body of Joseph Johnson, colored, of Providence, was claimed Tuesday by friends from that city. There were no special developments relative to the case during the day and nothing came to light as to where Johnson spent the time between his disappearance from the Providence rooming house during Friday night nad his outbreak near here early Monday morning.

There are reports sufficiently authentic to appear to establish that he walked along the highway from Providence to Danielson, but the trip of 25 miles was hardly a distance to account for the man's activities for a period of between 50 and 60 hours.

Neither has any information been obtained as to his having indulged in any other such wild actions as preceded his death here. He was not regarded as insane by those who were acquainted with him in Providence, though there is the possibility that he must have suddenly developed a violent mental disorder. There seems to be no other way to account for his strange doings.

No autopsy was performed and the bullets that caused Johnson's death remained in his body during Tuesday. The wound over the heart was outwardly a slight one, though of a fatal nature and the wound in the hand only a bit more so.

B. E. Terwilliger who was injured by blows from an automobile jack wielded by Johnson, was more fully feeling the effects of his encounter Tuesday, but was about as usual and the object of much interest and solicitation on his morning visit to Danielson. The blows on his head caused painful wounds, but not dangerous ones, and the general shock resultant from the encounter had its effect upon Mr. Terwilliger.

On Saturday Coroner Arthur G. Lill will hold his inquest in the case. Such witnesses as he requires to fully investigate what happened leading up to Johnson's death will be summoned to appear. The inquest meets a formality required by the state and does not presuppose that action against anyone will follow.

To Win More Friends 100 Lucky Strikes TAX FREE

We invite every smoker in this city to take advantage of this startling offer. We've told you about Lucky Strike superiority. Your friends have told you. Now know for yourself the value of the toasting process! We make this proposition to win more friends:

The regular price of a tin of 100 Lucky Strikes is 75c
You pay the dealer only 45c
We pay the Government Tax of 30c
Act Quickly, as the dealer's allotment at this price is limited.
Get one tin [only one to a person] for home or for office.
The regular price will be in effect when the dealer's supply on this offer is sold.

Smoke these 100 Lucky Strikes. Then you'll know how the 45-minute toasting process adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

LUCKY STRIKE

IT'S TOASTED

Facts About Taxes on Cigarettes

TO the general public, we believe it will be surprising to learn that nearly half of what they pay for cigarettes goes to the government for taxes.

2. The internal revenue stamp on a package of twenty Lucky Strike cigarettes costs you six cents. On a 75c tin of one hundred the revenue stamp costs you thirty cents.

So nearly one-half of what you pay for cigarettes is spent by you for taxes.

This is certainly the heaviest tax on an article of daily and universal consumption.

The Tobacco Industry and Taxes

The aggregate tax paid by the tobacco business is with one exception, income taxes, the largest item of internal revenue the federal government receives. Last (fiscal) year it amounted to $309,014,050.84.

Of this enormous amount of money the cigarette industry paid $182,716,785.93, or nearly two-thirds of the total tax paid by the entire tobacco business.

We believe you will appreciate that when nearly fifty cents of every dollar paid by you for cigarettes goes to the government, you must receive in cigarettes a value in return for your money that is rarely given in any commodity.

That the public appreciates this great value is shown by the enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes.

Our reasons for this tax free offer

We know this offer induces men to try Lucky Strikes—it "Wins More Friends."

We know that a large percentage of those who get acquainted with Lucky Strikes adopt them.

This isn't philanthropy nor propaganda—just good business, as you'll agree.

The offer is limited. We cannot afford to keep it up.

We make it generous, to attract attention.

Super-quality

Only by immense volume can we produce such an aristocratic cigarette as Lucky Strike at such a democratic price.

Its quality is supreme because it has that costly extra process, toasting, which improves the flavor and adds to the taste of even the finest tobaccos that are used in Lucky Strikes.

Cleanliness and Care in Manufacture

Every Lucky Strike factory is a model of sanitation. Read how Alfred W. McCann, the noted food expert, describes one of our factories: "White walls and ceilings, floors as clean as freshly chiseled marble, cutting machines and wrapping machines that take away from the human hand all detail and leave nothing to the human supervision but the watchfulness of trained eyes."

Free entertainment will be furnished for several hours. Two educational films, "The Story of the Printing Press" and "The Story of Light," with two Slow Motion Athletic Reels and a Comedy will be presented, under the auspices of Putnam Rotary Club.

As announced Thursday, J. Harry Mann, 74, died at his home on Grove street at three o'clock Monday afternoon after an illness of only three days. What was first an attack of influenza developed into pneumonia and it was realized Sunday morning that it would end fatally. His younger daughter, Miss Edna Mann, was visiting in New York. She arrived Sunday afternoon in response to a message but her brother Jerome Mann of New York did not reach here until six o'clock Monday, three hours after his father's death. The other daughter, Mrs. Howard Knight of Bridgeport was also unable to reach here until after his death.

Mr. Mann had been a resident of Putnam since 1881, coming here from New York City to engage in the insurance business.

January 3, 1914, he was appointed judge of the city court of Putnam by Governor Simeon Baldwin, an office he held for two years.

Judge Mann was born in New Orleans March 5, 1851, the son of John Mann of that city and Cordelia Farchild of eKntucky. His boyhood was spent in the southern city and he was there during the greater part of the Civil War when it was bombarded by guerillas. His father held a captain's commission in the secret service, under General Butler.

When he was twelve years of age it was deemed best for the family to leave the city to insure their safety and he arranged the trip and escorted his mother and his sister to Layton, Ohio, an ordeal that was attended by many dangers.

He remained in Dayton for several years and during the latter part of his stay there was clerk of the leading hotel. From Dayton he went to New York where he entered a jewelry house in Maiden Lane. He became an expert in setting stones in rings and other articles of jewelry. He never lost his interest in this art and for a long while kept a little work bench in his house for his own diversion.

March 20 1878, he married Miss Harriet Williams. Six children were born to them, three died in infancy. Jerome Mann is his oldest child. Three years ago Marjorie Mann, the elder daughter married Howard Knight, formerly of Putnam. They now live in Bridgeport. Mr. Mann was a member of the Masonic Order and a Charter Member of Putnam Lodge of Elks. He was also one of the founders of the Arcanum Club and held a membership in it until two years ago.

Mrs. Carl Eke, of Woodstock, whose life was despaired of after her jugular vein was severed in an automobile accident, is getting well at the Day Kimball hospital. During her stay in the hospital Mrs. Eke has had the company of her sister the greater part of the time. The latter is Miss Christina Anderson, founder and head of a school in Hing Pong Shensi, China, who is here on a visit. It is the first time in years that the sisters have been together as Miss Anderson has been a missionary in China for the greater part of her adult life.

A chapter of the Eastern Star was organized in Masonic hall at Woodstock with twenty-four charter members, twenty women and four men. The following officers were chosen: Worthy matron, Mrs. Carrie Healey; worthy patron, John Wetherbee; assistant matron, Mrs. Emily Young; treasurer, Mrs. Myrtle Covell; secretary, Mrs. Mary Hopkins; conductress, Mrs. Gertrude Ask; assistant conductress, Mrs. Harmon French; chaplain, Mrs. Elnora Butts; marshall, Mrs. Carrie Haines; inside sentinal, Mrs. Wetherbee; outside sentinal, Mrs. Henry Young; organist, Mrs. Hattie Wells; Adah, Mrs. Hutchins; Ruth, Mrs. Mabel Nelson; Esther, Mrs. Bertha Briggs; Martha, Mrs. Louise Clark; Electa, Mrs. Archer Walker. The installing officer from the state organization will place them in office the first week in May, when many from Putnam lodge will attend.

Members of the Northeastern Connecticut Fish and Game club are to have an annual banquet at the Putnam Inn, Thursday evening. John W. Titcomb, state fish and game commissioner, has accepted an invitation of the club to be present. Following the banquet there will be a showing of pictures from Field and Stream at the Bradley theatre. These pictures will illustrate deer hunting, salmon fishing, and other things interesting to sportsmen. Officers of the club have announced that the state fish and game commissioner will come to Alexander's Lake to make an examination when the bass are on the spawning beds to see what can be done to improve bass fishing in these waters.

The club has joined the State Association of Fish and Game clubs and be working with the state organization expects to receive greater benefits than by working alone. During the year the club has received many cans of fish which has been deposited in ponds and brooks for the purpose of restocking. Game birds have also been received and released in this corner of the state. The club has a good membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlet Petersen, of St. Petersburg, Florida, have been guests of Mrs. Peterson's sister, Mrs. Emil Swanson of North Grosvenordale.

Mrs. A. J. Swanson of Buckley's Hill received a house lot at Snow's corner, at a carnival in Webster last week.

Louis M. Ream is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Alex Vonslatsky, at Pomfret.

Miss Katherine Noyes arrived in Pomfret from New York, a few days ago and will soon open her house, Topsfield, for the summer.

Miss Elizabeth Wiggins of Pomfret has returned home, after a visit of a week in Southport, Maine.

Miss Esther Gustafson, who has been visiting in Pomfret has returned to New York for her spring dance engagements.

Mrs. W. C. Richards of Providence has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Agnes Devine.

Attorney Howard Bradford has been appointed administrator of the estate of C Allison Potter, of North Woodstock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Reed, of Manchester, N. H., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Reed, to Peter Woodbury, son of the late Gordon Woodbury, assistant secretary of the navy under the Wilson administration. Miss Reed is a grand-daughter of Judge and Mrs. George C. Holt of Woodstock. No date has been set for the wedding.

John E. Carey, alleged "cave man" who abducted the widow of Percy Waterman from her New York apartments in 1919 and carried her away in her nitie, was returned to Brooklyn, N. Y., last Thursday for trial. A despatch from New York says: "John E. Carey, alleged "cave man lover," was returned to Brooklyn Thursday by Detective John Mulvey from the Western Penitentiary of Pennsylvania, for trial on the charge that he forcibly took Mrs. Helen Waterman, a widow, from her apartment at No. 234 Sterling Place, Brooklyn, to his own apartment in Manhattan, May 9, 1919.

"After his arrest Carey forfeited bail of $5,000 and disappeared. He was committed to the Raymond street jail Thursday by Judge Vause in the Kings county court in default of $15,000 bail.

"After fleeing from Brooklyn, Carey served a prison term in Pennsylvania. He was a manufacturer of surgical instruments, at one time reputed wealthy." Mrs. Waterman has been remarried and is said to be living in Boston."

Mrs. Helen Waterman, a former resident of Putnam, now living in New York, was abducted from her apartments by John E. Carey, a rich manufacturer, who was afterwards arrested and held in $3,500 bonds for trial.

BUILDING FREIGHT HIGHWAYS

In connection with the idea of building an exclusive freight highway from New York City to the Connecticut line and eventually to all important communities in New England, the New York Herald-Tribune refers to the fact that "motorists properly complain that the use of state highways for purely commercial purposes at a comparatively low cost for licenses is unjustified" and states that while freight trucks and the rapidly increasing number of busses by reason of their weight wear down the roadways badly, the cost of road building and maintenance does not fall upon them.

The effect of the present day highway traffic upon long established, tax paying transportation lines is disclosed in various ways. Electric lines have been abandoned, railroads have curtailed service and in numerous instances are anxious to abandon short lines where service is maintained at a loss. Both are resorting to the motor vehicles for the purposes of maintaining and extending service, in establishing feeders for existing lines and for the purpose of reducing expenses. There is full recognition of the fact that the motor vehicle in interstate service, or even in purely state service escapes many of the burdens, including the heavy taxation, which falls upon transportation lines which are subject to rates and regulations fixed by others.

The highway for the commercial vehicles means public construction and maintenance of their roadbed where the steam lines must acquire, build and maintain their own. There has been no thought of rendering this service for the railroads and trolleys which is being done for the commercial motor vehicles engaged in the same kind of business.

Railroad employes are voicing their opposition to the continuance of such a policy. Whether that is a selfish position or not, the matter is one which is bound to require greater attention as transportation changes are taking place. It isn't exactly a new problem but it is looming up bigger each year.

A MAY DAY CHANGE

There may be some things on which health authorities do not agree, but they are at least quoted as agreeing that most of the deaths among children could be avoided if it were possible to reach and educate the parents. This places a serious indictment upon the fathers and mothers and discloses one of the best reasons that greater effort should be brought to bear in this direction.

The first of May has for years been regarded as a day of trouble. It has been the time for serious outbreaks and for demonstrations of dissatisfaction. For some years it has been less real than on previous occasions, but in the interest of real service to mankind it is well that it has been designated as Child Health day.

We deplore waste in many directions. We point to the wastage of raw materials, of foodstuffs and manufactured products, all of which is pictured to us in dollars and cents, but there is a serious lack of conservation in human life when it is shown that there are 400,000 deaths among children under ten years of age each year. There is all the more meaning to this when we are told that this great loss can to a large degree be prevented.

It is the American Child Health association which is leading the campaign for the checking of this waste. Herbert Hoover as president of that organization presents an interesting contrast when he says, "Merchants lose less than one per cent. through bad debts—which are the hazards of business. But humanity loses nearly eight per cent. of its greatest capital—children—through the hazards of illness."

Care will accomplish much in the saving of many who are victims of accidents. Care will likewise do much for the sick and in the prevention of sickness. There is unquestioned need of a better knowledge by parents concerning the care of children and with such care given intelligently, whether in health or sickness large reductions can be made in the annual toll which death exacts among children.

Isn't it worth-while to make May Day a day for a nation to face its duty in this respect?

OUR COASTAL SHIPPING

This country has always zealously guarded its coastwise traffic. It has insisted that only American ships could participate therein and it has persistently prosecuted those who have been found violating it.

The indication that the proposition of permitting foreign ships to participate in the coastwise trade of this country is to come before the international chamber of commerce in June but when E. C. Plummer of the shipping board declares that such a letting down of the bars should not be considered by this country it is fair to assume that he represents the sentiment of the country.

To throw open the shipping between ports in this country to ships of all nations would simply mean extending an invitation to competition in this traffic which would mean a demoralization of our coastal shipping. We have established laws governing our merchant ships which exclude foreign ships. We require standards on our ships which are not to be found on others. We require American officials to operate these ships and surround them with regulations which would mean the disappearance of our coastwise merchant vessels if the business they are now doing was thrown open to anyone desiring to engage in it.

We have insured a large number of American merchant vessels solely by establishing such a law and keeping out those with whom it would be impossible to compete, and there would be strong opposition to the removal of such a protection. We have had enough experience with our merchant marine for foreign service to warn us against putting the coastwise service upon such a basis.

There can be no question but what the shipping interests of other countries would delight to have Uncle Sam lift the ban on foreign vessels in our coastal trade, but our own interests must get first consideration. Our merchant vessels in active service between our own ports are numerous and we certainly cannot do anything with our eyes open that would result in a decrease in their number and activity.

PRESENT DAY HIGHWAYMEN

While there will be a disposition to await the coroner's verdict following a careful investigation of the killing on the highway near Danielson, there are strong indications that the blame rests entirely with the man who was killed. He may not have expected it but he invited what he got.

It is another one of those instances which impress upon the users of the highways the danger that is involved in giving heed to the countless appeals that are being made every day to drivers of motorcars and trucks. Too many are the occasions when there is an ulterior purpose involved in trying to get a machine to stop.

It was only a short time ago that a New Haven man nearly lost his life on the Boston post road near Westerly when he was set upon and shot by a young man who had asked for a ride and was being accommodated. It doesn't appear that such a request was made in this instance but robbery was the purpose in each instance and the users of the highway were picked to be the victims.

The difficulty of determining in advance between the vicious and the worthy has been fully demonstrated. Willingness to give a person a lift, to stop to lend a hand or to stop when called to for any one of many reasons carries with it a danger which cannot be overlooked especially when a person is alone and without suspicion and means of protection.

Happily there are few such instances as those near Danielson and Westerly, but there are enough to place others on their guard in the interest of self preservation. Autoists can afford to have no part in making themselves the victims of the highway robbers.

THE ICE PATROL

The arrival at Halifax of the coast guard vessel Modoc, which is on patrol duty in the Atlantic, with the information that the icebergs are further north this year probably gives one of the explanations for the mild weather that we have been experiencing, but it directs new attention to the service that is being performed by these patrol vessels regardless as to where the icebergs may happen to be.

This is a service that has been maintained for the protection of transatlantic liners since the Titanic disaster caused by running afoul of a great ice berg which quickly sent that great vessel with much of its human cargo to the bottom.

Cruising the north Atlantic for the purpose of locating such bergs as make their appearance, and giving warning to shipping as to the location of such, is the duty of the Modoc. This government maintains that patrol with others sharing in the expense. Previous to the establishment of such a patrol vessels were governed by conditions as they encountered them or by the information obtained from others. Now, with the aid which the wireless furnishes, there is no reason why any vessel should not know in advance about where to expect dangerous ice will be encountered. Fair warning of this kind has not completely prevented other vessels from colliding with great floes but there has been no repetition of the Titanic's experience.

For that there is reason for widespread thanksgiving. Perhaps navigators have profited by that great glaring lesson, but there can be no misgivings about the value of the service that is being rendered through the maintenance of that lonesome iceberg patrol. It is costly but considering the provision for increased safety it is money well expended.

WHAT SHE BOUGHT

The clerk with the tired eyes and thin cheeks suddenly lifts her voice in a loud ear-piercing shriek:

"Number alevun, number alevun. This lady wants to change a coupla pair of stockings—that guy sure has got a tin ear. I'll have to holler again in a minute. Say, kid, listen. Did you get thinkin' about Christmas any yet?

"Sure. That's me all over. Always thinkin' up something to worry about.

"Number alevun, number alevun. Wouldn't you think that guy'd wake up some time or another? It's just terrible keepin' a customer waitin' like he's doin'. I'll say it is. I'll holler again in a minute. I'm awful sorry, lady.

"Well, say, sister, lookut. Last year I sure did have a run of bad luck with my folks-in-law and everything—you know how it is—

"You ain't? Well, say, dearie, you don't know what trouble is, see? You just wait till you get a coupla sisters and three brothers married. Like me, see? Then you'll have a right to think you know something, see? I'll say you will.

"Now, you take Mame Swanson, the next to my oldest brother's wife, see. She's—you know—funny this way—she's awful peculiar. But Mame's a swell housekeeper, so I kinda thought she'd like something real kind of useful, so I bought her some swell dish towels. But did she like 'em. She did not. She ain't quit teilin' yet how I given my other sister-in-laws such peachy presents and never give her nuthin' but them dish towels, see?

"I'm awful sorry, lady. It's terrible, him keepin' you waitin' like he's doing. Number alevun, number al-ev-un. The big egg! He's went the other way. I'll holler again when he turns r'und.

"Like 'em? I'll say they didn't. You'd oughter seen the swell pearl necklace I got Oluv—her that married my youngest brother. I'll say it was swell—it cost me every cent of a coupla dollars—and she says to me the next day how she'd a whole pile rather of had them dish towels I give Mame. What do you know?

"Number alevun, number alevun! I bet I get a sore throat hollerin' at that guy. Where's he goin' at now? For the lova Mike! I'm awful sorry, madam.

"Well, say, kid, listen. When it come to Maudie, my other brother's wife, I picked a swell oil paintin' pitcher—fruit and everything layin' in a cut glass dish—just's natural—they had 'em up in the art goods on sale reel cheap. I didn't have no idea but what Maudie'd be crazy about it—she's got such awful swell taste. But was she? I ask you. The first time I was to their place after Christmas she was leavin' the kids throw balls at it and see who could hit the bananas and the peach and the grapes and everything. What do you know?

"Number alevun, number alevun!

"I'm awful sorry, lady. I'll holler again—number alevun, number alev—well, it's a pity you'd leave me with the loud speaker hitched on till it's pretty near busted. This lady's been waitin' a week to change her stock—

"Sure, he'll fix you up now, lady, I'm awful sor—

"Well, it's just like I was sayin', kid. I'd of been off this Christmas stuff absolootly if it hadn't of been for ma and pa.

"Oh, I give 'em the same line of goods I been handin' out ever since I started to commence to work—a coupla cute little gingham house dresses for ma and some swell handkerchiefs and some smokin' tobacco for pa. But, say, dearie, listen. They acted just as surprised and tickled as if I'd handed 'em a couple checks for a thousan' apiece. And they pretty near hollered their head off over the coupla comical toys I got the each of 'em off the 5 and 10 cent store. I'll say they did.

"Ain't it the truth? You sure said a mouthful then, kid. Who cares what kind of a jam they gets into with their folks-in-law when they got such a swell ma and pa as what I have? I ask you. Who cares? I guess after all I'm reel kinda glad Christmas is on the way."—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Hiram Percy Maxim, who has been honored with the presidency of the first International Radio Congress in session in Paris, is a resident of Hartford, Conn., and a member of a family famous through several generations for its inventive genius. Sir Hiram Maxim, the father of Hiram P. Maxim, won fame and fortune through his invention of the automatic system of firearms. The son likewise has attained a high reputation as an inventor, and is known particularly as the inventor of the Maxim silencer. He was born in Brooklyn, in 1869, and received an excellent technical education. After completing his training he entered the profession of electrical engineering, first in the middle west, and later returning to New England. With the benefit of much practical experience gained in the service of great electrical corporations, Mr. Maxim organized a firm of his own for the manufacture of his various inventions.

Oil is Power

Most motorists think of lubricating oil merely as something to reduce friction between moving metal parts. While this is a very necessary thing, the principal function of a good lubricating oil is to preserve and conserve power by sealing, as completely as possible, the piston head union in the combustion chamber.

A poor lubricating oil cannot do this successfully or completely. The tremendous heat at which motors operate will break down and thin down oils of insufficient body. The result is loss of power and excessive crankcase dilution.

Socony Motor Oil is refined to meet the requirements of all types of motors now on the market.* Highly heat-resisting, it yet has sufficient viscosity to effect an efficient leak-proof seal around the piston head. It consumes cleanly.

Insist upon Socony Motor Oil; resist cheap and spurious imitations.

Remember that SOCONY is "Standard"

Chassis Lubrication

Do not fail to lubricate periodically your chassis with Socony Gear Oil or Socony Gear Compound. It gives miles of added power.

BORNEO

In discouraging the savage custom of head-hunting in Borneo, the Dutch and British rulers of the country now have the powerful cooperation of native priests or "medicine men" according to a late report, which states that at an assembly of thousands of the natives, or Dyaks, a terrible curse was pronounced by the head priest on all who revive tribal quarrels.

"The curious custom of head-hunting has been in existence in many of the islands of the East Indies for ages," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "It is not confined to any one people but is practiced by the Dyaks in Borneo, other Maylays in the smaller islands, and by the Negroid Melanesians in New Guinea. Human heads are the most highly prized possessions of the head-hunters, and the women of the tribes help to perpetuate the custom by favoring the young men who collect the most grim trophies. Not only are the heads of enemies obtained in major warfare, but the young braves of one village will often attack a neighboring village merely for the purpose of obtaining heads. The heads are preserved and dried and hung over the owner's fireplace, the collections being handed down from father to son.

"Under British and Dutch rule many of the Dyaks of Borneo have become peaceable farmers. This is especially true along the coasts and near the navigable rivers. But from time to time the more savage natives of the interior revert to head-hunting, and they have found the semi-civilized agricultural natives a source for heads. It is to protect this farming people and to extend civilization more widely through the island that the aid of the 'medicine men' has been enlisted.

"The Dyaks live in 'long houses' each of which shelters many families and is in effect a village in itself. Some of the horizontal ridge-poles of these structures, raised 30 or 40 feet in the air, extend for several hundred feet. From the ridge-poles the thatched roof sweeps down at a steep angle to within six or eight feet of the ground. This is the floor level, the houses being constructed on a platform supported by piles. Outside the roof is an open veranda, an uncovered extension of the floor platform. Under the roof on one side of the center is an enclosed veranda, extending the full length of the communal house. On the other side of the center the space is divided by partitions into rooms for the various families. In the enclosed veranda, outside the rooms, are the individual fireplaces over which the treasured head-racks are placed.

"The Dyak men are smaller than the average Westerner, well proportioned, and of a type adapted for activity, speed and endurance, which are valuable qualities in jungle inhabitants. The women afect a queer method of adornment, wrapping themselves in brass corsets made of numerous hoops of cane covered with brass rings. These metal garments cover their bodies from just below the arm pits to the hip line, and even below. Heavy necklaces and ear pendants are also worn, and the costume is completed by a length of cloth folded around to form a short skirt.

"Borneo is the second largest island in the world outside the Polar regions, having an area of about 298,000 square miles—approximately that of Texas and West Virginia combined. Of this area The Netherlands owns more than 200,000 square miles; the remainder is controlled by Great Britain under three jurisdictions, British North Borneo, Brunei (or Borneo,) and Sarawak. The latter has a romantic history. For three generations it has been ruled by 'white Rajahs,' members of a British family named Brooks, who are the hereditary rajahs.

"Borneo is almost completely covered by a thick blanket of tropical verdure; valleys, hills and mountains alike. The density of the tangled mass of vegetation is equalled, probably, only in parts of the valley of the Amazon. Enormous forest trees grow close together, their tops interlacing and shutting out the sunlight. Smaller trees push far up, fighting for a place in the sun, while vines wrap themselves about the trunks and farms till the remaining space. The observer from the ground sees little but somber greens and browns. The color, chiefly [illegible] and [illegible] plants, is far above, topping the sea of foliage.

"Where [illegible] have been made Borneo's [illegible] ally produces coffee, cotton, rice, sugar cane, tobacco, and numerous fruits are among [illegible] crops while forest and natural products [illegible] rubber, gutta [illegible] spices, camphor, mats and sago. Rich deposits of valuable metals, ores, minerals, petroleum and precious stones have hardly been scratched.

"Fewer than 2,000,000 inhabitants including natives, immigrant Malays, Arabs, Chinese and Europeans, occupy Borneo's vast area."

HENS SPURT SPLENDIDLY IN 25TH WEEK AT STORRS

What almost amounts to a freshet has struck the Storrs laying contest. Compared with the previous week's production there was a gain of 853 eggs, bringing the total lay for the twenty-fifth week to 4912 or a yield of over fifty per cent. While all the breeds have been active, the Leghorns are largely responsible for the bullish turn in production. Six weeks ago they were at the foot of the class coming through with only 3811 eggs a day from each hundred hens, whereas last week they climbed to the top with a total of nearly 54 eggs from each 100 hens. Breeders in the contest are for the most part fairly well satisfied with a total for the year of 2000 eggs for a pen of ten pullets. One pen of White Wyandottes and three pens of Leghorns have already laid more than half this number of eggs before they reached the half way mark in point of time. The leading pen of Reds has scored 999 eggs to date which makes them a pretty safe bet for 2000 eggs or better before the contest closes.

Hilltop Farm's pen of Leghorns of Suffield, Conn., were the high scorers for the twenty-fifth week of the contest with a total of 57 eggs. Another pen of the same breed owned by Meadowedge Farm at Sterling Jct., Mass., was a close second with a mark of 56 eggs. F. S. Chapin's pen of Rhode Island Reds from Longmeadow, Mass., was third best pen for the week with a production of 54 eggs. Two pens of Leghorns owned by Mountain Meadow Farm at West Rutland, Vt., and Pine Point Leghorn Farm, at Mt. Ephraim, N. J., tied for fourth place with 54 eggs each in the twenty-fifth week there were only two changes among the leading pens. In the White Wyandotte class William A. Hills of Warwick, R. I., and A. B. Rice of Tolland, Conn., were tied last week for third place but now the Rhode Island pen has apparently side stepped the western birds. In the Barred Rock class Jasper D. Cargill of Berwick, Me., has lost third place to another Down East contestant, R. W. Davis & Sons of Rockland, Me.

White Rocks

Ellen Day Ranch, Huntington, L. I.	937
Davidson Bros, Upton, Mass.	899
H. E. Spencer, Matewan, N. J.	836

OBTUARY

Edward H. Harris

Following an illness of some time the death of Edward H. Harris, formerly of Salem, occurred Tuesday evening at 10:20 o'clock at the home of George Rathbun of 32 Dunham street, where he had made his home since last December. Mr. Harris suffered a shock at his home in Salem about two years ago and had been in poor health since that time.

He was born in Salem, November 6, 1848, the son of Justin and Heppy Champlin Harris and made his home in that town for about 75 years where he had been engaged in farming.

He was united in marriage with Evelyn Ordway, who died in Salem, several years ago. Surviving Mr. Harris are one sister, Mrs. Charles Howard of Sutton, Mass.; one brother, Frederick N. Harris, of Salem, and several cousins in Washington, D. C., and one cousin in Willimantic.

Mr. Harris was a member of the Salem Congregational church and had been active in community affairs as long as health permitted. News of his death will be received with regret by his many friends.

Mrs. Gilbert Murray.

Mrs. Emeline B. Wescott Murray, 87, wife of the late Gilbert Murray of Salem, died Monday at the home of her sister, Miss S. Jennie Hurlbut, in Salem. Death was attributed to infirmities attending old age. Mrs. Murray had spent nearly all of her life in Salem. For the past several months her health had been failing but only recently was she obliged to remain at the home of her sister. She leaves, besides her sister, a nephew, Charles I. Beebe of Salem, and three grand nephews.

William Shea

Following an illness of 10 weeks the death of William Shea occurred Tuesday night at 10.40 o'clock at his home at No. 65 Sherman street. Mr. Shea was born in Baltic but had made his home in Norwich for many years and had been in the employ of the United States Finishing company, where he was a faithful employe.

On June 17, 1891, in St. Patrick's church he was united in marriage with Miss Mary A. Goddard by Rev. Father Shahan. He is survived by his wife and one brother, Marcus Shea of Salem.

Mr. Shea was a member of St. Patrick's parish, and was affiliated with Court City of Norwich, No. 63, Foresters of America, and with the New England Order of Protection. A loving and kind husband and brother and a true friend, Mr. Shea will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

Mrs. Flora M. King of 3 North Thames street and Herbert B. Scaplen of 3 North Main street were united in marriage, Monday evening at 8 o'clock by Justice of the Peace John H. Barnes, at his office in the Chapman block.

The groom is the son of William B. and Loy Farley Scaplen and is employed as an electrician. The bride was born in Franklin, Mass., and is the daughter of Charles B. Markham and Bessie Schriser.

NORWICH ENTERTAINERS PLEASE IN WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, April 28.—"Ye Colonials" a charming musical program, was given at the Congregational church house Tuesday evening before a capacity audience, under the auspices of the Thimble club of which Mrs. C. W. Noyes is leader. Mabel C. Buckingham, soprano and Hazel L. Banfield, contralto, were accompanied at the panio by Mary E. Gray, all of Norwich. The first number, a solo, To a Miniature, was given by Miss Banfield in colonial costume. She responded to an encore with Old Fashioned Waltz. This was followed by Gavotte, an old fashioned dance, also given in costume by Mrs. Buckingham and Miss Banfield. Miss Gray played Laces and Graces, arranged by Salver and Bratton. This was followed by a group of Chinese songs given in Chinese costume by Miss Banfield and Mrs. Buckingham, in red and lavender, respectively. Mrs. Buckingham sang The Iris Garden, arranged by Edw. Teschemacher and "Pretty Little Chinese" was given in duet. The encore was a quaint little Chinese dance. Clever feats of magic were given by William J. Banfield. The second group consisted of songs of childhood. The first was, Nursery Rhymes, a duet, beginning with Mr. Herbert's arrangements of a Mother Goose Rhyme. The second part was Little Jack Horner. Mrs. Buckingham sang If No One Ever Married Me, responding to an encore with "Grandma," arranged by Henry Sachs and a recitation, a take-off on an old time singing school closed the program. The costumes for this number were Kate Greenaway dresses. The audience was enthusiastic and declared all the numbers delightfully given. The proceeds are to be used for the redecoration fund of the First Congregational church.

Struck Woman in Taftville

MAIN ST. CANDY STORE BURNED OUT AND ADJOINING STORES DAMAGED

Pattison's candy store at No. 162 Main street, was badly gutted by fire of unknown origin discovered about 10:45, D. S. T., Tuesday evening. The fire was discovered by several American Legion men who had just left the Wauregan Hotel where they had held a meeting. Warren Wilcox, one of the Legion men, pulled in Box 4, corner of Main and Shetucket streets, calling out the fire department which made a prompt response.

When the fire was discovered smoke was seeping through the doorways of the candy store and Fagan's Smoke Shop, which adjoins the candy store. The door of the candy store was forced in and the plate glass windows broken, sending volumes of dense smoke rolling out into the street. Streams from two hose lines were directed into the store and the flames were quickly under control. The recall was rung in about 20 minutes.

The fire, which evidently started from some unknown cause in the rear of the store shot up through the skylight and the flames ate their way through the partition into Fagan's Smoke Shop. The second floor, occupied by the Pasnik store, escaped the flames, but gowns and other stock on that floor suffered considerable from smoke.

Losses to property and contents of the stores could not be determined in full, Tuesday night, Mr. Patterson estimated his loss at about $1,000 on fixtures and stock, with insurance for about half the loss. Mr. Pasnik was unable to give his loss but stated that it would be over $1,000 on cloaks and dresses on the floor above the Pattison store. Robert Welling, proprietor of Bob's Men's Shop, gave no figure on his loss which he said would be heavy due to smoke and water which flooded the show cases in the store.

There was also considerable damage in Fagan's Smoke Shop, the greater part of the damage being confined to the rear of the shop. Frank Fagan, proprietor of the Smoke Shop, closed up for the night at 10 o'clock. At that time there was no sign of fire. The Pattison Candy shop, Eugene L. Pattison, prop. was closed up for the night at 10 o'clock also. Officer Peter Driscoll, who tried the doors of both stores a half hour before the box was pulled in, said that there was no sign of fire at that time.

It was hinted that burglars may have been responsible for the blaze, as the cash register in Pattison's Candy shop was found on the floor. This theory of burglars having gained entrance to the store is discounted, however, as it is more than possible that the cash register was knocked over onto the floor by the streams of water directed into the store. The building is owned by George Greenberger.

FIRE BREAKS OUT AGAIN IN PASNIK'S

About 2:15 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning the fire broke out again and the flames swept through the second floor of the building occupied by Pasnik's store.

Officer Peter Driscoll was in front of Fagan's Smoke shop, guarding the property and saw the flames as they were reflected in the Woolworth store windows. He immediately pulled in Box 4, calling out the department again.

Mr. Pasnik and Mr. Fagan had left shortly before the fire broke out again. They had hardly arrived at their homes when the fire alarm rang and they hurried back to the scene again. When the apparatus pulled around the bank corner practically the entire second floor of the building was in flames. Several lines of hose were quickly laid and the flames were soon squelched.

Mr. Pasnik suffered the greatest loss in the second fire as a good part of the stock in the store that escaped damage when the fire first started was badly damaged by the flames, smoke and water. The water seeped down from the second floor into the main store on the ground floor.

The recall was sounded about fifteen minutes after the alarm had been pulled.

TAX ANALYSIS COMMITTEE ADJOURNS WITHOUT AGREEING ON RECOMMENDATION

After a two-hour discussion Tuesday evening in the mayor's room at the court house in an attempt to reach an agreement upon a recommendation that might be made to a town meeting instead of the divided report that had previously been made, the tax equalization committee adjourned its meeting at 10:10 without reaching a decision.

The discussion revolved chiefly around what sort of assistance the assessors might be expected to have for the work, whether local or outside, with a strong sentiment prevailing in favor of local assistance. There was sentiment also that the appropriation to be recommended ought not to be more than $10,000, instead of $20,000 as had been recommended by the majority report of the committee.

Toward the end of the discussion, a motion was offered by Samuel Goldberg that it was the sense of the meeting that an appropriation not to exceed $10,000 should be recommended that the work should be done by the assessors and that their assistance should be by local people. Before a vote was taken on this the meeting adjourned.

Mayor Milo R. Waters, First Selectman William S. Murray, Town Clerk Charles S. Holbrook, Town Counsel H. H. Pettis and Corporation Counsel William H. Shields, Jr., were present by invitation.

Chairman James L. Case opened the meeting by explaining that this was the date which had been set for the town meeting but it had been thought advisable to postpone this to see if it might not be possible for the committee to reach a unanimous report. He spoke of the various appearances which the committee had made before groups of citizens, all of which he said had been by invitation and not by assignment. He also said that it seemed there was about a 50-50 opinion in the town on the proposition.

The matter was taken up for informal discussion and the question of outside help was discussed by Grosvenor Ely, Samuel Goldberg, Albert Boardman and Frank B. Ricketson. Mayor Waters said he thought the hitch was because people understood that outside help had been practically hired. A. R. Manning, one of the assessors, said he was in favor of letting the people decide what the assistance for the assessors should be and he declared no one had been hired or given any assurance they would be hired.

D. T. Shea stated that he believed 95 percent of the people were in favor of revaluation of the property, but he thought it was all a question of outside or local assistance on the revaluation. Men familiar with local conditions ought to be the best judges of values.

Mr. Ely declared he was heartily in favor of local assistance and hoped it could be secured but he wanted some definite local proposition with a guarantee to price performance and time from some responsible party. He didn't want to go into it blind but he would favor any local proposition. John F. Rogers spoke along the line of the desirability of the committee getting together on some agreement that they would all subscribe to. Michael J. Curran said he didn't believe in a guarantee from local assistants to the assessors. The assessors can do this work, he said, with clerical assistance and they have got time enough to do it. The assessors can secure the assistance of a dozen people just as the outside experts proposed to do. With proper time and an increased salary as an incentive to work, the assessors can do the work in a year and a half.

John J. O'Rourke spoke of the experience of Meriden where the results had been unsatisfactory with local assistance.

When Mr. Goldberg suggested that the assessors do the work with assistance supplied by the selectmen, Town Counsel Pettis said he thought no vote would be legal which placed the action of the assessors under supervision of the selectmen. He also said that a definite limit of expenditure should be named. He thought there was a possibility of conflict if the selectmen employed assistance for the assessors.

Mr. O'Rourke spoke of the mapping that had been done which covers the main part of Norwich and Occum, Yantic and Taftville. Mr. Shea said that Mr. Palmer had told him the present maps covered 90 per cent. of the property in the town, according to value, and he asked why spend more for maps.

The discussion waxed warm between various members of the committee at times and Chairman Case was frequently obliged to call upon them to stick to the subject under discussion.

One thing that the meeting was in unanimous agreement upon was that the work of revaluation should be done by the assessors. The amount to be expended and the method by which they should have assistance were the points at which the members of the committee diverged.

Finally the motion of Mr. Goldberg, already referred to, was brought up but a motion to adjourn prevailed before it was voted on.

MEETING OF NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

Washington, April 28—Contradictory views on the Einstein theory of relativity were expressed in papers read before the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, which ended its open session with a banquet tonight. At the banquet the Daniel Giraud Elliot medal for 1924 was awarded to Abbe Henri Breuil, European archaelogis for his paleolithic researches, and the Mary Clark Thompson medal was given to John Mason Clark, New York geologist.

Dr. Dayton C. Miller, of the case school of applied science, Cleveland, Ohio, told the academy today that experiments conducted during the last four years at Cleveland and Mount Wilson, Cal., pointed to the conclusion that there is a relative motion of the earth and the ether and that the solar system as a whole is moving through space. This tends to disprove the Einstein theory, he said.

Dr. George Ellery Hale, honorary director of the Mount Wilson observatory, announced that its director, Dr. Walter S. Adams, had found supporting evidence for the Einstein theory in photographing the spectrum of the faint companion star of Sirius, the brightest in the heavens.

"Dr. Adams has now accomplished with the 100-inch Hooker telescope the difficult task of photographing the spectrum of the companion star and measuring the position of the lines in its spectrum," he declared. "He finds them to be shifted toward the red end of the spectrum by an amount in close accord with Eddington's prediction. These results thus tend to confirm Einstein's theory of relativity and also Eddington's theory of stellar constitution.

EASTFORD "REAL DAUGHTER" WILL BE 107 THURSDAY

Mrs. Sarah Bosworth Bradway, of Eastford, real daughter of the American Revolution, will be 107 years old Thursday. Following their custom, members of Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R. of Putnam, plan to make a pilgrimage to Mrs. Bradway's home in Eastford, carrying gifts of flowers, fruit, etc.

Mrs. Bradway has become blind but she retains all her other faculties and eats and sleeps well. Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Clark, aged 80, keeps Mrs. Bradway's home without any assistance.

Mrs. Bradway was born in Eastford April 30, 1818, daughter of Allan Bosworth and Sarah Howard. Her father enlisted in the Revolutionary army at Ashford as a private in Captain Stephen Lyon's company, June 20, 1776. He was in the battles of Long Island, White Plains, Fort Washington and Frog's Point, New York, and saw service in Rhode Island, also.

Girl Has No Internal Injuries

The condition of Yvonne, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Boucher of 106 North Main street, was reported as improved, Wednesday morning, by Backus hospital authorities.

The girl is suffering painful bruises about the body and complains of pains about the abdomen, but an X-ray picture failed to disclose any internal injuries. She was struck and knocked down on North Main street, rear of her home Saturday by an automobile. One wheel was reported to have gone over her body.

About 4.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the fire department was called out for a bad grass fire off Thames street, near the junction of Thames and High street. The fire gave the firemen a busy hour and a half.

STATE AID $17,000 FOR BACKUS HOSPITAL

Hartford, April 28—The state of Connecticut will pay $723,500 in state aid to the thirty-five hospitals of the state during the next two years, if the budget which will be submitted by the appropriations committee tomorrow is adopted. The budget as reported is increased $18,000 over recommendation of the state board of finance, due to the addition by the appropriations committee of Mt. Sinai, of Hartford, and Home Memorial hospital, of New London, to the list, the former for $5,000 and the latter for $8,000. The hospitals asked a total of $897,000 in state aid and twelve of the thirty-five will receive the full amount for which they asked. The New Haven general hospital asked the largest amount, $100,000 and was cut to $40,000 the same amount which the Hartford hospital and St. Francis hospital here, each of which asked $50,000, will receive. The largest single grant is to Gaylord farm in Wallingford which receives the $81,000 which it requested.

URGES RESIGNATION OF E. M. YEOMANS OF ANDOVER

New Haven, April 28—Dr. Edward G. Dolan, of South Manchester, a member of the democratic state central committee and one of Connecticut's delegates to the last democratic convention, speaking at a testimonial dinner to Democratic Registrar of Voters Thomas E. Cahill here tonight, called for the reorganization of the democratic party both state and national. He also urged the immediate resignation of E. M. Yeomans, of Andover, as chairman of the state central committee in view of his recent appointment to the superior court. He called for the resignation in order that a successor may be named and preparations for the next campaign begun.

Dr. Dolan declared the state central committee should act as more than a "rubber stamp" and that the citizens' committee, named a year ago should become an integral part of the state central body. He declared himself in favor of the state central committee electing and not simply nominate the candidates.

"One cannot help but think," he said, "of the pernicious New Haven registrar bill when attending a meeting of this character, and I say to you whether you be democrats or republicans, it is your solemn duty, as believers in liberty, justice and representative government, to most strenuously combat this and other bills such as the Bridgeport ripper bill which denies the right to exercise your franchise in the management of what is purely your own local affairs.

"The senators and representatives in the legislature were elected to represent and enact laws beneficial to all the people. They are not doing this. In its place they are strengthening and fortifying a republican state central committee, giving to one man who is neither elected by nor answerable to the people, power unheard of or thought of in any other station in this union.

"There is positive need of the reorganization in our party both nationally and state-wide. Leaders must bring trust in the thoughts of rank and file of the voters."

More than 400 attended the testimonial dinner, many of them republicans. Mr. Cahill, was presented a gold watch as a token of esteem by his friends.

The name of Governor "Al" Smith was mentioned by several of the speakers, several of them speaking of him as the next democratic candidate for president. William E. Thomas, former mayor of Waterbury, was introduced as the man whose name is most mentioned for democratic gubernatorial honors.

STATE COMMANDER VISITS FOREIGN WAR VETERANS

At their regular meeting Thursday night at their rooms on Market street, Richard E. Hourigan Post, No. 594, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were honored by an official visit from their state commander, Major William Shannon of Waterbury. The state deputy Harry T. Bowers, and the junior vice commander of Harley P. Chase Post V. F. W., of Pawcatuck, were also present.

Commander Leo L. Jacques presided at the meeting and introduced State Commander Shannon who gave an interesting talk to the veterans. State Deputy Powers and Vice Commander Harley of the Pawcatuck Post, also spoke on matters of interest to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served under the direction of the entertainment committee of which Louis L. Hull is chairman.

Prize Cow For Hopkinton

Minnehaha's Papoose, said to be one of the most valuable known pedigree Guernsey cows in the world, arrived at the railroad station at Wood River Junction the other morning, for the Flint-Arrow stock farm in Hopkinton.

The valuable addition, consigned to Harvey J. Flint, came from Baltimore, Md., and with the distinguished cows shipped to R. G. Haywood, Southboro, Mass., traveled in a special car with a caretaker.

Minnehaha's Papoose is one of a class of ten cows which, as Guernseys, lead the world in dairy production. She was formerly owned by Judge Chichester of Maryland and was the highest priced cow sold at the recent annual sale.

West Thames St., Brush Fire

A few minutes before one o'clock this (Wednesday) morning the fire department was called out for a good sized brush fire on land off West Thames street. The fire gave the firemen a good half hour's work. The brush fire was on a lot of land to the south of the location of the brush fire Tuesday afternoon. The call was sent in by Officer Charles McFadden, who saw the flames from the dock near the New Haven freight station while making his rounds.

Collision on Burnham Square.

Automobiles driven by John M. Hansen of 269 Main street and Mr. Shortell of 115 Roath street were in collision late Tuesday afternoon in Burnham square. Headlights were broken on the Hansen machine and the total damages were reported at about $30.

ALLEGES DESERTION IN HIS DIVORCE SUIT

Suit for divorce from Ruth Bogue Singer of Ledyard has been brought in the superior court by John E. Singer of Noank, who married her June 7, 1906. He alleges desertion since March 10, 1922. The suit is returnable to the superior court in May.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Maud Parker of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting Mrs. Daniel M. Lester.

The Sewing Club was entertained Monday by Mrs. Frederick B. Craven, at her home in Uncasville.

Miss Eleanor Sands of Brookline, Mass., has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Josephine Holbrook of Broad street.

Miss Kate Avery, who has been visiting her niece, Mrs. Lee R. Robbins, returned Saturday to her home in Stamford.

Robert Livingstone Johnson of New York and Stamford, spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. William J. Birge, of Huntington Place.

Mrs. George A. Ashley, regent of Faith Trumbull chapter, D. A. R. has received from Mrs. Sydney Miner, regent of Lucretia Shaw chapter, New London, an invitation for the members of the Norwich chapter to attend the May luncheon in New London, Monday next.

Friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Gager, of Broadway, Monday evening, as an informal celebration of Mrs. Gager's birthday. Dinner was followed by an evening of cards, five tables of bridge being in play. Mrs. Gager received an additional surprise in the gift of a handsome piece of jewelry. The enjoyable affair was arranged by Mrs. Samuel E. Smiley, of Slater Avenue.

England's Bill for Rats

It has been estimated that the damage caused by rats to the food supply and buildings in Great Britain alone represents a loss of something approaching £50,000,000 a year. In addition to this, the rat is a serious menace to society as a carrier of disease; the occurance of infectious jaundice in epidemic form on the western front during the war and more recently in Scotland, where a mortality of 40 per cent of cases occurred, has directed attention to a new danger near home, for which the rate is responsible. It is common knowledge that rats are prolific, but few people realize the rapidity with which their numbers increase. The litter of an adult rat varies from 8 to 16. Rats breed throughout the year, the period of gestation is only 21 days, and impregnation may again take place within a few hours of the birth of a litter.

A very moderate estimate of the number of descendants of one pair of rats born during one year is well over a thousand, and these in the course of three years will have increased to a quarter of a million; these calculations are based on litters of 10 and only 6 litters in the course of a year are allowed for. A single pair of rats will eat more than 80 loaves or their equivalent in a year, and their descendants in the same years will eat more than 46,000 loaves or their equivalent in wheat or flour.

Caribou are coming back to New Brunswick, says the chief game warden of that province of Canada. This is regarded as a testimony to the protective methods employed by the guides, who are more and more coming to be regarded as ex-officio wardens, and who are well aware that the best means of protecting their livelihood is to see that hunting of big game is not carried to excess. A further indication of the development of hunting in the province is given in the figures of moose and deer shot in 1924. Five hundred more moose and 1,500 more deer were killed in 1924 than in 1923, the record being 1,511 moose and 3,893 deer in 1924.

BULKELEY TACKLES TOUGH MERIDEN TEAM TODAY

New London, April 28—The Bulkeley baseball team faces one of the stiffest weeks on its baseball schedule. The Orange and Black being matched to play with a fourth contest still pending. All the games are on the successive days, the opening game of the week being with George Washington High of Meriden, at New London, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The team leaves for New York Wednesday night and will engage Fordham freshmen on Thursday afternoon and Morris High on Friday afternoon. A game is pending with the strong Columbia University nine for Saturday concluding Bulkeley's baseball program.

It is doubted whether the Bulkeley team will fall down under the hardships they will labor in engaging in the three games which are scheduled on successive days. The only fear comes from the mound. There is some doubt as to whether the Orange and Black moundsmen will be able to stand the extra work which will be required of them to bring this week's campaign to a successful termination. Gemo Montali will be given the assignment in the game with the Meriden High school nine. From the early season record which Meriden has established, it looks as though there will be enough fight right in this city for Bulkeley without leaving for New York to find trouble.

The past record of accomplishment of the George Washington High nine of Meriden includes victories over Weaver High of Hartford and New Haven Commercial High. The game with the latter school nine which ended in an 8 to 1 victory for the Silver City school nine, shows that the Meridenites have a powerful attack as well as good pitching to help them glide through the High school opposition with more ease. Gibson, the visitor's shortstop, will have to be especially watched, for he crashed a triple with three men on against New Haven Commercial High. The victory over Weaver High was equally impressive.

Meriden High appears as a strong contender for the mythical high school baseball crown. This team ranks on an equal basis with Crosby and Wilby highs of Waterbury and Bridgeport High. Crosby has two victories to its credit, the 7 to 3 victory over New Britain practically eliminates the Hardware City aggregation. It also makes Crosby assume the early leadership in leading the standing with victories over two important High school nines. Wilby is also in the thick of the fight with two victories, he outstanding ones being over Weaver and West Hartford Highs. he game Bulkeley played with Norwich Free Academy is really the first ime played in Connecticut high hool competition. The games scheded for the Orange and Black next onth will find the locals in the thick of the championship fight. Crosby, Bridgeport, Hartford, Weaver, New Haven Commercial, New Haven Hillhouse will all be the opponents of the Bulkeley nine in May. The game with Meriden on Wednesday will furnish a good chance of comparison as to the possible attack and defense Bulkeley possesses.

From present plans it looks as though Gene Montali will be given the mound assignment on Wednesday against Meriden. It is expected that both pitchers, Daniels and Parisi will be given some section of the outfield to patrol in their spare moments. Just which section either of these pitchers will patrol is uncertain as yet, and will not be decided until the time for the game Wednesday. The remainder of the Bulkeley lineup will be the same, while that of Meriden will be identical which played against New Haven Commercial High on Saturday. In event that Montali finds the going too rough then Daniels will be drafted for service for three innings, and Parisi will be given the remainder of the innings.

AGGIES LOSE TO COLBY IN FREE HITTING GAME

Storrs, Conn., April 28.—Connecticut was defeated 10-4 by Colby here this afternoon when in two hectic innings of baseball the Maine team came from behind to go into a safe lead.

The damage was done in the seventh and eighth innings when bunched hits aided by Aggie misplays allowed the Pine Tree Staters to run up a safe margin.

Wells started on the mound for the state college nine, and kept Colby well in check until the fatal seventh Nanfeldt went in for Wells in the eighth inning.

Both teams played air tight ball in the early stages of the game and there was no scoring until the Aggies shoved one across in their half of the fifth inning with one down, Wells was hit by Mason, and took first. O'Brien flied out to Hannifin and with two away Makofski singled, scoring Wells. Connecticut disposed of the Colby batters in short order in the sixth inning and then proceeded to push three more runs across the plate. With one away Seymour singled and took second on O'Brien's poor throw.

After Tiernan walked, putting two men on bases, Gilbert doubled, scoring Seymour and sending Tiernan to third. Wells struck out, but O'Brien singled to left field scoring both Tiernan and Gilbert. Colby came back strong in the seventh inning and by bunching three hits along with three Aggie errors was able to gather six runs.

Four more hits in the next inning along with two Connecticut errors enabled Colby to make four more runs and put the game on ice.

In the final inning the batters on both sides were disposed of in short order, Colby annexing the game with the final score 10-4.

Thursday the Maine University nine will play at Storrs. The score:

FUMBLE IN TENTH GIVES BRASSCOS GAME

Waterbury, April 28—Sam Kirshstein's fumble of Pinch Hitter Helgerth's infield grounder enabling Poole to beat his throw to the plate in the tenth inning of today's game, gave Waterbury a victory over New Haven by the score of 3 to 2. Poole relieved Schaufel at third as a base runner. Nichols and McPhee engaged in a pitcher's duel for ten innings with the local pitcher having the edge. Before the game started, Johnny Morse, New Haven right fielder and a local sandlot league product, was presented with $200 in Liberty bonds, a traveling bag and a bat by his admirers. Moore sent the game into an overtime period with his single in the fifth that scored Bachand with the tieing run. Score:

HARTFORD BEATS OUT WORCESTER IN SEVENTH

Hartford, April 28.—Worcester won today 5 to 4, after Hartford had twice come from behind to catch up with the visitors. A pinch hitter was used for Bradley in the seventh and with the score tied in the eighth Noel was sent to the box and greated by a double by Leary. Noel was relieved by Owen. A sacrifice and Thrasher's single sent home the winning run. Score:

Cut in Harvard Ball Squad

Cambridge, Mass., April 28.—The Harvard Varsity baseball squad was cut to 15 men today by coach Eddie Mahan. Arthur Rogers, who played right field last year, was the only letter man among those relegated to the second team. This disposition of the players is not regarded as fixed and it is expected that coach Fred Lake of the second squad will make promotions during the season.

In the putting contest, Mrs. E. H. Peters, of Greenwich and Mrs. Dubois were tied at 36 and in the playoff, Mrs. Peters won by five strokes.

There was 31 entries in the tournament.

CHAPMAN TO PLAY WESTERLY ON SATURDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, April 28—With air tight twirling featuring the past four contests which the Chapman Tech nine has engaged in so far this season, the Red and Black outfit will oppose Westerly High in its first league game of the Eastern Connecticut circuit on Saturday at Morgan Park.

Early season success seemed to have smiled upon the efforts of the three big nines in the league, namely Chapman Tech, Norwich Free Academy and Westerly. The stock of the local Red and Black outfit is better known than that of Westerly, for the victories of the local nine include two more than Westerly. Stonington is an unknown number this year, and little has been heard of the Brown and White's activities this season. However, if the other teams in the league have been strengthened there is no doubt that Stonington is ready to meet the others on the diamond and give a good acount of herself.

Judging from present indications the league this seasn will be a free-for-all fight for the top rung of the ladder, featuring the three cornered fight between the Academy, Westerly and Chapman Tech. All three are strong nines, better than last year, with the Academy giving a fine impression in early season's activities. Chapman Tech, with fine pitching featuring its three victories to date, has a fine staff of hurlers who will be able to stand the rough going which is before it this season.

Norwich Free Academy is also strong in the box with seasoned material on hand to stem the tide of the enemy advance. Like Chapman Tech, the Academy has a pitching department which boasts a left hander as well as a right hand flinger. Westerly in this respect does not show up as strong, for the pitching ace, Smith of the Rhode Islanders will be lost to the nine this year. However several of the veterans of the nine which represented the school last year will again be on hand to bring another Eastern Connecticut championship to the Rhode Island school.

CARDS LOSE FIFTH STRAIGHT TO PIRATES

St. Louis, April 28.—The St. Louis Cardinals were defeated today for the fifth straight time, losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates in the third game of the series, 7 to 3. Rhem was pounded freely. Rogers Hornsby, Cardinal second baseman, back in the lineup for the first time since he was hit on the head last Thursday, got two singles. The score:

DERBY NOMINEES HAVE WORKOUT IN THE MUD

Louisville, Ky., April 28—Several prominent nominees for the $50,000 Kentucky Derby splashed through the mud in their workouts at Churchill Downs today.

Frederick Johnson's Quatrain, the present favorite, was breezed a mile trial and finished with plenty of reserve. His time by quarters was: 26; 52; 1:17 4-5 and 1:45.

Captain Hal, another heavily backed eligible, worked the mile in 1:45 2-5, most of the way under restraint. He was closed at the quarter in 24 3-5; half in 49 4-5, three quarters in 1:17 1-5 and galloped out the mile.

Lee O Cotner, who is not partial to the mud, worked the mile with Bourbon Boy, a soft track horse. The two were timed for the mile in 1:44 4-5.

Elsass, W. H. Whitehouse's Derby nominee, will not be sent to Lexington for the Blue Grass stakes, Lon Johnson, his trainer, said today.

JOHNSON HOLDS RED SOX TO FOUR SCATTERED HITS

Boston, April 28—Walter Johnson held Boston to four hits while his mates pounded Ferguson, Fuhr and Fullerton for nine hits and nine runs in the first two innings of the game here today. The champions won 9 to 2. Doubles by Flagstead and Boone and a single by Wambsganss brought Boston's two runs in the sixth. Rice's all around play was brilliant. Score:

ACADEMY TEAM PLAYS FIRST LEAGUE GAME AGAINST STONINGTON THURSDAY

Thursday afternoon, the Academy baseball team is to stage a comeback when it plays the Stonington High school at the campus in its first league game of the season. The curtain rises at 2 o'clock (d. s. t.) and from the beginning of the first act until the finish it will be much improved baseball that the local nine will play. The game was scheduled for today, but owing to the track meet, which is to be held at the campus the date was changed to Thursday by an agreement of the management of both schools.

The Red and White have been given stiff workouts for the last three days and expect to overcome the nine from Stonington. The contest besides being a league game, is a preparation for one of the big games of the season Saturday when LaSalle of Providence journeys to Norwich to furnish the opposition for the local boys.

Stonington has always brought down a team that refuses to taste defeat until the very end and they will make the Academy boys step their best to win.

The fans should not be discouraged over the outcome of the Bulkeley game, as the local nine were entirely off form and were playing a team of experienced players. The home balltossers are scheduled for another go with the Whaling City lads on the campus on May 16th and they are out to even up the series on that day.

The supporters and rooters of the team should all show some spirit and be on hand to cheer the high schoolers on to victory.

Greene will probably start the game in the box with Woods in reserve. Jarvis, the puzzling southpaw, is being saved for Saturday's contest The rest of the lineup will be unknown until the very start of the game as the coach is contemplating some radical changes in the team.

BROWNS WIN TEN INNING BATTLE FROM TIGERS

Detroit, April 28—Although Davis was wild, allowing ten walks and hitting one batsman, Detroit was unable to hit his offerings and St. Louis won a ten inning game 5 to 3 here today. The visitors had men on bases in every inning, but Gerber's error in the fourth after two were out, helped Detroit score three runs. It was Detroit's seventh straight defeat and the fourteenth consecutive game in which Sisler has hit safely.

PHILLIES RALLY IN SEV

WESTERLY

Andrew Smith, 84, one of the few remaining Civil war veterans in Westerly, who died at his home in Pawcatuck a week ago, was the commander of Burnside Post, No. 2, G. A. R., of Shannock, R. I., and held that office at the time of his death

Commander Smith was born March 30, 1842 in Peasley, Scotland, son of Andrew and Jean Fleming Smith. When he was two years old his parents came to the United States and when ten years old he entered the woolen business, in which he continued until his retirement in 1910, a period of nearly 60 years. Beginning in North Adams, and continuing in Great Barrington and the Paconic mill in Pittsfield, in Massachusetts, he went to Almonte, Canada, and became boss weaver and designer there. Resigning in favor of his brother in 1876, he came back to North Adams and later was employed at the Weybosset mills in Olneyville, where he remained for a year and a half until he entered the employ of the J. P. Campbell company at Potter Hill in 1878. With that company he remained for seventeen years and was boss weaver and designer. For the next 17 years until his retirement he was employed by E. Kenyon and Sons, becoming the assistant superintendent and then superintendent at Kenyon's, R. I.

Mr. Smith was a charter member of the National Woolen and Worsted Overseers association which was organized in 1895 and became the third president of the association. The benefit department feature of the association, which has given timely assistance to the families of mill men was originated by him.

In the Civil war he served two terms of enlistment, beginning in North Adams with Co. I, 49th Mass. Volunteers. He was slightly wounded at Antietam, saw service in the battle of the Potomac and became a corporal. His second enlistment gave him service in Mississippi. John A. Logan post of Ashaway, which charter has been surrendered, held his first G. A. R. membership and when he moved to Kenyons, he transferred to Burnside post, No. 2 of Shannock, becoming its commander and continued until his death.

He was a member of the Richmond town council from 1907 to 1910, president in 1909 and 1910.

Mr. Smith's first wife was Mary A. Goodbody, whom he married in Almonte in 1876. She died on Aug. 15, 1911. By this marriage he had one son, William M. who resides in Pawcatuck. Mr. Smith was united in marriage by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick in Westerly April 5, 1919, with Mrs. Minnie Burdick Loomis, besides whom and the one son here survive him two younger brothers, Robert of North Adams and Alexander of Saugus, Mass. On first coming to Westerly Mr. Smith made his home in West Broad street, moving then to 180 Main street and then to 15 Lester street, Pawcatuck. He suffered a slight shock March 25th from which time he gradually failed until death resulted from heart trouble.

Mr. Smith joined a Masonic lodge in Carleton, Ontario, and upon taking up his residence in Westerly transferred his membership to Franklin lodge, No. 20, F. and A. M., by which lodge committal services were conducted last Saturday afternoon. Burial was in the First Hopkinton cemetery, following the funeral service at his Pawcatuck home, conducted by Rev. Arnt L. Schoning, pastor of Broad Street Christian church.

Session of the April term of superior court for Washington county were continued at the West Kingston county court house Tuesday. Cyril Dupuis of Claremont, N. H., indicted by the grand jury at this session of the superior court for Washington county on a charge of transporting a woman for the purpose of prostitution and other lewd and wanton purposes, to which he pleaded not guilty, was brought before Judge Edward W. Blodgett at West Kingston late Monday afternoon, at which time his bail was reduced from $2,000 to $25. This reduction was strenuously objected to by Attorney Clarence E. Roche, his counsel and exceptions were taken and noted in the court record.

Dupuis was brought to Westerly Monday night on a writ of habeas corpus and in the Third District court here was discharged on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. He was thereupon taken in custody by Chief Grant H. Farwell of Claremont, acting through power of attorney for Louis P. Rovencher and Philibert Remy, both of Claremont, sureties for Dupuis. Rovencher and Remy had given bail for Dupuis in an appeal case to the superior court in New Hampshire. Dupuis, it is claimed, was fined and sentenced in the lower court in a liquor case and it is alleged that he failed to appear at the March session of the superior court, thereby forfeiting his bail.

Trial of the case of Elizabeth Gilmore of Pawcatuck vs. Charles T. Hughes of Westerly was resumed on Tuesday.

Judge Blodgett announced that court would convene at the court house in Westerly Thursday morning to proceed with the trial of any cases ready on the docket.

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Ruth P. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Thompson of 24 Chester avenue and Horace A. Dunning of 44 Summer street, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Byron U. Hatfield, pastor of the First Baptist church. Miss Alice Thompson, sister of the bride, played the wedding march. Miss Doris B. Batson was maid of honor and Marshall H. Nye of Auburn, R. I., was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Only relatives and intimate friends attended the wedding.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. Miss Batson, was attired in orchid crepe de chine and carried tea roses. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

After a wedding trip to New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Dunning will reside at 32 Chester avenue.

The Westerly fire department, with Chief George E. Egger, was called out shortly before 12.15 Tuesday noon when as the result of the fire an empty barn on the property of the John Opie estate, 40 School Street was practically destroyed. The fire companies responded to an alarm sounded from Box 35, School and George streets and soon streams of water were being played upon the burning building. The flames had reached an advanced stage, however, before the firemen arrived and it was impossible to save the building. Only the charred walls and framework remain standing.

An adjoining hen house and small shed were also destroyed by the blaze, which threatened the property of James Hutt and other buildings in the neighborhood. The firemen played streams of water upon the fire for several minutes before it was completely extinguished.

Mrs. C. S. Brownell and daughter of Brooklyn, N. Y., are guests of Mrs. Burdick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis L. Burdick in Westerly.

High Sheriff Fred T. Mitchell of Washington county left Westerly on Tuesday morning to summons witnesses in Boston for the Blackmar case, to go on trial in the superior court of superior court, now in session at West Kingston.

Miss Marjorie Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Chapman of Westerly returned home on Tuesday from the Pawtucket hospital, where she has been receiving treatment for a broken left arm sustained in a fall while jumping rope at her home.

Dr. William Thompson, Richard Mitchell and Mrs. Farquahar Smith were Westerly automobile visitors in New London Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Hilda K. Young and sister, Frances L. Young of Waverhame were week end visitors of Mrs. Charles Durfee in Richmond.

Councilman and Police Commissioner Farquhar Smith returned to Westerly Monday night from a business visit in Boston.

Commander Young of the Coast Guard base in New London was a visitor Monday at the Watch Hill Coast Guard station, Capt. Amos E. Broadmeadow.

Lafayette Main was a Westerly and Pawcatuck visitor Monday, the first time in twelve weeks, having been confined to his home in North Stonington by a severe attack of pneumonia.

Frederick A. Peterson of Pittsburg, Pa., was a Boston visitor Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson being guests in Westerly of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Coy.

SMOKED OUT WOODCHUCK, NORWICH MAN FINED

Westerly, R. I., April 28.—That Connecticut authorities are determined not to have the destructive forest fires which have been prevalent for the last few weeks in Rhode Island became apparent in a session of North Stonington town court, Tuesday forenoon, before Justice Ledyard S. Anthony. A Norwich man, having been found on the property of Frank White by a Connecticut state policeman Sunwith some burning waste taken from his passing automobile and to which he had set fire to smoke out a woodchuck was given a court summons. Fines for setting fire without a permit and for trespass were paid by Louis W. Bromley of 54 Ward street, Norwich.

State policemen from the Groton barracks are engaged in actively patrolling the Westerly-Norwich and the Westerly-New London highways, especially on Sundays, with the results that Stonington town courts are busy during the summer season on Monday and North Stonington town courts on Tuesdays.

Hit the High Spots

Connecticut State Policeman Frank W. Kulowski, No. 6, on Sunday following Joseph Chinigo of 14 Hickory street, Norwich, along the state highway from the Rose city to North Stonington and reported that in the distance three automobiles were passed at the rate of forty miles per hour, while nineteen automobiles were met at the same time that the intersections of five other highways were passed. The Norwich man was presented before Justice Anthony by Grand Juror A. E. Kingsley. Chinigo, who pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving, said he was in a hurry to return to Norwich. "A good day's pay" was his remark as he paid the minimum fine of $25 and costs imposed, amounting to $35.10.

When Louis W. Bromley was presented on the two complaints he pleaded not guilty and conducted his own case. State Policeman Kulowski told the court that when he saw the parked automobile, partly in the roadway and a fire being started over the wall, he investigated and found permission to build a fire or to enter the cultivated land was lacking so the court summons was given. Other witnesses were Frank White and Mrs. Frank White, owners of the land and Miss Edith D. Main, all of North Stonington.

In his defense Bromley stated that his dog had jumped from his passing automobile and that he had followed over the wall to smoke out the woodchuck. Justice Anthony, in pointing out the dangers involved, found the man guilty and imposed the minimum fine of $25 for setting a fire and $7 on the trespass count, amounting to $44.45 in all, which the defendant paid.

May 1st is Child Health Day

The day of all days to start new health habits

Millions of children are devoting this day to our future youngsters. The President, high government officials and earnest people in every community are working for the which demands that every child shall be born under proper conditions, live in hygienic surroundings, be properly nourished and receive efficient medical attention and primary instruction in hygiene and good health.

This is the day of all days to begin giving your children the priceless protection of Lifebuoy Health Soap.

—always before eating—a Lifebuoy wash-up

If every child in this city would use the Lifebuoy Wash-up Chart and wash with Lifebuoy habitually and frequently from now on there would be an amazing decrease in sickness.

Because Lifebuoy provides a scientific means of getting rid of the chief cause of sickness—of removing from clogged pores the grime and sticky moisture in which germs thrive and multiply.

Teach your children this fascinating game

By sending for the Lifebuoy Wash-up Chart you can make a game of cleanliness that children enter into with all their youthful enthusiasm. Teachers say it's the most practical, worth-while health aid that has ever been used in the schools. It completely changes the attitude of children toward washing and bathing as the record is kept day by day and week by week.

Orange-red Lifebuoy is the color of pure palm fruit oil. You will like its clean odor because you like cleanness.

If your children are not getting the great benefit of this Clean Hands Health Campaign in their school—

Send for a Wash-up Chart

We will promptly send a Wash-up Chart on which your boy or girl keeps a daily record of his washings and baths for four weeks. You will find that the Wash-up Chart will interest your children in

How I should wash
Why I should wash
When I should wash

without the customary nagging from you.

Children love Lifebuoy

Mothers have learned that health habits of cleanliness can be taught to children so much easier if Lifebuoy Health Soap is provided. For here is a soap that children love. They like its color; they prefer its clean antiseptic smell to that of perfumed soaps and they like its abundant, creamy, quick lather that gets off all the dirt and gently removes germs.

For the precious health of your children, get some Lifebuoy today and send for a Wash-up Chart. Address Lever Bros. Co., 54 Burleigh St., Cambridge, Mass.

Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy Present Their Family

'There's nothing like the honest pride
That parents vainly seek to hide.'
—Old Mother Nature.

Whenever the family went abroad Jimmy Skunk was at the head of it and very proud of being the head of such a family. He fairly strutted with importance. Mrs. Jimmy, bringing up the end of the procession, would look at him and grin. Then she would tell him to go here or there and he would pr... Oh, yes, Jimmy was the head of the fam... At least he appeared to be. And Mrs. Jimmy was quite satisfied.

For a while Jimmy led his family around at the front. During the day they came out at all it was only to play around the door. But one morning Mrs. Jimmy hinted, just hinted mind you that it was time the children made the acquaintance of Farmer Brown's Boy and Mrs. Brown and Farmer Brown. Jimmy took the hint. He called the children about him.

"We are going to make an important call," said he. "I want you to be on your best behavior, for there will be nothing to fear. By the way, never at any time fear anyone you may meet, no matter how big they are, for all the world knows you are armed and will respect you. Now, as I was saying, do just as I do and show how polite you can be."

Jimmy led the way out from under the henhouse and after him followed the nine young skunks with Mrs. Jimmy last of all. A few minutes later Farmer Brown's Boy happened to look out of the kitchen window. "I think," said he, "we have some early morning callers."

"My land!" exclaimed Mrs. Brown. "I'm not dressed to receive callers! Who is it?"

She peeped out of the window and then she began to laugh. Farmer Brown looked over her shoulder and he began to laugh. "I don't think you need worry over not being dressed up," said he.

Across the dooryard marched Jimmy Skunk straight toward the kitchen door. His handsome tail was held high. There was pride in every step he took. Behind him, also with their tails held high, marched in single file nine young skunks. Last of all came Mrs. Jimmy Straight over to the back door step marched Jimmy and there he began to stamp and scold. All the others gathered about him and did just as he did.

"Those two old Skunks have brought their family over to show them to us," declared Farmer Brown. "They want us to come out and admire them. I can trust those old ones, but I am not so sure of those youngsters. One of them might forget himself and become careless."

Mrs. Brown said nothing. She went to the pantry and filled a pan with bits of dry bread, which she moistened with milk, bits of meat and some scraps of vegetables. Then without hesitating a second she opened the kitchen door, put the pan down on the ground below the doorstep, stepped back and waited.

Mrs. Jimmy promptly walked to the pan and began to eat. She had been fed from that pan before. Then all the others crowded around that pan, and that food disappeared at a surprising rate. They had excellent manners, and though there was a little crowding, for the pan was hardly big enough, every one was good natured.

When the pan had been licked clean Mrs. Jimmy looked up at Mrs. Brown. Then she looked at her big family, as much as to say, "Did you ever in your life see such a fine family?"

Then Jimmy gave a signal, the youngsters fell in behind him and he led them over to the Old Orchard.

The Delco-Light Millions Have Waited For

F. O. B. DAYTON, O.

AS THE world's largest manufacturers of farm electric plants, we have been working for months on the development of a lighting plant that could be sold at a radically lower price—a price so low that it would bring electricity within the reach of every farm home in America.

We knew that a million farm homes were ready for electricity—that a million farmers realized the money-saving, time-saving value of electricity—that a million farm women had learned that electricity would lighten the burdens of farm life and bring new happiness and new opportunities to their families.

A Price That Is Revolutionary

We realized that a small reduction in price would not be enough. It must be revolutionary—drastic. And we wanted to be able to offer this plant on very easy terms—so that every farm home, whether owned or rented, could have the benefits that are so much appreciated on the 200,000 farms where Delco-Light is now in use.

And Now It's Ready

Today the new Delco-Light is ready. It is more than we had hoped. Quantity production—modern engineering—millions of dollars worth of machinery—research and invention—have produced the Delco-Light that can make all farms electrically lighted farms.

A 600-Watt Non-Storage-Battery Plant

The new plant is a genuine Delco-Light in every respect—full 600-watt capacity, strong, sturdily built, economical in operation. It is equipped with a standard Delco starter and an economical starting battery. And its price is only $195 f. o. b. Dayton—the lowest price and the greatest value ever offered in a Delco-Light electric plant.

Complete Installation at a Remarkably Small Cost

In addition to this, special arrangements have been made whereby the Delco-Light dealer in your community will install your plant and wire your house for five lights, to be located wherever you specify. You will receive with the plant five beautiful spun-brass lighting fixtures complete with bulbs.

And all of this—plant, installation, wiring, fixtures, everything ready to turn on the lights—will cost you only $53, in addition to the price of the plant itself.

A Small Down Payment —Balance on Easy Terms

Finally, we have arranged that this new low cost for Delco-Light, completely installed, can be paid on terms so easy that anyone can take advantage of them. The total cost is only $248, including freight (a little more west of the Mississippi). But you make only a small down payment. The balance is payable on easy terms, arranged to suit your convenience.

Ask for Details

Never before has such an offer been made. Never before has Delco-Light cost so little and been so easy to buy. It means that any farm home—your home—can have Delco-Light today.

At the bottom of this advertisement appear the name and address of the Delco-Light dealer in your community. Call on him, write, or telephone for full information—specifications of the plant, illustrations of the fixtures that come with it, details of our complete installation and wiring plan, and the figures that show how easily you can now get Delco-Light.

NORWICH WATER BOND BILL PASSED BY HOUSE WITHOUT OPPOSITION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, April 29—The act authorizing the city of Norwich to issue water bonds to the amount of a million and a half dollars was passed without comment today. It now goes to the senate and will be taken up by them next week. It contains a referendum clause, providing that the issue must be approved at a city meeting. The bill which is slightly changed in first section from the original provides that the city of Norwich is authorized to issue bonds to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate one million, five hundred thousand dollars, bearing interest at a rate not greater than five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, the principal of such bonds, or the principal of each issue thereof, to be paid in equal instalments commencing not later than five years from the date of issue thereof, and the principal of such bonds, or the principal of each issue thereof, shall be payable within a period of 40 years from the date of issue. The remainder of the bill is the same as the original.

The bill allowing the city to issue $166,000 of refunding bonds was signed by the governor today.

Contrary to expectations the calendar was cleaned up today and it was not found necessary to hold an afternoon session.

Among the bills passed today was one recommended by the appropriations committee authorizing the comptroller to draw his order upon the treasurer for the sum of $5,000 to aid the Second Company of Governor's Foot Guard of New Haven, to celebrate its 150th anniversary.

This company was chartered by Governor John Trumbull on May 18, 1775, on the eve of its departure for Lexington. Similar amounts have been made by the New Haven Chamber of Commerce, and the citizens of New Haven.

In answer to the call upon committees as to the condition of business before them the committee on agriculture reported that they had one more bill to be heard and six to report; appropriations, 15 to report; banks, hearings finished; capitol furniture and grounds, 1 to be heard; cities and boroughs, no report; claims, 1 to be heard and 5 to report; education, 1 to report; finance, 1 to be heard and 39 to report; fish and game, no report; forfeited rights, 1 to be heard and 20 to report; humane institutions, none to report; incorporations, 1 to be heard and 3 to report; insurance, nothing to be heard or reported; judiciary, 8 to be heard and 50 to report; labor hearings finished and 2 to report; military, 2 to report; public health and safety, 1 hearing and 10 to report; taxation, 1 to report; railroads, 3 to hear; roads, bridges and rivers, 1 to be heard and 27 to report; state pay and reservations, hearings finished and 1 to report. Section 2310 of the general statutes relating to weights and measures was amended in the bill passed today. The amendment reads: that no one shall buy and receive any commodity and give credit or pay for a quality of such commodity less than that received by him.

H. B. 248 amends section 364 of the general statutes so that it includes geese among the animals that may be impounded.

Relative to the salaries of deputy commissioners, chief clerks and others of the state departments have been determined by the general assembly in the appropriation bills. By the bills passed today the whole matter is placed in the hands of the board of control.

The "pounding" bill passed today providing for the impounding of geese, was further amended by providing against roaming of strays upon land that was not enclosed by a fence.

Section 1167 of the general statutes as amended by Chapter 90 of the public acts of 1919, in a bill passed today, makes an important change concerning the taxation of monies loaned upon mortgages. The bill will affect many real estate matters.

No provision of this act shall exempt any savings bank from the payment of a direct tax to the state.

Section 3931 of the general statutes which relates to the amount of money that may be deposited in savings banks within a given period was amended in a house bill passed today to read as follows:

Section 3931 of the general statutes as amended by chapter 43 of the public acts of 1921 is amended to read as follows: No savings bank shall receive for deposit from any depositer in any period of three years, any sum or sums, which, exclusive of withdrawals and interest credited, shall exceed ten thousand dollars.

The amount formerly allowed was $5,000.

HOUSE

The attendance was of good size when Speaker Darbie called the house to order today at 11.30. Prayer was offered by the house chaplain, Rev. Arthur F. Lewis. Resolution was passed paying Charles S. Joy $24 in repayment of a double fee that had been paid by him.

Unfavorable reports were made by the judiciary committee on H. B. 261 increasing salary of court-messenger in court of common pleas in New Haven county, and H. B. 362 increasing salary of messenger of superior court at Norwich. H. B. 543 a bill increasing salary of assistant clerk of superior court in New London county. H. B. 386 an act increasing allowance for expenses in office of clerk of the superior court in Windham County.

The house concurred with the senate in refusing pensions to widows of the late judges, Kellogg and Gager; also bills reimbursing holders of liquor licenses.

The house concurred with the senate with all bills received from that body.

A bill was favorably reported giving the commissioner more power to revoke gasoline station licenses and providing a fee of $5.00 for the first pump and $2.00 for each additional pump.

The bill placing the determination of salaries of deputy commissioners and clerks in state departments in the hands of the board of control was recommitted to the judiciary committee.

Bills passed from the calendar were: Substitute for H. B. No. 352. An act amending the charter of the city of Waterbury relative to elective offices; substitute for H. B. No. 217. An act amending the charter of the National Circle Daughters of Isabella; substitute for H. B. No. 538. An act amending an act authorizing the town of Hamden to issue sewer construction bonds; substitute for H. B. No. 477. An act making an appropriation for the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard; H. B. No. 508. An act amending an act consolidating the town and city of Middletown; substitute for H. B. No. 942. An act amending an act concerning contractors on public roads, sewers and highways; H. B. No. 978. An act making an appropriation for the equipment of a cottage for the Connecticut School for Boys; substitute for S B No 270 An act amending the charter of The Central Connecticut Power and Light company; H B No 930 (house petition No 48) An act authorizing the city of Norwich to issue water bonds; substitute for H B No 12 An act establishing the town court of Darien; substitute for H B. No. 302. An act concerning terms and sessions of the superior court in Litchfield county; substitute for H. B. No. 248. An act amending an act concerning impounding of animals; H. B. 456. An act amending an act concerning annual payments to incorporated societies; substitute for H. B. No. 401. An act concerning the collection of taxes; H. B. No. 931. An act amending an act concerning the exemption from taxation of money loaned on mortgages; substitute for S. B. No. 201. An act concerning service of process in actions brought against non-residents for the negligent operation of motor vehicles; S. B. No. 272. An act amending an act incorporating the Hungarian Aid Association of America, formerly the Hungarian Sick Benefit Societies Confederation; substitute for S. B. No. 460. An act validating a lease from the Consolidated Railway Company of New York and Stamford Railway company and authorizing the New York and Stamford Railway company to operate in the towns of Greenwich and Stamford; S. B. No. 557. An act amending the charter of the Derby Gas and Electric company; substitute for H. B. No. 878. An act amending an act concerning mechanic's liens; H. B. No. 982. An act amending an act concerning limits of deposits in savings banks.

House adjourned at 11:54 until 10:30 Tuesday standard time.

SENATE

The senate was called to order at 10:35 (standard time), by Lieutenant-Governor Brainard. Prayer by Chaplain Ayer. In his prayer the chaplain asked for Divine comfort for the family of Assistant Clerk Henry Nowielki, who died in New Britain, Sunday afternoon, and expressed sympathy with the members of the family in their bereavement.

A vase of roses was placed on the desk of Senator Merritt, of the Second district, by Senator Lawlor, of the Sixteenth district, one of the two democratic members of the senate in recognition of Senator Merritt's courtesy to the democratic minority.

Senator Daniel M. Cronin, of the Eighteenth district, the leader of the senate, was in his seat today for the first time in several weeks, his absence being caused by illness. The senator was cordially welcomed back to his senatorial duties by his colleagues of the senate.

When the day's session was opened, Senator Cronin thanked the senators for their resolution of sympathy to him in his sickness and the gift of flowers from the senators. Senator Shaw who has acted as temporary leader in the absence of Senator Cronin made a brief speech of welcome to Senator Cronin.

On the unfavorable report of the committee on finance the senate rejected a bill for the appointment of a commission of five to investigate the system of taxation in this state. Senator Reddon, who introduced the bill, said the system of taxation in Connecticut was antiquated.

The committee on the judiciary made unfavorable reports on the following bills relating to increase in the salaries of judges, sheriffs, clerks and states' attorneys and the bills were rejected: Nos. 444 and 437 concerning the salaries of judges; No. 314 salary of Middlesex county sheriff; prosecuting attorneys of criminal superior court of Fairfield county; clerks of the superior court for Middlesex county; clerks of the superior court for Middlesex county; New London county states attorney of Hartford county from $4,000 to $7,500; messenger of superior court of Fairfield county; judges of court of common pleas; district court of Waterbury.

Passed—Authorizing towns to sell property formerly belonging to school districts which have been consolidated; providing a bounty on copperheads and rattlesnakes.

Tabled—Concerning the retirement lowance of Charles A. Evens, a state employe; relating to the cutting down of trees on highways.

A MESSAGE to the YOUNG MARRIED WOMEN of NEW ENGLAND

YOU are proud of the traditions that have given you your standards of housewifery. But to keep homes spotless, clothes gleaming white, and still to preserve one's youthfulness, one's complexion and one's hands, under modern conditions, seems to many of you a much harder task than it was two generations ago.

No—it is really easier, if you will accept this suggestion:

Instead of buying four or five different kinds of soap, each with its varying degrees of safety and efficiency, use Ivory. Not only for your face and hands and bath—but for your laundry work and dishwashing as well.

WHY?

Here are 4 good reasons

First, Ivory is made in four different forms, so it is convenient for all your purposes.

Second, Ivory is pure. It can not harm the most delicate skin or fabric. Why, then, risk your lovely hands, that must be in soapsuds so much of the time, with anything less pure or mild?

Third, Ivory cleanses thoroughly because it produces quick, rich suds in great volume.

And fourth, Ivory is economical. Not that it is necessarily cheaper than the soaps you have been using, but it protects everything it touches, from your hair and skin to your most precious garments. So it quickly saves its cost, by saving your hands, and by lengthening the life of the things you cleanse with it.

Ivory is truly as fine a soap as you can buy, quite regardless of price. By using it exclusively, you will not only help to simplify your life, and avoid further soap worries, but you will cut down the costs of your housekeeping.

A conclusive safety test for garment soaps

It is easy to determine whether or not a soap is gentle enough to be used for delicate garments.

Simply ask yourself this question:

"Would I use this soap on my face?"

In the case of Ivory and Ivory Flakes your answer is instantly "Yes," because you know that for forty-six years women have protected lovely complexions by the use of Ivory Soap.

Here is a fine, simple treatment for your complexion

Wash your face once or twice daily with warm water and Ivory Soap. Rinse in warm water and follow with a dash of cold. Dry thoroughly by patting with a soft towel. If your skin needs it, rub in a little pure cold cream.

GALES FERRY

Why Join the Church? was the theme of Rev. George Smith Brown at the Sunday morning service in the Methodist Episcopal church. Just for Today, tenor solo, was sung by D. R. Povey. Announcements for the church activities week included Bible study for Thursday evening, followed by a meeting of the Epworth league and a meeting of the Queen Esther Girls at the home of Marjorie Gates Wednesday afternoon from 5 to 7.

At the Sunday school at noon, with Supt. C. E. Tolver in charge, before the closing of the session, Supt. Colver told the story to the school of The House With the Golden Window.

At the Epworth league evening service at 7 o'clock Rev. George Smith Brown was the leader, with a three-minute talk on Why the Institute? The Captive, a service of story and song, followed, given by the junior girl choir, under direction of Miss Jessie G. Perkins, president of the league, and organist. The characters were: The Captive, Miss Gertrude Allen, in flowing gown of white; Spirit of Darkness, Rose Negreese, in a black robe, with bunch of keys; Spirit of Light, Viola Riley, white gown, yellow girdle. The Knights of Truth were Misses Helen L. Colver, Myrtice Coman, Dorothy Birch, Marjorie Gates, Margaret S. Colver, Em-Beth Bennett and Ena Hewlett. The service was pleasingly presented by the young choir. Preceding this, Rev. Mr. Brown read a brief note of felicitation to the Gales Ferry league from Rev. C. Wilson Harrison of Cleveland, O., a former pastor of this church. At the social hour following the service, the Epworth league members served cocoa and fig bars.

Lieut. William H. Burns, U. S. A., and Mrs. Burns were callers on friends in the place Thursday. Lieut. Burns was on a two months' leave of absence, and will report for duty at its expiration at the Philippine Islands. Lieut. Burns, formerly of New London, spent some of his boyhood vacation days at Gales Ferry.

Misses Helen L. Colver and Matilda Harold of the submarine base, students at Williams Memorial Institute, New London, resumed their studies Tuesday after the spring recess of ten days.

Mrs. Emma S. Bennett and her guest, Mrs. Byron A. Maynard, of Anthony, R. I., were guests Friday of Mrs. Allen Penhallow in New London.

H. Singlewood Bisbing of Red Top returned Thursday from Philadelphia, where he had been spending several days.

A signboard at the Gales Ferry railroad station, naming the switch Thames, was placed in position Friday.

George T. Meech and son, Ellsworth Meech, and Mrs. Meech, with their daughter, Miss Lorraine Meech, all of Middletown, motored here Sunday afternoon to call on Mr. Meech's sister, Mrs. Charles H. Satterlee, and her daughter, Miss Alice Satterlee.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Fairfield and the latter's brother, John Sonerberg, of Newark, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Norcross and children and Miss Mabel Smith motored to Pitkin Sunday afternoon to call on Address Schools

WATER SUPPLY INDUSTRY RECOVERING

Louisville, Ky., April 28.—The water supply industry of the United States is in a generally sound and healthy condition, although it has not entirely recovered from losses encountered in the war period, asserted Leonard Metcalf, engineer of Boston, speaking today before the American Water Works Association. He said the industry suffered a loss of approximately a quarter of a billion dollars during the war.

Rate increases have enabled water works to recover earning power to a point probably one-fifth above the pre-war basis, Mr. Metcalf declared, but the war loss probably would never be made good. He characterized it as the industry's contribution to the fighting in the world war.

"This earning power basis is far below the actual plane of costs and values, however, and the works have not been able to earn anything like the legal fair return upon the fair value of their properties," the speaker continued. "It gives point to the fact that in times of serious crises the commissions can not give fair rate of return to such properties and therefore do not in fact remove the hazards of operation from them as has frequently been asserted."

Mr. Metcalf said a general revision of water property values was essential to make them conform to general property values.

UNIVERSALIST Y. P. BANNER AGAIN TO NORWICH UNION

The Universalist Young Peoples hristian Union of Connecticut held its annual convention Saturday and Sunday in Meriden. The Norwich church union was represented by twelve of its members who left early Saturday morning and returned Sunday evening. One of the principal points of interest in the convention was the awarding of the banner to the Norwich Union for the second successive year. This banner is the award by the state board for greatest efficiency developed by the unions in the different Connecticut cities and the decision is determined by the high total of credits reached.

Two business meetings were held, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. At the election of officers, Miss Beatrice Green of this city became vice-president of the state board. A fine banquet was given by the Meriden union in the evening, accompanied by the usual galaxy of Union cheers and toasts. Miss Hattie Fowler responded for Norwich in unique manner, her toast being prepared in the form of a poem. Carl Hempel of Lynn, Mass., was the speaker of the evening and gave a fine address especially applicable to young people. The banquet was followed by a dance.

Services in the Meriden church were attended Sunday morning and in the afternoon those who remained, visited Craig Loch Park, one of the many beauty spots of Meriden. Those who went from here, especially those who were new to convention proceedings will long remember the good time and the hundred and one courtesies extended by the Meriden Union.

FORT SHANTOK VISITED BY NEW LONDON BOYS

"Boys' Day Out of Doors" was fittingly observed by the boys of New London Monday. More than four hundred boys of the city by the sea left on the trolleys and in private cars and busses in the morning for Fort Shantok, the historic fort of Uncas and the Mohegans, on the Thames. Each boy carried his own lunch and when noon had arrived their appetites were especially good. Moving pictures and photographs of the various groups at play were taken and it was hoped to have the movie films ready for exhibition on Friday evening when all of the boys will have a chance to see themselves as others see them.

Arthur L. Peale of Norwich described the historical place nearby and gave an interesting account of the customs and battles of the Mohegans. Mr. Peale also had a collection of Indian relics which he exhibited to the boys. Chief Lemuel Occum Fielding was next called on and he favored the audience with several songs, later giving two or three Indian dances. John J. O'Rourke, a Rotarian and secretary of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce, spoke of the advantages of Shantok as a park and what it will mean historically to future generations.

The affair was in charge of Robert W. Rice, Physical Director of Schools, F. E. Burdick, scout executive and H. L. Douglass, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A. This committee is entitled to great credit and the boys will look forward to another year to a day and hike out of doors.

There may be reasons why a man should try to deceive others but why should he try to deceive himself?

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

From the Green Mountain State of Vermont, Mrs. L. A. Gunmann of Union Village writes: "I was weak, nervous, all run-down and could not walk across the floor without resting, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health so I am now working nine hours a day. I wish all sick and suffering women would try it." After three generations of marvelous success Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is considered the most dependable remedy for female ills.

The Plaut-Cadden Co. Announces SERV-EL

Perfect Electric Automatic Refrigeration

For Your Home—For Every Home—At Much Less Than the Cost of Ice

For years we have been watching the development of electric automatic refrigeration systems. We have made a deep, thorough study of the different types manufactured and the result of our study is our selection of the SERV-EL as the most perfect iceless electric automatic refrigerator manufactured today. It is with great pride and pleasure, therefore, that we announce the fact that we are exclusive representatives in Eastern Connecticut for the SERV-EL Electric Automatic Refrigeration System.

SERV-EL Is Not An Experiment—It Has Been Proving Its Superiority For Years

Here, at last, is the Perfect Iceless Electric Automatic Refrigerator—SERV-EL! You have heard of, and perhaps experienced electric refrigeration for the home, but you have never experienced such perfect electric refrigeration as provided by SERV-EL.

SERV-EL is the first truly successful automatic system of refrigeration priced within the reach of the average home. It fits the needs of any home where there is electric light current. It replaces the melting-cake-of-ice method with all its attendant mess, bother and uncertainty—and

Provides Uniformly Dry Correct Temperature Automatically At All Times

It requires no attention. The automatic mechanism starts and stops with the rise or fall of the temperature inside the refrigerator, thereby maintaining that ideal unvarying temperature that preserves food perfectly. Its movements are smooth and noiseless.

Makes Table Ice In Abundance

SERV-EL provides a continuous supply of convenient ice cubes as pure and clear as the water you drink for ice drinks, chilled fruits, salads and all other needs.

ABSOLUTELY SAFE REFRIGERANT USED

The refrigerant used in SERV-EL is Methyl Chloride, which is absolutely safe for use in the home. It is a non-poisonous, non-corrosive liquefied vapor and is sealed up in the refrigerator. SERV-EL does not utilize either sulphur or ammonia.

Within the Reach of Every Home

The SERV-EL Electric Refrigerator is easily within the reach of every home and is a real addition to any home. It is the very acme of cleanliness in looks as well as in operation. It is made in two styles. One is a complete unit and the other a unit that utilizes your present ice box.

JUST WHAT YOU NEED IN YOUR HOME!

Electric refrigeration as provided by the SERV-EL has more advantages than any other household betterment. SERV-EL is an indispensable household help. It means Better Food, Better Health and Economy. You will like its perfect refrigeration, the freedom from worry it affords and the generous savings it makes possible.

YOU CAN HAVE SERV-EL IN YOUR OWN ICE BOX

SERV-EL fits into your own ice box, the cooling chamber taking the place of the cake of ice and the mechanism can be placed in the basement or any convenient location. No water connections for SERV-EL is air cooled.

NEW LONDON PRISONERS LATE, THOUGHT COURT ON STANDARD TIME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, April 27—John Matao and Ralph Meniago, employed in the construction of state roads in Hadlyme, deposited bonds for appearance in the police court yesterday when they were arrested the night before, the former for creating a disturbance at the home of Marian Lewis on Atlantic street, and the latter for operating an automobile without registration or an operator's license. They failed to appear in court and their bonds were for their appearance on standard time, whereas the court is observing daylight saving time. The explanation was deemed reasonable by the court, so the bonds were reopened. Then the men pleaded guilty as charged and fines were imposed. These with the costs amounted in the case of Meniago to more money than the bond called for. In the case of Matao he received something back from the court. The men both said they had pleasure enough from their experience to pay the bill.

Visconde Benvenuti was fined for operating a truck past a trolley car that was discharging passengers on Montauk avenue. He was reckless in that he made no effort to stop the vehicle and endangered the life and limb of persons who were hurrying away from the car. Police Sergeant James P. Sullivan was on the trolley car and was a witness of what occured and it was he who brought about the arrest of Benvenuti. Good fortune was with the truckman, so no one was run down.

Frank Perry, of Shaw street, employed by the city as night driver of the C. L. Ockford Hose Company, was taken into custody this afternoon by Sergeant John Cavanaugh on a warrant charging him with assaulting his wife. He is being held in bail of $500 pending a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perry, 54 Denison avenue, qualifying as sureties on the bond.

Perry, it is alleged, became involved in a war of words with his wife last night and the quarrel only terminated after Perry had attacked his wife, beating her brutally about the face and body, a fact that was evidenced conclusively by the battered condition of the woman when she lodged complaint with Acting Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky this forenoon. After the woman had related her story of her husband's attack a warrant for Perry's arrest was issued, the accused being found at the quarters of the Ockford company. It is understood that Perry has beaten his wife severely.

Francis DeGange, 60 Ocean avenue, reported to the police this forenoon that his automobile was damaged to the extent of $50 yesterday forenoon while the machine was parked on State street, between Green and Union streets, the damage being caused by a truck backing against the pleasure car. The identity of the owner of the truck was not established.

Charles Sing, a Chinaman residing at 121 Golden street, died this morning at Lawrence hospital, in which institution the victim had been in ill health a long time prior to entering the hospital. The body will be forwarded to New York, for burial.

Rufus Phillips, of Brandegee avenue, Groton Miss Angelina Rutigliono, Hamilton avenue, Groton; Mrs. Russell Harris, Quaker Hill; Caldwell Ely, 24 Fraser street; Charles Rainey, Station 6, Waterford; Mrs. John Tragris and infant son, Westerly; Mrs. John Hayes and infant ... Niantic and Lafayette Starr, of Waterford, formerly of New London and latterly of Norwich, were patients dismissed at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital today.

The funeral of Mrs. Kathleen Hanley Crine, wife of Sidney Crine, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, a solemn high mass of requiem being celebrated by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan, with Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, deacon, and Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger sub-deacon. The bearers were John Anderson, Richard Curran, Charles O'Connell, John M. Mallon Jr., Thomas McNamara and Thomas Connors. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

John F. Flaherty, 48 Moore avenue, this forenoon lodged complaint with the police, alleging that during his absence daily while he is at his work, his two daughters remove furniture and bedding from his home.

The funeral of Miss Mary Agnes Kane, daughter of Mrs. Joanna D. Kane, was held this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Crowley.

At the funeral of Samuel H. Wallace, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at his residence, in Waterford, the services were conducted by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church, the bearers were Clarence C. Gallup, Arthur H. Davis, Charles F. Morgan, Carl French, Philip K. Dewire and A. K. Bach. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Funeral services for Wilbert Edwards, 10, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Edwards, of 36 Morse avenue, Groton, who was drowned in the Thames river a month ago and whose body was only recovered Sunday, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of the child's parents and were attended by many friends and relatives. Rev. Henry Hulbert, pastor of Groton Congregational church conducted the services. The bearers were six former playmates of the boy. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

John Lay and wife have sold their farm, Station 16, Waterford, the purchaser being Karyal LaPuty.

Rev. A. J. Chandler, of Thames street, is a patient at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, where he is rapidly recovering from an illness for which he has been under treatment but a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Davies, Montauk avenue, are spending a few days in New Haven. Upon the termination of their stay in New Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will go to Bridgeport where they will attend the state Grand Army of the Republic convention, May 8.

Attorney Guy T. Arms today pur-chased the property, corner of Glenwood avenue and Crocker street, together with a building lot in the rear of the property and abutting on Lower Boulevard, from Lucetta Banks Mulvey. The price paid was $14,-500. It is understood that Attorney Arms and his brother Paymaster Frank Arms, U. S. N., who will be retired shortly will occupy the property.

An automobile owned and operated Charles H. Brown, 43 Rosemary street, and a commercial car, owned by Seligmore Brothers, and driven by Bruno Mesen, of Oakdale, were in collision this afternoon, corner of Main and Pierce streets. The machine operated by Brown was but slightly damaged but the commercial car was wrecked. None of the occupants of either car was injured, although the ... came together with great force. Both machines were headed ... on Main street, about 4 ... the commercial car being behind the pleasure car. The latter machine was being operated at a fast rate of speed and was approaching the machine driven by Brown as the latter car neared Pierce street, into which street, the car was bound. As Brown signalled that he was about to turn, the commercial car close upon the other car with the result that when the turn was made, the machine driven by Meyers crashed against the pleasure car and was put entirely out of commission.

Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, who has been confined to his home on Nathan Hale street several weeks by illness, has practically recovered his health, so much so that he attended the session of the legislature at Hartford today. He will resume his duties as prosecutor the latter part of the week.

The condition of Linwood Smith, 44 Franklin street, employed by the construction department of the Connecticut Power company, who attempted self-destruction late yesterday afternoon while at his work at the submarine base, is critical at Lawrence hospital tonight. Smith has remained in an unconscious condition practically since he was admitted to the hospital shortly after 7 o'clock last night and but little hope is held out for his recovery. What prompted Smith to attempt to end his existence is not known, but among his effects today were found two or three letters, written to women in Philadelphia and in which the missives revealed that Smith contemplated suicide. He asked that he be forgiven for his act by those for whom the letters were intended. Still another letter was written to the foreman of the construction gang, in which intimation was made that he intended killing himself. But little is known here of Smith, who is about 35. He is believed to have served in the world war. He had been in the employ of the power company but a few weeks.

Brainard Masonic lodge held a meet-ing this evening at which there was balloting for members, but no work was done.

There seems no doubt whatever that the death of Mrs. Mary Collins Crocker, whose body was taken from Bolles' cove near Richards grove late Monday afternoon was a suicide. Mrs. Crocker was a widow, and had been many years. She inherited some money from the Bindloss estate as her father was an heir to that fortune and she inherited it from him. Recently she was informed that her money was exhausted for she had lived on it a great many years. It is believed to have discouraged her and she saw no prospect ahead that she was to be able to support herself. She was not able to earn for the weight of years was upon her, she had no trade, nor had she any means of earning. She was seen at Richards grove by a man from the submarine base who was fishing nearby. She called to him and he answered her, but he was of the opinion that the woman was waiting for a trolley car from Norwich that would take her to New London. He went away and soon after he heard that the body was found in the river. He made known the facts that came to his attention and the search led to the identification of the body.

New London in recent years has lost much of the business that came to this port by reason of the large number of vessels that sailed from which brought coal and freights here, for shipment elsewhere. There is no merchant vessel now that makes this port her hailing place, in that such vessel regularly comes to or leaves this port. There was a time when there were more than 50 vessels in the fishing business from this port, but that is history. There are no sailing vessels here now. In years past large schooners brought coal to Allyn's Point and to this port for the railroads, but now that coal goes to Providence, Fall River and New Bedford, according to advices here, and it is brought in big colliers that carry enormous cargoes. Thence it is shipped to points in New England. The wrecking business, that was a great industry in years past, is now lagging. In the case of vessels unfortunate enough to meet with disaster they have wireless outfits and these give information to the coast guard stations, assistance is rendered by the government, and cutters are sent to succor vessels. When the cutters are not able to free vessels in distress, Government tugs are brought into service. Thus the wrecking concerns have little business and they are not in position to give employment to men nor do they need the labor they formerly employed. Thus business is changing along the coast and New London feels the change very much.

The New London authorities for sev-eral weeks have had in their possession a warrant for the arrest of John Piscetelli, of this city, issued by the authorities of Jewett City, charging Piscitelli with bastardy. With the reception of the warrant a search was made for Piscetelli, but he was not located, it having been learned that Piscitelli had left the city and this whereabouts being unknown. Last night Deputy Sheriff John Dolan, of Jewett City, informed the local police that Piscetelli was no longer wanted and that the charge against him had been withdrawn.

BALTIC

Marcus Shea, of Salem, Mass., the brother of "Paddy" Shea of Norwich spent a few days here visiting friends and recalling the good old days of the years 1880-1890 when he lived here and was the first string catcher of the local baseball team.

A fishing license was issued recently to a woman, she being the first woman here to get a license since licenses have been issued. She reported that trout fishing would be great sport if the sides of the brooks were bare of brush and the person fishing wore hip boots.

Master Arthur Charron and Miss Blanche Charron were sponsors for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Charron, who was named Jeane Baptiste Israel.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newman of Franklin were sponsors Sunday for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Nolan.

It will be very inconvenient for a few days for the people and children going to work and to school out of the village, as the clocks and hours here are to remain on standard time. The milkmen shipping milk to Providence will have to reach the station by 7:30 a. m., the latest, otherwise they will be cut off duck to ship that day. This means for them getting out of a sound sleep at about 3.00 o'clock a. m.

The Baltic Rifle Club held its weekly shoot on Walnut Hill range. The guests of the day were two well known Willimantic riflemen, Lenard Cady and Samuel Childs, Mr. Cady is seventy-five but still an enthusiastic rifleman. Following were the scores. 50 shots at 50 yards 1 inch ring:

Harry Sargent 485, George Gueshamer 470, William McGill 468, Clinton Watson 449, Herbert Stewart 467, Ernest House 406, Samuel Childs 404, Lenard Cady 396.

10 shots with 22 pistol: George Gueshamer 93, Walter Watson 91, Herbert Stewart 89, Samuel Childs 88.

The Baltic Community Workers in basketry and millinery class, closed the winter session, Tuesday evening with an agreeable social time. Banjo selections was given by Mr. Carl Johnson, Miss E. Hannon, and Miss A. Zanli, also singing by Mrs. Charron. Games and dancing was enjoyed until 11 o'clock. Mrs. Hannon, in behalf of the class, presented Mrs. Hinchcliffe and Mrs. Dunstan a purse of money as a token of appreciation. Both teachers gratefully responded. To Mrs. Hilton, secretary, there was presented a set of sherbet glasses and Mrs. Chadwick, treasurer received a cut glass celery dish. The aides, Miss McAllister, Miss Hannon and Miss J. Hinchcliffe also received gifts. Frankfurts and rolls, sandwiches, cake, coffee and ice cream was served by Mrs. Gugenmuller, Mrs. Enos, Mrs. Tucker, Miss Hannon and Miss McAllister.

Insects on Plants

Insects are quite apt to gather on plants after they are taken indoors. To remove this annoyance use soapsuds for watering the plants or simply hot water. Fill a cup and with a spoon pour the very hot water, beginning at the edge of the pot and pouring each spoonful nearer to the plant, but be careful not to get any on the stalks. If one application does not effectually remove the pests, repeat the process the following day.

Destroyed by Electricity

Big growers and shippers use electricity to kill insects that may lurk in bags for nuts. The sacks are run through an electric ironing machine which destroys, through heat and pressure, any insect eggs or larvae.

Austria is Gaining

So claims Dr. Rudolf Sieghart former Chancellor of the Austrian Exchequer, who recently arrived in New York to study banking here. He says that Austria is slowly, but surely regaining its prestige in the political, business and economical circles of the world.

Mischa Elman's Recital

Mischa Elman, who is leaving for San Francisco to marry Miss Helen Frances Katten of that city May 10, gave a last recital Sunday afternoon in Carnegie Hall, New York. The hall was comfortably filled and the audience was in cordial move, demanding encores, of which a notably beautiful example was Carl Friedberg's arrangement of one of Mozart's "Laendler," or little folk dances, following the violin concert No. 5 of Vieuxtemps.

Elman, assisted by Josef Bonime, began with Nardini's sonata in D, while among his after-pieces were arrangements by Nachez, Elman, Joachim and Auer and the A-major polonaise of Wieniawski. The violinist, it was announced, will play at the Ann Arbor (Mich.) music festival with the Chicago Orchestra after returning East after his wedding and will sail from New York with his bride for a honeymoon abroad.

Miss Katten is a cousin of the Misses Cadden and Julius W. Cadden, of Norwich, who entertained the violinist at the time of his recent recital at the Palace Theatre.

This Popularity Points to Value of Chrysler Results

The continued popularity of the Chrysler Six is a very definite suggestion to the buyer. It is evident that a car so eagerly desired delivers valuable results that belong to the Chrysler alone. This fact suggests the wisdom of studying the Chrysler Six at first hand.

A ride, for example, shows at once why Chrysler Six owners are so enthusiastic. After trying the acceleration and testing the tremendous power of its motor, with its high-gear range of from 2 to over 70 miles an hour, come to a quick, smooth stop with the self-equalizing Chrysler-Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes. You'll find it possesses a flashing pick-up that no words can describe. It must be experienced to be comprehended. This is a desirable result that Chrysler alone gives you because its engineers have developed a new perfection of gas distribution, special combustion chambers and a scientific heat distribution through the applied science of thermo-dynamics.

Chrysler facts are worth knowing because there is no other car on the market that offers a similar performance or an equal enjoyment. Once you ride in the car you will never be content until that enjoyment is yours. We are eager to demonstrate Chrysler's superior and different results.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS FIRM

New York, April 28—Chief financial interest today centered in Great Britain's decision to restore the gold standard, which was immediately reflected in an advance of about 3 cents in sterling exchange, which touched $4.84, the highest price in ten years and within 3 cents of parity. The stock market apparently had discounted the news, prices holding firm with the volume of trading about the smallest of any full day session since election day.

Most of the so-called pivotal shares closed higher on the day. United States Steel common touched 115 3-4 and then slipped back to 115 1-2 where it was up 5-8 on the day. The quarterly report, showing net earnings of nearly $39,000,000 which was issued after the market closed, was about in line with Wall street's expectation. Most of the independent steels also closed fractionally higher.

Sharp gains were recorded by some of the standard industrials in which a large short interest is believed to have accumulated. Baldwin closed two points higher at 113 after selling slightly above that figure and American Can showed a net gain of 3 1-4 points at 173 7-8 after having touched 173.

Wide fluctuations again took place in some of the high priced specialties. Federal Light and Traction soared nearly nine points to 144 3-4 in reflection of the stockholders' approval of the capital readjustment plan. United States Cast Iron Pope jumped 8 1-2 points to 156 and then sagged to 154 on profit taking. Net gains of 3 1-2 points or more also were recorded by Kelsey Wheel, Nash Motors, Utah Securities and West Penn Power.

There were several strong points in the rail group. Western Pacific standing out with a gain of 4 1-2 points at 41 in anticipation of the stockholders' approval of a cash dividend of 50 at their meeting next month. New high prices for the year were recorded by Norfolk and Southern. Southward Air Line common and preferred and International Railway of Buffalo. American. Net gains of a point or more also were recorded by Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Great Western, the Delaware issues, Gulf, Mobile and Northern, Northern Pacific and Texas Pacific.

Rather unfavorable comparisons were essayed in connection with the closing of quotations on coal and specialties. American Woolen, Western Maryland Railway and Missouri, Kansas and Texas preferred were among the leaders in the backward swing, with Pittsburgh and Lake Erie all attaining new peak prices for the year.

Closing stock prices were irregular in reflection of the conflicting tendencies of commodity prices. Cotton was depressed despite 12 points rise in the new low months for the year. Weakness also was noted in Air Reduction, Commercial Solvents B, Lambda Gas, National Distillers Products preferred, Russia Insurance and Ward Baking A and of wh. it showed net gains of 1 or more points.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and then dropped to 3 1-2 where it closed. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with business quiet.

The sharp rise in sterling overshadowed all other developments in the foreign exchange market and brought about sympathetic advances in other European rates. French francs about 3 1-2 points higher around 3.21 1-2 cents. Dutch guilders soared 8 points to 40.10 cents in reflection of the announcement that Holland and the Dutch East Indies would return to the gold standard with England.

BOND MARKET

New York, April 28—Bond trading as stimulated today by the re-establishment of a free gold market in London, which was followed by a sharp rise in sterling exchange and a rally in United Kingdom bonds to new peak prices for the year. Prices throughout the list scored moderate improvement in response to the more cheerful sentiment promoted by Great Britain's return to the gold standard.

The contrast between today's favorable foreign developments and the temporary apprehension aroused by the outcome of the German eelctions yesterday had a steadying influence on the foreign group. German 7s continued their recovery and some of the French issued showed moderate gains.

A good demand developed for both high grade and semi-speculative railroad liens. Buying of Seaboard Air Line issues was promoted by the road's current favorable earnings, the adjustment 5s moving up 1 5-8 points. Moderate improvement was shown by Union Pacific Refunding 4s, Atchison General 4s, Burlington Geenral 4s and Denver & Rio Grande 5s.

Weakness of Sugar company bonds resulted directly from the drop in sugar prices to new low levels for the year. American Sugar 6s and Warner Refunding 7s lost a point or more. Wilson & Company issues advanced 1 1-2 to 2 1-8 points and Magma Copper 7s and Kelly-Springfield Tire 8s developed independent strength.

United States government obligations were firm with the Treasury 4s selling at a new top price for the year.

New financing included an offering of $8,145,000 Baltimore & Ohio 4 1-2 per cent. equipment trust notes priced to yield 4.75 per cent. and $5,500 000 Manitoba bonds and notes yielding 4.43 to 4.85 per cent.

STATE COPS SPOT AUTO WITH FALSE BOTTOM

State Policeman Paul Lavin and Joseph Kaminsky of Hartford, while watching traffic in Marlborough, Sunday, picked out of the procession of automobiles one specially constructed, fitted with a false bottom for carrying liquor, which was on its way to New York from Hartford. The state policemen were on their motorcycles when they noticed the machine and arrested Joseph L. Rosenberg of New York. He was fined $200 and costs of $11 when presented before Justice of the Peace John C. Vergason of Marlborough. Unable to pay his fine he was sent to jail.

It was reported that the rear of the car was weighed down so heavily that the springs groaned under the strain.

FINED IN COLCHESTER FOR GAMBLING DEVICES

For maintaining gaming devices in their stores in Colchester, Joseph London and Benny Maloses were each fined $10 and costs when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Baker at 6 o'clock, Monday night. They were arrested in the drive which state policemen from the Groton barracks have been waging for the past several days on slot machines in the towns about here. State Policeman Fred Caron found a machine in each place on Sunday.

Hearings to determine whether machines seized in raids in Montville and Waterford shall be destroyed will be held today (Wednesday), Justice of the Peace Church will hold the Montville hearing at 10 a. m., while Justice Fred L. Goss will preside over the Waterford hearing at 2 p. m.

Married in Putnam 50 Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Armidas Parent of 941 Main St., Pawtucket, R. I., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday. Of 14 children born to the couple, six sons and two daughters survive.

WEST SIDE TO HAVE PARADE FOR CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP WORK

A community parade to stimulate interest and enthusiasm on the West Side in a clean-up, paint-up and new sidewalk campaign has been planned by the West End Community Association for Tuesday evening next week.

The parade will have a number of different divisions that are appropriate to the clean-up and will be followed by a mass meeting at the Elizabeth Street school house where there will be exhibits by the merchants of house cleaning necessities, garden tools, shrubs, plants, etc. There will also be a programme, with music by an orchestra, community singing and addresses by several speakers.

The sum of $50 in prizes is offered for the first new sidewalk laid on the West Side after May 9th.

Charles W. Parsons is general chairman and Albert Lillibridge marshal for the parade. The following have been appointed to have charge of the different divisions:

Broom brigade, Mrs. Herman Pukallus; paint brigade, Charles Browning; garden tools bridage, Henry Keroack, Martin Burke; wheelbarrow brigade, Merton Latimer; music, Frank I. Royce; signs, Fred C. Geer; merchants' exhibits, Lloyd Cochrane; Boy Scouts, Ralph Marsh.

The parade will be at 6.30 and will form on Asylum street and the corner of West Main. The line of march will be from there along Mechanic street to Spring, along Spring to High, High street to West Main, West Main to Connell, and up Connell to the Elizabeth Street school house.

BURGLARS GET CASH FROM STORE'S REGISTERS

It became known Tuesday morning that in addition to the break at The Cranston Co., store on Broadway two other nearby stores were broken into Monday night. Tuesday morning Chief George Linton assigned Sergt. Myron O. Morgan and Officer Henry Fenton to investigate the break at the Cranston store. In the course of their investigation they found that two other stores, The Golden Rule Grocery store on Broadway and the Self Service Shoe store in the Thayer building on Franklin square had been broken into. Both stores are near the Cranston store.

It was found that the Golden Rule Grocery store had been entered through a rear window and between $5 and $6 taken. At the Self Service Shoe store $18.66 was taken. The burglars got into the stores through rear windows, being able to reach all three places from the yard in the rear of the buildings. It seems probable that two boys who were seen and scared away from the Cranston store were the same who entered the other places.

WILL REPRESENT SEDGWICK POST AT ENCAMPMENT

Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., will be represented at the 58th annual G. A. R. encampment at Bridgeport, April 30 to May 3 by Commander Orrin M. Price. The Bridgeport post has appropriated $1,000 for an entertainment fund and a rousing good time is assured the delegates.

There will be a banquet that evening followed by a parade of the veterans to the Union church where camp fire exercises will be held.

BOYS WILL CONDUCT LIONS' CLUB MEETING

Special interest centers in the meeting of the Norwich Lions club, to be held Thursday noon, for the meeting will be conducted wholly by boys, in observance of Boys' Week. Special arrangements have been made and the meeting promises to be one of the best held by the club in many months. The boys who are to assume the various offices of the club for the meeting are as follows:

President, Junior Flather; secretary, Donald Royce; song leader, Robert Billings; entertainment leader, Albert Lillibridge; tail-twister, Jacob Davis. The entertainment programme is to include solos by Jacob Davis, Lloyd Potter, Stewart Hynd, Donald Royce and a group song number. Robert Otis is to officiate as pianist for the boys' programme.

SEEK FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGE IN PAWCATUCK

Frank Iacano and others of Westerly, doing business as Frank Iacano & Co., have brought foreclosure suit against Sarah F. Schofield and Nellie S. Barber of Stonington for foreclosure of a mortgage for $1,000, dated Sept. 23, 1924, on real estate on West Broad street in Pawcatuck. Harold Doney of Westerly claiming a $1340 mortgage and the Washington Trust Co., claiming a $5,500 mortgage are named as party defendants.

BONDS FIXED IN AUTO THEFT CASE

At the city court session Tuesday morning Peter Lebezko, 18, of Wauwecus Hill, was presented on a charge of theft of an automobile from Alex Grabusky of No. 63 Roath street. The case was continued until Wednesday morning, bonds being set at $1,000. Lebezko could not furnish the bonds. A Norwich Town man paid $5 and costs for intoxication.

It isn't what a man earns but what he pays that keeps him broke.

BOYS' DAY IN INDUSTRY PROVED GREAT SUCCESS

Boys' Day in Industry was observed, Tuesday, in Norwich, and proved to be one of the feature events of a week which has been filled with activities of many kinds. Four or five hundred boys enjoyed the activities of the day and seventeen of the industries, plants of the city were visited, all departments being thrown open to the boys who made their own choice of the factories and business houses they desired to visit.

Arrangements for transportation of the boys, to the place they had selected, were made by a special committee headed by James M. Morton and the arrangements were carried out without a hitch, busses, private cars and trolleys being used as means of transportation.

The boys were cordially received in the various plants and in each case were conducted about the plants by the management and the many interesting features of the several plants were explained at length. The trips proved to be highly instructive and the boys learned much of Norwich industry that here-to-fore had been a mystery to them.

The splendid cooperation of the manufacturers and business men in making Boys' Day in Industry a success was greatly appreciated by the boys and by those who arranged for the trips. The day will long be remembered by the boys of the city.

The plants visited during the day by different groups of boys from the schools of the city were as follows:

CAMP GROUND WORKERS DIED DURING THE YEAR

Three business meetings of the Willimantic Camp Ground were held during the week when new district superintendents, Rev. Myron E. Genter, of Norwich, presided. The district stewards' meeting was followed by the meeting of the executive committee of the Camp Ground Association, not all the vacancies left by those who have died were filled. Van R. Wheeler, the treasurer for many years was not able to be at the meeting. His son, E. M. Wheeler was appointed assistant treasurer, Rev. A. S. Muirhead was made chairman of the grounds committee and of the sanitary committee. Rev. N. B. Burton was appointed chairman of the recreation ground committee. Plans were also discussed for the camp meeting and institute of 1925.

Costello Lippitt of Norwich, Henry Randall of Port Jefferson, L. I., and E. A. Cleveland of Providence, are those of the committee who died during the past year.

APPROVAL OF NORWICH TO MIDDLETOWN BUS LINE

According to notification sent to Mayor Milo R. Waters, the public utilities commission has granted the petition of the Connecticut Motor Transportation Co. of New London to operate a bus line between Norwich and Middletown by way of Gardner Lake. The company is excluded from picking up passengers over line of the Middletown-Saybrook bus route, which is operated by John Behan of Middletown who appeared as one of the opponents to the Connecticut Motor Transportation Company's petition when a hearing was held on it in this city on April 4. The trolley lines and the railroads also opposed the petition.

The finding by the public utilities commission is as follows:

The proposed route of the applicants parallels that of John Behan of Middletown to a point on the west side of the Connecticut river opposite East Haddam, and Mr. Behan interposed a reasonable objection to applicants taking on and discharged passengers between the bus terminal in Middletown and a point one-half mile easterly of the east end of bridge over Connecticut river in the town of East Haddam except for persons bound for points easterly of said point, or taking on passengers whose destination is Middletown; and similarly between terminal in Norwich and Maplewood cemetery in said town. The eliminations to the proposed service met the objections stated.

Based on the evidence presented at the hearing the commission is of the opinion and finds that public convenience and necessity require the operation of a jitney service between the points applied for and that a certificate to operate such a service should be granted to one of the applicants.

Substantial evidence was introduced in behalf of the applicant, Jerome J. Sullivan as affecting his reputation, responsibility, etc., and as to the Connecticut Motor Transportation company, it may be said that it has been operating jitney service between Hartford, Norwich and New London under a certificate issued by the commission. The commission's official knowledge was cited in behalf of the responsibility and efficiency of the Connecticut Motor Transportation company.

The proposed route connects with and crosses the existing route operated by the Connecticut Motor Transportation company from Hartford to New London in the town of Salem.

Taking into consideration the dates when these two applications were presented, the fact that the Connecticut Motor Transportation company is already operating at two points on the proposed route, namely Salem and Norwich, and the recognized efficiency of that company, the commission is of the opinion and finds that a certificate should be granted to the Connecticut Motor Transportation company and that application No. 1451, Jerome J. Sullivan be, and hereby is denied.

Wherefore a certificate of public convenience and necessity will be issued to said company to operate a jitney service between Norwich and Middletown over a route set forth in its application on file within the limits stated upon a schedule and at rates of fare to be approved by this commission.

APPEAL FROM SENTENCE IN LIQUOR VIOLATION CASE

The full bench of the supreme court of errors, with Chief Justice Wheeler presiding, sat here Tuesday for the April term and adjourned without date at 4 o'clock after hearing all the cases argued which were on the docket. Sheriff Sidney A. Brown, of New London, was court officer for the day and Judge George E. Parsons was in attendance as clerk of the court. Rev. J. Eldred Brown of Trinity Episcopal church offered prayer at the opening of court at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Chief Justice George W. Wheeler and Associate Judges John K. Beach, Howard J. Curtis, John A. Keeler and William A. Maltbie were on the bench.

The first case argued was defendant's appeal in Boston Lumber Co. vs. Pendleton Bros., Inc., of Stonington, from a judgment of $4,717.63 given by Judge Wolfe in the superior court over a bill of lumber. Day and Berry and B. H. Hewitt were counsel for the lumber company and H. W. Rathbun for Pendleton.

Mike Maurisky of Montville brought an appeal from sentences of 30 days in jail and $200 costs, on each of two counts, on which he was convicted for violation of the liquor law, involving sales of Jamaica ginger and liquor. He appealed on the ground that the Jamaica ginger was sold by his partner in the grocery business and that he did not know of the liquor being in the store. Attorney John H. Boone appeared for Maurisky and Thomas E. Troland for the state.

Sylvester Z. Poll of New Haven, owner of the Broadway theatre here, brought an appeal in the summary process suit he had brought to get possession of the theatre from his tenant, Abe Davidson. In the justice court the decision was in favor of Poll, but on a writ of error to the common pleas court, Judge C. B. Waller found in favor of Davidson. Poll took an appeal from this. Brown & James were counsel for Davidson, Slade, Slade & Slade, for Poll.

The last case argued was the appeal of Malcolm E. Thompson of North Stonington from a summary process judgment given against him in the justice's court and affirmed by Judge C. B. Waller in the common pleas court. Thompson was tenant on a farm belonging to Dr. Albert Stanley Main of North Stonington. Attorney Charles L. Stewart appeared for Dr. Main and C. Hadlai Hull for Thompson.

The appeal in Robert W. Perkins, receiver of the Shore Line Electric Railway Co., vs. Louis I. Levinson and others, which was on the docket, was transferred by agreement to the first district court in Hartford. The appeal is by the receiver and by the defendant, the Maryland Casualty Co.

WHIST AND MUSIC AT EAGLES LADIES' NIGHT

Norwich Aerie, No. 367, F. O. E., held another of their successful ladies' nights at their rooms on Shetucket street Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance and a delightful musical programme was given by the Riverview Serenaders. Whist and pinochle were enjoyed, the prizes going as follows:

Pinochle—Ladies, first, Mrs. John Leirich, 4,895; second, Mrs. John Walz, 4,730; consolation, Mrs. Bernard Wunderlich, 2,755; gentlemen, first, John Leirich, 5,040; second, Bernard Wunderlich, 4,795; consolation, A. C. Steinke, 3,870.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served under the direction of the following committee of arrangements: William R. Hastedt, chairman; R. A. Krohn, John T. F. Burns, Edward J. Mullins, Nelson Petrone, Henry Follenius, John Oney and Walter Caughey.

A. O. H., AUXILIARY, DIVISION 18 GAVE SUCCESSFUL WHIST

There were fifteen tables in play at the whist given Tuesday night at the Buckingham Memorial, under the auspices of Ladies' Auxiliary, Division 18, A. O. H. Six prizes were awarded the winners at the close of play, as follows: Ladies, first, Miss Winifred Clabby, cut glass fruit bowl; second, Mrs. John Kennedy, cut glass vase; consolation, Miss Esther Fahey, string of beads; gentlemen's, first, William Morse, silk necktie; second, William Kane, pipe; consolation, Dennis Sullivan, hose supporters.

The committee in charge of the whist was as follows: Miss Mary Nolan, chairman; Mrs. Mary Harrigan, Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mrs. Theodore Levitsky, Mrs. Margaret Dunn, Miss Julia Enright and Miss Mary Hartle.

Divorce Suit Withdrawn.

A divorce suit brought by Janet S. Wilcox of Mystic against J. Waterman Wilcox of that town has been withdrawn from the superior court without costs. They were married Sept. 20, 1916 and Mrs. Wilcox alleged intolerable cruelty since January 1, 1920. She asked alimony and the custody of two children, aged 5 and 3 years.

POETRY

Family eFriends

Sometimes (he does not know) I watch him staid,
Small, sturdy legs apart, fair head
a-tilt,
His grave, blue eyes intent on them; one hand
Deep in a tiny pocket; and a lilt
Of new learned whistle-tunes upon his round,
Pursed mouth. And they, who from the pale
Walls flower, gilt-framed, answer, without mind
His silent question and unconscious hail.

I think they know, and welcome him.
They sense
Their dry dust stir again to see him there.
Blood of their blood, sufficient recompense
For years—and silence. And they are aware
Of how in him, their immortality
Is promised; how no clod of earth may dim
Their battle-challenge; how the golden key
To their deep stores of wisdom is with him.
For he is theirs! The tinted, childish face,
The yet unblossomed flower of their seed,
His spirit is the slim sword of their race
Sheathed in lovely scabbard; and their need
Of long, aspiring progress lives in him,
As once in them; and so, each from his frame
With years a little clouded, dusty-dim,
Hails one small man-child trusted with their name.
—Faith Baldwin in Everybody's.

Rivals

Of all the torments, all the cares,
With which our lives are cursed;
Of all the plagues a lover bears,
Sure rivals are the worst!
By partners in each other kind
Afflictions easier grow;
In love alone we hate to find Companions of our woe.

Sylvia, for the pangs you see
Are laboring in my breast,
I beg not you would favor me,
Would you but slight me rest!
How great soe'er, your rigors are,
With them alone I'll cope;
I can endure my own despair,
But not another's hope.
—William Walsh.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Kind Old Lady (to organ grinder)—Could you play an opera?

O. G.—Ma'am, I kin play anything. Do you blow it or bow it?—Desives University Parrakeet.

Small Boy — Say, mister, wuvvo paintin'?

Artist—I'm painting one of Iowa's oldest sorority houses, my son.

Small boy— Well, it needs it!—University of Iowa Frivol.

First Deb (who has brought back a dog from Europe) — They had to shoot poor little Fido today.

Girl Friend—Was he mad?

First Deb: Well, he wasn't any too damned pleased.—Yale Record.

Did you take your father apart and speak to him?

No, but he went all to pieces when I told him—Northeastern Purple Parrot.

Agnes—Oh!

Becky—What's the matter?

Agnes—I'm in a terrible dilemma. I've got two proposals and can't decide which to marry first.—University of Tennessee Mukwump.

Pat—They won't allow brunettes in the reserved section, you know.

Patricia—Well, what will I [illegible]?

Pat—We'll take you to the blonde's.—Princeton Tiger.

Art—Are you doing any work in the nude these days?

Tiste—No; but it will be soon if I don't sell some of my pictures.—University of Chicago Phoenix.

NEW ENGLAND COTTON MILLS MORE ACTIVE THAN WOOLEN

Fact Disclosed in Monthly Report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston—Building Industry Continues Very Active—Volume of Sales in Department Stores in First Three Weeks of April Were Almost Exactly Equal to the Sales in the Corresponding Period a Year Ago.

Boston, April 29—A slight decline in business activity in both February and March from the high level reached in January is noted in the monthly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston covering industrial and financial conditions in the New England district, made public today. While the gain total of the volume of trade transacted during recent weeks has been large, the report said there were an increasing number of reports of reactionary tendencies and unsatisfactory bookings of new business.

"It was obvious that the acceleration in business activity during the last half of 1924 was too rapid to continue long," the report said. "If it had continued through the first half of 1925 activity during mid-summer would have been 45 per cent higher than in the summer of 1924. As a matter of fact there has been no such increase in any one year in recent years nor has been in sufficient volume to sustain the high rate of production in a number of important lines and therefore unfilled orders have declined. A reaction of the commodity markets occurred in the last two weeks in January and continued during the three weeks in February. The volume reported by New England continues to operate at a higher rate of production than a year ago. New England mill consumption of wool however, was lower in March than in January and February or the corresponding month last year. On the whole, cotton mills are more active than the woolen and worsted mills. New England shoe production increased seasonally in March in anticipation of the spring trade, being, in fact, but slightly less than in March 1924.

"The building industry of this district was active, contracts awarded during the past four months of this year being over 10 per cent. in excess of the corresponding values in either of the two previous years.

"The volume of New England department store sales in the first three weeks of April was almost exactly equal to the sale in the corresponding period a year ago. Incidentally, the sales in April, 1924, were in larger volume than any of the other spring months. Department store sales in March were only three per cent. larger than in March, 1924, when sales were poor.

"Distribution of merchandise by New England railroads was in relatively large volume in March and early in April."

STATISTICS OF HABITS AND AIMS OF HARVARD STUDENTS

Cambridge, Mass., April 29—Statistics compiled from questionnaires filled out by entering freshmen at Harvard university in connection with the Saltonstall scholarship contest, show that 87 per cent. have never indulged in cocktails, highballs and other mixed drinks, and that 90 per cent. follow the conventions followed by their fathers. Boxing and the movies head the list of sports in which they participate.

Asked to indicate their choice of a profession, 25 per cent. said they were still in doubt. While 45 per cent. of the students' fathers are engaged in business only 20 per cent. declared their intention of entering the industrial world. The fathers of 10 per cent. were physicians, but 15 per cent. of the freshmen plan to take up medicine. Two per cent. of the students' fathers were clergymen but only six tenths of one per cent. of the students want to enter the ministry. Education claims 10 per cent. as compared with 2 per cent. in the earlier generation. The percentage planning to take up law was 15, behind the physicians and lawyers among the fathers. Two per cent. of the Seniors look forward to a career of untroubled leisure, 50 plan to enter the profession as their fathers' occupation, and they replied "none."

FAVORS CONFERENCE ON INTER-ALLIED DEBTS

Paris, April 29—M. Francois Marsal, former premier and minister of finance, who was greatly instrumental in bringing about the overthrow of the Herriot government, speaking to the American chamber of commerce in Paris this evening said:

"A general conference at which the complete problem of inter-Allied debts is examined into and studied alone will permit of a definite solution of the question. Such a conference alone can base upon the various figures presented by the national receiverships of debtor countries.

"The sacrifices of each allied country during the war would be weighed, their creditor, debtor or free situations established, from the respective point of view and credits of the countries interested.

"As far as France is concerned, I feel sure in interpreting the sentiments of the various governments to which I have belonged and in stating that when our liability has been verified once for all whatever it amounts to, we shall not repudiate it."

11 JURORS CHOSEN FOR THE TRIAL OF OLYMPIA MACRI

New Haven, April 29—Eleven men occupied the jury box at the trial of Olympia Macri here today when adjournment was taken until tomorrow, but two talesmen being accepted during the day. While the battle of counsel prevented the completion of the jury today, it is expected by both Joseph Moretsky, attorney for the girl defendant, and State's Attorney Arson A. Alling that the twelfth man will be secured early tomorrow and that the actual trial will begin.

The last talesman in the second panel of 50 men was challenged by the defense late this afternoon and after the session for the day was ended, Judge Christopher L. Avery superintended the selection of a third panel to be composed of fifty men. These talesmen will be ordered to appear at the court house tomorrow morning.

NEW MEDICINE FOR PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

Toronto, April 29—The Toronto clinician in dispatch from a staff correspondent at Baltimore, Md., relates to the annual meeting of the American Association for Study of Anemia, a new remedy for pernicious anemia which will be used in the treatment of Sir Adam Beck, well known Canadian, who is now in Johns Hopkins hospital.

The remedy was discovered about three weeks ago by Professor Gardner, well-known English chemist working in his Paris laboratory, the dispatch says. The remedy in the form of a powder is believed to be as potent as liver therapy is insulin for diabetes. A friend of Sir Adam, his wife or his family, secured a supply of the powder and sent it by registered mail to the United States.

The powder was carried by the Marconia which arrived in New York yesterday, and was relayed immediately to Baltimore where it was turned over to Sir Adam's physicians. The latest of correspondence says that hope is now entertained for Sir Adam's recovery, depending upon how far his illness has advanced. His condition is reported as somewhat encouraging.

Sir Adam is well known in Canada as a successful financier and for his services as high commissioner for England to the Dominion. He is a member of the Canadian Privy Council, a director of the Canadian Pacific railway, the Bank of Montreal and Canada Steamship Lines. He has been knighted by the King and has been decorated by the French government. He is a member of the Canadian Club of New York, the Union League club of Chicago and the Toronto Club.

PILLAGING TRIBES ENTER FRENCH ZONE IN MOROCCO

Paris, April 29—(By the A. P.)—Thousands of tribesmen pillaging villages from the French zone in Morocco from the territory in Spanish Morocco held by the rebel emir Abd-el-Krim are causing [illegible] the French government some concern [illegible] an offensive movement on the part of the rebel Moorish leader against the French zone.

Marshal Lyautey, governor of the French Morocco, has taken measures in preparation for any such eventuality. Si Mohammed, a brother of Abd-el-Krim, is said to be at the head of the pillaging tribesmen.

Despite depression on the part of the Riffians, declared in official circles to be principally in the fact that Abd-el-Krim risks losing prestige with the tribes under his rule if he remains inactive. There is, however, no apprehension as to the outcome of any operations that the incursions of the Riffians into the French zone may necessitate.

SILK MANUFACTURER DERY INDICTED FOR FORGERY

New York, April 29—D. G. Dery, president and principal owner of the D. G. Dery corporation, which was one of the largest manufacturers of silk in the United States, was indicted today on a charge of forgery. A bench warrant for his arrest was issued.

The Dery corporation failed for $16,000,000 in 1922. Assistant District Attorney O'Neill, who presented the case to the grand jury, said Dery is at present in Pennsylvania. The forgery is alleged to have been committed in connection with a false inventory to bolster up a $14,000,000 bond issue in August, 1922, the month of the failure.

A second man, whose name was not made public, was indicted with Dery today. A bench warrant also was issued for his arrest.

FLIGHT OF DIRIGIBLE LOS ANGELES AGAIN POSTPONED

Lakehurst, N. J., April 29—The postponed flight of the dirigible Los Angeles to Porto Rico will probably not be started within 48 hours, Captain George W. Steele announced tonight. Unfavorable weather on the south Atlantic coast was given as the reason for the further postponement of the trip. The dirigible was still at the mooring mast tonight having been attached there Monday night.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Art Exhibition in Paris

Paris, April 29—The annual classic exhibition of the two leading French art societies which will open tomorrow will be the smallest in number of entries and the highest in average quality of recent years. The opening of the Grand Palais by the International exposition of decorative arts drove the artists from their usual quarters to a temporary building in the Tuileries Gardens where space is limited and a fined selection of exhibits was required.

R. T. HARRISS PRESIDENT N. Y. COTTON EXCHANGE

New York, April 29—(By the A. P.)—Wall street has drawn upon another of its younger men, Richard T. Harriss, to become president of the New York cotton exchange.

At 45, he is one of the youngest men ever nominated to head the largest cotton mart in the world, for the nomination is tantamount to election at the formal poll June 1.

He has been vice president the past year, was elected to the board of managers in 1923 and has been a member of the cotton exchange only three years.

He has been in the cotton business, however, almost 30 years. By a coincidence the exchange membership he bought in 1922 was one released by Ralli Brothers of Waco, Tex., in whose employ he was first started as office boy at 15.

Today Mr. Harriss spanned the period of his rise with but one word: "Work."

Acquaintances related that his first weekly income was $1.50 which he earned at Fort Worth, Texas, his birthplace, trotting bundles for a department store at the age of six. Sundays he made an extra half-dollar selling papers, and, incidentally, sweeping his voice against later needs in out-shouting fellow traders. He recalled:

"You certainly had to yell to get people up in Fort Worth on Sunday mornings," he said.

Before getting into cotton, he was also Western Union messenger and depot office boy for the Missouri Pacific in Dallas. In the latter job, he was down on the payroll at $25 a month. This was reduced at headquarters to $15 despite the youth's personal protest later to the division superintendent. Today he recalled that salary cut as "my greatest disappointment."

Years later, he told, the same superintendent courted business regularly of the Harriss-Irby Cotton Co., in Oklahoma City, and the partner who hurled a boyish grudge only enough to see he got it was the former disgruntled office boy.

Mr. Harriss is managing partner of the brokerage house of Harriss, Irby & Vose. Five of his brothers are members one the former Mayor Bayliss E. Harriss of Galveston.

Strong family ties marked the Harriss blood, and the family operates various joint enterprises in Texas, which include the entire town of Harriss Valley down near the border and 12,000 acres of irrigated cotton and truck lands surrounding it.

The new president of the cotton exchange saw a wholesome future in Southern cotton. Fully 75 per cent of the crop was now being shipped by American firms, and Southern mills were now spinning half of the American consumption, he said.

MISS MacSWINEY IS IN A DEFIANT MOOD

Chicago, April 29.—Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Terence MacSwiney, Irish republican leader said tonight that she "had no passport to enter this country, did not need any, and had no intention of ever getting any."

"If I should be arrested," she said, "although I have no fear of it, my only recourse would be in hunger strike. And I certainly would not hesitate in the least to resort to it, if I should be arrested."

EFFECTS OF BRITAIN'S GOLD RESUMPTION POLICY

New York, April 29. An early resumption of arbitrage trading between the securities markets of London and New York is in prospect as a result of Great Britain restoration of the gold standard.

One of the chief obstacles to the method of trading has been removed by the re-establishment of the gold basis and the imminent return of sterling exchange to parity, officials of the stock exchange have asserted. They look for an early revival of arbitrage dealings which were automatically suspended during the war by the London stock exchange's prohibition of trading on account of the violent fluctuations in the foreign exchanges.

With the pound sterling maintained at par, it was pointed out, arbitrage dealings between New York and London may be attempted without fear that a sudden shift in exchange rates will wipe out narrow profits on transactions. Pitt restrictions on "account trading" are lifted by the London exchange, which imposed them during the war as an aid to the retention of gold in Great Britain. It will be impossible to resume arbitrage on the normal pre-war basis, however, under the present cash settlement requirements, traders in New York are prevented from selling stocks short in London and must confine their activities to buying operations.

The effects of Britain's gold resumption policy continued to find reflection in the local foreign exchange market today. Following an earlier rise in London, sterling drew close to the inviolable gold parity basis, crossing $4.84 to the highest level in more than ten years.

Other American banks have joined J. P. Morgan & Company in shouldering the $100,000,000 credit placed by that firm at the disposal of the British government. The demand for participation in the credit was so great representatives of the house said, that some difficulty was experienced in making the apportionments.

PLEADED GUILTY TO SECOND DEGREE MURDER

Dedham, Mass., April 29.—Alfred W. Bedard of Pawtucket, R. I., and James F. Weeks of Providence, R. I., pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the superior criminal court here today and were sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Henry T. Lummis. They were charged with the murder of James E. Carpenter, aged cashier, in the hold-up of the Wrentham National bank in Wrentham last November.

May day in Paris will be devoid of processions. Meetings of various kinds in the open will be allowed, but all parades are forbidden.

WOMAN MEMBER NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

Washington, April 29.—Science for the first time in America officially crowned a woman with its laurels by the election today of Miss Florence Rena Sabin, physiologist at Johns Hopkins Medical school at Baltimore, to life membership in the National Academy of Sciences, which terminated its annual meeting.

Budget Attacked In House Of Commons

Liberals and Laborites Objected to the Reimposition of the M'Kenna Duties and Imperial Tariffs.

Lodno, April 29.—(By the A. P.)—The spokesman of the liberal and labor parties launched an attack upon Winston Churchill's budget when the house of commons reassembled today. Philip Snowden, who held the office of chancellor of the exchequer in the labor goverment and turned the public purse strings over to Mr. Churchill when the conservatives returned to power, declared that it was "the worst rich man's budget ever introduced."

Sir Alfred Mond, who has held numerous high offices in previous governments, doubted the wisdom of the country's return to the gold standard, saying it would tie the British monetary system to that of America and make the London bank rate more subservient to Wall street than it had been in the past, "in order to obtain a purely sentimental result."

He pointed out that although his country's two greatest and gravest problems were industrial depression and unemployment on a scale almost unprecedented, the chancellor of the exchequer had given no indication of how he proposed to deal with them. Not one penny had been allocated from the large expected surplus for dealing with unemployment; the six pence reduction in the income tax he considered insufficient to produce any actual effect on industry.

Both liberals and laborites objected to the reimposition of the McKenna duties and imperial tariffs, while the conservatives who spoke on the subject thanked Mr. Churchill for reviving them.

Philip Snowden had quite a few bitter things to say about the budget. Labor he asserted, would draw the certain conclusion from the fact that in this period of unparalleled depression it was estimated that the income super-taxes and death duties would yield more than previously. Short of the glamor of widespread pensions, the budget was one where relief of taxation had gone entirely to the direct taxpayers. There was not a penny of relief, he declared, to the wage earning classes. It would provide the labor members of parliament and the country with material for the next election.

Into the duty on silk, Mr. Snowden saw as a burden falling largely on the poor. He argued that artificial silk had largely replaced cotton in such fashion apparel as stockings and blouses. When his eloquence was forgotten, Mr. Snowden predicted that Winston Churchill would be remembered as the man who taxes women's silk.

Another former chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Robert S. Horne, congratulated Mr. Churchill on his work. Mr. Churchill's schemes for social insurance, he said, had made the prospect of the labor party in the future negligible, "as Mr. Snowden has discovered." He was glad the chancellor had not based his budget on any reduction of a general revival in trade. Nobody expected so on the trade situation with anything but anxiety, and he was glad to see any encouragement given to the meagre income tax reduction.

So long as high prices of silk stockings were concerned, he thought the poor could overlook that. The subject he welcomed was the reimposition of the McKenna duties. Likewise he was pleased at the return of imperial preference, for one could see from events in South Africa what had been the consequence of Great Britain's failure to give reciprocal terms to her colonies.

AUTOS MAY BE SEIZED REGARDLESS OF LIENS

Atlanta, Ga., April 29—Automobiles seized as liquor carriers can be confiscated by the government regardless of mortgages, liens and other claims, except when liquor on which tax has been paid is being conveyed, Judge Samuel H. Sibley ruled in a decision handed down today in United States district court.

Decline In Cost Of Automobiles

While Cost of Living Has Increased 67 Per Cent. Since 1913, the Cost of Autos Has Decreased 29 Per Cent.

New York, April 29—Automobiles on the average cost 29 per cent less today than in 1913, while the average cost of living has increased 67 per cent during the same period, figures compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce reveal. The average retail price of a motor car is now set at $825.

The analysis of car prices is part of the annual study of the automobile industry made by the chamber. The year 1924 is covered in the report.

The automobile industry now ranks first among the manufacturers of the United States, the ratings being on the basis of wholesale values. The steel industry is second and meat packing third, according to the report.

Export of motor vehicles in 1924 were larger than ever before in the history of the industry. The 186,550 automobiles sent abroad established a record 17 1-2 per cent larger than the figures for 1923.

The federal taxes paid on motor vehicles from 1917 to 1925 was $700,385,399 or more than twice as much as was expended in federal money toward highways. Motor vehicles paid $461,400,000 in special taxes during 1924.

The total freight receipts of railroads on account transportation products was $4,000,000.

About 65 per cent of automobiles in the United States are owned in communities having less than 25,000 population, while 48 per cent of the cars are owned in communities having less than 5,000 population.

ORDERS TO SUPPRESS THE "ALBANY BASEBALL POOL"

Albany, N. Y., April 29—Governor Smith, acting upon complaint of a "prominent citizen of Albany" today instructed the sheriffs of the counties of Albany, Schenectady and Rensselaer to put a stop to the operation of an alleged lottery known as the "Albany baseball pool."

Governor Smith said that what for a time was regarded as an "innocent feature of the baseball season had grown to be a well known lottery and as far east as the city of Boston people are talking about the "Albany pool."

The pool which is reported to have operated during the winter months on points of the motion of leading stocks of the New York stock exchange and during the baseball season on runs scored by major league clubs, is said to have had its greatest week in excess of $40,000 in receipts and was said to have been divided $700 and the six lowest winners in the pool were said to have been divided a sum in excess of $3,000.

HAS CONSENTED TO FORM NEW BELGIAN CABINET

Brussels, April 29—Baron Charles de Broqueville, premier-designate, has been asked by King Albert to form a new Belgian cabinet to succeed that of Premier Theunis, who resigned on April 17.

Baron de Broqueville accepted the mission and declared that he would attempt to form a government in accordance with the views of the various parties. Later he was summoned Senator Serrers, a former minister, and a Catholic. Upon leaving the conference with the monarch, M. Serrers said he believed a solution of the Belgian cabinet situation was close at hand.

MARTIAL LAW IN BULGARIA HAS CAUSED DEATHS OF MANY THOUSANDS OF PERSONS

London, April 29.—(By The A. P.)—The two members and a former member of the British parliament who visited Sofia, Bulgaria, immediately after the recent bomb explosion in the cathedral there and remained in Bulgaria to study the situation, today again described conditions as they found them. The description was given in a report which declared the existing Bulgarian government had caused the deaths of many thousands of persons, "and will surely ultimately arouse a volcanic upheaval."

The report was signed by Josiah C. Wedgwood, and W. Mackinder, laborite members of parliament, and Lieutenant Colonel Cecil L'Estrange Malone, a former coalition liberal member. They spent the recent parliament recess in Bulgaria where they visited government officials, foreign diplomats and residents, but were unable to see any of the leaders of the opposition to the government of Premier Tzankoff "as these already had been executed or were in jail."

"The country," said the report, "was under martial law. General Lazaroff, commander of all the troops in Sofia, was practically dictator. We saw prisoners taken along the streets by armed civilians, receiving in some cases, very rough treatment.

"At night bursts of firing were of frequent occurrence. From our hotel room we saw the huge prison building on a low hill outside the town brilliantly lighted up. The approaches were illuminated by special lights all night. We were informed that throughout the night cars and lourries left the prison taking batches of prisoners out into the country to be shot as fresh loads were being brought to the prison.

"The recent outbreaks of violence were not isolated happenings. A government which came into power after a series of murders, beginning with the assassination of Premier Stamboulisky and ending with those is overwhelming evidence that, continuously for the last two years, it has been guilty of ruthless tyranny, murdering its political opponents, having them strangled, pounded to death and making use of torture—in all causing to be done to death many thousands of persons—such a government will surely ultimately arouse a volcanic upheaval. Even if it is true, as so many Bulgarian officials we saw alleged, that the seeds of the plot were sown by Serbia or Russia they would not have found fertile soil, except among a people suffering from the oppression of a militarist government.

"Life is held cheap in Bulgaria, a distinguished foreign resident said. Murder in the street excites as little attention as a minor street accident in London." The government is a military junta which uses as a cloak politicians who have no real power.

"Throughout the country power is in the hands of the Kombrat, or military officers league. Already at least 4,000 persons have been put into prison. Many hundreds have been killed without trial, or after the mere shadow of a trial."

The signers of the statement say they were refused permission to visit the prisons. In conclusion they urged "lovers of humanity" to protest against executions and imprisonment without just and fair trials, to obtain permission to visit prisons for responsible persons denied by the British and American ministers in Sofia to recommend that the increased armed forces allowed up to May 31 by the allies should not remain under arms afterwards, and that the allies request the holding of the freest possible election at an early date with a view to the establishment of civil power in a democratic [illegible].

GERMAN PRESS COMMENDS NO CHANGE IN FOREIGN POLICY

Favorable Comment Upon Announcement Made by Chancellor Luther—League for German Industry and Commerce Has Been Officially Informed That Germany Does Not Want War and Intends to Adhere to the Plan of a Security Pact.

Berlin, April 29—(By the A. P.—Chancellor Luther's announcement that Germany's foreign policy will remain unchanged, made shortly after his conference with president-elect von Hindenburg and understood to express the latter's view, was regarded as an outstanding political development and was received with generally favorable comment by the afternoon papers.

Chancellor Luther in his speech to the league for German industry and commerce, also urged a speedy settlement of the question of evacuation of the Cologne area by the allies and declared that Germany does not want war and intends to adhere to the plan of a security pact.

The Democratic Zorsunkurier observed that "if the speech is an echo of Luther's discussion with Hindenburg yesterday one can take cognizance of it with satisfaction for it furnishes new confirmation of the fact that a policy different from that advocated by the Marx cabinet and the parties behind it is unthinkable."

The Socialist newspaper Vorwarts said: "Whether the chancellor's utterances will have a favorable effect abroad remains to be seen. Surely they will fail to do so if part of the semi-official government press continues its nationalistic demagogy and tries to tell the world that only a strong fist can untangle the confusion of the reparations situation."

The Democratic Voissische Zeitung said that the chancellor's speech shows that the radical wing of the German nationalists cannot rely upon President Hindenburg in an attack upon the peace pact negotiations."

The conservative Lokalanzeiger said that "nationalistic indiscretions which were expected first from the Luther cabinet and later from Hindenburg's election continue to fail to appear."

Foreign minister Stresemann's newspaper Zeit said: "Whoever continues to claim that Hindenburg's election constitutes a danger to Germany's foreign policy twists the facts. In this sense the chancellor's speech clears the political situation in a very welcome manner.

SIGNIFICANT OFFICIAL UTTERANCE BY LUTHER

Berlin, April 29—The positive declaration made by Dr. Hans Luther, the German chancellor, before the congress of the league of industries and commerce today that Germany's foreign policies will be strictly adherred to, it voted a significant official utterance. The chancellor's statement is being received in political and financial circles as in complete concurrence with President-Elet Von Hindenburg's views, as it was made less than tyelve hours after the former had concluded a long conference with Von Hindenburg at the latter's country retreat near Brunswick.

In the course of his speech Mr. Luther declared that in order to bring about staple European conditions the evacuation of the Cologne area by the Allies must be speedily settled, and he reiterated that Germany has prepared to conclude a comprehensive and equitable security pact. His promise that this attitude will be rigidly adhered to meets with the prompt approval of the conservative organs and is also liberally endorsed in democratic quarters, which only three days ago united in support of Dr. Wilhelm Marx for the presidency.

The government's statement generally is appraised as timely and effective and one calculated to placate foreign and internal misgivings, which the election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg provoked. It is recalled that Dr. Luther accepted the chancellorship from the late President Ebert as a non-partisan and that he informed the reichstag parties which accepted membership in his cabinet of his determination to conduct his office in a spirit of non-partisanship.

To this extent Dr. Luther considered Von Hindenburg a political affinity, and it is believed that the two men in the course of their official dealings will be actuated by a mutual endeavor to minimize, possibly eliminate, partisan friction in carrying out the government's business.

While the president of Germany nominally wields unrestricted authority so far as opportunity to intervene in the deliberations of the cabinet or reichstag are concerned, it is realized that an atmosphere or cordiality and a desire for cooperation between the executive and parliamentary organisms are especially needful with the advent of Von Hindenburg as president. If his election first caused a flutter in Berlin and elsewhere in Germany, there is no indication of post-election agitation visible, and reichstag leaders view the immediate future of German politics with complete equanimity.

Among the political leaders there is a firm impression that the Luther cabinet will continue to function and that neither Germany nor the outside world will be treated to the spectacle of a parliamentary upheval because of the recent election.

A prominent member of the German peoples' party, discussing foreign apprehensions regarding the election of the field marshal said: "If the outside world believes that the so-called chauvinists will run Germany it will be disappointed, for just as Ebert tamed the socialists while he was in office, so will Von Hindenburg put a damper on the exuberance of nationalistic extremists."

The president-elect will remain in Hanover for another week, as the date of his inauguration will probably be postponed until May 14. Meanwhile he has entered into active touch with the government officials an dmembers of Former President Ebert's personal staff, which also is still functioning under Acting President Simons. Leading government officials are traveling to Hanover in relays for the purpose of conferring with the president-elect, who finds himself confronted with the immediate necessity of acquainting himself with the small and big ones of the official machinery.

TWO PERSONS KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN MALDEN

Malden, Mass., April 29—The toll of death from the explosion here today of the Boston Rubber Shoe Company's cement and varnish building stood at two tonight with all others accounted for and the only seriously injured man expected to recover. Fire officials and the state police announced that an investigation of the accident would be begun tomorrow.

The explosion, caused by naptha stored in the building, wrecked the two story structure, showering with bricks the main building twenty five feet distant and threw the 3,000 employes there into a panic. Robert M. Stewart of Malden, who was working in the mixing room of the varnish building was thrown 50 feet and instantly killed, and John F. Nolan of Malden, a fellow worker met death as he passed from the mixing room doorway. Their bodies were found in the ruins. William McMackin, another employe, was buried through a brick wall and was taken to a hospital here and then to a Boston hospital for an X-ray examination for possible cuts and head injuries from flying bricks. Many workers leaped from second story windows and suffered slight injuries.

The damage from the explosion and fire was placed at $75,000. Reports that a worker was smoking a cigarette near the naptha barrel ignited the blast and that friction from the machinery caused the blow-up were to be investigated by the officials.

BISHOP WILLIAM LAWRENCE ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Boston, April 29—Within four days of the completion of 32 years of service as head of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, Bishop William Lawrence will retire Friday from active administrative work, he announced today at the 140th annual meeting of the convention of the diocese. In accordance with ecclesiastical tradition, Bishop Lawrence, who is 75 years old, will not lay aside his office completely but will transfer actual administration of the diocese to Dr. Charles Lewis Slattery, bishop co-adjutor. Bishop Lawrence will remain certain canonical duties and those involving ecclesiastical authority.

Bishop Lawrence, as president of the Episcopal church pension fund, announced that the fund established eight years ago, had reached a total of $17,000,000 as compared with the $5,000,000 originally sought. Founded for the benefit of aged and retired clergymen, their widows and orphans, the fund has now reached a state where there is sufficient surplus to enable the liberalization of pension payments beyond original promises, a revaluation by acturies has revealed, the bishop said.

SNOW AND COLD RAIN IN THE MIDDLE WEST

Chicago, April 29—Last week's hot weather throughout the middle west, with temperatures ranging from 80 to 90, was followed today by hail, snow, sleet, rain and a small tornado in the territory that a few days ago complained of the heat.

Snow flurries followed by a cold rain with a possibility of frost tonight were reported from parts of Indiana, while a sleet and wind storm in Minnesota did heavy damage last night to wire facilities. St. Cloud had an inch and a half of snow and killing frosts were reported in several sections of the state with the fruit crop menaced unless warm weather appears.

One section of Texas was swept by a tornado while another was under a blanket of snow.

San Angelo, Texas., reported snow with the sixth day of rain which broke a drought of three months. A week ago the temperature there was 102. Gyle, Texas and vicinity was struck by a tornado which killed two persons and injured more than a score, some possibly fatally.

Other parts of the middle west were visited by cold rain or by temperatures only a few degrees above the freezing point.

INVESTIGATING PASSPORTS OF MISS MARY MACSWINEY

Chicago, April 29.—Howard Eby, local chief of the bureau of investigation, admitted tonight that officers from his office have questioned Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of Terence MacSwiney, late Irish republican leader, about her passports by which she gained entrance to the country.

The questioning, he said, was on the order of W. W. Husband, head of the immigration bureau in Washington. The report from here was forwarded to Washington and any further information to any action will come from there, Mr. Eby said.

Miss MacSwiney spoke last night in Streator, Ills., and announced that she would return to Chicago and leave today for Detroit where she expected to make an address tonight.

FOUR MOTION PICTURE PLAYERS INJURED IN WRECK

Hollywood, Calif., April 29—Four motion picture palyers and a property man were injured and $10,000 worth of motion picture equipment destroyed in the wreck of the Santa Fe train last night near San Diego, it was announced today at Warner Brothers studio from which a party of 32 were on the train. Marie Prevost, Louise Fezenda, Kenneth Harlan and Walter Long, players, were cut by glass and bruised and Bob Webb, property man, was burned in attempting to save Engineer John Warboys, it was announced.

C. at the Congregational church, Bridgeport, are Department senior vice president Mrs. Maude Deming, president, Mrs. Lena Tripp, state aide and local secretary, Mrs. Helen French, first delegate, Mrs. Alice Easterbrooks, second delegate, Mrs. Mary Russ, third, Mrs. Jennie Randall, Mrs. Ida Williams, Mrs. Alice Bentley, Mrs. Bell Tracy, Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison, past president, Mrs. Margaret McArthur, Mrs. Benjamin Smith and Miss Annie Smith, representing Francis S. Long Corps., No. 33. From Post 30 those to attend are, Commander A. P. Benner, and past commanders James Haggerty and Adam Duntz.

At a meeting of Andover Dramatic Club, Tuesday evening, a set of resolutions, relative to the payment of expenses at the circuit plays was drawn up. This will be taken up at the next meeting of the executive board of the Drama League.

The hopes and expectations of the local strikers of the American Thread company were keyed to a high pitch, at the mass meeting held in the Gem Theatre Wednesday morning, when Horace Riviere, of Manchester, N. H. told them of a mass meeting held the night before by theoperatives of the Holyoke Mills of the company. "The meeting was a wonderful one," he said "and good is to come out of it in a short time. The operatives of that plant are to help you to shoulder the burden that you have carried for the past eight weeks, for they are pretty well organized now.

"Those mills here that are now idle," he went on, "are assets while in operation, but now constitute a huge liability to the American Thread Company. The company still carries a large overhead expense for bosses, clerks, superintendents, etc. They want you back at the machines, to accept that ten per cent reduction in wages or any dividends may be paid to stockholders, but I say to you that this company must be defeated in this strike. You have made a great fight and you cannot go back now."

Referring to some of the local operatives who had gone back to work, Mr. Riviere had nothing but words of reproach for the recreant, the speaker said. "This is no vacation—no outing. It is the hardest job that you ever tackled for the smallest pay that you ever received. You have made a great fight. Miss Mary Kelleher and Miss Anna L. Hooker have managed this strike wonderfully. Your union officers have rendered great assistance. Your expenses have been many, but victory is assured. Keep up the good work."

Mr. Riviere then delivered a twenty minute talk in French.

The other speaker was John J. Hanley of Lowell, Mass., who said that following the strike he came to Willimantic to make a survey of conditions of both operatives and the status of the plant. He said he had found the morale of the strikers excellent. "When I looked over the situation yesterday," he said, "and talked with many of you and others outside the fold, it was impressed on my mind that you were determined. I cannot say different today. There is only one thing about this strike, and that is that you must stick together."

It was stated Wednesday that there was every indication that at an early date the operatives of the Holyoke Mills would go out on strike. Pressure has been brought to bear on the operatives of that plant for the past two weeks and organizers of the United Textile Workers of America have for some time past been at work here. At a mass meeting held in Holyoke Tuesday night, Organizers John J. Hanley of Lowell, Mass., Horace Riviere of Manchester, N. H. and Miss Mary Kelleher of Scranton, Pa., with Miss Amy L. Hooker, chairman of the local textile council, and the grievance committee of the local strikers were present. Addresses were delivered by the first four mentioned. Several of the strikers were in attendance, making up a party of about thirty from here. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one, according to Miss Hooker, and was presided over by Mr. Hanley, who will be the speaker at the mass meeting of the local strikers this (Thursday) morning.

The charges in the two cases which came up in the police court Wednesday morning, were read by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Frank P. Fenton, in the absence of Samuel B. Harvey who was in Rockville for the day on legal business.

Donat Bernard, charged with breach of the peace entered a plea of guilty. Shortly after midnight Tuesday, Bernard, who had been drinking, lost his bearings in attempting to locate his home, insisted on entering the wrong house. After an altercation with the tenant, whose slumbers he rudely disturbed, he succeeded in getting a highly colored optic for his trouble.

Judge Frank H. Foss imposed a fine of fifteen dollars and costs, amounting to $22.15. Bernard was put on probation for the next three months. At the end of that period, if Bernard has complied with the terms of his probation, the fine will be remitted. The costs in the case, amounting to $7.15, are to be paid however.

John Gleason, who gave his home town as Manchester, his age as 22 and his occupation that of printer, was arrested early Wednesday morning on Union street in a very intoxicated condition. He knew but very little of what happened on the visit he made to the Thread City Tuesday night, he said. Gleason pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk and told Judge Foss that he had never been arrested before on any charge. He was fined five dollars and costs, amounting to $12.15, which he paid.

Members of San Jose Council, No. 14, Knights of Columbus, at a regular meeting Tuesday evening, voted to hold a memorial service for departed members on the second Sunday in June, as is their custom. The council also voted to be represented by a team in the state Knights of Columbus bowling tournament which will be held in connection with the state convention of the order in New Britain, May 8 and 9.

The weekly meeting of the Exchange Club, held Wednesday noon was well attended. The members expressed their good wishes to Dr. Harry Ballou, superintendent of the Mansfield State Training School and Hospital, who is to leave for Virginia later in the week. An interesting address was delivered by Superintendent of Schools Egbert A. Case on "The Place Which Exchange Occupies in the Community." Planatation melodies were sung in duet by Edwin P. Hayes and Edwin J. Donnelly. Thomas Melkie, candidate for city sheriff on the Windham Non-Partisan League ticket in the Boys' Week election, was presented at the meeting by Principal Case and entertained the members with a recitation, entitled "Levinsky's Wedding."

Captain Frank M. Lincoln reported for the "Sailors," the losing team in the attendance contest, stating that all arrangements had been completed for the dinner to be tendered the winning team, the "Soldiers." The place will be Liberty Hill but the date will be kept secret for the present, as the losers wish to spring a surprise.

A stubborn chimney fire gave the members of Engine Company No. 1 a few busy moments Wednesday morning at 8:15 o'clock at No. 131 Chapman street. The residence is occupied by Mrs Mamotte and is owned by Theodore Areshire. The blaze burned its way through the roof and forty-six gallons of chemicals were utilized, in addition to a stream of water being played on the flames.

An open meeting was held in the town hall in South Coventry Wednesday evening at eight o'clock under the auspices of the Connecticut Milk Producers' Association. An address was delivered by Clifford G. Hough, general manager who gave an explanation of the association's plan to obtain a better price for milk for Connecticut farmers.

The assignments of the officers of the police department for May were posted on the bulletin board in the patrolmen's room Wednesday as follows: Officer William Hurley, Solomon beat; Officer Edward Leahy, Jackson street; Officer Roderick Lariviere, center beat; Officer Arthur Hurley, Upper Main street and Officer Grant Bombria, day or traffic duty.

Mrs. S. Arnold Peckham is spending several days in Hartford, the guest of relatives.

MILK GOING TO HARTFORD, NOT PROVIDENCE OR BOSTON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, April 29—That the Providence and Boston Dairy Companies are finding stiff competition with Connecticut and New York contractors, is becoming evident. Scores of milk producers in this section have been carting their milk from two to five miles to the railroad station on Chapman street in the city, for shipment to Providence and Boston at a lower rate than the one offered Connecticut wholesale milk producers have long carried on the belief that the railroads have been making money at their expense with the lower rate for their product. Considerable of the milk produced in the future in this section will be sold to wholesale dealers of Hartford. Instead of the individual producer hauling his milk to the railroad milk depot, a trucking firm will call at the farms to collect and deliver the milk to Samuel Lauria at Andover, from where it will be shipped to Hartford.

All this means a big change in dairy merchandising inthis section of Eastern Connecticut. The growth of the new marketing movements sends the milk to Hartford and is extended to points as far as New Haven. For a long period many dairymen in this section looked with rather envious eyes on the Hartford wholesale market. In former years much of the Capital City's milk supply came from points far distant, some from Vermont and eastern New York, while at the same time, the dairymen in the territory between Willimantic and Hartford, only thirty miles away, have been obliged to sell to sell their product in markets much further away.

As all wholesale milk in New England is sold on the basis of a certain delivery price, the railroads were making money at the expense of the dairymen in this section.

In addition, the Hartford wholesale price generally has been one cent higher than the Providence or Boston figure. In the Connecticut territory, the dairymen are organized under the name of The Connecticut Milk Producers' Association and in the remainder of New England under the name of the New England Producers' Association. Aside from some other marked conditions, the Connecticut men selling their milk on the claim that quality product and are emphasized this, rather than price. A [illegible] began operation [illegible] ago, there [illegible] cent milk as the [illegible] New England [illegible] three [illegible] A meeting [illegible] one-half cents [illegible] the dealers' plan [illegible] land Association and one-half cent [illegible] a cent clear gain [illegible] there is three points difference in butter fat standard. However, the dairy and Andover dairymen think that trucking and freight charges give them a distinct advantage when it comes to Hartford and that the net difference in favor of that market is more than one cent a quart.

Early last week an arrangement was effected for a supply of milk from the Flanders district, the negotiations being carried on with E. W. Dynes of South Coventry, who has been sending milk to Hartford since last September. When Mr. Dynes took the signed contracts to the association office in Hartford, a week ago, he found that the association had just received another large order for milk and believing that it could be secured in the Andover and Coventry territory, he was consigned to place contracts. Since that time the work has been progressing steadily. It is about concluded in the Coventry section, but work is still going on along the Hartford-Willimantic road between the town farm and Bolton Notch until all dairymen in that section have been given an opportunity to sign a contract with the Connecticut Association, if they so desire. It is possible that work will be undertaken in the Lebanon and Columbia territory, at a later date but no definite statement can be made with regard to this at the present time. This milk will likely go to New Haven. The collection of milk in this section by means of truck will begin tomorrow morning at eight o'clock.

ARNOLD STORRS ELECTED BOYS' WEEK MAYOR

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, April 29—Arnold Storrs was elected mayor of the city by an overwhelming majority over Philip Dodge when the entire Windham Non-protestant league ticket with one exception was swept into office, at the election held Wednesday in the various schools, which was sponsored by the Citizenship Committee of Boys' Week organization. The average majority of the ticket was 100. The sole exception in the election was in the office of St. Mary's school alderman, when Alfred Caisse, of the Willimantic Good Government league, was elected over Rene Pageau. The officers elected will be installed Thursday evening at a special meeting of the board of aldermen and the lads will govern the city Friday.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Paul Brudior of Willington was fined fined $25 and costs of $13.06 by Judge Heald in the borough court, Tuesday morning after pleading guilty to the charge of reckless driving. The previous evening Brudior while driving home from work in his automobile ran into Mrs. Mary Kalbac who was crossing the road near Willington Hill throwing her to the ground. She was taken to the Johnson Memorial hospital where it was found she had a broken collar bone.

Michael Koschintuk was fined $2 and costs of $13 for keeping two unlicensed dogs. Koschintuk was arrested by dog warden William S. Eldredge.

Mrs. Anna Kelley a teacher in the borough schools has resigned and gone to her home in Springfield on account of illness. Miss Helen Regan of Rockville will conduct the school for the balance of the year.

OLSON-BRYNAN CONCERT DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Jewett City, April 29.—The concert given by James Olson, pianist, of Jewett City and Henry Brynan, violinist, of Norwich, in Finn Opera house Wednesday evening, was all that had been anticipated. The hall was filled with well-wishers of Mr. Olson, for from his ability, his pleasing and unassuming personality has won to many warm friends. For so young man his interpretation of his different numbers and the technique he displayed were remarkable. His training was begun with Mrs. Annie L. Frost, and has been continued under Prof. [illegible] L. Farrell, of Norwich. He showed excellent method and his instructors are very proud of the performance he gave Wednesday evening. [illegible] violin [illegible] ers by Mr. Brynan were an [illegible] charm for musical lovers, for he also is a young musician gifted in unusual degree. Mr. Olson is the organist of St. Mary's church, and his pupils town manifested their regard through the medium of a beautiful basket of flowers, sent to the stage during the programme. The basket of sweet peas on the piano were given by Mrs. A. A. Young and other flowers came from friends. The programme was given as follows:

Toccata and Fugue — Bach-Tausig
Mr. Olson

Andante (from Seventh Concerto) — Dellerlot

Mr. Brynan

Accompanist Miss Ruth Dr[illegible]

Scherso E Minor — Mendelssohn

To the Rising Sun — Torjussen

Hexentanz — MacDowell

Ballade — Liszt

Mr. Olson

Cavatina — Raff

Rondino (on a theme by Beethoven) — Kreisler

Londonderry Air — Irish Folk Tune

Mr. Brynan

Chant Negre — Kramer

March Militaire — Schubert Tausig

A Steinway piano was used.

The young men were accorded many flattering applause and recalls, but Mr. Olson kept to the set programme until the final number, when, in response to insistent encores he gave the exciting Chopin Waltz in G Flat Major with fine interpretation. Again he responded with Eccosaises, Beethoven-Busoni.

Mr. Brynan gave pleasure by his extra number, which was "From the Cane-brake," by Samuel Gardner.

The audience greatly appreciated the skilled and sympathetic accompaniments of Miss Dreschler. The musicians present from Norwich included Prof. Frank L. Farrell and Mrs. Farrell.

Misses Alice Barnett and Jean Burleson had decorated the stage most attractively with pink geraniums, ferns and iron palms, against a background of branches of shade blow. The concert was given under the direction of the Quinebaug Camps Association, Inc. The committee was Eudor LeClair, Herbert Thompson, Tyler Gilbert and William McGovern.

COMPLETING MURDER CASE AGAINST THOMAS MANNION

The chain of evidence against Thomas M. Mannion, Jr., former Groton Sub Base sailor, alleged murderer of his wife, Helen B. Mannion, at Portsmouth, N. H., last Friday, is rapidly being forged by the state. During all of Tuesday witnesses were questioned by the state attorney, and signed statements were received from most of them.

Mannion, who surrendered Saturday night at police headquarters in Portsmouth, was arraigned Monday morning before Judge Ernest L. Guptill in the municipal court, charged with murder. The case was postponed until next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the request of the state.

When asked by Clerk of Court Wilbur B. Shaw what he wished to plead, Mannion said "not guilty," in a clear and steady voice. Throughout the short session he showed little signs of any emotion, not raising his eyes and quivering only slightly when the warrant charging him with murder was being read.

Judge Guptill ordered him held without bail and he was taken to the Rockingham county jail by Marshal Ducker and Deputy Sheriff O. P. Philbrick.

The funeral services of Mrs. Helen Agnes Mannion, the victim, were held Monday morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

SUES FOR DIVORCE FOR WIFE'S DESERTION

Suit for divorce from Rosie Schwartz Goldstein of New York city has been brought in the superior court for this county by Samuel Goldstein of Colchester. The couple were married Dec. 8, 1907 and the petitioner alleges desertion in August, 1921. The suit is returnable in May.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

"The Dixie Handicap," the latest production made by Reginald Barker for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, will be at the Breed Theatre today. It is a story of horse racing with a strong flash of romance added, culminating in the running of the Latonia stakes. The final racing scenes were photographed at Latonia, Kentucky, in order that authentic atmosphere might be obtained.

Frank Keenan heads the cast as a southern judge. Claire Windsor appears as his daughter, Lloyd Hughes plays the hero, a trainer, and others in the cast include Otis Harlan, John Sainpolis, Edward Martindel, Ruth King, and Joseph Morrison. Waldemar Young wrote the adaptation from the story by Gerald Beaumont.

Broadway Theatre.

For the last half of the week the management of the Broadway theatre is offering the same high class anniversary programme of acts with a complete change of nine acts Keith vaudeville and pictures, that will be on a par with the show seen the first of the week.

Just glance over this for a lineup of all star acts:

Stanley Mack and Fay Tempest in "Once But Not Twice," a comedy by Eugene Conrad.

The versatile comedienne, Sadie Banks and Co. in a riot of fun called "Fresh From Elmira," by Chas. Henry Smith.

Joe Martini, the boy with the voice in a comedy specialty.

Walsh and Taye in a New Line of Jests, that will make you want more of their kind of comedy.

These well known stars of the vaudeville profession, Permane and Shelly in "Bully-Bully." Something you are going to rave about.

Stewart and Mercer offer a comedy novelty, that makes a wonderful opening act, with music.

The Guy Bartlett Trio, three men in another comedy act, with special songs.

Jean Duvall and Co., have a real surprise in store for you. Wait until you see them.

How is that for a bill. We honestly believe that it cannot be duplicated in the biggest city with such small admission prices.

Deep-dyed mystery that moves at express train speed is the keynote of the new Richard Talmadge production, "Stepping Lively," which comes to the Broadway theatre today. As the young hero who is the victim of a plot and flung into jail at the moment when happiness is within his grasp, the brilliant Mr. Talmadge has one of the happiest and ingratiating roles of his career. "Stepping Lively" is crammed with all the stunts and thrills and comedy for which the Talmadge productions have become famous. It was directed for Carlos Productions by James Horne, creator of "The Hottentot," "Blow Your Own Horn," and other noteworthy productions. The cast includes Mildred Harris, Norval MacGregor, Brinsley Shaw, Fred Kelsey, Marie Carillo, William Clifford, John W. Dillan and Victor Mazetti. F. O. B. distributes the picture.

At Slater Hall

In bringing to Norwich Royal Cortissos, the foremost art critic of the country, the Norwich Art students association is not adding another distinguished name to the long list of notable speakers which it has presented to the public during the past 25 years. In the field of art criticism Mr. Cortissos is second to none, enjoying a national reputation. He is the art critic of the New York Herald Tribune and of Scribner's Magazine, and is a frequent contributor to other magazines. For many years he was the literary editor of the old New York Tribune and is the author of many well known works on art and artists.

For his subject at Slater Hall on Tuesday evening, May 5th, he will speak on James McNeill Whistler, the foremost American artist of the nineteenth century, generously illustrating his talk with slides. While relating personal and intimate reminiscenses of the painter, Mr. Cortissos treats of his dual personality, discussing him as Whistler, the serious painter and etcher, whose works deservedly survive, and also as Whistler, the vain man, the malignant wit and the author of the Gentle Art of Making Enemies.

One is never disappointed in the entertainments given by the Art Association, of which this promises to be among the very best. Do not miss this opportunity and regret it later. Slater Hall, Tuesday evening, May 5th, at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets $1.00 on sale at Cranston's and at the door.

Tells Ocean Depth

Quite recently there has been developed in the navy by Dr. H. C. Hayes a most ingenious and extraordinary mechanism by which the depth of water underneath a ship is found by the emission of a sound wave which is echoed from the bottom according to Science.

Not only does this method do away with the necessity of handling long lines and heavy weights, difficult in a rough sea, but it makes possible a record of scores of observations where only one was posible before, and in addition the observations are of greater accuracy.

Its practical value has received abundant confirmation on various transatlantic lines, in the preparation of a detailed contour map of the bottom off southern California, in a survey for a new Alaskan cable route and in other operations.

A San Francisco produce company has filed suit against a steamship company for putting its part of the cargo too near the engines, with the result that the produce company's 3,000 cases of Chinese eggs from Shanghai arrived mostly hatched out into chicks and the rest spoiled.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Holding to its tradition of annually reducing its debt, by however small a measure, the Brooklyn fire district, formerly a part of the borough of Danielson, ends another fiscal year today, April 30, with an actual debt of only $1,410.35, a matter of $24.18 less than the debt a year ago today.

The following statement of the fire district's financial condition, as prepared by District Treasurer C. Babson is as follows:

Statement of the financial condition of the Brooklyn fire district, as nearly as can be ascertained, April 30, 1925:

Brooklyn, Conn., April 30, 1925.

It is indicated that the New Haven road will lease at the end of its present rental arrangement for a section of the area, that section south of the passenger station where several public service cars have parking arrangements at present. This is understood to be the plan of the road and in line with arrangements it has in effects at various points along its system. All parking excepting by taxis reserving the privilege has been prohibited south of the station since last year and the rule remains in effect.

Tramps who approximate the status of the old time hobo, a familiar figure before the war, are making their appearance quite regularly, this spring. They are disreputable in appearance, seek their food by begging and sleep where night overtakes them—in a barn or elsewhere. The reappearance of the hobo is attributed by many to hard times in many sections of the east though work likely never has been a prime consideration with the specimens that are now making this circuit.

The National League of Girls' clubs is organized to advance the social and educational interests of girls, by means of self governing clubs and to increase the spirit of democracy and cooperation among its members. Any non-sectarian, self governing club aiming toward self-support is eligible to membership. Such a club is the Danielson Girls' club. Because it is desirous of having a greater number of people in the community share its advantages, the Girls club is inviting the younger employed girls to form a branch of the local club, having separate officers, program and organization, cooperating with the older club in ways of mutual benefit. Misses Kathleen Varney and Ethel Congdon have been made joint chairmen of a committee for the organization of a Younger Girls' club. Thursday evening, May 7th, the girls are to meet at the Girls' club rooms for the purpose of organization. It is expected that a large number of girls will come to the organization meeting. Many girls have expressed a desire for such a club and this is the attempt to meet the need.

Miss Gertrude Wilson from the National League of Girls' clubs, New York city, has been in town for two days of this week, cooperating with the local club in matters of program and organization. Monday evening she was entertained at supper by the cooking class of the club, after which she met the club at a special business meeting. Mrs. Hugh J. Carragher reported the meeting of the state directorate at Wallingford, to which Mrs. J. L. Renehan and Mrs. Carragher were delegates. Tuesday evening Mrs. Carragher and Miss Wilson met those girls interested in forming a younger Girls' club, in the rooms of the Danielson Girls' club. Plan were made for organization May 7th.

There's new arrangement at the postoffice for sending parcel post matter as first class mail. This is achieved by affixing a "special handling stamp" at an extra cost of 25 cents and plainly marking the package "Special Handling." If one desires stamps to the value of 25 cents may be affixed, over and above the regular postage rate, for forwarding any particular package.

The fad for radio receiving sets appear to be unabated & the smallest degree. Hundreds of sets have been distributed from Danielson during the past year and the sale of them and equipment for assembling sets is still a big item of trade. Particularly is there a good demand for sets in the smaller communities, which are without theatres, and out in the rural districts, where the reception usually is very good.

A search was being made all through this territory Wednesday for two suit cases and two traveling bags lost from the baggage compartment of one of the busses operating between Hartford and Providence via Danielson.

A number of Danielson men who happened to be in Putnam attending a meeting of Putnam lodge of Elks were spectators at the fire in the new Stroumbells building in that city, late Tuesday night.

Attention has been called to the fact that Carter street is without a fire hydrant. This is a well built up street and of considerable length. Property owners upon it have in mind the presentation of a petition to the warden and court of burgesses for the installation of a hydrant.

One in a series of Well Child conferences is to be held in the town hall building Friday afternoon. Parents interested in keeping their children healthy are being invited to bring them to this conference. The children are given physical examinations without charge and valuable suggestions and advice are also available without charge.

Danielson has done nothing definite, as a community, relative to a clean-up week. Nevertheless spring attention to properties is underway under individual inspiration and energy and the improvement is already great in the appearance of many home sites about town.

Certain insects that prey on gypsy moths and browntail moths are now en route from Europe and are to be introduced into eastern Connecticut as an aid to the state entomological department in holding in check or exterminating the destroying moths against which a fight has been waged for years. It is anticipated that the imported insects will prove a worthy ally of the state in the fight waged in this corner of the state.

JOSEPH JOHNSON'S BODY NOT YET TAKEN AWAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

[illegible] 29.—Something appeared to have gone amiss with the arrangements of his friends to remove the body of Joseph Johnson to Providence. Up to late in the afternoon they had not taken it away, as they left the impression they would arrange to do when they came here Monday and identified the dead man. Meanwhile no arrangements for burial have been made by the town, in view of the likelihood, since Monday evening, that either Johnson's friends in Providence or his relatives in Baltimore would attend to this important matter. In case the body is not claimed it will be buried at the expense of the town of Killingly. It was regarded as rather puzzling Wednesday that there was so much delay in removing the body to Providence or elsewhere for burial, in view of the fact that it was indicated Monday night that this would be done. Johnson died Monday morning of bullet wounds received while he was making a madman's attack of B. E. Terwilliger, of South Killingly.

PUTNAM

Edward Lauderback, one of New York city's leading attorneys, who had been engaged in the practice of law for fifty years and who was well known throughout the country, died a month ago and there is not enough money in his estate to pay the funeral expenses.

Mr. Lauderback is remembered by Putnam attorneys and court officials as he appeared in court in this city February 27, 1914, as counsel for Mrs. Nevada Van Valkenburg in her suit for divorce from Philip Van Valkenburg. She was known then as the Ten Million Dollar Widow. Although under 25, this was her third husband. She secured a divorce from him at this court and afterwards married the duke of Oporto. She lived in Pomfret for a while when she was the wife of Mr. Chapman, an elderly man.

The hearing was before the late Judge Milton A. Shumway of Danielson, and he granted the divorce on the grounds of desertion. Mr. Lauderback was a distinguished made a favorable impression on the court and was very friendly with the newspaper reporters.

The vault alarm on Putnam Savings bank created a stir when it clanged in the middle of the night about two months ago. Several persons on the gong started ringing again. On the previous occasion the police had hurried to investiate, only to find it a false alarm. This time they again hurried to the building, made a careful trip around the premises and finding every thing all right, notified the treasurer.

Miss Nellie Bloxham, matron at the Day Kimball hospital attended the meeting of the Connecticut Hospital association at New Haven.

Mrs. Charles White and grandson, Arthur White, of Attleboro, Mass., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Marryotte of Seward street.

Members of the basketball squad of Putnam High school have elected Alfred St. Onge, of the junior class, captain of the basketball team for next season. Patrick Cody will be manager. St. Onge won his letter at basketball in both his sophomore and junior years and is counted on to put up a strong game at forward next season.

There were three forest fires in East Thompson Monday night and the fire warden had to call out many men to help extinguish them. They worked nearly all night and many acres of woodland were burned. It is estimated that 500,000 feet of standing timber was destroyed.

Three Putnam men, Fred Gagne, Joseph R. Martin and Albert Beaulieu, indicted to Keach's road a few days ago and in a few hours caught 238 horned pout. This is one of the largest, if not the largest, string of pout ever caught in one time in this pond.

The Mechanicsville Athletic association is to open the baseball season this week when they play H. K. H. baseball team of this city on the High school grounds. Sunday afternoon, May 3, they will play the Central Village nine at Mechanicsville. They have games booked for every Sunday afternoon during the season.

The Fire Department was called to put out a fire in a dump near the Clair property on Park street, Tuesday morning. The fire was caused by a woman burning some papers and the department had to lay 800 feet of hose to extinguish it.

J. E. Brown, of the Sawyer district, has leased his farm to T. Pitkin. Mr. Brown has been a familiar figure on Putnam streets for many years but now feels that he can no longer continue his route because of his health.

Henry H. Davenport has returned from a visit to Harrisburg, Pa. His wife and daughter are making their home for the present their with their son.

Windham county Y. M. C. A. organization is rounding out its fourth year of service and making preparations for a banner fifth year. The Y. M. C. A. was organized in this county May 11, 1921, by State Secretary Harry Hedley Smith. Since that time it has expanded steadily.

The membership of the Y. M. C. A. during these four years has totaled over 1,000 boys. This number have been members of Y groups and participated in its activities. Some three hundred boys have taken advantage of the splendid vacation programme offered by Camp Woodstock, 500 or more have attended state or older boys' conferences, and an even greater number than this have taken part in track and field meets run under the supervision of the county Y. M. C. A. Many hundreds of others have been reached by the association message through father and son banquets, vocational guidance campaigns and other activities sponsored by the Y. M. C. A.

The work of administration is in the hands of a county committee of some fifty men, representing the various towns, villages and rural districts of the county. The committee maintains a county Y. M. C. A. office at Putnam and employes a full-time Y. M. C. A. secretary, who has charge of the organization of groups, their programmes of activities, and is expected to arrange, and supervise all of the Y. M. C. A. events for the county.

Monday, May 4, begins the annual finance campaign of the Windham county Y. M. C. A. This drive for funds to continue the work of the organization will last through one week, to May 9. Committees in all towns of the country will be hard at work throughout this week in an ernest endeavor to raise the budget of $6,600 apportioned among the several towns.

Harry Richardson of Mecsup is general chairman of the campaign, assisted by the following town chairmen: Putnam, Attorney E. C. Morse; Woodstock, Albert H. Williams; Thompson, E. S. Backus; Eastford, C. D. Tatem; Pomfret, J. Nelson Platt; Killingly, Burdette C. Hopkins; Plainfield, T. J. Seaton.

There will be several canvassers or solicitors under each chairman.

In the minds of many people of Windham county, Camp Woodstock on Black Pond, Woodstock Valley, stands as the best and most conspicuous example of Y. M. C. A. influence in the county. This camp, conducted by the Windham county Y. M. C. A. in conjunction with the organizations in Hartford and Tolland counties, was opened in 1922, and this summer will see its fourth season, with many improvements having been made during the winter months.

In the campaign conducted to secure money to purchase the camp property, Windham county people subscribed $2,541 and in addition contributed $2,500 toward the providing of cabins and an athletic field at camp. During the 1924 season at Woodstock, Windham county had ten tent leaders for a total of twenty-nine weeks, and fifty-one boys for a total of 116 weeks.

Boys of the county are already manifesting great interest in the 1925 camp season and applications are being received by the county secretary.

Besides the cabins and athletic field, the camp has received the gift of a new dining hall and new equipment for the infirmary, gifts of Tolland and Hartford counties respectively.

The dates for the 1925 season are June 26 to August 5, for boys and August 5 to 31, for girls, with Hartford county Y. W. C. A. in charge.

Provisions will be made this year for boys to pass Friendly Indian, Pioneer, Comrad and Boy Scout tests in connection with the educational programme and honor system, and for them to receive their regular rewards for the same. Many leaders of the highest standard have already been secured and a very successful season is anticipated.

The camp is located on Black Pond, Woodstock. The lake is beautiful and spring-fed. The camp site includes forty acres of farm and woodland and a very beautiful grove of pine trees on the shore of the lake.

The campers sleep in weather-tight tents or cabins. There is a farm house that provides facilities for a limited number of guests, and serves as camp headquarters. In addition a large dining hall, boats, canoes, cooking quarters, dock and an infirmary are provided.

J. H. Corbett, county secretary for Windham county is camp director and treasurer this year; E. T. Thienes, county secretary for Hartford county, will be assistant camp director and director of the leaders' training camp which precedes the regular periods. Frank B. Condon, Tolland county secretary, and J. V. Lamberton, industrial and physical secretary for Hartford county, will also be assistant directors. In each tent or cabin there are six to eight boys under the charge of an experienced older boy or man.

Plenty of wholesome food is provided and pure water is obtained from a spring. Swimming is under the supervision of an expert and is allowed only at stated hours. A special effort is made to have every camper become at least fairly proficient before he goes home. Water carnivals, swimming meets and boat races are on the schedule during each period. Frequent meets are conducted, the campers, being graded to secure even competition. There are also frequent hikes. Some social or educational event comes each evening after the twilight games, either around the campfire or in the shadow of the barn on rainy nights. Singing, minstrel shows, amateur vaudeville stunts, concerts, talks, etc., are provided mainly by the boys themselves. There are special camp religious services on Sundays with Bible study periods at intervals throughout the week. These services are under the charge of men competent and trained in directing religious work. All boys of the county between twelve and eighteen are eligible to go to camp.

PLAINFIELD

A real cold snap chilled the village Wednesday. Overcoats were taken out of closets, for winter was back again.

The Army and Navy post is planning a mass meeting at their club rooms Monday next. All ex-service men are being requested to be present. Commander Fred Provost of the post is having notices mailed to all eligible men in town. He will address the members of the post on Memorial Day.

Two car-loads of automobiles were unloaded at the freight depot Wednesday for a local garage.

A notice has been issued to the teachers of the town that they may attend the Field Day and Physical Training demonstration in Willimantic on Friday next.

The men of the electric power company were busy in town Wednesday repairing one of the high power feed lines.

All baseball practice was suspended Wednesday night on account of the change in the weather.

The rumble and roar of five large trucks hauling cement, sand and gravel from the loading pit at the depot to the mixer on the state highway, seems like times of old. Traffic, both pedestrian and automobiles, turn aside in order to let the big trucks by. The work on the highway is being rushed and the truck drivers have asked all automobile owners not to block the main street as every load of cement means so many more feet of good road.

A big crowd turned out to see the Chesser Girls' show at the Lily theatre.

Premier Hertzog, addressing the National assembly at Capetown, South Africa, opposed secession of the union of South Africa from the British empire.

f. o. b. factory

[with full-size balloon tires]

STUDEBAKER has $60,000,000 invested in plants in which Studebaker cars are manufactured complete, including all bodies, both open and closed. No other large automobile manufacturer that we know of makes all of his own bodies.

This means that Studebaker saves the profit of outside parts makers and body-builders. Thus the price of this new coach is not burdened by an extra profit. At $1295 it represents a value no other automobile manufacturer can equal.

And no other manufacturer can offer a coach of such fine quality at the price. For every coach that Studebaker builds carries with it traditions of fine craftsmanship that have existed in Studebaker plants since 1852.

Compare this coach with other cars which sell at much higher prices. This will prove that Studebaker values are unequaled.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

APPLICANTS FOR INSURANCE OFTEN REJECTED

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

BOOST WILLIMANTIC PLANS UNDER DISCUSSION

Willimantic, April 29.—An enthusiastic and highly successful Willimantic boosters' meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce hall Wednesday evening, with about 75 invited boosters in attendance. The meeting was in charge of Albert B. Smith, who explained a plan to give Willimantic a constructive programme for its own betterment and a leader. Other speakers were Prof. I. G. Davis of the extension department of Connecticut Agricultural college and L. R. Olin, formerly of this city, now advertising manager of the New Departure company of Bristol. Prof. Davis dealt with the social and economical relations which Willimantic has with surrounding towns. He pointed out several methods of combining more closely Willimantic and its suburban communities. In stating that the trade of these smaller towns should be centered here, he brought out that one aspect of the problem is to develop a "greater Willimantic community consciousness" in connection with these towns and to apply the development in all the elements.

Mr. Olin's talk was highly interesting and carried with it valuable information on the steps necessary to build up the industries and the social functions of the city. Mr. Olin gained wide reputation in the past in the campaign for a part which the local people inhabitants within 10 [illegible] addressed co-operation. He stated that the unit of the problem [illegible] as such a unit should take up the city for a better and bigger Willimantic and still not forget to speak in praising words the city even as it is to day. Ballou, of Jewett City.

SENATOR FESS FAVORS CHANGE IN SENATE LAWS

Washington, April 29.—Amplifying views relating to the Dawes proposals for revision of senate rules, expressed after a call today at the White House, Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, tonight declared he would "join any group of senators to revise the rules to require a senator to speak to the issue before the senate, giving any member the right to call any senator to order."

"Some senators are objecting to that rule," his statement continued, "because they say it cannot be enforced, but it can be enforced, as it is in the house.

"If the offending senator is not satisfied with the decision of the chair, he has the right to appeal to the senate.

"Of course, the appeal should not be open to debate. While this is not a gentlemanly rule, it will operate as such in that it prevents the tactics of a filibuster."

SAYS WHEELER BILL PRINCIPLES ARE NOT DEAD BY A LONG WAY

"When it was known that I was to talk upon the Wheeler bill, so-called," said State's Attorney Arthur M. Brown in speaking to the Men's club of the Central Baptist church at the club banquet at the church Wednesday evening, "I was asked why I didn't talk on a live subject. The Wheeler bill is said to be dead and one paper has written its obituary. But the great principle of law enforcement for which the Wheeler bill stood is not dead."

State Attorney Brown said the subject had been suggested to him in a conversation with Shepard B. Palmer, president of the club, who invited him to be the speaker at the banquet. He did not propose to discuss the merits of the 18th amendment or speak as an advocate or an opponent of prohibition, but he would speak from the standpoint of a man who believes that if this country is to live, he must obey its laws. The 18th amendment is there and if we do our full duty as citizens we must support it regardless of what our private opinions may be. It is legally a part of the constitution and it is our duty to support that amendment. Mr. Brown read an extract from the elector's oath and declared that we can do nothing less than support the constitution and the amendment if we are true to that oath and true citizens of this country.

Continuing State Attorney Brown said that the Wheeler bill was an attempt to assist in enforcement in support of this amendment. Experience had shown that the present law ought to be strengthened. Those who go their notions of the Wheeler bill from the newspapers got a great deal of misinformation, he said. The search and seizure provision in it was no worse than what we have now. Some of the objectionable features in it had been eliminated, such as the possession of a quart of liquor in a man's own home being prima facie evidence of violation.

The real thing that raised the storm was in making the buyer of bootleg liquor equally guilty with the seller. This bill was not the creation of Chief Justice Wheeler, but was drawn up by a committee of states attorneys, declared Mr. Brown, and he was given a prolonged round of applause when he stated emphatically that he had no apologies to make for anything he had done or said about the bill, he being one of the committee concerned with drawing it up.

This thing was pinned on Judge Wheeler, Mr. Brown continued, because his opponents knew that offered an argument that could be used effectively against him. He had been known to be an advocate of a stronger enforcement law and he had a right to [illegible] the state in his private [illegible] advocating this. The time will come when the people of the state will thank God for George Wheeler.

The great trouble was raised when the bill made the buyer of bootleg liquor equally guilty with the seller. Is there any distinction, the speaker asked. Is there any logical reason why the man who is willing to pay the fancy price to induce violation of the law is not just as guilty as the bootlegger."

The doctrine of nullification was freely and frankly talked on the floor of the house of representatives by the opponents of the Wheeler bill. It is a dangerous doctrine and once brought on civil war. When one body of men can pick out some particular law that they choose not to obey, some other group can say what they will not obey, and then where are we. This is a government of law, not of men. That has been well established.

The state attorney criticised severely the attitude taken by Lucius Robinson, of Hartford, president of the state bar association, when he boasted in opposing the Wheeler bill of breaking law by playing auction bridge for stakes and declaring that he could not be convicted by one of 'Alcorn's hand picked juries." State Attorney Brown contrasted this with the arrest and fining of a poker party in Norwich recently and said this made a dangerous situation where it offered opportunity to say there was one law for the rich and another for the poor.

Taking up the talk of conditions among the young people of the present day, State Attorney Brown declared that the trouble is right at home. If the father and the mother give the right example we won't have this trouble. The trouble with the young people is blamed on the prohibition law but the trouble lies with the example set by the fathers and mothers who won't obey the law, the speaker said. The father has his liquor in the house. He boasts of how he got it and his young son and daughter know it was a violation of the law. Can that father or that mother condemn the boy or the girl who drinks at dances or other places. They have placed themselves in a position where they have got to keep still and some day it will be [illegible] upon their souls.

It is our duty to support that amendment, not only by our own conduct, but by advocacy of legislation that will better enable it to be enforced. It is no excuse for disobeying law because it is difficult to enforce. It is our duty to bring about a cleaner, sweeter, better land. If there are not enough of us to do that, we will have to answer for it to the generations yet to come.

State Attorney Brown was listened to attentively throughout his address and was vigorously applauded as he concluded while a chorus of "He's all right," rang through the room when some one shouted, "What's the matter with Arthur Brown?"

Over 100 attended the banquet which was served at 6.30 by the ladies of the church with an excellent roast beef supper for the menu. The Sunday School orchestra played selections and Fred J. Maples was song leader. Thanks to the ladies were expressed by Henry E. Church upon motion of Judge John H. Barnes, and the words of welcome were expressed by the president of the club, Shepard B. Palmer, who delegated to Attorney Charles L. Stewart the task of introducing the speaker. This Mr. Stewart did in an extremely graceful speech in which he referred to State Attorney Brown as the leader of the bar in Eastern Connecticut and one than whom there was no one better qualified to speak upon topics that interest men.

MRS. F. A. MITCHELL PRESIDENT OF SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE

Waterbury, April 29—Mrs. Frank Mitchell, of Norwich was elected president for the coming year at the final meeting of the Connecticut conference of social work held here. Following a morning meeting at which Judge Abner P. Hayes, presided at the delinquency and correction round table, the election of officers was the feature of the closing session. It was decided that the 1926 convention will be held in Norwich and recommendation was made to the executive committee that between now and the next conference, two regional conferences be held in the smaller towns.

Other officers chosen are: Vice presidents, George S. Palmer, of New London; Mrs. John H. Buck, of Hartford; Rev. Matthew J. Judge, of Hartford, and Arthur Reed Kimball, of Waterbury; treasurer, E. Y. Messenger, of Norwich, and general secretary, Ralph Barrow, of Hartford.

The following were chosen as members of the executive committee: Charles Tyler Bard of Norwich; Abraham Broder, of New Haven; Miss Margaret F. Bulkeley, of Hartford; Miss Marjorie Cheney, of South Manchester; Otto W. Davis, of New Haven; Judge H. D. Day of Hartford; Mrs. Edward O. Douglas, of Stamford; Charles E. Dow, of Hartford; Mrs. Phillip Johnson, of Norwich; Charles P. Kellogg, of Waterbury; Clarence King, of Bridgeport; Eugene Kerner, of Waterbury; Miss Victoria Larmour, of Bridgeport; W. T. Lynch, of Hartford; Richard Mansfield, of New London; Rt. Rev. Monsignor M. H. Mac of Norwich; Miss Caroline De F. Penniman, of Middletown; Miss Margaret K. Stack, of Hartford; George L. Warren, of Bridgeport, and Mrs. C. E. A. Winslow, of New Haven.

NORWICH STOLEN CAR RECOVERED IN LISBON

A Ford coupe, belonging to J. Warren Kane of this city, which was stolen from near the Broadway theatre on Dec. 29th last, was found abandoned on a side road in the Newent section of Lisbon Wednesday by Officer Urquhart from the state police barracks at Danielson. The machine was taken to a Jewett City garage, where it was identified by Mr. Kane.

The battery had been taken out of the machine, the speedometer cable was gone, and the glass in the two windows back of the doors had been broken out. Otherwise the car appeared to be in good shape and it was the opinion of the garage men that it had been in use right along and had only recently been abandoned.

ACTING PRES. McKEEVER OF BROOKLYN CLUB DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

New York, April 29—Edward J. McKeever, part owner and, since the death of Charles H. Ebbetts, April 19, acting president of the Brooklyn National League Baseball club, died at his Brooklyn home tonight of pneumonia.

Mr. McKeever who was 62 years old, took charge of the club's affairs on the death of Charles H. Ebbetts, president, on April 19. He was vice president of the club, and his brother, Stephen W. McKeever, is treasurer.

The McKeever brothers bought a half interest in the team in 1912 when Mr. Ebbetts sought ready cash for the building of the present home field. During Mr. Ebbett's illness, throughout the past winter, Edward McKeever handled the affairs of the club and his death leaves the organization without an experienced head, as his brother, 70 years old, is not familiar with the details of management.

Both the McKeevers have been prominent in Brooklyn democratic politics for many years and about a quarter century ago Edward was a widely known turfman, conducting pari-mutuels at the old Brighton Beach race track. Later he became a successful contractor and handled numerous city enterprises. At the time of his death he was interested in a fertilizing plant in Atlantic City and had the garbage disposal contract from that city.

Stephen McKeever is the only surviving officer of the Brooklyn club which in late years is reported to have made a large amount of money after a series of reverses.

CHICK STANLEY LEADING HITTER AT CATHOLIC UNIV.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, D. C., Apr. 9—Chick Stanley, a Norwich product, has been performing in a sensational manner with the Varsity baseball nine at the Catholic University here this Spring. He is the most consistent batter on the club.

His timely hits have won many a ball game. It was his single in the ninth inning of the Boston College, with the bases loaded and two down, that earned the Brooklanders (as Catholic University is known in Washington) the victory.

His opportune base blows in the Gallaudet fracas enabled the Maroon and Black to annex this contest, while he has responded with bingles at critical stages in every other important game, especially Yale, Vermont, Harvard, Wake Forest and a few more.

Stanley has obtained more wallops than any member and is the premier swatsmith, leading in the matter of percentages and runs driven in. His amazing batting proclivities have attracted the attention of competent critics and a brilliant future has been predicted for him.

He does not take a vicious cut at the ball, nor is he of the powerful slugging type, but is content to meet the ball. Hardly have any of his hits been for extra bases. He simply meets the ball on the nose, with an easy and graceful motion.

He handles an outfield berth, patrolling the right-field section, and his sensational catches have prevented many possible runs.

AGGIES TO CLASH WITH MAINE TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, Conn., April 29—Coach Dole's Connecticut Aggie baseball team will play its second home game of the week tomorrow, when the University of Maine nine is met on Gardner Dow field at Storrs. Maine has played but one game this season, defeating Colby by a 9-3 score. Inasmuch as the Colby nine downed the State College combination yesterday, it would seem as though the Pine Tree Staters have an advantage over the Connecticut team. The Aggies are conceding them nothing, however, and the team will make a determined effort to break into the victory column tomorrow.

Oscar Nanfeldt, former New Haven High twirler, will start on the mound for Connecticut, with Wardle doing the backstopping. Coach Dole has announced no changes in his lineup over the team that started yesterday against Colby.

The Maine team, coached by "Cuddy" Murphy, former Dartmouth star now in his third year at Orono, has but four veterans, Gruhn at catch, Captain Stearns and Paul in the infield, and Newhall in the outfield are the only veterans that will start against the Aggies. Crotor, who will start on the mound is getting his first taste of varsity competition. Captain Stearns lead his team in batting, as well as in the field.

Connecticut's team finished their preparation for the Maine game with a session of batting practice here this afternoon.

WEATHER PUTS CURB ON KENTUCKY WORKOUTS

Louisville, Ky., April 29—The daily constitutionals of Kentucky derby eligibles, were curtailed by weather and tract conditions, few of the contestants being given fast trials through the mud.

Borderland and Needle Gun, two colts from the stable of William eZigler Jr., were breezed the Derby route of a mile and a quarter in 2:17 1-5. This probably was the most pretentious work of the day.

Captain Hal, A. A. Kaiser's great son of Black Toney, was out for a long gallop. He has been training nicely and his followers predict that the thoroughbred that beats him May 16 will wear the red rose wreath.

Quatrain, another prominent contender, took his setting up exercises easily.

Turf life's little mystery for the clocking brigade is being furnished by our general, (formerly Star Lore), another Zeigler colt. He was galloped again but has not been asked for anything in the way of speed. This colt looks as fit as any of the runners at the downs, but how fast he has worked is unknown to the clockers.

The influx of hopefuls from the east is expected to begin shortly. Tom Young, track superintendent, received telegrams to make room for Sumpter and Adolphus Bush's maiden colt, Chief Uncas. It is probable that Chief Uncas will make his debut at Jamaica before being shipped here.

Carroll Blanks Colgate

Hamilton, N. Y., April 9—Owen Carroll in the box and bunched hits in the first inning proved to be too much for Colgate and Holy Cross won the opening game of the Maroon season, 4 to 0, on Whitnall field here.

Holy Cross	300	100	000—4 5 0

Carroll and Doherty; Woodward, Schels and Barnes.

Sumpter is Withdrawn

Jamaica, N. Y., April 29—Sumpter, owned by Robert Odom was withdrawn from the Kentucky Derby. Mr. Odom said that he preferred to have the colt in shape for future three year old battles rather than to jeopardize its chances of hurrying training for the turf classic.

FABER DEVELOPING INTO STAR HITTER OF NEWARK CLUB

Frank Fagan, sport writer for a Newark paper has the following to say about the secret of Joe Faoer's hitting:

The faith one player maintained in the batting ability of another gives promise of producing the season's sensational gossip in the International League with [illegible] Dunn, Baltimore leader, gnashing his teeth and Clarence Pitt and Joe Faber, Newark players, appearing in the stellar role.

Dunn drew the curtain on Faber because Joe couldn't bat. Along with Ed Tomlin, Hal Clark and Pitt the Bear shortstop was shifted to Newark. Dunn might have had good intentions of helping his Newark cousins when he sent Tomlin, Clark and Pitt, but, from stories gained by scribes, Faber was looked upon as a handful of broken crackers thrown in with a child's purchase of first-class groceries.

Any player who can not sock the old apple in these days of the lively ball had better assume the role of the Arab who packed his tent and silently moved away. Dunn tried his darndest to make Faber a hitter. He would have been satisfied if Faber would had only taken a crack at the ball once in a while.

The Baltimore foreman realized that few shortfielders could cover as much ground with thoroughness, as Faber did, and he devoted much of his time in trying to find out what was the matter with his charge, even passing up several good dog shows. It was said, where he knew there were a few blue ribbons for his entries. But Dunnie couldn't do a thing with Faber, However, Pitt, a student of the game, could and therein lies the story.

Pitt Gave a Tip.

Pitt only saw Faber go to the plate a few times. He listened to Dunn giving instructions. "Stand this way. Now stand away from the plate and see what you can do," Dunn pleaded. But in the words of the Chinaman Joe could "no do."

Pitt and Faber were with Baltimore at the fag end of last season and Pitt did not get a chance to tell Joe what he believed was the matter. As soon as the pair got to High Point, N. C., however, Pitt whispered a few magic words to the shortstop. Lo and behold there was a new slam-bang artist in the Bears' lineup. Pitt had discovered Faber's weak point, and from the time he told him what the trouble was, the Baltimore cast-off was the leading hitter on the Newark team.

What was it that Pitt told Faber? The remedy was simple enough. Pitt saw Dunn change Faber's position so much without result that he figured it was time to look elsewhere for the defect. He found it in jig time. Under Dunn, Faber was choking his bat and taking a short cut.

"Hold your bat down near the handle, Joe," said Pitt.

Faber did as he was instructed and today pitchers in the International League have a new problem on their hands. Since the opening of the league season Faber has been hitting the ball harder and oftener than any man on the team. His drives are clean cut, well timed and when he meets the ball there is no doubt about the crack. Dunn will certainly have something to crow under over if Faber proves a hitting sensation.

BRAVES BEST DODGERS IN SLUGGING CONTEST

Brooklyn, April 29—Boston batted four Brooklyn pitchers hard and won, 10 to 3. Four bunched hits in the sixth, aided by an error by Herb Thormahlen gave the Braves five runs. Jess Barnes, formerly of the Giants, allowed the Dodgers twelve hits but was effective with the bases occupied. Score:

DEMPSEY REFERS COMMISSION TO KEARNS FOR ANSWER

New York, April 29—Jack Dempsey has referred the New York State Athletic commission to Jack Kerns, his manager, for its answer to the question of whether he was ready to fight Harry Wills his negro challenger.

Paying a friendly call on the body which a few weeks ago declared him ineligible to box in this state because he had failed satisfactorily to answer Wills' formal challenge, the heavyweight champion was questioned briefly as to the possibility of a Wills fight. To each query he replied:

"Jack Kearns is my manager. You will have to get in touch with him."

Dempsey was informed by the commission that there would be no interference with a Dempsey-Wills match in New York state. He was also asked as to his professional plans for the immediate future. His answer to each question was "see Kearns."

Jack was accompanied to the commission's offices in the Flatiron building by his wife, the former Estelle Taylor, moving picture actress. He arrived while the boxing authorities were in executive session and was obliged to wait 45 minutes before they were ready to receive him.

Asked his plans for a European trip, Jack said he expected to sail on the Berengaria next week, provided he could get the suite occupied by the Prince of Wales on the latter's trip to America last summer.

"You see," explained the champion, "I want to take Estelle over to Europe first cabin."

After the meeting, Mrs. Dempsey was introduced to the commissioners.

BULKELEY SWAMPS MERIDEN HIGH WITH AVALANCHE OF EXTRA BASE HITS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, April 29—Bulkeley broke into Connecticut High school competition with a crash this afternoon taking the highly touted George Washington High school nine of Meriden, into camp by a rather handy score of 11 to 3. A triple play, and some celebrated hitting by the entire Bulkeley team were the outstanding features of the contest. Meriden came, saw, but did not conquer, and Bulkeley assumed the same position that a lion in the jungle would after a victory over an enemy. It was a highly gratifying effort on Bulkeley's part prior to leaving for New York city.

The cold weather made pitching at least air tight pitching almost impossible. Both hurlers were lacking control. Montall, the Bulkeley hurler, passing several batsmen, while the Meriden pitcher was wild in a different respect. He threw base hits at the bats of the Bulkeley batsmen, and they took advantage of this fellow's thoughtfulness to maltreat him in a manner unbecoming such a benevolent person as this Brenner was. The Meriden coach thought he was getting altogether too friendly with the enemy and took him out in preference to Cerrello, a southpaw. Little attention was paid to Cerrello's slants and he too was treated with the same doss as his predecessor.

For a cold day the members of the two teams played fine ball in the field. At least this was true of the Bulkeley defense, which was air tight this afternoon, the first time this has been so since the season began. To cap the game with a suitable climax, a triple play engineered by Hutchison to Barry was one of the fielding features. The play came about in the third when Montall got himself deep in a hole by passing both Johnson and Vincent. With the count of 3 and 2, Gibson lined the ball straight into the hands of the Bulkeley third baseman, Hutchison, who in turn threw it to Barry at second. Johnson was forced off second and Vincent who was coming into the bag from first was tagged out by Barry completing the first triple play Bulkeley has engineered at any time.

Montall was in hot water at all times in the early innings but settled down later and pitched fine ball for the remainder of the game, getting ten strike outs in all. Meriden had two men on in the first inning but Bulkeley managed to evade trouble by retiring the side on ground hit balls. In Bulkeley's half of the first, Barry singled to left on the first ball pitched. Hutchison bunted so perfectly that he was perched on second before the pill was brought back to the playing field and Barry occupied third. Sheflott hit a sacrifice fly and Barry scored. Hutchison scored on a wild pitch.

Meriden evened the count in the second on Flatow's single and Del Vichio's triple to right field with two outs A wild pitch brought Del Vichio in. Bulkeley put the game on ice in the next inning counting six times. Some heavy hitting was done in this frame. Gaetano grounded out, and Mansfield flied out to right making it two outs. Parisi and Montall singled, and Barry brought them in with a single to center. Hutchison doubled, Sheflott and Booth hit home runs and Daniels added a double. There was some heavy hitting indeed with two outs Bulkeley added two more in the fourth and one in the eighth for their final score.

ACADEMY TEAM TO CLASH WITH ST STONINGTON TODAY

This afternoon at the Academy Campus the Stonington High team will open the Eastern Connecticut Interscholastic Baseball league against the local Academy team. Stonington this year is an unknown quantity and Coach Brigham is taking no chances of dropping this game to the wearers of the Brown and White so is sending in "Smiling Johnny" Greene to hurl them over this afternoon. Greene showed up exceptionally well against Bulkeley last week and is expected to be able to hold down the Stonington team with ease today.

The team must show more fight and better baseball than in the Bulkeley game if the Academy hopes to win the title in the Eastern Connecticut league. The local boys suffered from stage-fright in the Bulkeley game and as a result committed errors that they would not think of in any other game. Supporters of the Academy team although not having completely deserted the team are wavering and today's game will decide them. A defeat is not always a disgrace if a team goes down fighting but to give up the battle without trying is something that baseball fans cannot tolerate.

The lineup for today's game will probably be: Mish c.; Greene p.; McGowan 2b.; Cimikoski ss. Carroll 3b.; Hinricks lf.; Jarvis cf.; Busch rf.; Burke 1b.

DATES FOR LIGHTWEIGHT BOUTS ARE SET

New York, April 29—The New York State Athletic commission announced the date and the pairings for the next round of bouts in the lightweight championship elimination tournament which is to decide Benny Leonard's successor.

The fourth match card will be staged on May 18 in the Queensboro stadium, Brooklyn. Benny Valger of New York meets Solly Seaman, also of this city; Sammie Mandell, Rockford, Ill.; lightweight, engages Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo in another; and the third will bring together a South American boxer, as yet unnamed, and the winner of the bout between Tom White and young Brown, Mexicans, in Mexico City, next Saturday. The principals in the fourth contest will be Clonie Taft of Canada, and Olano, the Cuban lightweight.

Altar Boys Win First Game

The Jewett City altar boys defeated the Ashland team of Jewett City on Sunday by a score of 10 to 3. The Altar boys had the lead from the beginning of the game to the end. Liberty pitched a good game for the altar boys allowing but three hits. The altar boys have a pretty good team and challenge any team from 14 to 15 years of age. They would like to hear from the Crackerjacks or the Jail Hill Colonels from Norwich for a game in Jewett City.

PHILLIES GIVE GIANTS A SECOND TROUNCING

New York, April 29—Once again the New York Giants went down before the Phillies, 13 to 9, in a slugfest which endured for two hours and a half. Dean of the Giants and Fillingim of Philadelphia were knocked out of the box in the first inning. Score:

WEAVER HIGH BEATS WINDHAM IN SIXTH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, April 29—Windham High was defeated at Recreation park today by Weaver High of Hartford, 8 to 5. Haggerty of Windham pitched a good brand of ball and reserved a better fate but was handicapped by poor support on the part of his associates. Windham held a 3 to 1 lead up to the sixth inning. In this inning Weaver tallied five runs and three more in the eighth. Usher's hitting featured. The local third baseman cracked out a triple, a double and two singles in four trips to the plate.

HARTFORD POUNDS OUT EASY VICTORY OVER PONIES

Hartford, April 29—Hartford hit Braxton and Saunders hard in the first four innings and won from Springfield 7 to 2 today. The visitors made 12 hits but Johnson kept them scattered. Comiskey hit his second home run of the season over the center field wall. Score:

Springfield	.....000 000 020—2

PROFS TAKE 11 INNINGS TO DOWN BRASSCOS

Waterbury, April 29—New Haven defeated Waterbury 5 to 4 here in a game that went eleven innings before the winner was decided. Sam Kirshstein who handed a ball game to the Waterbury club in yesterday's overtime game came through with a single that won the ball game. The locals filled the bases in the ninth inning but failed to score. Score:

New Haven	.....001 100 011 01—5

Three base hits, Yordy, Thomas.

ALBANY BREAKS LOSING STREAK BY BEATING BEARS

Albany, N. Y., April 29—Albany broke its losing streak and at the same time stopped Bridgeport's run of victories by winning the second game of the series 5 to 2. A steal of home by Herman and a home run by Lucas featured. Score:

Bridgeport	.....010 000 010—2
Albany	.....000 031 01x—5

SENATORS TO RAISE PENNANT THIS AFTERNOON

Washington, April 29—The first world's championship pennant ever won by a Washington major league baseball team, evidence of the Senators' victory over the New York Giants last October, will be hoisted at Griffith stadium tomorrow prior to their first home game with the Philadelphia Athletcis.

President Coolidge is planning to witness the flag-raising ceremonies, which will be performed by the players themselves.

To Inland A. C. Team

Reading in Tuesday's Bulletin an article which mentioned that the Taftville All-Stars, failed to appear in Versailles on Sunday last, Apr. 26th., I would like to tell Manager Silvia that the All-Stars have been recently organized and had no scheduled game for that date but the All-Star's are ready to meet them if they will call 1973-3, Taftville, Friday at 7 p. m. Marius Reguin, Mgr. Taftville All-Stars.

A Challenge

The Medical Department and Chewink baseball team of the Submarine Base at New London, Conn. are looking for games with any Amateur or semi-pro teams in Eastern Conn.

Would like very much to hear from South Windham or Baltic.

If this challenge is accepted write Wm. E. Knepley.

Columbia Beats Cornell.

New York, April 29—Columbia evened up its count with Cornell by taking the second game of the quadrangle cup series, 5 to 3, here.

Score by innings:

SWEEPING AWAY WINS $10,000 CHESAPEAKE STAKES

Havre De Grace, Md., April 29—Sweeping Away, ridden by Johnny Maiben for the Xalapa Farms, went through a mile and a sixteenth of mud to win the $10,000 Chesapeake stakes, feature of the final day's racing here, in easy fashion. The time was 1:47 3-5.

Sweepink away took the lead at the quarter mile mark, increasing it gradually to win by four lengths, despite the efforts of Overah, and the Man o' War colt, By Hisself, which alternated in challenging for first place and finished in the order named.

It was a popular victory, the Xalapa three year old having been made the favorite upon the withdrawal of the Greentree Stable's Chantey, together with five other entries.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Mrs. Miles Was Miserable a Long Time—Owes Final Recovery to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dover, Ohio.—"After my last baby was born I was up and around again, but I was sickly all the time and did not know how to get my work done. I had washed a heavy carpet and I think that was the cause of my troubles. I went to several doctors, but their medicines did not do me any good. I asked what the trouble was, for I could hardly walk and always had such pains in my left side and then in my right side. He told me I had inflammation that caused it. I had one of your text-books and was reading it, and I thought I would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After four days of taking it I began to feel better, so I took three bottles without missing a dose. That helped me more than any other medicine I had yet taken and I always have it handy now. It surely did put me on my feet again."—Mrs. JAMES MILES, 419 Cherry Street, Dover, Ohio.

You must believe that a medicine that helps other women will help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

MYSTIC

A special meeting of Mystic Grange No. 171, P. of H., was called Tuesday night by Worthy Master J. W. Pollard, for the purpose of conferring the third and fourth degrees on a class of 12 candidates. The night had to be changed from the regular meeting night which would have been May 7, to accommodate the Groton Grange degree team which conferred the degrees. The best arrangements that could be made was to serve supper in G. A. R. hall at 6 o'clock (standard time) and then march to Odd Fellows hall on the other side of the river for the degree work. The tables were handsomely decorated in green and yellow. A supper of boiled ham, escalloped potatoes, baked beans, brown bread, rolls, cake and coffee was served. At the first table 105 were seated and about 50 at the second table. After the supper headed by the platoon of police James Johnson, of Groton on side, and John Jeffrey of Stonington side, officers of Mystic Grange, degree team and visitors of Groton Grange, carrying the new flag, members and visitors, with automobiles in the rear completed a line that reached from G. A. R. rally to Odd Fellows hall. Worthy Master Pollard called the grange to order. State Assistant Stewart Charles M. Adams of Groton escorted the Groton degree team in and they conferred the degrees in a manner that won hearty applause. Visitors were present from Westerly, Groton, North Stonington, Ledyard, Stonington, Ashaway and Colchester granges. Compliments for the splendid supper served were paid Mrs. Frank Chesbro and her committee and several assistants. The cakes auctioned by Stephen Austin created fun.

Mrs. Mary Gorton was in Groton Tuesday to see her mother, Mrs. John MacDonald who is seriously ill.

Harry Gleason was a caller in Groton Tuesday.

The monthly covenant meeting of the Baptist church is to be held Friday evening.

Mystic Rebekah lodge for next Friday evening has planned a minstrel show and has given each member the privilege of inviting to guests so a large attendance is expected.

Mrs. Edgar Chapman of Westerly was present at the Grange meeting Tuesday night.

The Sons of Veterans, held their meeting in G. A. R. hall Tuesday night.

Manning Miner has been screening in the porch which he recently built for Misses Joanna and Rachel Burnett.

STONINGTON

The new time table of the N. Y. N. H. & Hartford road give Stonington quite a boast but gives little better service as far as trains stopping here go. Letters which are left at the office after the departure of the Gilt Edge express do not arrive in Westerly until 11 a. m. the following day. The westbound Colonial in the morning is the only improvement noticed over the winter schedule.

Bearers of the funeral of Mrs. Ora Hart Palmer, Monday afternoon, were B. J. Gardner, Jerome S. Anderson, Henry B. Noyes, Francis J. Connors, August O. Muller and Charles O. Ryan. Dr. Gallup, pastor of the Second Congregational church conducted the services and Rev. Dwight C. Stone of Hanover assisted. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery, north of the borough.

Burgess Henry A. Muller was a business caller in Waterbury Wednesday, making the trip by automobile.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry M. Thompson were visitors in Hartford Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Judkins and daughter Lucy left recently for Lewistown, Me., where they have a residence, after a visit here, with relatives.

All dogs must be registered by tomorrow (Fri.) the 1st day of May.

A meeting of Asylum lodge, No. 87, A. F. & A. M. took place Tuesday evening. District Deputy W. M. E. H. Norton, of North Winchester, was present and degree work took place. A crowder was made by J. E. Staplin and served under his direction.

The Massachusetts senate passed the so-called drunken driver bill which provides imprisonment for any person on his second conviction for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

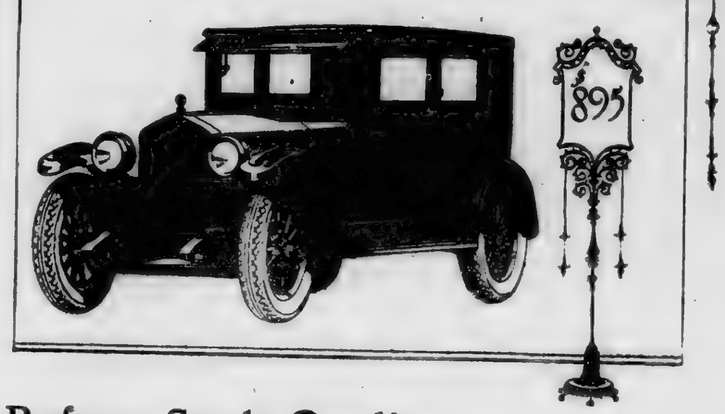
The finest ESSEX ever built



Never Before Such Quality at or Near the Price

ESSEX COACH $895
Freight and Tax Extra

Today's Essex is the finest ever built. It is the smoothest, most reliable Essex ever built. It is the best looking, most comfortably riding Essex ever built. And the price, because of volume, is the lowest at which Essex ever sold.

Its overwhelming public acceptance confirms by actual sales supremacy the outstanding leadership of Essex value. Never was that position so clear, and so rightly deserved as today.

Essex won its great recognition on the issue of finest quality, performance and utility without useless size, weight or cost.

And with its low first cost and operating economies, you get qualities of long-lasting, reliable performance, smoothness and riding ease.

Essex requires little attention to keep in top condition. Its maintenance cost, we believe, is the lowest of any car in the world. You sacrifice no motoring pleasure, comfort or good looks that large, high-priced cars can give. Essex is nimble of action. It is easily handled in crowded traffic, responsive to every call for power or speed. And with it you know all the satisfaction that comes with its distinction as a fine and beautiful car.

Can any other car within hundreds of dollars of the price satisfy you so well?

WHEELER POLLUTION BILL WAS NOT CONSIDERED IN HOUSE AS EXPECTED

(Special to the Bulletin)

Hartford, April 29—It was rumored that the "Wheeler" pollution bill would come in today, but it did not appear. The committee has reported all the other bills, seven in all, relating to this subject. It is said that the committee has amended the bill as introduced by inclusion of towns. Except for the fact that towns are included the proposed bill is practically the same as the one that received a packet from Governor Lake.

This bill is so drawn, however, that the first efforts in cleaning up the streams of the state will be directed against the manufacturing interests. The proposed act provides that injunction proceedings shall not be brought against a town to prevent pollution by sewage from the town until it is shown that such sewage contains no manufacturing waste.

Members of the committee say this will make it impossible for a factory to avoid the charge of polluting water by discharging waste into municipal sewers instead of directly into the stream or lake.

It provides for a commission of three members, who are to have an office provided by the state and power to engage experts. Orders of the commission are to be enforced by injunction proceedings, although provision is made for adoption by the polluter of devices recommended by the commission as a means to stop pollution.

A lively fight was precipitated in the house this morning over the report of the judiciary committee reappointing Judge Young, judge of the police court of Stamford. The house adopted the report but the senate rejected it. This will necessitate a committee of conference, who will have to settle the matter if they can.

HOUSE

At 10.33 Speaker Darbie called the house to order and prayer was offered by the house chaplain, Rev. Arthur Lewis.

The favorable report of the judiciary committee appointing Samuel Young, judge of the city court of Stamford was opposed by Representative Frank B. Gurley of that city. He said that both of the representatives of Stamford were opposed to the appointment of Judge Young. He was old and had held the appointment for twenty years. It was seldom that he was able to open the court at the appointed time. The position demanded a more active man. He was of the opinion that the wishes of the people of the city and of the representatives should be respected. Judge Averill of Branford defended the report of the committee. He said that the opposition to Judge Young was caused by his refusal to reappoint the present prosecutor of the court. Mr. Gurley said that a petition was signed by 30 of the attorneys of Stamford against the appointment of Judge Young and in favor of Matthew Kenealey. He offered a resolution appointing Mr. Kenealey, but it was ruled out of order. He needed that the vote must be taken upon the direct report. Representative Thornbill of Brookfield supported the committee report. Miss Cheney of Manchester said that at the hearing it was brought out that the people of Stamford were opposed to Judge Young whoever else might be named.

Mrs. Emery, representative from Stamford, said that the wishes of the community and its representatives should be respected. No one is better qualified to judge the qualifications of a judge than the attorneys who practice before the court. Representative Stingers of Woodbury, supported the report of the committee. He claimed that the opponents of Judge Young had no argument against his appointment. He considered him fully competent to perform the duties of the office. Representative Judge Hoyt, of New Haven said it was a matter in which he was interested. If it was true as has been stated that the judiciary committee was not interested in politics, it was time for the assembly to take a rest.

The representatives from Stamford should be considered. They are representatives of the people of the town. Mrs. Emery said that Judge Young had never dreamed that he had entered into a deal to secure the appointment. His appointment is not desired by the people of that city.

Representative Lynch of Orange, believed that the report should be sustained. Clark of Haddam, moved the previous question the vote as decided by the speaker was doubted by Mr. Gurley but a rising vote sustained the speaker.

The vote taken was declared by the speaker to be in favor of the report. This being doubted a rising vote of 118 yeas and 36 nays sustained. Richard H. Deming was elected judge and James B. Henry, deputy judge of the town court of West Hartford.

Unfavorable reports were received from the appropriations on acts: Providing $100,000 for an aviation field at Stratford; an act making an appropriation of $600 to the Groton Monument association for repairs and maintenance; acts concerning fire proof stair walls at Willimantic Normal school; appropriations for traveling librarian.

An act appropriating $10,000 for the prevention of occupational diseases.

An act providing an appropriation of $250,000 of highway running from Plainville to Unionville. An act appropriating $100,000 for purchase of land at the Niantic Military camp. An act appropriating $10,000 for the control of cancer. An act amending the Public Library statute and making an appropriation of $10,000. Also an act concerning expenditures of the Public Library committee. An act providing for the appointment of botanist of Agricultural Experiment Station to the State Pathologist. An act appropriating $4,000 to associations formed for the study of agriculture. An act appropriating $10,000 for care and maintenance of oyster spawning beds. The jurdiciary committee were against the licensing of landowners.

A large number of favorable reports were made and the bills were ordered printed and placed on the calendar. Among them was one making an appropriation of $3,000. for fire escapes at Willimantic Normal School.

The maintenance budget for the courts, executive officers and state institutions was presented, that new construction and repair appropriations would be presented later. The judiciary also presented with a favorable report, the bill increasing the gasoline tax to 2 cents per gallon. also the bill increasing the tax on advertising signs.

Bills on the calendar concerning concentrated commercial feeding stuffs, and amending the charter of the Central Connecticut Power and Light Company were tabled. Bills concerning powers of the Pharmacy commission and manufacture and sale of ice cream.

The bill presenting an act concerning highway improvement and the layout of highways by the Highway commissioner provoked a spirited debate, which ended in the bill being tabled.

Other matters passed were:

Representative Wheeler in the chair.

Substitute for H. B. No. 93. An act concerning reserves of banks and trust companies operating under the laws of this state which are members of any Federal Reserve Bank.

Substitute for H. B. No. 253 An act concerning the Humane Transportation of Live Poultry.

H. B. No. 987. An act amending an act concerning special meetings of corporations.

H. B. No. 686. An act repealing an an act concerning highway improvement and the layout of highways by the highway commissioner.

H. B. No. 988. An act concerning Aviation.

H. B. No. 990. An act making an appropriation for certain teachers having retired prior to the year 1917.

House adjourned at 1:35, till Thursday at 10:30.

THE SENATE

The senate was called to order at 10.25 (standard time) by Lieutenant Governor Brainard. Prayer by Chaplain Ayer.

The committee on appropriations reported favorably on the appropriation of $50,000 for the maintenance and establishment of trade schools in addition to the amount appropriated under the general statutes. Calendar.

The committee on appropriations reported favorably on a bill fixing the compensation of deputy sheriffs attending courts at $6 a day but no deputy sheriff shall receive more than one day's fee for his attendance at court in any one day. Calendar.

On the unfavorable report of the committee on appropriations the senate rejected a bill for an appropriation for the construction of overhead or underpasses on highways. The bill was rejected.

Fifty-eight Hours a Week

The committee on labor reported favorably on a substitute bill concerning the employment of women and minors. It provides that no public restaurant, cafe, dining, barber shop, hair dressing or manicuring establishment or photograph gallery shall employ any minor under sixteen years of age, or any woman between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, or more than 58 hours in one week. The hours of labor shall be conspicuously posted in the establishment in the manner provided by the commissioner of labor. The provisions of the act shall not affect hotels. Any person violating the law shall be fined not more than $100 The bill was tabled for calendar.

An unfavorable report was received from the committee on labor on the bill to regulate the employment of mechanics and laborers employed on public works. The bill was rejected.

A bill was reported by the committee on appropriations continuing the committee appointed to investigate the operation of the ballot law and extending the scope of its duties and directing it to report to the next general assembly. The bill provides an appropriation of $2,000 to meet the expenses of the commission. Calendar.

Jimmy Has an Adventure

That's sometimes bad and sometimes nice.

—Jimmy Skunk.

Jimmy Skunk was a very good father and liked to walk out with his family and show the youngsters where good things were to be found. But he still liked to slip off by himself once in a while. You see, he had been by himself so long that he had grown rather independent. The family was all right, but once in a while a fellow does like to be by himself. Then there is nothing to worry about. So once in a while Jimmy would leave the family and go off adventuring by himself.

He didn't consider it adventuring. Jimmy is such an independent little chap, so unafraid that it is rarely that he has a real adventure. You know every one steps aside for him. It is only when food is scarce and Hooty the Great Horned Owl is very hungry, so hungry that he cares nothing for Jimmy's little bag of scent, that Jimmy feels that necessity for watching out. It is then that sometimes he knows what real adventure is.

But one night Jimmy had a new and very real adventure. He had slipped away by himself early in the evening and to make sure that he would be by himself the rest of the night he had gone farther than usual. He had gone too far for those children to follow. So it was that presently he came out on a road that cut through the Green Forest. It was an old road not very much used. Jimmy turned and ambled along in a rut.

He had gone only a little way when he heard behind him a strange sound. He looked back. Far down the road were two glaring eyes, the biggest eyes he had ever seen. Even the great eyes of Hooty the Owl were small beside these.

Jimmy wondered. But he wasn't afraid. He turned and ambled on. Suddenly it became light, as light as day around him, and for a short distance ahead of him in the road. At the same time there was the most awful noise behind him. Again Jimmy looked behind. Those big eyes had become like great moons and almost blinded him with their light. He couldn't see very clearly because of them. But he made out that they belonged to some great monster that filled the road from side to side and that ran along the road. Never had he dreamed that such a monster could exist.

If Jimmy was frightened he didn't show it. No, sir, he didn't show it. At first he couldn't imagine what that thing was making such an awful noise for, but as it drew nearer and began to move more slowly he understood. That monster was trying to frighten him out of the road.

"Humph!" muttered Jimmy to himself. "If he thinks he can scare me by noise he has another think coming to him. If he isn't afraid of me what is he trying to scare me for? What is he slowing up for? He is just like all the rest of them—afraid of me. I've a perfect right on this road. I'm not taking up much of it. If that critter wants to pass me let him go around me."

So Jimmy continued to amble along in the rut at his leisure. You know he never hurries. Every few steps he would pause and look behind to wonder at that great creature with the flaming great eyes. And behind Jimmy an automobile crawled along honking and honking for Jimmy to get out of the way. At last the road widened ever so little and the driver of the automobile pulled out and as he afterward said, "with his heart in his mouth," passed Jimmy. Jimmy ambled along without more than a glance, attending strictly to his own business.

When the car had passed the driver sighed. It was a sigh of relief. As for Jimmy Skunk, he turned up his nose. "What an awful smell!" he exclaimed.

YOUNG NEW LONDON BOOTLEGGER TRAPPED AT CHESTERFIELD DANCE

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, April 30—Cornelius Walker, 19 Birdsenberg Avenue, was taken into custody at Chesterfield late last night by State Police Officers Henry Albright and Edward Murphy, charged with violation of the liquor law. He was brought to New London and lodged in a cell at the police station, and this forenoon Walker was taken to Montville and presented before Justice of the Peace Oscar Church. Walker pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs, which he paid.

Walker has long been suspected by the state police of distributing liquor among attendants at dances, but only in Chesterfield, but other small towns adjacent to New London. There being a dance at Chesterfield last night, Officers Albright and Murphy were assigned to make an effort to detect the suspect in his alleged operations. Albright and Murphy were at the dance hall early and shortly after 9 o'clock Walker appeared at the place. Murphy was in civilian attire and during the course of the evening he engaged in conversation with Walker with the result that the officer gained the confidence of Walker and was rewarded for his efforts by purchasing a bottle of liquor from the New London young man. With the bottle in possession of Murphy and the money having been accepted by Walker, the officers placed Walker under arrest.

Frank Perry, driver of fire apparatus of the C. L. Ockford company, is not apt to beat his wife again for some time. Mrs. Perry has borne him two children, the younger being two months old. She has taken his abuse without making known to the public what she has suffered until yesterday when she told her troubles to the prosecutor and displayed a badly discolored eye and bruises on the flesh of her arms that showed the marks of the fingers of her husband. The prosecutor told the story of the abuse of the wife and mother to Judge Prince in the police court today. It was such a recital as warranted the prosecutor in describing Perry as a brute and the prosecutor asked the court to administer a penalty that would bring the offender to his senses and make him realize what his duties were to his wife and to his family. No testimony was taken in the case as Perry was represented by an attorney and demurred to the complaint. The attorney made such defense as was possible by saying that Mrs. Perry was a nervous and impetuous woman who was displeased with all that was done by her husband. Her conduct had been such toward him that he was forced to resent it. It was claimed that the wife attacked him like a tiger and that then Perry only pushed her away. In doing this she became more impulsive and renewed her attack. Once, he said, the husband had complained to Prosecutor Cronin of the woman's behavior. The lawyer said the woman bit her husband on the arm on one occasion, and that she accused him of keeping company with other women. That gave the prosecutor his chance and he disclosed that the wife had bitten her husband when he was attacking her and she grabbed his arm to stop him and buried her teeth in his arm as using the only defense a weak woman had against a man of the powerful physique of Perry. He held that was justified in the opinion that Perry was running about with women and asked what other conclusion could a wife come to when her husband was away from home night after night till the small hours of the morning.

Judge Prince called Perry to the bench and warned him that in fixing the penalty for his brutality and his most offensive conduct the degree of leniency bestowed in suspending the execution of the jail term he was acting on the statement of Mrs. Perry that she needed the support which his earnings would bring to her and she asked that Perry should not be imprisoned. Judge Prince termed Perry a brute who should not have the society of decent people and who was devoid of the intelligence and the dignity expected in men generally. He warned him that the first information that came to him that Perry was running about with women would bring a revocation of the suspended judgment and that he would go to jail to stay during six months. No castigation has been administered in the police court in many years.

The deed transferring the property, corner of Pequot avenue and School street owned by Max Fern and damaged by fire several months ago, and which was sold to Contractor Michael L. O'Connell recently, was received for record at the office of the city clerk this afternoon.

Mrs. Annie Guiliani, 19, wife of Alvin Guiliani, a bride of but 20 days, died late last night at her residence, 332 Jefferson avenue, death resulting from a brief illness of pneumonia. Besides her husband, Mrs. Guiliani is survived by her father Serincalo Alviani. Mrs. Guiliani contracted a severe cold a few days ago and the first of the week pneumonia developed. Her condition immediately became critical.

The body of Charlie Sing, local Chinese, a resident of Golden street, whose death occurred at Lawrence hospital yesterday, was forwarded to New York last night for burial in that city today.

Miss Agnes Moynihan, 27, daughter of Patrick Moynihan, 38 Eastern avenue, died last night at Uncas-on-the-Thames, Norwich State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at which institution Miss Moynihan had been under treatment for a long time. Miss Moynihan was well known and was graduated from St. Mary's Parochial school with the class of 1912.

The police of Chicago have communicated with the New London police in reply to an inquiry made by the local authorities as to the alleged existence of the National Retailers' Advertising association in the former city, the latter stating that no such concern is known there. Recently a man representing himself as "P. J. Coyne" and employed by the National Retailers' Association appeared in New London and during his stay here was successful in passing several worthless checks on merchants.

The police have investigated the report made to them by Mrs. C. W. Tennant, 720 Watchung avenue, Plainfield, N. J., that her cottage, 15 Peninsula avenue, Ocean Beach had been damaged recently, the rear stairway and railing being carried away, presumably by a truck. The investigation has revealed that the damage was occasioned during the winter in a storm when ice from Alewife cove was carried against the stairway, causing it to collapse.

There is no change today in the condition of Linwood Smith, 33, of 44 Franklin street, and employed by the Connecticut Power company's construction department, as a result of Smith attempting suicide at the submarine base late Monday afternoon, by sending a bullet into his head. Smith remains in an unconscious condition at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital where little hope is held out for his recovery. Relatives of Smith have not been located.

Edward Devine, a deckhand employed on the New London line steamer Richard Peck, appeared at the police station this evening and delivered to the police the effects of Patrick Moran. The later was a deckhand on the steamer, who was recently committed to the Norwich State hospital, after having gone insane and who gave the police a rugged battle when Moran was taken into custody at the pier of the steamboat line. Moran's condition has improved very slightly since he was admitted to the institution, but it is doubtful if he ever regains his mental strength.

William Bauer, 119 Thames street, complained to the police tonight that while his little son was at Williams park, the child's bicycle was stolen, presumably by one or more youths, who were in the vicinity where the wheel had been left.

A big five-ton truck, owned by the P. M. & A. H. Chappell company crashed against a pole of the Connecticut Power company, at Ocean avenue, this afternoon and a mammoth transformer and some of the wires were dislodged from their supports and fell to the highway. The accident was reported to the power company and a repair gang succeeded in placing the tarnsformer and wires back in position before nightfall. The truck was but slightly damaged.

The Keybrook Manufacturing company, Jefferson avenue, maintains a building for their employes to use for athletics. Last night the place was entered, for when employes appeared to start their work today it was discovered that a basketball, punching bag and set of boxing gloves had been stolen. Sergeant John Cavanaugh was assigned to the case and his investigation revealed that the crook entered the building through a section of the structure fro mwhich a board or two had been removed and that the theft was undoubtedly committed by boys.

The police tonight are making a search for Hercule Lavesque, 17, who is wanted by the police of Warwick, R. I. Levesque is suspected of having stolen an automobile. A garage in Warwick was entered Tuesday night and a Ford touring car stolen, the machine bearing Rhode Island registration, 40179. Suspicion pointed to Levesque as the thief and a request was made of the New London police to be on the lookout for Levesque, who was recently discharged from the navy here, having been stationed at the submarine base. Levesque is described as about five feet, nine inches in height and weighs about 135 pounds. When he disappeared Levesque had on dark clothes and wore a cap.

Victor Kuja, of Niantic; Mrs. Harold Lewis and infant son, of Groton; Mrs. Kate Crocker, Hotel Mohican and Dr. Elizabeth Lawrence Huntington street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were dismissed today.

WATERFORD SLOT MACHINES ORDERED DESTROYED

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, April 29—At Fireman's hall, Waterford, this afternoon, Justice of the Peace Frederick L. Goss ordered that the eight slot machines seized recently in raids upon stores in Waterford be destroyed. As a result the state police will cause the machines to be demolished within a day or two. The court also ordered that the money found in the machines be divided equally between the state and the town of Waterford.

Prior to the edict of the court the continued case of Tony Sabilio, of Graniteville, one of the proprietors of the stores where machines were found pleaded guilty to maintaining a gambling device and was fined $10 and costs. The same penalisation as was imposed upon the seven others, who were convicted earlier in the week.

But one more case remains to be tried, that being William Hendrickson, proprietor of a store at Station 17. Hendrickson who is a member of the board of relief, asked continuance of his case until Friday and the request was granted.

NORWICH TOWN

The mid-week prayer service of the First Congregational church is to be held this (Thursday) evening at 7:30, standard time, in the chapel parlor. The topic assigned to this date, is Self-Control Galatians 5:16-24.

Rev. G. G. McGee and choir of Mt. Calvary Baptist church, will have charge of the Sunday afternoon service at the Sheltering Arms.

First Friday devotions are to be held at the Sacred Heart church Friday, with the regular daily mass at 7 o'clock in the morning and devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, at 7:30, that evening. All services are on daylight saving time.

Upon invitation of the Fellowship Circle of Versailles Methodist church, the First Congregational Christian Endeavor society, is to go by automobiles to Versailles Sunday evening to attend services there. Those who are planning to attend will meet at the Congregational church that evening at 6:30 o'clock (daylight saving time).

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Swift and family moved Tuesday to their recently purchased home on Washington St. The house, which is a new structure is one of the modern type built during the past year, on the former General Harland estate, being situated next to the homestead.

Mrs. Hattie Rudge who has been visiting for nearly a month at the home of her son, William Rudge, of New Rochelle, returned to Norwich Town and was the guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Peck of Otrobande avenue. During this week Mrs. Rudge was the guest of friends in Colchester for several days.

A letter of acknowledgement was received recently from the Congregational Home Missionary society of New York City for a box of clothing sent by the Home Missionary Society of the First Congregational church, Mrs. Herbert L. Yerrington, president.

Following is the letter which was sent to Mrs. Sarah W. Chapin, secretary of the local society: Please accept our thanks for the box of clothing. Some of it is on its way to the home mission field, but the knit things and flannel garments are to be kept for colder weather. I am sure that every article will be put to good use and that there will be many grateful folks in some of the out-of-the-way corners of our country. Very cordially yours, M. Priscilla Chase.

Miss Chase is assistant to Miss Miriam L. Woodbury, secretary of the Woman's department.

CHILD HEALTH DAY FOR FIRST OF MAY

This week ushers in May Day, set aside by every state in the union as Child Health Day, says the weekly health bulletin issued Tuesday by the state department of health. The bulletin says: Children will claim the center of the stage with plays and festivals and pageants and Maypole dances, and adults who are still children will catch the spirit and join in the fun.

There is a thrill to this day which no other event can call forth for the interest is nation-wide and mothers and fathers and leaders north, south, east and west are, in unison, pledging themselves to the Health of the Child.

It is well to pause and ask what is the real meaning of such a day. To the child it means just another merry day when he can throw himself into his make-believe world with abandon, and sport there with elves and fairies and weird figures of his imagination. Play is the essence of life to the child and it is bound to express itself even if the green fields are not at hand and he must make use of city streets and dirt trodden plots.

To the community it means play grounds for the children, beautiful grassy spots which will bring joy into their lives. It means protection on the streets from traffic which is ever increasing in amount and in speed. It means clean well lighted, well ventilated school rooms, with safe drinking water and a nourishing school lunch for those who live so far distant that they must spend their entire day at the school. It means school medical inspection and so safeguarding their health against the spread of communicable diseases, and teaching the principles of health which shall function as health habits in their daily lives.

To the home it means surroundings and living conditions which will foster the health of the children. It means fresh air, and proper food, and quiet and rest and an atmosphere of happiness. It means the right start in life for the babies through careful control of the mother's health, and an understanding of the health needs and difficulties of infancy. It means laying the foundation for health through correct habit formation in the pre-school period, that age when habits are so firmly established.

To the welfare organization whether public or private, it means establishment of health centers where mothers can bring their children for health examinations, and obtain advice about their care so that they may grow up strong and healthy. It means milk stations where safe milk for babies may be obtained at low cost by those who are financially unable to provide an adequate supply.

It means the proper care of those children who are physically handicapped or socially unfortunate, so that their lives may be directed into paths of usefulness.

Let us dedicate May Day to the health of the children and register a vow that we will stand back of all forms of child health activities in our community and our state to the end that our children may enjoy the highest degree of health.

Even the man who denounces capital as a curse never objects if the curse comes home to roost.

Grandmother Knew

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Skinny Woman Asserts She Gained 15 Pounds In 5 Weeks

Wants To Tell Every Skinny Woman In The World About It

The greatest strength-giver and producer of good healthy flesh is Cod Liver Oil. It's full of vitamines.

But it's nasty stuff—ill-smelling and hard to take, and usually upsets the stomach.

Thank goodness! we don't have to take the liquid any more, for now Lee & Osgood and all druggists are selling McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, sugar-coated and as easy to take as candy, so now you can get the real Cod Liver Oil in condensed form and get just the same results as with the horrible smelling liquid.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in thirty days—why, money back and no quibbling about it, either.

But be sure—very sure—to get McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—original and genuine.

POTASH CASE IS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The case of Stuart et al., trustees, vs. The American Potash Co., of Nebraska, against The American Agricultural Chemical Co., which formerly had offices in New London, was settled out of court in New London Wednesday.

The case, which last week occupied the attention of Judge Edwin C. Dickenson and which was resumed Tuesday, came about over a claim by the plaintiff for damages of $175,000 which alleged that the defendant occasioned them to lose in profits when the defendant cancelled the remainder of an order of 10,000 tons of potash salts after a number of deliveries had been made. The defendant claimed the right to cancel.

Attorney Carl Foster represented the plaintiff and Attorneys Day and Berry of Hartford and Charles B. Whittlesey of New London were counsel for the defendants.

MADE CHARGE OF DRIVING RECKLESSLY

On complaint of reckless driving made against Carl De Pucchio by Israel Henkin and Philip Korr, Officer Gwasdowski arrested De Pucchio and he will appear in the city court to answer to the charge. The two complainants made their charge after a collision between automobiles in Burnham Square Wednesday morning.

CUTICURA HEALS ECZEMA ON FACE

In Rash, Spread to Scalp, Itched and Burned. Face Very Sore.

"Eczema broke out in a rash on my face and later spread to my scalp. The rash scaled over and sore eruptions formed. It caused a great deal of itching and burning and my face was very sore. The trouble lasted three or four weeks.

"I was treated without any benefit. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and could see a great change after the first night. I continued the treatment and in four weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Margaret Danyow, Ferrisburg, Vermont.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, with touches of Cuticura Ointment now and then, keeps the skin fresh, smooth and clear. Cuticura Talcum is also ideal for the skin.

POETRY

On "The Revolt of Youth"

Revolt! Indeed! That's nothing new!
From Eden down that state of mind
Has reappeared in every age
And every race of humankind!
Babies rebel as soon as born,
They do not like parental ways,
And boldly keep rebellion up
Till others plague their later days!
Revolt against their food and drink!
Revolt against their clothes and homes!
Revolt! Revolt! That's all they think!
Teachers and lessons, tasks and laws,
Preachers and churches, all of these Provoke revolt in youthful minds.
Which bubbles up with magic ease!
But when the calf becomes a cow
It thinks matured thoughts! And then
It ceases bellowing for milk
And gives it for the life of men!
And when our youth becomes mature
They cease to bellow their revolt,
And settle down to toil and tests,
Enduring hardships, jolt on jolt!—
Enduring as their parents did.
And forging on as forge they must!
Revolt of youth? That's nothing new
But old as sin and base as dust!
—By Rev. William Wood.

Piety

Life is a dream, and you and I
Only the figures of a dream,
Only the fancied shapes that seem
To flit across the troubled sky.

Like some gigantic child who makes
The creatures of his aimless show—
Puppets whose wit his guidance wakes—
To gesticulate dance and smirk and bow.

Life with sardonic gesture gives
And takes, unreasoning why or when,
The drudgery of futile lives
And little hopes that might have been.
—William A. Drake in Everybody's.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

If things look bad, just think of the money you are saving by watermelons not being in season.—Exchange.

What do you charge for rooms?
Six dollars up.
But, Madam, I am a student.
Then it's six dolars down.—Carnegie Tech Puppet.

Suspicious Character—Wot am I supposed to have stolen?
Police—A 'orse and van.
S. C.—All right; search me.—Exchange.

Bill has a great faculty for putting the cart before the horse.

That's a pretty stale figure! Say he has a habit of trying to make the wheels run the motor.—Boston Transcript.

After you've been wooing Fortune,
As you think, it's very tough
To find out in all your efforts
You've been courting a rebuff.—Twice Told Tales.

Customer—This is a Tudor table! I rather doubt it—don't see any wormholes.

Dealer—Ah, sir, even the insects didn't 'ave the 'eart to deface its beauty.—Boston Transcript.

A woman got on a trolley-car and, finding that she had no change, handed the conductor a ten dollar bill.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but I haven't a nickel."

"Don't worry, lady," said the conductor "you'll have just 199 of 'em in a minute." — New York University Medley.

This is a very serious offence you are charged with. Have you no counsel to look after your defence?

The prisoner in the most confidential manner leaned toward the judge.

No, your honor, but I have some very good friends on the jury.—Sense and Nonsense.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Two mothers living at Sebago Lake, Me., renewed their childhood ability to climb trees when their little girls, who had climbed to the top of a large pine, found themselves unable to get down again. The mothers climbed up, not with the oldtime agility, but with difficulty, and finally rescued the much frightened children.

In South Africa where plagues of locusts are often fought with arsenic, it has been found that these insects, even though they have succumbed to deadly poison, can still be used safely for cattle food. Experts of the department of agriculture of the Union of South Africa have determined that in order to obtain a fatal dose of the poison, cattle, sheep or horses would have to consume 200 to 700 pounds of the locusts, indicating that none of these animals is in danger from the poisoned insects. For poultry and pigs, however, there is not such a wide margin of safety.

Courses in the natural science of the tropics are to be carried on in the jungles themselves during the coming summer by the University of Pittsburgh. The tropical research station of the New York Zoological Society located at Kartabo, British Guiana, has been turned over to the university for several years. The main work will be carried on during the summer months but a permanent custodian has been stationed at the laboratory, so that it will be available at any time. A group of fifteen students, under Professor S. H. Williams of the department of zoology, plans to leave Pittsburgh in June.

In a quiet corner of the huge salt mines of Akna Slatina, a small town on the frontier of Ruthenia and Rumania, one comes unexpectedly upon a tiny altar. The setting is one of strange beauty. Walls of glistening salt, lining their Gothic arches to dim obscurity, form its background. Electric lamps on high standards light these walls with magic touch and the glitter and crystalate each facet of the salt rock. Over the light until the whole seems an edifice of jewels. Morning and night as the miners begin and leave the day's toil, the altar is decked with flowers are brought from the world above and so highly is the privilege of arranging them regarded that lots are drawn, the fortunate one assuming his office for a week.

CONFUSION IN MARKET

New York, April 29—Confused price movements characterized today's stock market with the general list working higher towards the close on a resumption of bullish operations in the motor, public utility and merchandising issues. Trading was in slightly lower larger volume but prices continued under the domination of professional operators.

Steel shares lost ground, the favorable quarterly report of the U. S. Steel corporation being offset by a further shrinkage in mill operations and reports of a lull in buying by the weekly trade reviews. U. S. Steel common closed more than a point lower at 114 3-8 on total transactions of less than 20,000 shares. Crucible dropped about a point to 66, but the other independents showed only nominal changes.

Renewed accumulation of the public utilities was based on reports of high current earnings and favorable dividend prospects. New 1925 high records in this group were recorded by American Water Works, Utah Securities, Virginia Railway and Power, Electric Power and Light certificates and All-American Cables, the first named closing 3 points higher at 52 3-8 after selling a point above the figure.

Sugars were sold freely on adverse trade news, Cuba Cane common and preferred and Cuban-American Sugar breaking to new low levels for the year. Oils developed a temporary burst of strength despite reports of increased crude production, but the rally failed to hold. Rubber shares stiffened on the announcement of higher tire prices.

Several strong spots developed among the specialties. Activity and strength of Sears Roebuck, which closed 4 1-4 points higher at 159, revived rumors of a possible capital readjustment. Cleveland interests were reported to be heavy buyers of Glidden company, which advanced more than 2 points to a new high record at 20 3-8 on reports of increased business. New peak prices also were attained by Coca Cola, National Dairy Products, American Ice common and preferred, Indian Motorcycle preferred, International cement, Deere preferred and Remington Typewriter 2nd preferred.

Another burst of strength in the Maxwell issues sent the A stock up 1 1-2 points to 103 3-4 and the B stock up over four points to 83 1-4, the latter closing a point below the top. Nash Motors advanced 4 1-2 points to 358 on a few sales and Mack Trucks closed fractionally higher at 146 after selling as high as 146 3-8.

Rails failed to derive much stimulus from reports of higher car loadings although Southern Railway was bid up nearly two points to 99 3-8 in anticipation of an increase in dividend this year. Losses of a point or so took place in Atchison, Lackawanna and Seaboard Air Line preferred.

Call money held steady at 3 1-2 per cent. all day. Time money was more plentiful and rates relaxed with some of the shorter maturities being quoted as low as 3 1-2 per cent. with 3 3-4 and 4 per cent. the ruling rates for the longer dates. Commercial paper rates held steady.

Further strength of sterling exchange which crossed $4.84 to a new high was the feature of the foreign exchange market. French francs rallied 1-2 points to 5.24 cents. Sharp gains took place in the Scandinavian exchanges.

BOND MARKET

New York, April 29—Bond prices worked moderately higher today, with confidence in underlying market conditions strengthened by Great Britain's return to a gold standard, with the protection of a $300,000,000 credit here.

In response to the British government's bold move and the steady climb of sterling exchange toward par United Kingdom 5 1-2 per cent. bonds established record high prices. The issue maturing in 1929 sold as high as 118 and the 5 1-2s of 1937 touched 107 3-4 but failed to maintain these levels until the close. Other foreign obligations were firm, the market apparently having recovered completely from the temporary scare over the German election outcome.

Prices of domestic corporation issues moved within extremely narrow limits, although several semi-speculative railroad liens reached new 1925 top prices. Seaboard, Frisco, "Katy", Nickel Plate and Pere Marquett issues were in demand and scored moderate net gains. New York Central debenture sixes, which will soon sell ex-conversion privileges, lost ground on a fairly large turnover.

Conflicting movements marked dealings in the industrial list. Weakness of the sugar market accounted for further selling of sugar company bonds. Oil and rubber issues improved, the latter being influenced by an advance in fire prices.

United States government obligations moved irregularly hig

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS ROSE CHARRON

Ninety friends of Miss Rose Charron daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Desire Charron of High street, Baltic, assembled in Caron's hall, Baltic, one evening recently and tendered Miss Charron a miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage to Ralph Rightelle of Baltic. The wedding will take place in St. Mary's church, Baltic, May 4th.

The bride-to-be received over 100 handsome gifts, including linen, silverware, cut glass and household furnishings.

Cake, ice cream, fruit, candy and coffee were served by Miss Charron assisted by twelve of her friends. Games were played and vocal and instrumental solos were rendered.

Miss Charron has a large circle of friends in Baltic and is very popular among the younger set of the town. She is a member of a number of societies in Baltic.

EXPECT BERKER CASE TO GO OVER TO SEPTEMBER

The May term of the criminal superior court for this county is to come in next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, standard time, in New London, with Judge John R. Booth presiding.

Among the approximately 25 new cases in the docket is that of Gabriel Berker of this city, formerly manager of a brokerage office, against whom are charges involved with the embezzlements of George A. Flinn, when treasurer of the Bankers Trust Co. for which Flinn is now serving a term in state prison.

According to state attorney Arthur M. Brown the prospects now seem to be that the Berker case will be continued to the September term of the superior court. Berker is now out in bonds.

BUTTER 50 YEARS OLD IN WELL AT VOLUNTOWN

John Stankovitch of Voluntown ate butter for breakfast Wednesday that had lain at the bottom of a well for 50 years. While digging out a spring his shovel struck something hard. It was a quart jar. He lifted it out and got another, then a third. With visions of ancient brandy, he opened one. Sweet butter—still sweet—in each one. A tag bore the date each jar had been put there, 50 years and seven months ago.

Lemons Tighten Wrinkled Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply well and you have the very mildest antiwrinkle lotion to tighten relaxed skin, for a few cents, shake over the lines and eradicate crowsfeet.

Remember this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion bids the skin at night. By morning most of the tell-tale wrinkles, tired lines and crows-feet are smoothed out, giving a more youthful contour to cheeks, chin, throat. It leaves the skin velvety soft, clear and fresh.

Beauty experts use this astringent lotion for enlarged pores, also to whiten and whiten sallow, tanned skin.

Mix this lemon lotion yourself and it acts best immediately after shaving.

BOYS' WEEK ENDS WITH CONTESTS IN OLYMPIC GAMES PROGRAMME

Boys' Week came to a most successful close, Wednesday evening in the town hall when awards were made to all winners of the Boys' Olympic games, held during the afternoon at the Academy campus. The town hall was more than half filled with boys from practically every school in the city and people interested in watching the presentation of prizes. Additional interest centered in speeches delivered by several prominent Norwich men, all of whom stressed the advantages the boy has who develops himself, physically, mentally and morally.

With this culminating event of Boys' Week, one of the most successful celebrations ever held in Norwich came to a close. Tireless effort by those in charge of the varied programs of the week bore fruitful results and the joys of the week were a pleasure not only to the boys of the city, but to the men who were back of the week's program in Norwich.

The program, Wednesday evening opened with a delightful band concert by Swahn's, Military Band, led by John M. Swahn, every number being greeted by the applause that can come only from the heart of a boy. The program was as follows: O Katharina (Leo Feist); Follow the Swallow (Remick), Dear One (Feist), That Old Gang of Mine (Berlin), Mandalay (Sciaccar), Eliza (Feist) Hinky, Dinky Parlay Voo (Milk, Inc.), Remember Me (Feist), Honest and Truly (Feist).

Promptly at 8 o'clock Judge Nelson J. Ayling started the activities of the evening requesting everyone to join in singing one verse of America and at the conclusion of the singing he spoke briefly to the boys, his message being in part as follows: Boys' Week is helping us find the value of the boy and has been prompted by the desire to bring the boy and his parents into closer touch—to show to the parents the value of their boys and to make the boys more fully appreciate their parents—all for the purpose of bringing them into closer touch and welding family ties. The week in Norwich has been a great success due to the efforts of the many committees and the cooperation of the boys.

Judge Brown Addresses Boys

He then introduced as the speaker of the evening, Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court, who in opening his talk mentioned a case he had been trying in Hartford, Wednesday, that of a boy who had been struck and killed by an automobile.

One of the things brought out by the plaintiff was expectation of life, it being estimated that the boy would have lived for about 45 years longer. In this thing, said Judge Brown, is the significance of Boys' Week. The first reason is because you boys have an expectation of life longer than we older men have, you will live much longer. What are you aiming at, what do you intend to make of yourselves, what are you going to do to make the most of the life before you?

President Roosevelt as a boy was weak physically but he decided to make himself strong and he did so and when he became president he was a fine example of the strenuous, vigorous, physical type. You boys should therefore strive to make your bodies strong.

Then there is the mental side, the brain and mind. Many times you wish there would be no more school. This is not to be wondered at but you should not wish this, you should try to get everything possible out of the school and as you grow older you will come to know this is true advice. You should make use of your opportunity to learn now, for what you gain in knowledge today will be more valuable in future years.

There is also the spiritual side. You have all had religious training, you know good from bad, you all have a conscience. You must develop your conscience so that when you are tempted to do wrong, something inside you will say "No." No man can be successful who has no conscience. A great example of a man fit in physical and mental ways but lacking in moral character is Benedict Arnold.

Then there is your father and your mother. No father is so poor a man that he does not try to do his best for the boy. He has worries you do not know about at times he is impatient, but no one thinks more of you than your father and mother. Be your father's friend, take his advice, try to please him, because he is always doing things that he believes are best for you.

Develop a strong body, strengthen your mind, build up your spiritual self and follow your parents. We want good men and we need men who will give their lives for that which counts most. Throw your whole self into the game and give the most. If Norwich can have such citizens as these for the future we have no fear for what will come.

Award of Prizes

Judge Ayling then addressed the boys telling them that the prizes would be awarded by His Honor, Mayor Milo R. Waters, and as the Mayor arose he was met with a ringing cheer by the future men of the city. Briefly Mayor Waters stressed the value of squareness in life, urging the boys always to play square and act fair. By carrying this into your school life and into your play and work, said Mayor Waters, you will build character. Take no advantage of the small boy but be manly boys and you will grow to be manly men.

Mayor Waters then called out the winners of the many events and each boy came to the front of the hall to receive their prizes amidst a din of cheering from boys of all schools. The spirit of fairness was evident throughout the hall, the losers during the meet in the afternoon giving the victors the praise which was due them.

The winners of the various events the prizes awarded and the donors of the prizes were the following:

Three Prizes For Letters

As a special feature of the meeting the committee on judging the letters describing work done by the boys on "Boys' Service Day", which was Monday of this week, reported that over 30 letters has been received.

Chairman Harold E. Slobbins, with his committee in selecting the winners, considered, first, the attitude the boy showed in doing his work, second, the amount of the work the boy actually did. In making their report Mr. Robbins' committee stated that they felt particularly well pleased where the boys indicated that they were very

If they had done as much as they could to help mother, father or neighbors, and furthermore felt that special recognition should be given to the boys who did some things that boys are not particularly fond of doing.

Mayor Milo R. Waters then announce the winners as follows:

First award, George A. Ranger, of 87 Division street, prize, baseball glove; second award, Merton Tubbs, of 72 Division street, jack knife; third award, Germain Rochette, of 73 School street, bat and ball.

Honorable Mention

In recognition of special work by other boys honorable mention was awarded the following boys for what they did and the fine spirit shown: Francis Tracey, 58 St. Regis avenue; Joseph Reilly, 46 Cedar street; Clarence A. Smith, 219 West Town street; William Bottomley, Norwich; Millard Mullens, 428 Boswell avenue; Louis Holland, 75 Norwich avenue; Leonard Royce, 11 Alice street; Herbert Ziegelmayer, 30 Platt avenue; Robert Rose, 189 Broadway; Joseph Bravelyn, Versailles.

Boys' Service Day Letters

The prize letters on "Boys' Service Day" were as follows:

First Award

Dear Mr. Robbins:

The services I did Monday were as follows: Gave grain and water to my grandmother's hens. Gave grain and water to my mother's hens. Fixed the coal bin. Spread out a tent to dry. Brought a chair up to Mr. Gardner's ... it repaired. Fixed a wire around a young pear tree. Chopped some wood. Cleaned the hall. Brought a linoleum into grandmother's house. Cut the grass. Repaired electric door bell for father. Made lunch so mother wouldn't have to do it. Dumped the garbage. Filled a tub with water. Washed and wiped the dishes after the breakfast and lunch. Helped ... for grade a garden. Punched and tied strings in taps for my father and cleaned up the yard.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE A. RANGER.

Second Award

Dear Mr. Robbins:

The following things are what I did to help at home Monday: First when I arose I brought down the laundry to be washed and then went up stairs to make my bed, I next went to the store to get some soap for my mother and after breakfast I went to the store again.

I next went up on the roof and took off the storm window. After this was done I saw that the grass looked long so I cut and raked the three front sections of the lawn. My mother said I could wash the windows so I started in and washed and polished all the windows down stairs, making a total of fourteen windows. As a recital that I am going to play in is coming soon, I went to the teacher's studio and practiced the duet I am to take part in. I also did not forget the chickens, but fed them.

In the afternoon about 2 o'clock work started again but this time in a different place. It was in the garden. I first spaded and leveled the ground. I then planted two rows of mangel each 16 feet long, two rows of spinach each 16 feet long, a row of beans 16 feet long, 4 hills of squash, four hills of cucumbers and set up 30 bean poles. After supper I washed, wiped and put away the dishes for four people, and brought out and sifted the ashes from the heater. I am 13 years old and attend Broadway school.

MERTON TUBBS.

Third Award

Dear Mr. Robbins:

I am writing these few words to tell you that I have obeyed your request.

Monday was Boys' Service Day and as soon as I got home I put my mother's apron on. She was astonished to see me work. I helped my mother to prepare the supper and after supper I cleared off the table, washed and wiped the dishes.

The next morning I got up very early and cleared off the breakfast table and washed and dried the dishes. After this I began to wash the floor. I washed the kitchen, pantry and the dining room floors. Then I brought up wood and a hod of coal.

In the early part of the afternoon I cleaned my yard very clean and burned all the rubish. My mother was very glad to see me work.

I appreciate Boys' Week very much for it will give us a good start in life and will teach us what service means.

GERMAINE ROCHETTE.

Immediately following the awarding of prizes for the service letters, Judge Ayling announced that the meeting would close with the playing of The Star Spangled Banner played by Swahn's Military Band.

At the conclusion of this number Boys' Week came to a close in Norwich having been a most successful week from every standpoint, a week which will be looked forward to with even greater interest by the boys of Norwich in coming years.

The officials were: Referee, P. W. Chase of Jewett City; clerk of the course, Emery H. Davis; starter, E. J. Fritz; timers, Roy Green of Plainfield, Alfred G. Bliven and Felix Callahan; judges, Raymond Case, Charles Coit, Eben Learned, John Cotter, for the dashes and runs; Rev. John Reilly and Physical Director Dessinger of Plainfield for the broad jumps; Edward G. McKay and Dr. Hugh B. Campbell for the baseball throw; scorers, William A. Anderson, Edward A. Rich and Myles E. Standish; announcer, George P. Madden. Earl E. Brigham had charge of the jumping while John Williams took charge of the baseball throw and William Aitken had charge of the sprints. Ed Harris was general utility man.

The committee in charge of the Olympic games was Dr. H. B. Campbell, E. J. Fritz, Myles E. Standish, George P. Madden, James Sheridan, Dr. C. Thompson, W. A. Anderson, Rev. E. C. Dunbar, Major C. A. Hagberg, E. A. Harris, Earl Brigham, Edward McKay, Raymond Case, William Aitkin, Edward Rich, Earl Mathewson, Dr. Markoff, Fr. John Reilly, W. G. Park, E. H. Davis.

OLYMPIC GAMES RUN OFF WITH MARCH GALE BLOWING

The Boys' Week Olympic games at the Academy Wednesday afternoon drew a crowd of spectators numbering well into the hundreds who shivered throughout the afternoon in the chill March wind that swept the campus, but they took keen enjoyment in the sports. The crowd, composed largely of youngsters, schoolmates of the entrants, was hard to control and they swarmed here, there and everywhere creating a general confusion. Officers Ryan and Smith and Sergeant Morgan, together with officials of the course were kept on the jump keeping the crowd in its place.

Previous to the events of the afternoon and at intervals between events Swahn's band played a snappy programme of popular music. The band ... their stand near the grandstand early in the afternoon but later were forced in[to] shelter of the manual training ... where they continued their playing.

The time in the dashes was exceptionally good especially in the 100 yard senior event which was won by Hinricks in 10 2-5 seconds. The time in the 880 yard run was rather slow the runners being forced to buck a head wind for practically half the distance. The jumping was good and attracted considerable attention. The baseball throwing created no little interest, especially in the younger class

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM IN SECOND MAIN ST. FIRE

Incendiarism is suspected by officials of the fire department as the cause of the early morning fire which resulted in the destruction by fire, water and smoke of a large part of the stock in the store conducted by Alex Pasnik at 158 Main street. This theory is advanced by Chief H. L. Stanton as investigation showed that the fire in Mr. Pasnik's store was a distinctly separate blaze from the fire which gutted the Pattison Candy store next door less than 4 hours previous. For a considerable space of time following the first fire Chief Howard L. Stanton, Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft and the proprietors of the several stores involved in the blaze remained at the building and when they left there was no sign of fire.

It was about 2.15 o'clock that the second fire broke out. Had it not been for the vigilance of Officer Peter D[illegible], who discovered the "flash fire" as it spread with lightning like rapidity among the gowns and stock of the Pasnik store, the building would probably have been destroyed. As it was Officer Driscoll saw the fire as soon as it flared up and he hurried across the street and pulled the box.

A peculiar circumstance in connection with the fire was the fact that a gas heating radiator in the Pasnik store was found turned on full. This and the ... with gas making the fire a dangerous one to fight.

Mr. Pasnik on Wednesday estimated his loss in ... and on the Pasnik building at about $15,000. The loss on the Greenberg building and on the stock in the other stores is estimated at about $5,000 making the total loss about $20,000.

Fagan's Smoke Shop was open and doing business as usual Wednesday.

Recovering from Injury

The many friends of Dr. S. M. Goldberg of 30 Warren street will learn with pleasure that he has fully recovered from his injury and expects to return to business within a few weeks. Dr. Goldberg recently suffered a dislocated shoulder and has been recuperating in New Britain and Philadelphia.

Retail Credit Men to Meet

The Retail Credit Men's National Association of over 12,000 members will hold its 13th annual convention in Minneapolis, Minnesota, with headquarters at the Nicollet Hotel, June 9 to 12. Every subject of vital importance to the business world from the standpoint of better credits will have most thorough attention.

FINDS RELIEF FOR COUGHS

Mrs. Nancy Hather, Box 86, Rickwood, Ohio, writes: "FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND is a fine medicine for coughs and colds, as it helped me when nothing else would." Mothers everywhere demand a reliable cough remedy free from injurious narcotics. Supplying this demand for fifty years made FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND one of the largest selling cough medicines in the world. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon FOLEY'S.

ROTARY MEETING HAS VARIETY OF BUSINESS

The monthly business session of the Norwich Rotary club was held Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel with President J. Nelson Weymouth presiding. E. LaRue Bliven acted as song leader for the meeting. Among the pleasing musical features was the solo, On the Road to Mandalay, sung by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott. Mr. Abbott gave an encore in response to insistent applause.

The club voted a contribution to the local Y. M. C. A. in the drive for funds for current expenses. Joseph C. Worth made an announcement relative to the Norwich Art Association lecture in the near future.

Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London was a guest at the meeting and expressed his pleasure of being present, saying that Norwich and New London clubs were bound together with the golden chain of friendship.

L. D. Reynolds of East Orange, N. J., president of the Traveling Jewelers Association of America, spoke of the lesson that Rotary teaches in cooperation through its code of ethics.

Dr. Alfred Richards was appointed chairman of the "On to Cleveland" local committee. It was voted to give material aid to one of the hotel employes who is seriously ill at the Backus hospital.

Herbert B. Cary, chairman of the last year's program committee, spoke his appreciation of the assistance given him by the other two members of the committee.

Herbert C. Adams and Herbert M. Lerou, and also to the members of the club who so materially assisted in making Ladies' Night a success. He proposed a vote of thanks to William G. Park who so ably handled the entertainment feature of Ladies' Night. President Weymouth expressed the appreciation of the club for the splendid work accomplished by Mr. Cary and his committee.

Chairman Alex McNicol of the new program committee outlined plans for the May meetings. Eben Learned will be song leader for the month. The meeting of May 6 will feature reports on the Pittsfield spring conference and Herbert C. Adams will be the five minute speaker on current events. May 13 there will be a talk by Michael Kley on Immigration, with Russell A. Clapp on current events. May 20 George Falconer will provide a talk on sports; Joseph A. Curtis, five-minute speaker. May 27, business meeting; Frank D. Davis, current events. The first meeting in June will be devoted to a discussion of the community chest subject.

Retiring President Campbell expressed his thanks and appreciation for the cooperation extended him by the committees and members during his term of office, and the meeting closed promptly on time by singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

F. T. DIGGINS CANDIDATE FOR STATE DELEGATION PLACE

At a recent meeting of White Cross council, No. 13, Knights of Columbus, Grand Knight M. Frank Leonard and Past Grand Knight Francis T. Diggins were elected delegates to represent the council at the annual meeting of the state assembly which will convene at New Britain, on Tuesday, May 12th. The alternates elected were, John P. Lyston and Thomas F. Sloan.

One of the functions of the state council, when it meets in May, will be to select delegates to the supreme assembly which will meet on August 4th, at Duluth, Wis. At the solicitation of many of his friends in the order, Past Grand Knight, F. T. Diggins has consented to become a candidate for membership on the state delegation which will be selected to attend the meeting of the supreme assembly at Duluth, and the announcement of his candidacy is being most favorably received, particularly throughout eastern Connecticut where he is best known and where he enjoys the reputation of being a strong advocate of Columbianism and an earnest worker for the spread of its principles.

Mr. Diggins was initiated into the order in 1900, as a member of Seaside council, No. 17 and at once began to take an active interest in the affairs of the council, finally serving as grand knight, the highest office in the gift of the council. Upon his removal to Norwich several years ago, his membership was transferred to White Cross council where his activities were continued and he was again honored by being elected to the position of Grand

FRANCIS T. DIGGINS

Knight of White Cross council. His term of office as Grand Knight lead to a notable extension of the influence of the council and contributed largely to the growth of the spirit of Columbianism in this section.

Mr. Diggins was advanced to the fourth and highest degree of the order, at New Haven in 1905 and has had the honor of serving two terms as Faithful Navigator of Rev. Daniel Mullen assembly, fourth degree Knights, with headquarters in Norwich and with jurisdiction over all fourth degree members in Norwich, Taftville, Baltic, Jewett City, Plainfield, Moosup, Wauregan, Danielson, North Grosvernordale and Putnam.

OFFICER BRINGS CHARGE OF RECKLESS DRIVING

Mrs. Albina Pavlak of 681 North Main street has been summoned to appear in the city court by state policeman Morse to answer to a charge of reckless driving. The case will come up Friday morning. According to the state policeman he had previously warned Mrs. Pavlak and when this did not prove effective he brought the charge against her which she will answer in court.

Aching teeth are not to be classed with the things that jump for joy.

GIVES ENDORSEMENT OF N. E. CIGAR WEEK

President Stanley H. Bullard of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce approves the idea of New England Cigar Week and has issued the following interview lending the movement his support. George B. Chandler, secretary of the Chamber, stated that he cordially seconded the views expressed by Mr. Bullard.

"Business like charity should begin at home. I think it is an excellent idea to have this week designated as cigar week for New England. I am credibly informed that the large sum of $180,000,000 is invested in New England in the culture of tobacco and the manufacture of cigars. Probably nineteen out of every twenty dollars earned or made in this way is spent in New England. Turn-about is fair play. No better cigars are made than those produced in New England—and none as good for the money. Why not smoke them, and make every week in the year 'New England Cigar Week'."

Improved After Operation

Friends in this city have received word from Harry Solomon of 84 Washington St., a patient at Mount Sinai hospital, N. Y., stating that he is greatly improved in condition. In his postal, Mr. Salomon writes "Have been through the operation and back. Am feeling fine and expect to be back home in a week or so. Dr. Berg is certainly a wizard with the knife."

Mr. Salomon had been suffering from ulcers of the stomach and his condition became so grave that an operation was necessary.

THREE MORE DAYS OF THE DEMONSTRATION OF

RED STAR Detroit Vapor OIL STOVE

Thursday! Friday! Saturday!

Well-cooked, appetizing, nourishing food is one of the great essentials of the home. Where there are children it is a vital need—to promote strong, healthy bodies and good minds. And think, too, of the happiness, the comfort and well-being that pervade the home where good cooking abounds. Be sure to see the Stove that has brought better cooking into thousands of Oil Stove communities.

Your Cooking Problems Solved

You can have good cooking only by having a stove that will do things you want to do.

Let us show you one that WILL—an oil stove that has absolutely modernized the oil stove kitchen. We will prove it by a demonstration.

It is the famous Red Star Oil Stove—now used in thousands of oil stove communities by millions of happy housewives.

The Red Star burns oil—but WITHOUT WICKS. It gives a fine, clean gas heat, produced by the patented Red Star All-Metal burners. You get gas speed. You get gas stove results—no matter how far you live from the gas main.
